REAPPORTIONMENT IN MORE HATEFUL GUISE APPEARS IN SENATE

Many Senators Favor Plan to Limit Cities' Representation.

House Passes Bills on Finances of Duluth School District.

Ribenack Secures the Passage of His Naval Militia Bill.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Reapportionment, in a new and still more hateful guise, made its appearance in the senate yesterday afternoon when in committee of the whole that body took up the bill introduced by Senators Duxbury of Houston county, Moonan of Waseca county, Haycraft of Watonwan county and Weis of Le Sueur county, proposing a constitutional amendment limiting the number of senators any one county can have to four.

No action was taken on the bill, which was laid over for further consideration after an extended debate, but the surprising fact was made clear that there are a number of members of the senate, perhaps a majority, who intend to stand on the proposition that humanity in the city is not entitled to the same share in the control of the affairs of the state as humanity in the country enjoys.

The bill proposes an amendment to the Constitution, to be voted on by the people at the next general elec-

ARBITRATION BILL KILLED

House Ends Attempt to Apply the Canadian Law to Minnesota.

Speakers for Labor Interests Call It One-Sided and Unfair.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—By the overwhelming vote of 78 to 34, the house today killed Representative Knutson's bill applying to this state the provisions of the Canadian industrial arbitration law. The attack upon the bill was led by those speaking for labor interests, who asserted that it was one-sided and unfair. It was stated that while labor favors arbitration and investigation, it does not favor the policy of forbidding strikes until after there has been an investigation.

Under the proposed bill no strike or lockout could be lawfully declared until the dispute had been investigated by a board of conciliation of three members, one appointed by the employers, one by the employes and the third by these two. The board was to attempt a settlement and failing in that was to make and publish a full report as to the merits of the controversy.

Representative Knutson made the principal talk for the bill, and Representative Hillman of Two Harbors made the chief attack upon it, saying that labor is unanimously opposed to it, as it is one-sided and against labor's interests. It is not arbitration, but oppression. It forbids workers to strike, but it would not prevent employers locking out their men under guise of closing down their factories for repairs. "If you want to start something," he said, "pass this bill."

Representative Nolan asked Mr. Knutson if he had any labor support for his bill, and Mr. Knutson admitted

TWENTY BODIES ARE UNIDENTIFIED

Unknown Victims of Fire to Be Buried in Mount Sinai Cemetery.

New York, March 29.—There was no let-up today in the official probing of last Saturday's factory fire disaster in which 143 persons lost their lives. The death of one victim during the night brought the total up to the figure given. Twenty charred bodies still are unidentified. On Saturday these bodies, or such of them as relatives and friends have by that time been unable to identify, will be buried in Mount Sinai cemetery.

TO RECOVER JEWELS.

Police Say New York Family Will Get Back Gems.

New York, March 29.—Jewels valued at $4,000 stolen from the home of William Einstein, a wealthy resident on East Sixty-second street, are in a fair way today to be recovered, according to officials of the detective bureau. Valuables worth $25,000 were at first reported to be missing. Later, it was stated that some of the jewelry had been traced and that an arrest was expected.

The Einstein family recently went away for a day and upon their return reported to the police that both the jewels and a recently engaged butler were missing.

Rebels Meet Overwhelming Defeat in All-Day Fight in Sonora.

Fights Last From Nine in the Morning Until Evening.

Gen. Leyva Meets With Heavy Reverses at Tecate.

Cananea, Mex., March 29.—Official government reports have reached Cananea of an overwhelming rebel defeat near Ures, a few miles northwest of Hermosillo, the capital of Sonora, yesterday morning. The rebels are said to have lost seventy killed and more than 100 wounded. The federal loss is given as sixteen dead and twenty wounded. The fight lasted from 9 a. m. until 7 p. m.

The official dispatch adds that 200 rebels are now surrounded at Hacienda San Rafael.

Gen. Juan Cabral, the rebel leader, commanded 900 men at Ures. The federals in three columns under Generals Ogeda, Barrott and Shiapa, attacked Cabral from three sides. No account of the battle, other than the official dispatches, have been received.

JUDGE COWAN'S TRIAL DELAYED

Senate Committees Not Ready to Present Their Reports.

Bismarck, N. D., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Inability of the rules committee to reach an agreement caused another delay in the work of organizing the high court of impeachment to try Judge John F. Cowan today. This morning, when the senate convened at 10 o'clock, it was found that the rules committee, as well as the two other committees that had been named, were not ready to report, and an immediate recess was taken till 1 o'clock this afternoon, when all committees would be in position to make their report.

Of the 200 witnesses that have been subpoenaed to testify for the prosecution against Cowan, it is interesting to find that P. J. McClory and W. M. Anderson of Devils Lake have been called. Both of these attorneys are now representing Judge Cowan as associate counsel with Tracy Bangs.

THREE BOYS MAY BE MURDERERS

Arrested at Omaha and First Charged With Petit Larceny.

Omaha, Neb., March 29.—Three boys, all giving their age as 17 years, were arrested last night charged with petit larceny and evidence unearthed later makes the police believe they are the murderers of Herman B. Cohn, who was killed near his home last Saturday night, and also the perpetrators of a number of hold-ups in the northern part of the city during the last few weeks.

The boys are Lemuel Tiggs, alias L. Andrews; Carl Deland and Henry Steingger, and they all come from St. Louis, Mo., where, according to a letter from Tiggs to Deland, written in January, they belonged to a gang of thieves and murderers. Considerable plunder, which they admit was stolen, was found in their room at 317½ North Fifteenth street.

NEW YORK'S MAGNIFICENT CAPITOL GUTTED BY FIRE

NEW YORK'S STATE CAPITOL AT ALBANY

DAMAGE IS ENORMOUS

Valuable Records Burned Which Can Never Be Replaced.

Building Placed Under Martial Law Until Its Safety Is Assured.

Albany, N. Y., March 29.—Fire swept, smoke strewn, and water drenched, New York state's magnificent $27,000,000 capitol stands this morning a partial wreck by flames that started in the assembly library, burned away the entire west wing and did damage estimated at $10,000,000 before the flames were declared under control after raging more than four hours.

It is believed that the fire was started by a fused electric push button becoming electrified. It was discovered by a night watchman and the alarm was sounded at 2:46 o'clock.

But before the firemen reached the massive structure priceless documents, books and records stored in the assembly library had been destroyed and other departments were being threatened. The imitation oak ceiling of the assembly chamber, composed of papier mache, was partially destroyed, as was also the famous million dollar staircase in the west wing.

Departments Destroyed.

On the third floor, where the flames gained their start, the departments wholly or partially destroyed by fire or seriously damaged by water were:

ITALIAN PREMIER NAMES CABINET

Giolitti Announces Members of the New Ministry.

Rome, March 29.—Premier Giolitti, who takes the portfolio of minister of the interior, today announced the make-up of the new cabinet which succeeds that of Luigi Luzzatti. Nearly all the members of the former ministry are retained. These are: Foreign affairs, Marquis A. di San Giuliano; treasury, Francesco Todesco; finance, Signor Facta; war, Gen. Spingardi; public instruction, Signor Credaro; public works, Signor Sacchi; posts and telegraphs, Signor Ciuffelli. The new members are:

Justice, Signor Finocchiaro, who succeeds Signor Fani; marine, Admiral Cattolica, replacing Admiral Leonardi; agriculture, Signor Nitti, who takes the place of Signor Raineri in the post first offered to Signor Bissolati, leader of the Socialists parliamentary group, but declined by him because, while, he said, he was in sympathy with the proposed policy of the new government, he could not bring himself to adopt the outward forms required of cabinet members, such as wearing a uniform on public occasions.

Murderer Admits Guilt.

Pierre, S. D., March 29.—William Heinz, in the Stanley county circuit court, yesterday entered a plea of guilty to the charge of murder of Rolf E. Miles, and will be given sentence Thursday morning.

PUBLISHER STANDS PAT

Says $100,000 Was Used to Procure Election of Lorimer to Senate.

Springfield, Ill., March 29.—H. H. Kohlsaat, publisher of the Chicago Record-Herald, told the senate investigating committee today that he knew $100,000 had been used to procure the election of William Lorimer to the United States senate. He then refused to give the committee the source of his information notwithstanding the committee has the power to imprison him because of his refusal.

When Mr. Kohlsaat was first called to the stand he was asked where he obtained his information on which he wrote an editorial saying $100,000 had been raised to elect Lorimer.

Mr. Kohlsaat declined to answer this and a number of questions, stating that he could not violate a confidence.

Attorney Healy put direct questions to Mr. Kohlsaat, asking if his informant had said he was asked for $10,000.

"I decline to answer," he said.

"Did he say that nine other men had been asked for $10,000 each?"

"I refuse to answer."

"Is he a resident of Chicago?"

"I decline to answer."

"Is he alive now?"

"He is."

"Would you denounce any citizen who takes the stand you have taken here?" asked Senator Burton.

"Any man who will violate a confidence is not worth a snap. I would not let my court reporter violate a confidence. No newspaperman can violate a confidence. That is my code of morals."

"You have been demanding this investigation and now you refuse to aid us."

"I appreciate the position, but I will

WILL REVEALS OLD TRAGEDY

Document Filed in Court Shows Two Men Were Killed By Guides.

Norriston, Pa., March 29.—A tragedy was revealed in an adjudication which was filed in the orphan's court today. In the ordinarily dry and uninteresting paper was told how S. Morris Waln of Cheltenham, Pa., was murdered while he was on a hunting expedition in the West with his friend, O. L. Strong, who met a like fate.

"Sunday, May 6, 1888.

"I start tomorrow on a pleasure trip through the Western country and in event of my death, I desire my estate, from whatever source, to be divided as follows:

"To my dear friend, Miss Alice Rhawn, I leave one-quarter of my estate.

"To my friend and companion, O. L. Strong, I leave $10,000 in event of his returning from the trip.

"The remainder of my estate I leave in trust for my three nieces."

The court finds exhaustive efforts to locate Waln were unsuccessful and accepts the report of the executor, J. S. Waln, decedent's brother, that "on or about the 24th of July, 1888, both (Waln and Strong) were killed by their guides."

The balance for distribution amounts to $51,322. Since Strong did not return from the trip, as was required in the will, if he was to inherit the $10,000 provided for him, the three nieces and Miss Rhawn are the sole legatees.

"WET" CANDIDATES WIN AT LINCOLN

Looks as Though Nebraska Town Would Have Saloons Again.

Lincoln, Neb., March 29.—At the municipal primary election here the candidates nominated by both the Republicans and Democrats stand for a return of saloons with high license and early closing. Robert Malone had no opposition for the Democratic nomination. Don L. Love, the present mayor, a Republican standing as the "dry" candidate for renomination, was defeated by A. H. Armstrong, "wet" Republican, by a majority close to 500. At the election, which occurs the first Tuesday in May, the question of a return to the license system will be settled by a referendum vote independent of the candidates. Lincoln for two years has been without saloons.

AGAIN BREAK UP THE TRIAL

Camorrists in Steel Cage Create Great Tumult in Court.

President Compelled to Suspend Sitting for the Time Being.

Viterbo, Italy, March 29.—Gennaro Abbatemaggio, the confessed Camorrist, continued his revelations at today's session of the trial of himself and thirty-five associates for the murder of Gennaro Cuoccolo and the latter's wife, "the beautiful Sorrentina."

Strictly speaking, Abbatemaggio's "revelations" are nothing more than sidelights in confirmation of his original story as told to the authorities and published before the trial began. In his formal statement the informer told how Cuoccolo had been murdered because he had betrayed other members of the Camorra, and also because there was jealousy of his increasing power on the part of Enrico Alfano, the actual head of the body, and other leaders. Cuoccolo's wife was killed to conceal the first crime.

Asked about the $200 which had been paid to the assassins of the Cuoccolos,

MURDERER REPENTANT

"I Might Better Have Killed Myself," Says Charles Hill.

Claims the Victim First Assaulted Him With a Poker.

Remorse has seized Charley Hill, who shot and killed Axel Hill in the boarding house at 18 North Sixth avenue west about 12 o'clock last night.

"I might better have killed myself instead of him," he said to Fred S. Johnson, secretary to Chief Troyer, in his cell at headquarters when he went in to talk to him this morning.

"I wouldn't have done it if I had not been drunk. I had been drinking a lot and was pretty full. I had the revolver with me all the time. I did not go out and get it after we had our fight in the afternoon. It was in my pocket, but I didn't have any thought to use it."

Hill, or Maki, which is his old country name, admitted the shooting this morning, although he denied his guilt last night, but claims extenuating circumstances. He said today that the dead man was attacking him with a poker and that he had hit him once on the head before he fired the fatal shot.

It appears that the two came to blows late yesterday afternoon, and had to be pulled apart. The cause of their quarrel was not learned at headquarters.

After the fight the prisoner stated that he went out, but came back to talk to the proprietor of the boarding house, whom he said he knew. When he came in, according to Hill and the other witnesses, he asked, "Where is this Axel?" He asserts that he wanted to find out from his erstwhile opponent why he was angry with him.

It appears that the two came together inside the door of a big sleeping room. Axel picked up a poker and was making for the one with the gun when he was shot. The witnesses who saw the shooting corroborate Hill's statement to the effect that the other had a poker. One witness said that he heard a sharp sound as though the poker had struck the revolver. No one was found who saw Axel Hill hit Charley Hill with the poker.

The prisoner went out with detectives this morning to help them search for the gun, which Hill said he had thrown away after he fired at the other Hill. The quest was unsuccessful. Later in the forenoon Patrolman Oscar Olson brought a revolver into the station which had been found in Hill's room. One chamber was discharged and the other five were still loaded. Hill however, denied that it was the gun which he had used.

Arraigned in police court this morning Hill waived examination and was bound over to await the action of the next grand jury.

AGITATE NEW COUNTY.

Baraga, Mich., Has Ambitions to Be County Seat.

Republic, Mich., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The proposition of organizing a new county in Upper Michigan is being agitated at Baraga. There is a prospect the matter will be laid before the legislature at its present session. The agitation is an outgrowth of the rivalry between Baraga county's two villages. L'Anse is the present county seat and the village of Baraga is an aspirant for the honor. The efforts to submit the question of the removal of the county headquarters to a vote of the people have so far been successfully combatted. It is proposed now to detach certain territory from Houghton county and add it to Baraga county and to form a new county out of the remainder of Baraga county as it now exists, together with a portion of Marquette county. The idea is finding considerable favor in Baraga county, but it is likely that Houghton and Marquette counties would make strenuous objection.

A TYPICAL LODGING HOUSE ROOM.

Many of the lodging houses in the city have five, six and seven beds put in one room. Most of them are crowded in as closely as they can be packed. In some places they are jammed against one another so that the men who want to get into them have to crawl over the ends. The majority of them are double beds, with one or two cots placed so as to make use of any space that may happen to be left. These are generally supplied with plenty of light, but in most of them the air is foul as the windows are seldom opened. The washing facilities are of the usual kind, being generally the kitchen sink, with one or more tin basins and common towels.

FROM FOGS OF LONDON TO SUNNY WESTERN CANADA

Steamers Have More Immigrants Than They Can Handle.

Over 200 English immigrants, typical laddies from various parts of the British empire, wearing the inevitable English caps, smoking pipes and cigarettes, some wearing leather leggings, others with the knee breeches that all have seen in the British cartoons, one leading an old English shepherd dog that resembled closely a young bear, struck town this morning on a special train and remained until 11:30 when they left for Winnipeg.

A special train that traveled all the way from Portland, Me., and which consisted of ten cars, brought the immigrants to the city. The members of the party have been on route since Sunday evening and the brief time to get some air and stretch their legs, was appreciated. In the three hours that the party remained here, many of the Englishmen covered a long stretch on Superior street.

There were men, women and children in the big party. There were mothers, sisters and sweethearts. One fresh looking young English girl will be married when the party gets to Winnipeg. Her husband-to-be is with the party, and while bashful and somewhat inclined to hang back when the subject is under general discussion, he seems anxious for the trip to end.

On the White Star steamer that brought the members of the party to the United States were 1,600 immigrants. Never before in the history of emigration of the English people has there been so great a rush as there is at the present time, according to the statement made by William Griffith. Canadian government representative, whose card reads 12 Friars road, Bangor. Mr. Griffith came all the way from Liverpool with the members of the party. He was stationed in Canada before and came over the present time to be in charge of the immigrants and also to look at some land on this side of the big deep.

Steamers Crowded.

Touching further on the crowded condition of the steamers, he stated that it is practically impossible at the present time to book a second or third-class passage on any steamer coming from England to the United States. Every boat is booked to its capacity until May, while some of the lines are booked for second and third-class passages well into July.

R. Courtney, a licensed passage broker of London, is also with the party. He has been across the Atlantic seventy-seven times, and he hopes to cross the ocean seevnty-seven times more. He is full of enthusiasm and conversation and it is easy to imagine him the life of the crowd.

"Canada has the strictest immigration laws of any of the countries," said Mr. Courtney. "Understand me now, old chap, when I say that I had a chap with me, who had something like $1,500 in his possession. His half was coming out, and because of this, mind you, they wouldn't let him in.

"The poor chap came to me with tears in his eyes. 'They won't let me pass,' he says, and bless me if they would. The poor fellow had to turn back. They won't let a man in unless he can read and write, and if the least thing is the matter with him, he can't get in."

According to the statements of the two gentlemen, Mr. Griffith and Mr. Courtney, the steamship lines are carrying at the present time an average of 5,000 emigrants a week from the English ports. It is because of the exceptional opportunities offered in Canada, and because land ownership in England is next to impossible for the poor man.

Those in charge of the party stated that there was quite a bit of money in the crowd, and that the young Englishmen were coming to Canada to invest their money in farming lands of Saskatchewan and Alberta. Many of them have been farming in England, where the average farmhand earns something like $5 a week.

Mr. Courtney stated that the labor situation in London is still serious, because of the number of men out of employment. He attributed some of the responsibility to the trades unions, and also says there is not sufficient work in the city of London for all the idle men.

The special that arrived and left this morning is the finest immigrant special of the season. It goes direct to Winnipeg over the Duluth, Missabe & Northern and the Canadian Northern. Except for occasional stops, it has been running continually since Sunday evening, when the big party left Portland, going to Montreal, hitting the Grand Trunk for a long run to Chicago, where the special was tied up in the yards for several hours.

On March 18, the members of the party left England, the other immigrants on the big boat taking the Western Canada route via the Canadian Pacific.

BARROWS, NEW CUYUNA RANGE TOWN, BOOMING.

Brainerd, Minn., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new townsite of Barrows, five miles south of Brainerd, lies in what is known as the south range of the Cuyuna iron range. Much drilling has been done to establish the two large ore bodies lying adjacent to the townsite and owned by the Northwestern Improvement company and Pittsburg and Cleveland capitalists. Bids have been advertised, to lay six blocks of cement sidewalks in this new town, named for C. W. Barrows, one of the prominent mining men of this part of the range.

BLAST FURNACE QUITS.

Newberry, Mich., March 29.—The Lake Superior Iron & Chemical company shut down their furnace here Saturday for an indefinite period, owing to the depressed condition of the iron market.

The shut-down, it is announced, will in no way effect the extensive building program contemplated by the company and now under way. Plans for the new chemical and retort plant are completed and construction work will be begun as soon as the snow leaves the ground. These operations will furnish employment to large numbers of skilled and common laborers.

The machinery is now being installed in the new central power plant and as soon as this is completed, the big sawmill built during the past winter will go into operation. Enough logs are cut and skidded to keep the mill in operation all through the summer. A crew of fifty men will be employed in the mill.

CHILDREN INTERESTED

Potato Special Will Leave Trail of Gardens in Its Wake.

Biwabik, Minn., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Watch for a trail of gardens in the wake of the potato special when this snow melts. The work among the children may prove to be really more effective than that among the farmers. School children come aboard the train in squads of fifty at every station. They don't miss a feature of the exhibit or a word of the discourses.

The farmers near Biwabik and Aurora were hindered by bad roads and the attendance was not as large as was expected. Those who did come displayed interest in every feature and were active in the discussions following the addresses. There was a sprinkling of business men in the audiences here last spring and this morning and they showed hearty sympathy with the project.

The children of this north country are interested in poultry raising. At every station they ask where they can get settings of eggs and how they can build incubators. Two boys who are already raising chickens here wanted to know all about houses and they took keen interest in the display of coops in the exhibit car.

This afternoon the potato special goes to Eveleth to remain until tomorrow morning.

Aurora, Minn., March 29.—(Special to he Herald.)—The Duluth Commercial club's "potato special" drew a good crowd at Aurora yesterday. The train spent the afternoon here during which time it was visited by many farmers and townspeople. The school children attended in a body during the afternoon and were given a most interesting talk on poultry.

The train left a most wholesome impression at Aurora and while there are a large number of prosperous farmers south of town many who visited the train were surprised at the results shown.

TWO SHIFTS EMPLOYED

Carbolite Plant Reopens and Is Running Day and Night.

Twenty-One Electric Furnaces Will Be Operated Continuously.

The plant of the American Carbolite company, Raleigh street and Central avenue, has started operations again after having been closed down for several weeks. Night and day shifts with about 100 men employed, will operate the plant continuously from now on.

Last fall, owing to the dry season, the Great Northern Power company was unable to furnish the carbolite concern with sufficient electric power to run the furnaces at the plant and the concern had to close down.

The carbolite plant consumes more electric power than all of the other industries in the city put together, including the street railway and the Great Northern Power company has made emergency provisions, so that the concern will not be handicapped in the future by the lack of sufficient power.

Twenty-one electric furnaces are now in operation and the plant is running at full capacity. From its West Duluth plant, the company ships calcium carbide all over the United States. The plant is one of the new industries at West Duluth.

Finding Excuses For Not Working

An Alarming Sign of Decay.

"In nearly every case," says a prominent physician, "when a man or woman loses the will to work it is because the power to work is gone. In other words, the "fuse" or the center of the nervous system is burned out, and the whole nerve-circuit is broken. When this happens, vitality ebbs away quickly and general decay of all the faculties is bound to result unless measures are taken to restore "the circuit."

There are certain things which are known to restore nervous energy and the clearness of the blood stream in a remarkable way. These materials when combined have produced amazing transformations in a short time. This combination is known as Make-Man Tablets, the most popular, effective, prompt and lasting nerve invigorator and blood purifier offered to run-down men and women.

If you feel weak all over or sick, are nervous and irritable, have insomnia, Rheumatism, Kidney or Liver Trouble, Make-Man Tablets will act in a remarkable way.

Make-Man Tablets are sold at all drug stores at 50 cents a box. If you wish to try them before buying, just drop a line to the Make-Man Tablet Co., Make-Man Bldg., Dept. 11, Chicago, Ill., and they will send you a trial treatment absolutely free.

Sold and recommended by all leading druggists and A. E. Swedberg, White Swan Drug Store, 3 East Superior street, also 2015 W. Superior street.

GRAND AVENUE IS A MUDHOLE

Large Truck Is Stuck in Mire for Over an Hour.

Teamsters, automobile owners and others engaged in traffic on Grand avenue are loud in their protests against the condition of the thoroughfare this spring and will ask the city to take steps to have the sink holes filled and the street drained of its many mudholes.

It is claimed that with but little expense, the street could be ditched and the water which has in past springs stood in the road, could be drained off. In places the street is so low that the mud puddles never dry up even in the summer time. On the north side of the avenue from Central avenue to the old fair grounds the road is in poor shape. The worst piece of the road is between Thirty-ninth avenue west and the fair grounds.

Those engaged in traffic on Grand avenue, which is the principal thoroughfare between West Duluth and the down-town district, are not contented to wait until next year, when a portion of the street will be paved. They say that the improvement is needed at once and the Eighth and Seventh ward aldermen will probably be asked to take some action to bring the matter before the council or board of public works.

At Fifty-sixth avenue west and Grand avenue yesterday, a large truck of one of the local wholesale concerns was mired in a sink hole for nearly an hour and a three-horse team could not pull the truck out of the hole without assistance. Street car traffic was blocked for some time.

LEVATO HEARING IS IN PROGRESS

New Duluth Man Being Examined for Biting His Companion.

Joseph Levato, charged with biting Pasquale Cacchione in a shooting affair at New Duluth on St. Patrick's day, March 17, is being examined today in municipal court. The examination was started yesterday afternoon, but was not finished.

Cacchione is also held by the police charged with shooting at Levato. The latter was wounded in the side, the bullet glancing off a rib and coming out at the back. Cacchione claims that Levato severely maimed his hand by biting it.

Both men are from New Duluth and the services of an interpreter are required at the hearing. Judge Alfred Jaques is representing Levato at the examination. Cacchione has had his examination and has been bound over to the grand jury of the May term of the district court.

FRIENDS BECOME FATHERS ON SAME DAY.

Joseph Chestock, cigar maker, and Frank Sears, cigar salesman, who have been friends for years, became fathers yesterday at the same time.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Sears at their home, 607 North Forty-ninth avenue west. Mr. Sears is a cigar salesman for the Gowan-Peyton-Congdon company.

Mr. and Mrs. Chestock are the parents of a daughter, born yesterday at their home, 318 Central avenue. Mr. Chestock is a Central avenue cigar maker.

SON CAUSES ARREST OF HIS FATHER.

John Lindberg, aged 51, was arrested on the complaint of his son, Albert, last evening and was taken from his home at 324 Central avenue, upstairs, to the police station. Young Lindberg stated that his father had come home intoxicated and had raised a disturbance in the home. Lindberg got off in police court this morning with a minimum fine.

MILL WILL OPERATE WITH TWO SHIFTS.

General Manager S. J. Cusson denies the rumor that the Virginia & Rainy Lake mill at West Duluth is through operating and says that the plant will be started up with a day and night shift as soon as the ice is out of the booms, which will be probably about April 15.

Mr. Cusson says that repairs have been made in preparation for an active season and that as soon as conditions permit, the mill will be going full blast. He also stated that if the market conditions next fall warranted it, that the company would operate all winter, providing there was room for piling lumber at the mill.

The company has plenty of logs to begin sawing, says Mr. Cusson.

MATTER MAY GO TO COURT

Company Says City Agreed to Furnish Men for Work.

R. E. Patterson of the board of public works yesterday informed officials of the Soo railroad that the city will not clean out the catch basin of the sewer which runs through the railroad propetry at the foot of Seventh avenue west. Mr. Patterson stated that all the other roads take care of storm sewers which pass through their yards, and that he is opposed to any change in this policy.

He said this morning that if the city takes care of the Soo in this respect, he fears it will prove an entering wedge for the other roads to compel the city to assume all responsibility in this regard. The Soo, on the other hand, points to an agreement which was made with the council, whereby the city agrees to furnish men to remove debris which may collect in the catch basin. The matter was called to the attention of some of the aldermen, and according to Mr. Patterson, they said that they did not know that any such agreement had been made, and that if they had known the importance of any such agreement, they would have opposed it. It may result in the matter being taken to the courts for settlement, said Mr. Patterson today.

The agreement is as follows:

"Said company agree that it will construct a catch basin on its property near the south line of Superior street at Seventh avenue west, with a capacity of not less than sixty-four cubic yards, as such design as will, in the opinion of the city engineer of Duluth, remedy the defects now existing in the portion of said sewer southerly from Superior street; and said company further agrees that it will supply, at a convenient time and when necessary, a derrick and car or other necessary facilities for the emptying of said catch basin of any debris that may collect therein, and haul the same away and dispose of it at its own expense. Said city agrees to furnish the necessary men to remove the debris from said catch basin with facilities so supplied it by said company.

"Said city agrees that, as soon as the railway companies, or other parties interested, construct a sewer or culvert to carry the water from the present outlet of the storm water sewer on the southerly side of Michigan street at Twelfth avenue west to the northerly side of Railroad street at Twelfth avenue west, said city will construct a sewer or culvert of like dimensions and quality of construction from the northerly side of said Railroad street to the southerly side thereof.

"Upon the completion of the work herein provided for, as to the Seventh avenue west sewer outlet and the Twelfth avenue west sewer outlet, said city hereby agrees that it will accept said Seventh avenue west sewer and said Twelfth avenue west sewer, and the sewers as now constructed in Eighth avenue west and Eleventh avenue west, as satisfactory to said city, notwithstanding the changes made therein by or on account of the operations of said company up to this date; and will thereafter maintain the same at its own expense in all respects the same as if the locations and dimensions of said sewers had not been changed or affected by the operations, acts or omissions of said company prior to this date."

Just Half in Bed

Clyde, Ky.—Mrs. I. A. Decker, writes from Clyde: "I recommend Cardui, the woman's tonic, to any woman in need of a remedy. For five years, I was unable to do my own work. Half my time was spent in bed. At last I tried Cardui. Now I am well and happy, and can do my own work." Don't suffer pain, headache, backache, and other womanly miseries, when your own druggist has on his shelf a remedy for such troubles—Cardui. Get a bottle for your shelf. As a general tonic, for weak women, nothing has been found for 50 years that would take its place. Try it. It will help you.

BASCHANG SENTENCED TO TWO YEARS IN PRISON.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 29.—Jacob Baschang, formerly liquor tax collector in the county auditor's office, who was found guilty on March 17 of having solicited and accepted bribes from a brewery to refund taxes on saloons, was sentenced by Judge Gorman today to two years imprisonment and fined the costs of the case.

COPPERS WEAKEN UNDER PRESSURE

The copper market opened weak and rallied, but the upturn, caused by shorts covering, did not last. Toward the close values became top-heavy and the market receded. The trend was narrow and the market closed slightly lower than yesterday.

The metal market is slightly stronger. Whether the strength can last is doubtful. The outlook is for a dull, narrow market until important legal and political questions affecting the market are settled.

MANY OPPOSE IMPROVEMENT

West Third Street Owners Do Not Want Street Paved.

Owing to opposition which has arisen among the property holders, it is not probable that West Third street between Twentieth and Twenty-ninth avenues will be paved before next year. There is also a movement among the property holders to oppose the improvement altogether.

Some of the residents who own homes on the street say that the agitation for paving the thoroughfare is instigated by the business men and the home owners say that they will not be benefitted enough by the improvement to warrant the expense. Others want the pavement but are divided as to what kind is the most desirable.

A few of the home holders on the street state that they will not sign a petition for the paving of the street unless it provides that all preliminary improvements such as the laying of water and gas mains, underground wires and conduit tubes, be made this year and the street allowed to settle now. They believe that every vacant now. They believe that ever vacant lot along the street should have water and gas connections from the street before any pavement is laid.

A resolution was recently introduced in the council asking for the circulation of a petition among the property owners. Members of the West End Commercial club, who are pushing the project, believe that they will be able to secure enough signers to secure the improvement.

Given Another Chance.

Frank R. Wilke, the 16-year-old West end boy who was arrested in connection with the theft of $50 from the drug store of J. August Anderson on West Third street, was arraigned in the juvenile court yesterday afternoon. Young Wilke was given another chance by the court and was released on parole. He has promised to reimburse the druggist for the amount taken.

Returns From Florida.

Swan Carlson of the West end has returned from a trip to Jacksonville, Fla., where he visited a number of former West end people who are located there. He stopped a few days with Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Johnson and also visited C. A. Gregory. Mr. Johnson conducted a hardware store in the West end for twenty years. Mr. Gregory will return to the West end in a few weeks to wind up his affairs here. He will locate permanently in Florida.

Infant Dies.

Elsie, the 3-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jader, died yesterday at the family residence, 314 North Twenty-first avenue west. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Olson & Crawford undertaking rooms, 2118 West First street, with burial in Park Hill cemetery.

Married in St. Paul.

The wedding of Miss Cecil McDonbough of 1723½ West First street and J. F. Freskette, also of the West end, took place last week in St. Paul. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Freskette returned yesterday from their honeymoon. They will live in the West end.

ORIGIN OF ALL FOOLS' DAY UNKNOWN

"The First of April, some do say, Is set apart for All Fools' day."

An old rhyme tells all that is known about All Fools' day. The origin of the prankish customs incident to April 1 is not known. Probably some folk in times long past felt a need of expressing without attempt at disguise the character in which other folk viewed them. So they set apart April 1 for their purpose.

This hypothesis, of course, does not have the sanction or indorsement of a Chicago university professor so it can be accepted or rejected at the will of the reader.

If you absent mindedly pickup an empty pocketbook or kick a brick covered by hat or accept a piece of chocolate filled with red pepper next Saturday you will know that the joke is on you and that the rites of April 1 have been properly observed.

ODD AITKIN SITUATION.

"Dry" Council Has Many Applications for Saloon Licenses.

Aitkin, Minn., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nine applications for liquor licenses have been made to the newly elected "dry" council of Aitkin which, under the law, can only grant four. The town went "wet" at the last election by one vote and the situation here at present is one which is causing the liquor people and prohibitionists concern.

OVERFLOW CROWD AT WEEKLY "POP"

The weekly "pop" at the Y. M. C. A. last night was witnessed by a large crowd. The minstrel show of the boys' department was repeated. It was first presented about a week ago. Several individual "stunts" were pulled off in addition to the minstrels. The crowd filled the gymnasium and there was an overflow assemblage in the auditorium.

Cecil Gilliland gave a pianologue, Chester McLeod furnished ten minutes of fun. Miss Jean Wanless sang "Drifting to Dreamland," by Howley, and as an encore she gave "Lift Thine Eyes," by Logan. Before the overflow crowd she sang as an encore "I Love You Truly," by Carrie J. Bond. Miss Effie Brotherton gave a reading, "Mrs. Casey's Neighbors."

The minstrels were given with vim and snap and were greatly enjoyed by the two large audiences.

The Normanna Singing society will provide the program for next week's "pop."

BUILT IN FIFTY DAYS

New Steamer Walters Is Launched at the Lorain Shipyard.

Capt. Ennes of Ill-Fated Moreland Will Sail New Craft.

The new steamer Walters was launched in Cleveland Saturday, just fifty working days after the keel was laid.

This statement gives some idea of the speed and accuracy of the organization at the Lorain shipyards of the American Shipbuilding company, which made it possible to launch the 600-foot steel vessel fifty working days from the day the keel was laid. And all this was done without overtime or night work. It stands in the shipbuilding world unparalleled.

Jan. 26 the building berth was made ready and the keel of the Walters was put in place. In other berths big boats were being built, leaving only the normal force of craftsmen of each berth to do its work. Day after day the frame took shape. Each day when the morning whistle blew the craftsmen went to work. There was no crowding or hustling, each evening when the closing signal sounded they went to their homes. Through fifty working days the routine was followed. And Saturday the Walters was launched, making a new world's record for the time consumed in such building.

But the cause of building such a vessel goes back to the season of 1910, when on her fifth trip the steamer W. C. Moreland, under Capt. Claud Ennis, went aground at Keneenaw point, and was useless ever afterward to her owners.

Capt. Ennis is a young man. The loss of the Moreland in the eyes of the public meant his ruin as a mariner. It was not so with W. H. Becker, manager of the Jones & Laughlin Steel company's fleet, nor with the officers of the Jones & Laughlin company. While idle tongues scored Capt. Ennes and gray hairs replaced black ones on that master's head, they refused to heap blame upon him.

Plans were laid for a new boat to replace the Moreland. In the mills of the steel company plates and beams were made after the patterns used for the Moreland. The American Shipbuilding company was ordered to get ready to receive them. The new boat was built and Capt. Ennes will sail her when she goes out on her maiden trip. It is the way his superiors have chosen to prove their faith in the captain's ability.

Thomas Walters, mining expert for Jones & Laughlin, for whom the vessel was named, was unable to be present at the launching. W. C. Moreland, for whom the lost boat was named, was not there. He felt so badly over the loss of the other ship he refused to have another boat named after him or attend the ceremonies for the one which takes the place of the steamer Moreland.

The Lady That Is "Wondrous Fair"

(Mrs. Graham in the Criterion.)

"Any woman with a clear and soft complexion looks young and attractive.

"The girl of sixteen whose skin is dark and 'muddy,' or rough or red, or who has wrinkles not sent by Father Time, or hair on lip or cheek, or pimples and blotches—how does she compare with the woman that is 'wondrous fair' at forty?

"And the fair woman at forty is with us oftener than we realize. We know when she is fair—but we do not know when she is forty.

"If you would be satisfied with your complexion, massage your face, arms and neck once a day with a solution made by dissolving a small original package of mayatone in eight ounces of witch hazel.

"This treatment is harmless and gives wonderful results, removing all manner of blemishes, and preventing wrinkles and superfluous hair."

BANNER LAND PRICE.

Quarter Section Ten Miles From Fargo Brings $85 Per Acre.

Fargo, N. D., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Bohnsack paid $85 per acre for a quarter of section of land ten miles south of Fargo and there were no buildings on the land. It is believed to be the highest price ever paid in the state for farm lands that were not close to some city or incorporated village.

FARGO OFFERED SITE

For the Location of Proposed Filtration Plant.

Fargo, N. D., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The solution to the trouble over the location of the new filtration plant may be in the offer of a free site made by Miss Rea, who owns a farm a mile and a half south of Fargo, which is up stream. The place suggested is a high point on the river bank that has never been overflowed since the earliest settlement of this territory. There is a great deal of opposition to its location near the present waterworks and some to its being placed on a site purchased last year by the city.

FAVORS RECALL.

Col. Roosevelt Says System Is an Admirable One.

San Francisco, Cal., March 29.—"I champion and practice the right of criticism of the federal judiciary, for that is the only alternative to adopting some other method of bringing the federal judiciary, whenever necessary, into closer touch with the people," declared Theodore Roosevelt last night in an address to a popular mass meeting.

Mr. Roosevelt devoted his attention almost wholly to the question of the recall of the judiciary, which is now agitating California and several other states. He repeated his indorsement of the constitutional amendment soon to be presented to California voters which provides for this method of controlling the courts, but again stated, as he did in Los Angeles, that he did not believe it was the best way in which the problem could have been met.

FARGO MILITIA OFFICER HONORED BY GOVERNMENT.

Fargo, N. D., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The war department allotted only one place to the North Dakota National guard to inspect the army maneuvers in Texas. That place has been awarded to Capt. Grafton of Company B in Fargo.

HOTELS ARE INSPECTED

Proprietors Who Have Not Complied With Ordinance Will Be Arrested.

Building Inspector Making Second Tour of All Public Hostelries.

The officials of the building inspector's office have begun a complete new inspection of all the hotels and lodging houses of the city, to ascertain whether or not they have complied with the provisions of the building ordinance relative to fire equipment.

Some time ago a preliminary examination of all of them was made by a deputy inspector. It revealed the startling fact that not one of them fulfilled all of the requirements. Part of them were found to be nothing but veritable fire traps, revealing the fact that in case they should happen to take fire, numbers of lives would almost certainly be lost.

Some of them did not have the necessary fire escapes; others did not have the red lights indicating the locations of the fire escapes; in none of them were gongs, sufficiently loud to arouse the sleepers in case of fire, located. Many of them were of frame construction, built so many years ago that they could be classed as little better than shacks, which would burn like tinder once they gained a good start.

The ordinance requires that the building inspector serve notice upon the tenant, lessee or owner of such premises, notifying them of the defects in their equipment. The man upon whom the notice is served is allowed thirty days in which to comply. If he has not done so in that time, the inspector or a deputy is required to cause a warrant to be issued for his or her arrest. The time limit for notices which were served after the inspection, has elapsed, and another inspection is being made to learn if the requirements of the ordinance have been observed.

After the notices were served many of the owners and tenants came to the office of the building inspector to find out just what they would have to do. After getting the desired information, they stated that they would comply at the earliest possible moment, and it is expected that the second inspection will show a great improvement in the general conditions.

"A Subscriber" wrote to The Herald today calling attention to the fact that not all of them are obeying the laws in this respect. He said that he knows of one large hotel in the city where there is only one fire escape which can be reached from the halls directly. He said that other fire escapes are attached to the building, but that in order to reach them it is necessary to go through rooms which are kept locked most of the time. He referred to the recent fire in New York in which over 140 lives were lost, and declared that Duluth should not be found lacking in the matter of safety appliances in case of fire.

SNOW BLANKET COVERS DULUTH

Storm Is Widespread Over Minnesota and the Dakotas.

The snow flurries which the weather man promised for last night developed into a snow storm that covered Duluth and vicinity with a blanket three or four inches thick. The amount of precipitation, which is melted snow, was .22 inch.

The snow storm was unaccompanied by wind or very cold weather, so that it carried few discomforts except the sloppy walks today.

The snow area extended over Minnesota, North Dakota and parts of South Dakota and as far West as Havre, Mont.

A cold wave is headed this way and will reach Duluth tonight. Forecaster Richardson says, sending the temperature down to about 15 deg.

law and code books also a number of documents and manuscripts that can never be replaced.

The finance committee room in which were stored drafts of all the appropriation and other bills of the present session.

The lieutenant governor's room, badly damaged but not wrecked.

The senate and assembly chambers, both flushed with water that has ruined their rich furnishings, and the scandal-struck ceiling of the latter hanging in wasted and straggling shreds of half-dissolved paper. This ceiling, with its handsome adornment, is said to have cost a great sum and was one of the show sights of the capitol.

On the fourth floor in the west wing the wrecked offices are: The court of claims, in which many important legal documents were on file; the bill draughting department, the bureau of weights and measures, the state regents' rooms, the state prison commission, the state educational department, containing many valuable books of scientific and historical interest.

On the second floor the damaged rooms are: The attorney general's office, the state excise department, probably swept by flames.

On the first floor the damaged departments include: The offices of the state treasurer and state tax commissioner, the board of charities and the state commission of lunacy, the lower office of the state educational department.

Practically all the offices below the third floor, including the executive chamber, were damaged by smoke and water.

Departments Saved.

The departments which escaped the ravage of fire and the deluge of water include: The court of appeals, secretary of state's office, department of public works, the state superintendent of prisons office, the state civil service commission, the forest, fish and game department. The restaurant, telegraph offices and press bureaus along the "midway" on the third floor, also escaped damage.

While the fire was at its height, four men were reported missing. One of them, Samuel Abbott, is still missing and is believed to have been burned to death.

After the fire was under control, Fred Weyler, 75 years old, a watchman in the state library, was reported to be missing. Thomas Bean, the capitol attache, and a man employed in the document room, were missing.

Governor Dix was aroused shortly after 4 o'clock and remained in close touch with the firemen by telephone, until the fire was declared to be under control. Practically all the state officials and many of the city officers were also on the ground. State Architect Ware said he could not give an estimate as to what the total loss would be.

Firemen Have Narrow Escapes.

The fireman had many narrow escapes. Several parties of them were trapped by flames in the corridors and rooms, but got safely out. Chief Bridgeford and a squad came near being hit when a large section of the western cornice crashed down with a part of the roof and upper wall. Several firemen were overcome by smoke and many were made so ill they had to seek fresh air.

Half an hour after the fire was considered under control, the flames broke out afresh in the ceiling of the assembly chamber. The firemen fought the blaze from the garret above, but it proved so stubborn that they had great difficulty in finally controlling it.

Though the fire had been pronounced under control, the inside of the capitol, on the upper floors of the west wing, was still a seething mass of flames that sent billows of smoke spouting skyward and showered the surrounding sections with small particles of charred paper.

Effect on Senatorial Situation.

There was much speculation as to the effect the fire would have on the senatorial situation. The assembly chamber was flooded with water but the assembly parlor on the northeast corner of the building was unscathed and it was decided to hold the adjourned Democratic caucus there, as well as the joint ballot at noon.

The caucus last night did not adjourn until nearly 1 o'clock and a few stragglers remained in the building when the fire broke out.

An attache of the assembly library returning for some overlooked papers discovered a tiny blaze near his desk. There had been a complaint filed during the day that an electric switch was out of order, and this is supposed to have started the fire.

Running out into the corridor the clerk summoned a night watchman and, with the assistance of two newspaper men, efforts were made to put out the fire, which probably could have been done if a fire extinguisher had been available. Lacking this the flames spread until the room with its inflammable furnishings and paper was all ablaze.

Firemen Slow in Arriving.

It was some time before the firemen arrived, and before they could get streams playing the flames were racing toward the state library.

The grand western staircase, which was regarded as one of the most beautiful in the world, occupied the center of the western wing and consisted of an immense double stairway of corsehill and stone elaborately carved. It was surmounted by a glazed dome, which soon fell. It may have to be rebuilt. The capitol was begun in March, 1884, and took five and one-half years to build.

State Commissioner of Education Andrew S. Draper stated today the state library contained 600,000 volumes, 400,000 pamphlets and 300,000 historical manuscripts. Two years ago Commissioner Draper transferred from the state library proper to the safe in his office on the first floor the original emancipation proclamation, the original Washington's farewell address, the original manuscript of the state Constitution and fifteen or twenty of the other priceless manuscripts, as well as all the Washington relics. These all have been removed from the building to a place of safety since the fire started.

Records Cannot Be Replaced.

Commissioner Draper said that most of the manuscripts that have been lost were original documents and cannot be replaced. The early Dutch records were lost. Of the books on the state library shelves which can be duplicated in the open market today, such duplication would cost, according to Commissioner Draper, $1,500,000, but he says the value of the other books and manuscripts, because of their being rarefies, is priceless. Commissioner Draper estimated that the loss of documents and equipment of the state library which could be replaced was in the neighborhood of $2,000,000. He has arranged to carry on the work of his department in the state normal school.

Fire Breaks Out Anew.

Starting afresh in the northwest angle, the fire got away from the firemen shortly before 10 o'clock. After several firemen had been knocked unconscious by falling debris, they were cautious about penetrating beneath the shattered arches in the west wing. A huge chimney that was considered unsafe also kept them at bay, and this permitted the flames to gain renewed headway. Great pillars of dense smoke curled from the peaks of both the northwest and southwest angles and spits of bluish haze spouted from the windows on the north side, opening from the garret. Fireman Bennett was overcome in the southwest angle and removed in an ambulance.

Governor Dix was on hand before 10 o'clock and took personal direction of the salvage effects in the offices still untouched. It was decided to remove the precious books and records in storage, the firemen being unable to tell whether they could keep the blaze under control.

Assembly Chamber a Wreck.

The assembly chamber is a wreck. Streams of water are coursing over the rich axminister carpets, while the desks and chairs are piled in helpless confusion, water dripping from the ceiling and every article in the chamber. In the center of the forum lies the large brass chandelier, hopelessly smashed.

Confusion abounds on every hand in the north wing. The walls and ceilings are stripped of their ornate porcelain blocks, the arches rising gaunt and bare, with steel rafters stretched across them. Doors have been smashed in, brownstone arches have crumbled, and the devastation is enhanced by the dripping ceilings and rivulets coursing over the floor and down the stairways.

At the Homeopathic hospital, three firemen are under medical attention, of whom one, William Rogers, is reported to be in bad condition from gas inhalation. Other firemen were injured by falling debris, but returned to work after having their wounds attended to.

Militia in Service.

Militiamen were pressed into service to remove the records, relics and flags from the adjutant general's office and in policing the fire lines.

In every portion of the west wing the rooms are a hopeless wreck. Desks have been ripped open, drawers forced and their contents strewn about the floors, smashed to flinders by the battering axes of the fire fighters. The latter were handicapped from the start by their ignorance of the many devious turns and passages, and blind corridors of the capitol.

Scores of legislators have visited the chambers and committee rooms and removed their personal effects. Both houses met at the city hall during the forenoon, in response to a call by Governor Dix.

It is expected that the legislators will take up a rigid probing of the report that an electric push button was reported out of commission by a watchman yesterday morning and not repaired during the day. This button is held responsible for the conflagration.

Firemen Quench Flames.

The firemen brought every possible line of hose to bear on the west wing shortly after 10 o'clock, and before an hour had passed the flames had been so thoroughly quenched that it was possible to get within striking distance of the smouldering heaps in the northwest and southwest angles.

Governor Dix summoned State Architect Ware, Police Chief Wyatt and Fire Chief Bridgeford into conference as to the safety of the capitol. The governor feared it had been so badly damaged that all parts were unsafe. The conferees refused an opinion on the matter before they had discussed it.

Speaking of the fire, Governor Dix said:

"It is an appalling disaster. I consider the destruction of the state library a national loss."

Weyler, Bean and the document room attache, who were reported missing, were accounted for before noon, but it could not be definitely ascertained as to whether Samuel Abbott had been located.

State Architect Ware issued a statement that the loss by a rough estimate would be about $5,000,000 exclusive of the valuable records in the state library which cannot be replaced.

The firemen considered the senate and assembly chambers practically intact with the exception of slight fire and water damage, but Mr. Ware advised against their use until they had been tested.

The building was placed under martial law and the notes of bugles resounded through the corridors so lately blocked by smoke and swept by flames.

Electricians about the capital scouted the idea that defective wiring had caused the blaze, and blame it on a carelessly thrown cigaret.

So far as can be ascertained, there is no insurance on the capitol or its contents.

There have been several incipient blazes in the capitol during the last few years, the most serious one four years ago in the basement of the southwest angle.

MOTION PICTURE MAN HAS TROUBLE

Enforcement of New Sunday Closing Law Causing Bismarck Row.

Bismarck, N. D., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota's new Sunday closing law is causing all kinds of excitement here with C. W. Temple, proprietor of a local moving picture house, as the center of interest. He has been arrested twice on charges of violating the law, having been discharged on one allegation and with another complaint still pending. A public meeting in a local church, at which several pastors of the city delivered rather interesting and unusual addresses is another feature of the movement.

The new law is directed against moving picture houses and practically all lines of business and amusement on the Sabbath. The first Sunday after the law became effective, Temple was arrested for violating it, but in a jury trial he was acquitted. The second charge, on which he was arraigned yesterday, was continued until tomorrow, Temple again making demand that he be given a trial by jury.

The two charges that have been lodged came up on alleged violations on two different Sundays, and as Temple's place was open Sunday of this week also, it is anticipated that there will be another warrant issued.

LIKES TWO HARBORS MAN.

Thief River May Call Presbyterian Minister—Snow Helps Farmers.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. C. B. Boyden of Two Harbors preached in the Presbyterian church in this city Sunday and it is probable that a call will be extended to him. The church has been without a regular pastor for several months and the congregation hope to secure the services of a first-class man for the place.

Two new general stores have opened in this city within the last three weeks. They are permanently located in good buildings.

The rain storm which visited the northern part of the state failed to reach this section, but in lieu thereof a scant snow storm covered the ground with a light covering of snow. The farmers are pleased that the cold weather is holding during this month, as a year ago all small fruit and leaf buds were destroyed by prematurely mild weather followed by severe frosts. The prospects were never better in this territory for a good crop.

Faribault Primary Results.

Faribault, Minn., March 29.—The successful candidates at the primaries for city officers Monday are: Mayor, George L. Smith and Alson Blodgett, Jr.; councilmen, W. B. Holden, T. Benson Brown, F. J. McCarthy, Fred Chaffee, Clem Wall, P. J. Harges, John Kasper and P. Shea. There were twenty-two candidates for councilmen. A large vote was polled.

For Better Wisconsin Highways.

Madison, Wis., March 29.—The senate has passed, 26 to 20, the senate bill creating a state highway commission of five men and appropriating $250,000 annually as state aid for the construction of public highways.

Minot, N. D., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fred F. Ehr was bound over by Judge Davis on a charge of assault and battery preferred by Policeman Pat Harmon.

THREE MURDERED; FOURTH DYING AS RESULT OF TUESDAY'S LIST OF CRIMES

WOODSMAN SHOT DOWN

Murder Follows Quarrel in Boarding House on Sixth Avenue West.

Police Track Guilty Man in Snow and Capture Him.

Charles Hill shot and almost instantly killed Axel Hill, 30 years old, about 12 o'clock last night, in the boarding house at 18 North Sixth avenue west.

The murder was deliberate and cold-blooded, and is supposed to have been the outcome of a quarrel which the two men had in the afternoon. Pulling a revolver from his pocket, the murderer is said by men who were in the room at the time, to have coolly shot down his victim, giving absolutely no warning of his intentions. They declare that the dead man didn't have a chance to defend himself, and that it was over so quickly that they didn't have an opportunity to interfere.

which he had done the killing as soon as he had fired the shot. He ran to Mesaba avenue, near Eighth avenue west, where he was arrested shortly afterwards by Patrolman Axel Johnson as he was hiding behind a billboard. The policeman tracked him easily in the light snow which had fallen earlier in the night.

The gun was not found on the prisoner, and it is thought that he must have thrown it away as soon as he got to the outside. A charge of murder in the first degree was placed against him.

The murder took place in the dining room of the boarding house, which is run by Otto Sunderlee. It is small and dingy, and at the time of the shooting was occupied by about a dozen of the boarders, who were drinking in the place. They stated last night that the two Hills, who are not related to each other, had a bitter quarrel in the afternoon, but at that time they did not come to blows, and it was thought that the trouble between them had been smoothed over. The men declared that they did not have any idea that a murder would be the outcome of their heated words. They claim that while they were sitting about the room the murderer suddenly whipped his gun from his pocket and fired point blank at the dead man.

The body lay where it had fallen for about an hour, and was the center of a morbid crowd. It was removed to the undertaking rooms of Flood & Horgan. The dead man was stabbed in the same house by Charles Wilson shortly after the first of the year. At that time he was taken to the police station, where his wound was dressed.

At headquarters, after he had been arrested, Hill denied that he was guilty of the shooting. But Patrolman Johnson says that while he had him in custody and they were waiting for the patrol wagon, he turned upon him with the inquiry, "Is the man dead yet?" Shortly after that the policeman said that he heard Hill remark, "Well, he hit me first, anyhow."

Mandan, N. D., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lawther will be the name of a new town that will be started on the Northern Pacific east of Elgin, this county. The town is located about eight miles from Elgin and gains its name from the fact that William Lawther of Dubuque, Iowa, has large property interests through the territory tributary to the town. This summer there will be considerable building work in the new town.

PORTER IS MURDERED

Struck on Head With Whisky Jug By Drunken Woodsman.

Guilty Man Makes No Effort to Escape After Crime.

Thomas Cain, aged 36, a porter, was the victim of a murderous assault by Ben Stilson, a woodsman, late yesterday afternoon in a lower Tower avenue saloon, Superior. A whisky jug was the weapon used. Cain died two hours later at St. Mary's hospital and Stilson is under arrest, charged with the murder.

The murder was the outcome of a drunken brawl. It took place in the wine room of the Bank saloon, Fourth street and Tower avenue. Stilson claimed that he had been "touched" for his "roll" and accused Cain of the job. Picking up a small whisky jug, he hurled it at the head of Cain with sufficient force to knock him down.

Bleeding from his injuries and in a half dazed condition, Cain crawled across the room and cried to the bartender that he had been struck. What followed will probably never be known, unless Stilson tells the story. It is thought that Stilson made a second attack on Cain and beat him unmercifully with the jug.

Cain was picked up unconscious and hurried to the hospital. He died at 7:45 o'clock. Stilson was arrested in another saloon on lower Tower avenue shortly after the affair was reported to the police.

Stilson was under the influence of liquor when he committed the crime, the police say. He made no effort to get away from the police and was drinking with a number of other men in the saloon. He seemed to consider his arrest as a matter of course and appeared not to realize the enormity of the crime.

Stilson is about 30 years old, a single man of Russian nativity and claims to have worked principally as a laborer in the woods. Cain had been working about the city since Christmas time and most of the time was employed as a saloon porter. He formerly lived in Duluth.

the informer replied that Alfano had divided the money, giving $80 to the witness and distributing the remainder among the actual assassins.

Ferdinando di Matteo, one of the assassins, protested against the giving of so large a share to Abbatemaggio, who had not participated in the killings, but was silenced with a wink from Alfano. Abbatemaggio saw the wink and understood its meaning. His associates were aware that he knew too many of their secrets and could betray them at any moment. Accordingly no sum of money was too great to pay for his silence until the opportunity came to put him out of the way, as they had disposed of Cuoccolo.

Abbatemaggio realized the feeling toward him, and this, together with a revival of honest impulses, induced him to make the first revelations, which were followed by a determination to tell all and so redeem himself.

Sortino Becomes Angry.

Abbatemaggio's examination was interrupted today by Corrado Sortino, one of those alleged to have killed the Cuoccolos, who asserted that the informer had declared that Sortino's brother was a member of the Camorra. Rising from his seat in the prisoner's cage Sortino shouted:

"You are a liar! My brother is one of the world's greatest sculptors. He lives in Paris, where he is the intimate of notables."

This gave excuse for a tumult, the other prisoners and their lawyers crying out: "Abbatemaggio is a calumniator!"

The informer, recognizing a trick to impair his testimony, raised his voice above the chorus, yelling:

"I never said that Sortino's brother was a Camorrist."

The confusion continued and the president was compelled to suspend the sitting.

The policy of the accused is to catch Abbatemaggio in contradictions or untruths if only in secondary matters, and so discredit his whole story.

not violate this confidence," concluded Mr. Kohlsaat.

The committee then went into an executive session. Everyone except Mr. Kohlsaat, Attorney Healey and members of the committee were ordered out of the room.

The questions were again put to Mr. Kohlsaat in this secret session. Again he refused absolutely to answer.

The doors were then reopened and Mr. Kohlsaat was given a third opportunity to answer the questions. This he again refused to do.

At this juncture, the committee took a recess until this afternoon. Mr. Kohlsaat was excused until 10 a. m. Thursday morning, when he will again be called to the stand.

Before he was excused, Mr. Kohlsaat was informed by the committee that its members had agreed that he must answer the questions regarding the money.

Hines' Charges Denied.

Washington, March 29.—Prompt denial was made here today by friends of President Taft of the report from Springfield, Ill., that Mr. Taft had joined with Senator Aldrich in urging the election of William Lorimer to the United States senate. Edward Hines, a Chicago lumberman, at the Lorimer hearing in Springfield yesterday, testified that Senator Aldrich had told him that Mr. Taft was anxious that Mr. Lorimer should be selected.

It was stated here today that a similar report became current last September and that President Taft then, in a letter to an Illinois friend, categorically denied the statement. In that letter the president among other things said that "the rumor, report or statement that I consciously lent any of the weight of the administration to the election of Lorimer is wholly untrue."

Burned by Prairie Fire.

Brainerd, Minn., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The recent prairie fire near Klondike, ten miles east of Brainerd, destroyed the barn and outbuildings of George A. Keene, a real estate man of Brainerd, and swept within five feet of the big farmhouse on the place, which was only saved by the strenuous efforts of Percy Coffin. The insurance was $200, but the loss is over $500.

CANT HOOK HIS WEAPON

Ed Davis Kills Companion and Injures Another, Probably Fatally.

Surrenders Himself to Deputy Sheriffs on Iron Range Train.

Ed Davis, a woodsman, is in the St. Louis county jail and will be charged with the murder of Charles Taylor.

The killing took place in a shack at Brimson yesterday and was the result of a drunken carousal and card game. Taylor was killed with a heavy cant hook. Davis admitted to deputy sheriffs yesterday afternoon that it was he who struck the blow.

William Condon, another woodsman, received injuries during the fight which stretched him on the floor of the shack in an unconscious condition. He may be still lying there, unless rescued by neighbors.

All the men were woodsmen. Taylor owned the shack. The three men left Duluth Monday afternoon intending to stay with Taylor at his shack for a period of eight or ten days, or until the spring drive of logs began on the Cloquet river. They took along a gallon jug of whisky in addition to several small bottles of the liquor.

The men drank steadily and played cards continually from the time they reached the shack until some time yesterday morning. They began to think about something to eat and Davis was instructed to warm some beans while Taylor was given money with which to buy bread at the nearest farmhouse.

According to the story told the deputy sheriffs by Davis, Taylor started after the bread but changed his mind when but a few feet from the house and returned. "What do you want that big brute here for?" he is said to have remarked, pointing at Davis.

No sooner had the words escaped his lips than he grabbed a canthook and aimed a blow at Davis' head. The blow landed and the wound bled profusely.

Davis says that he then wrenched the cant hook from the hands of Taylor and struck him several blows. Condon took a hand in the struggle at this point, claims Davis, and he (Condon) bit the first finger of Davis' hand. Taylor had gone down on the floor by this time and Davis gave all his attention to Condon, who was soon floored.

When both men were down Davis says that he became frightened at what he had done and kneeling on the floor beside Condon, he raised his head and cried: "For God's sake, speak to me, Bill! I've killed Charlie!"

Davis then began a search for his hat. He turned the body of Taylor over, thinking it might have fallen under him. He could not find the hat so he hastily took the only one he saw, a black felt, and putting it on his head, he ran to the nearest farmhouse, owned by a man named Johnson.

"Mr. Johnson!" he cried, go up to Taylor's shack and you'll find two dead men!"

Davis then ran to the railroad station which he reached just in time to board the afternoon train for Duluth.

On the train were Deputy Sheriffs King, Stevens and O'Dea. Davis told them the story in a very excited manner and they at once put him under arrest.

He told the deputies that he was on his way to Duluth to give himself up.

The deputies with the prisoner arrived in the city at 6:10 last night.

FEDERALS WINNING MANY BATTLES WITH THE INSURRECTOS

from the fight at Alamo, which occurred on March 22, reached Mexicali today with the startling information that Simon Berthold, the American Socialist insurgent leader, was wounded in the lung at that battle, taken prisoner and put to death three days later at Ensenada.

Seven rebels in all, it is reported, were captured by the federals at Alamo and executed at Ensenada. Gloom pervades the rebel camp. According to information which has leaked out Gen. Leyva lost twenty men in the recent attack.

The news of Leyva's reverse at Tecate came from dissatisfied and despondent men in his ranks. According to their story the attack by the rebels on the federal position at Tecate was disastrous. Stragglers from the fight made their way into Mexicali today. They were a hungry, thirsty and weary lot.

The men said that Gen. Leyva began his retreat from Tecate at 3 o'clock last Wednesday morning when his ammunition became exhausted. According to them, Leyva retired at full speed on horseback, leaving his foot soldiers to their fate. Only the reluctance of the federal troops to leave their untrenched position saved the rebels from utter rout.

"Ham" Dignowitty Unharmed.

Washington, March 28.—John Hamilton Dignowitty, an American citizen recently reported as having been executed by the federal forces of Mexico, is well and unharmed, according to further evidence received by the state department today.

United States Consul Letcher telegraphed today from Chihuahua that the American consular agent at Parral had been informed by the brother of Dignowitty that the latter was living near Parral and enjoying good health.

Crisis is Approaching.

El Paso, Tex., March 29.—The relations between President Diaz's military forces in Northern Mexico and the insurrectos are declared to be rapidly approaching a crisis.

Gen. Rabago with his 1,100 federal troops are safely encamped in Chihuahua city after a remarkable four weeks' march from Juarez. Less than thirty miles to the west Francisco I. Madero, the insurrecto leader is gathering his forces and building defenses in preparation for a move, which he says, "will more than convince the world that the insurrection is not losing headway."

From Encinillos, on the Mexican Central railroad, Madero moved southwest to San Andres on the Mexican Northwestern railroad, thus completing a swing from less than thirty miles north of Chihuahua city to a point about equally distant west.

Rabago reached the outskirts of Chihuahua after a weary struggle. His 225-mile march through the heart of the insurrection country to relieve Chihuahua was harrassed almost every mile by the firing of insurrectos hidden in the mountains and brush. Dozens of his men were killed and buried along the railroad tracks. Chihuahua city on the arrival of Rabago became the strongest of the federal garrisons in the war zone. It has about 3,000 soldiers and is encircled by fortifications, while the churches and chief buildings have the appearance of arsenals and house-tops are piled high with sand bags to be used as breastworks in case of attack.

Juarez has 500 federal troops and Casas Grandes 700. These are practically isolated because of lack of train and telegraph service. The towns between the federal strongholds, including Madera, Candelaria, Ahumada, Gallego and Sauz, are surrounded by insurrectionists.

The intervening country is patrolled by insurrecto bands. It is said to be Madero's plan to prevent a juncture of the federal forces, by maintaining them in their present locations.

The situation of Juarez has been regarded as serious for a week. Several families have moved to El Paso because of the presence of insurrectos along the river both east and west of the city.

To Deal With Madero.

El Paso, Tex., March 29.—If any peace proposals are being formulated by the Mexican government, it is believed by the insurrecto junta here that they will be delivered to Francisco I. Madero, the insurrecto president, in the form of unofficial overtures.

It is believed the first step taken by the federal government would be to sound Madero's attitude without binding the government to definite promises.

Through the conferences between Senor Limantour and Francisco I. Madero, Sr., and Gustavo Madero in New York, President Diaz has been plainly informed of the demands of the insurrectos but it is intimated that the Mexican government has displayed some desire to deal with the insurrecto president direct.

Madero, according to reports, is less than one day's march from Chihuahua, now the strongest federal post in Northern Mexico. The junta here does not believe President Diaz will yield to the most insistent of the insurrecto demands, which included the retirement of the president. The junta does not consider the prospect particularly bright for immediate peace.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.
ODEUM and LYRIC—Photoplay.

Manager Charles A. Marshall left last evening for New York to make arrangements for next year's bookings at the Lyceum.

Tomorrow evening Miss Maude Leone will make her bow to Duluth theatergoers in a radically different line of work from what she has been appearing in before Duluth audiences. Miss Leone has the role of Mary Jane Jenkins in George M. Cohan's famous "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway," and as the part is one where musical comedy, some serious work and a touch of pathos are cleverly intermixed, there is the opportunity for some fine work on the part of the actress.

Fay Templeton scored the biggest hit of her career in this part. Her singing of "So Long, Mary," was one of the best things she ever did. Miss Leone will sing this song, and also one or two others. It will be the first time that Miss Leone has ever done any work of this nature in this city, and a great amount of interest is being shown in her appearance as the result. "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway" will make its first appearance tomorrow evening.

There is a world's champion rope walker at the Orpheum this week, whose title means something more than one that has been simply appropriated by the performer, and used because nobody takes the trouble to dispute it.

The performer is Robedello, the Cuban slack wire artist.

Robedello won his title last November in New York. Percy Williams, one of the most prominent vaudeville managers and producers of the metropolis, gave a contest for wire walking. He secured the entries of twenty-seven of the best wire walkers in this country and Europe. The contest for the gold medal offered by Mr. Williams, was held at the Alhambra theater in New York, and Robedello walked off with the medal.

The young Cuban is a remarkable equilibrist. He does not use a balancing pole or a parasol to aid him in his work, and he seems as much at home on the wire as he does on the ground, walking with his hands in his pockets, and apparently making no effort to keep his balance. He also does cakewalk on the wire, and finishes his act with a remarkable imitation of a a drunken man.

Miss Edith Randell, who is at the Empress this week, has a very elaborate and expensive wardrobe as all of her gowns are of the latest Parisian models and are all imported from that city. Miss Randall has just received one of the latest harem gowns which is one of the most expensive gowns of this design that has been imported to this country. She will wear this harem gown at each matinee this week in order to give the women of Duluth an opportunity to see it.

Barto and Clark, who are also on this week's bill, are proving themselves to be entertainers of the highest order. Their offering consists mainly of comedy with enough good singing and dancing to make their part of the program pleasing to all. Both are very clever dancers, and they have become favorites this week.

Phenomena sings a few well selected numbers and demonstrates the wonderful possibilities of the human voice. He sings his different numbers in soprano, contralto, tenor, baritone and bass.

Manager Furniss is following out his policy of presenting, whenever possible, moving picture films that present social or economic problems, and this week at the Odeum "The Wedding Bell" tells a story of the sweatshops and tenements, that should help to arouse public interest in these problems. In addition to this it tells a highly dramatic story. The film is so out of the ordinary that it will be retained all week.

Van Camp's Spaghetti
Italian Style
At Every Grocery—Ready-cooked
10c and 15c per can

No, Madam, No

Quite a number of women are beginning to ask how we prepare our spaghetti.

Requests for the recipe will come to us by the thousands unless we take steps to prevent it.

So we make this announcement.

The recipe is secret. It has never been written down.

Our chefs spent two years in working out this harmony of taste. The result is an asset of our concern.

We'll cook the dish for you and supply it for less than it would cost you to make it. You get it ready to serve by simply heating or baking.

But we can't tell the proportions of the 17 ingredients which produce this perfect blend.

The main materials are:

Durum wheat spaghetti.
Herkimer County full cream cheese.
Best creamery butter.
The same superlative tomato sauce we use in Van Camp's Pork & Beans.

The result is spaghetti, Italian style, better than Italy ever knew.

It is so delicious, so conspicuously perfect, that every woman guest will ask you how you made it.

Please don't wait. Try this new dish while it's new. Ask your grocer for it.

MORAL WAVE SWEEPS CITY

Duluth Getting Quiet But Effective Civic House Cleaning.

More Arrests in Two Weeks Than for Months Previous.

Avoiding the beating of tom toms common to civic house cleanings, the administration is giving Duluth a moral raking over more extensive than it has experienced in many moons.

The police are running through the city with a fine comb, arresting undesireable characters, male and female, raiding disorderly resorts, breaking up gambling games, running out of the city men who derive their support from dissolute women, and arresting blind-piggers.

In the last two weeks more arrests of this character have been made than in many months previous. The business of the police court has been swelled to unusual proportions. Incidentally, the city treasury is being swelled at a rate far beyond the average, which may or may not show that those engaging in illicit businesses have been making money and prospering.

Following the arrest of a couple at the Imperial hotel early this morning on statutory charges, the proprietress, Minnie Bouchey, better known as Minnie Meyers, was arrested on a charge of selling liquor without a license. She entered a plea of not guilty and will be tried Friday morning.

Yesterday afternoon Ah Wong, a waiter in the chop suey house in the St. James hotel building, was arrested on a charge of selling liquor without a license. He failed to appear in police court this morning and forfeited $100 bail. This is the first Chinese place which has been raided for a long while.

Yesterday afternoon four different women were arrested on charges of selling liquor without a license. Two of them run recognized disorderly houses in the red light district. They pleaded guilty to the charge and each donated $100. They were Nellie Blaine and Lucile Wells. The Blaine woman appeared personally and the other was represented by an inmate. The others were Anna Carney, 1119 West Michigan street, and Minnie Cookman, 228 Lake avenue south. In addition to the charge of selling liquor without a license, they were accused of running houses of ill fame. They pleaded not guilty to both charges and their trials set for Monday morning.

Last Saturday night a disorderly house upstairs at 113 East Superior street was raided. Gertrude Monson was charged with selling liquor without a license and running a house of ill fame. She pleaded guilty and paid fines aggregating $150. The three women arrested at the same time were dismissed in police court.

A short time before that a disorderly house on East First street was raided and about the same time Daisy Clark and Phyllis Pendleton, who run places in the red light district, were arrested on charges of conducting houses of ill fame. Each of them paid fines of $100. The reason for the arrest given by the police was that they had failed to obey police regulations.

"LET US BE DECENT" CARDS ARE READY.

The cards to be used by the health department in its anti-spitting campaign reached the city hall this morning. They are about n foot wide and eight inches deep. Across the top is the caption, "Let Us Be Decent," the slogan which has been adopted as the keynote of the campaign. Underneath, in smaller print, is a statement prohibiting spitting in public places. Red ink has been used throughout. They will be distributed throughout the city, displayed in places where they are most likely to be noticed.

MISSING JAMESTOWN FIRE TEAM RECOVERED.

Jamestown, N. D., March 29.—After searching all day Chief Obermueller and Sheriff Romer, finally located the missing city team, which disappeared from the fire department stable at night. Jack Williamson, who lives near the fair grounds, informed the officers that he could locate the lost team for $5, which sum was promised him, and he gave the inforamtion that led to the recovery of the team on the Little farm, about two miles west of Eldridge.

It is still a question whether the horses broke out of the stables themselves or whether they were led out and turned loose by parties either as a joke or for spite.

CURIOS REMOVED.

Housecleaning time at the police station has necessitated the removal of the cabinet of criminal curios and the case with its array of blood-stained dirks, revolvers, razors, photographs, each with a criminal history, will be taken upstairs to the Bertillion room. The police say that it has been downstairs long enough.

STATE ROAD WORK.

Plans for Getting Busy on Highways Discussed By Commission.

St. Paul, Minn., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although the $150,000 state appropriation for good roads is not available until Aug. 1, the state highway commission is wasting no time preparing plans for supervision of the highways. The commission met yesterday and outlined details of the work to be undertaken. G. W. Cooley, state engineer, sent to the members some time ago a suggested plan for the employment of supervisors of road work. This was discussed.

It is not certain that there will be a road expert in each county, although careful plans will be made to accomplish the most possible with the appropriation. The commission has only $20,000 until Aug. 1, so that men can be put on only the most important roads this summer.

An effort will be made to induce the county commissioners to plan their road improvement during the winter so there will be time to consult with state engineers before spring when the actual operations must commence.

Not An Experiment

Paint Lick, Ky.—Mrs. Mary Freeman, of this place, says: "Before I commenced to take Cardui, I suffered so much from womanly trouble! I was so weak that I was down on my back nearly all the time. Cardui has done me more good than any medicine I ever took in my life. I can't possibly praise it too highly." You need not be afraid to take Cardui. It is no new experiment. For fifty years, it has been found to relieve headache, backache, and similar womanly troubles. Composed of gentle-acting, herb ingredients, Cardui builds up the strength, preventing much unnecessary pain. Try it for your troubles, today.

MINNESOTA TO BE NO. 28?

If the Minnesota senate follows the example of the house and ratifies the amendment to the federal Constitution that empowers congress to pass a law imposing an income tax, this state will be the twenty-eighth to take such action. That will leave necessary similar action by only seven others, and, according to the reports from the various capitals, that should be accomplished within a year or two at most. It is generally regarded as certain that the amendment will be ratified by the necessary three-fourths of the states. Eleven states have rejected the amendment, but this fact counts for comparatively little in considering the ultimate chances for the amendment, since it has been ruled that while a rejection of an amendment may be changed to an acceptance by a later legislature, an acceptance stands for all time.

It is many years since the question of a federal income tax was first brought before the puplic. It has been advocated by many men, even among the conservative element, and an attempt to impose such a tax was made in 1894. The provisions, incorporated in the tariff law of that year, included a 2 per cent tax on incomes of over $4,000 that were derived from various specified sources. The bill took effect Jan. 1, 1895, but a few months later was declared unconstitutional by the United States supreme court.

But the idea of an income tax would not down, and within the last few years such a provision has been included in the platform of the Democratic party and has been indorsed by the leaders in the Republican ranks. Opponents of the scheme saw the futility of trying to stop it entirely, and secured the passage of the corporation tax law recently sustained by the supreme court. During the debate on that measure in congress and following its passage, it became apparent that the corporation tax was intended only to pacify the advocates of the income tax, but they have refused to be so easily put off. The prospect now is that the income tax amendment will be ratified before the next congress is elected, and that some measure will be enacted by that body under the new provision.

There seems to be no good reason for failure to ratify the amendment and make a constitutional income tax law possible. The value of such a tax as a revenue-producer is apparent, and it also is recognized that it would reach a taxable interest that can be touched in no other way. The plan has the hearty support of such men as Elihu Root, recognized as perhaps the foremost constitutional lawyer in the country. There has been some attempt to raise the cry of "invasion of state rights," but this was disposed of by the fact that interstate interests and sources and dispositions are involved in the incomes affected; and the nightmare of "double taxation" was dissipated by the fact that even though the states chose to tax incomes, the two funds would go to separate treasuries for distinct purposes.

This will make the sixteenth amendment to the Constitution, and the first since 1870. It will read as follows:

> Article 16—The congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on incomes from whatever source derived, without apportionment from the several states and without regard to any census or enumeration.

There is no reason why Minnesota should not be No. 28 in the list of states ratifying the amendment. The house has acted, and the senate should do the same during the present session.

THE SAME ON BOTH SIDES.

The Herald has received from a reader a clipping from The Telegram, published at Winnipeg, Man., containing a tirade against the proposed reciprocal relations between the Dominion and this country. The correspondent who sends the clipping asks that the very partisan account of what the agreement stands for be dissected and its weakness made plain. To do this in detail would be beyond the province of The Herald, since the statement in the Canadian paper was written wholly for the consumption of Canadians. Its statements are not meant to apply, and do not apply, to the effect of the agreement on the American side of the line. It raises the cry, for example, that the consumers are given nothing, and the manufacturers left unhampered by the terms of the compact, and claims to be presenting to the people, for the first time, the text of the agreement. That the statements are not meant for the people in the United States is plain, for The Herald published the full text of the agreement within twenty-four hours after it was sent to congress, in its edition for the evening of Jan. 28 last. All readers of The Herald have thus had an opportunity to study and understand those terms. Such a reading will show conclusively that the consumer's interests, both in this country and Canada, are considered, and by the word "consumer" is meant farmer and city man alike.

As to striking the American manufacturer's protection through the Canadian agreement, that is absurd. Canada has no manufactures to export that could compete with those in this country. We must look for relief from the oppression imposed by the general tariff law, to changes in that law which will apply to manufacturing countries that have the means of competing with American manufacturers.

But the Canadian paper's article is interesting for one thing, and that is that it helps to show the spirit back of the opposition to the Canadian agreement, on both sides of the border. There, as in this country, the opposition is being fostered by the high tariff advocates, and they are using every means available, fair and foul, to beat the scheme. For they know and admit that once reciprocity with Canada is established, the way will be paved for general reductions in the tariff as it applies to other countries.

Canada has her standpatters and high protectionists, followers of Sir John Macdonald's theories which were discredited by so large a number of her people when the Liberals were put in control of the government. And those Canadian high tariff advocates are working together with the American Protective Tariff league to stop anything that looks like relief from tariff oppression. It is the same on both sides of the international boundary—the people need the relief promised by the reciprocity agreement, and the forces of special privilege are determined that they shall get no relief at all if it can be helped.

RELIEVING THE POSTAL SERVICE.

Announcement that the postoffice department proposes to use the fast freight as a means of transporting magazines and periodicals, instead of burdening the regular postal service with them, brings a promise of a decided betterment in the postal accommodations for first class matter. The scheme is not wholly new, for the fast freight already has been employed by Postmaster General Hitchcock for magazine transportation in the cases of some of the publications that are sent out in greatest bulk. It has proved successful as far as tried, and there is no apparent reason why it should not succeed in general application.

Magazines and periodicals are not of such a character that a day's delay in their delivery would prove serious, and that is about all that the delay under such service would amount to. Moreover, many of them are sent out at present under strict instructions that they be withheld from sale until a given date, and another day's delay would mean only that they must be held some twenty-four hours less by those who receive them for sale or distribution.

The postoffice department has laid great stress on the extent to which the occasional floods of periodicals cause congestions in the postal service. The more general use of the fast freight service would bring material relief to the mail clerks. It is possible, too, that the cost of transportation would be reduced at the same time, thus helping yet more to solve the problems which the department is obliged to face.

LAY THE PIPES FIRST.

There is sound common sense in the communication of City Engineer McGilvray to the common council, urging the postponement of paving construction until the water, sewer and gas pipes shall have been laid in the streets where the pavement is proposed. One of the greatest difficulties in the economic management of city affairs is over this very question. The city may go to great expense in the laying of pavement in a given street. The work takes the time of many men, for which the municipal government must pay. It involves the grading of the street and the laying of a suitable bed, besides the actual laying of the pavement. Then, when the time comes for extensions of water, sewer or gas mains through that street, the expensive pavement has to be torn up at the expense of the city. So the taxpayers are called on to furnish funds to undo a part of the work which already has been done at considerable cost.

Nor is this all. If the pavement could be replaced over the new excavations as good as it was before, the situation would not be so bad. But that seems to be impossible. However well the replaced earth may be packed down, it is bound to settle to a greater or less extent within a few months, and that means a depression in the pavement. Then it becomes necessary to rip up the paving again and fill in the hole, and replace the surface. Meanwhile, until this is done, the street is in a condition that is detrimental to abutting property, besides being more or less unfit for traffic.

All this could be avoided by the simple plan of postponing paving until the other improvements have been made. It may be urged that the streets are in need of immediate paving, but there is no reason why the property owners should not be willing to let that work go over long enough to insure them against a later tearing up of the pavement, with the resulting unsatisfactoriness and expense.

Mr. McGilvray's suggestion is sensible and is founded on the interests of city and citizen alike. It ought to be heeded by the city departments and by the common council.

THE SNOW IS WELCOME.

It was not pleasant to have to wade through snow on the way down town this morning, but the storm that spread the blanket of white over Duluth did the same thing for big areas in North Dakota and other parts of Minnesota, and by that act assured itself of a warm welcome.

There has been great need of moisture in parts of the Northwest. In some places, according to reports received here, the farmers have been wondering what good it would do to try to sow anything at all. In such places this snow comes as a wonderful help. It means that the ground will be in better condition for seeding, and it brings hope for a better season than had been feared. For this reason the snow is welcome. In the cities we can shovel it off the walks and out of the way, and in view of the great value it is to the farming districts, what little inconvenience it causes in the cities amounts to nothing. The moisture it brings is welcome. May it prove the end of conditions that have tended to make the farmers and gardeners pessimistic regarding the coming summer.

Ex-Congressman Tawney says a representative isn't really meant to be a representative, but an office-holder. Maybe this ought to be called an "office-holder" instead of a "representtive" government.

FARM LAND VALUES AND WAGES IN CANADA AND UNITED STATES

Apropos of Canadian reciprocity, the report of the tariff board which the president transmitted to the senate, in response to the Cummins resolution, contains some mighty interesting reading regarding the relative land values and farm wages in Canada and the United States, respectively.

The actual situation is that occupied farm lands in Canada, except in the Northwest, range in value as high as, or higher than those along the border in the United States. "In the New England border states, Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, the land values fall below those in all the Eastern provinces, with the exception of New Brunswick, where the value is the same as in Vermont, and slightly less than in New Hampshire and Maine."

Michigan land averages $4 per acre lower than Ontario land, as does also Minnesota land. In Wisconsin and some of our more southern interior states, where the season is warmer and longer, and the soil exceptionally fertile, the land values are higher than in our own border states. Going further west, it appears that farm lands in Manitoba, in the ten years just passed, have increased from an average value of $13 per acre, to an average value of $29 per acre, or 124 per cent; while Minnesota lands have increased from $26 to $46, or only 77 per cent. In British Columbia the value of occupied farm lands is $73 per acre.

Several economic facts must be noted in regard to the cheap lands of Northwest Canada. In the first place, these lands are rising with almost incredible rapidity toward the United States value-level. In Saskatchewan improved farm land mounted from $7 per acre in 1900 to $22 per acre in 1910, or 215 per cent. In Alberta the increase was from $7 to $20, or 185 per cent net increase. The Canadian railways are said to be anticipating still greater augmentations in the value of these lands. In the second place, these lands grow no other crop but wheat to advantage, as is shown by the fact that agriculturalists whose lands are used for mixed farming in the Canadian West are against the reciprocity agreement. As to wheat, the United States farmers are protected by the longer freight haul and by the fact that prices of wheat are largely fixed by the world's markets.

Except in the extreme East, farm labor in Canada is paid practically as well as in the United States. Wages in Manitoba and Saskatchewan are on the same general level as in Minnesota and in North Dakota, being higher in both countries to the westward. Wages in Ohio and Ontario are nearly identical, the Ohio monthly wage paid to agricultural laborers being $22.11, while in Ontario it is $21.59. New York wages are slightly higher than those in Quebec, being $26, while the Quebec wages are $23.33.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

AWNINGS, THEIR USES AND ABUSES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Awnings—I mean the canvas shades in front of our store buildings—are useful inventions. You might think from that first line that I have a local agency and am trying to do some advertising. Such is not the case, however. They are nice things to stand under when caught in the rain and there are other ways in which they prove their usefulness. Some of our best known merchants might do well to take a look at their awnings now and then. The chief kick I have—and it has taken me quite a while to say it—is that they are allowed to hang so low in some instances that one sometimes runs amuck. The sensation is not the most pleasing and I object. The street is usually crowded and if one has to dodge awning irons as well as people, street cars, automobiles and other obstacles, his chance of getting off is slim. The awnings are usually left to boys who are none too careful to raise them high enough. To avoid damage suits, I think this hint might prove useful so I send it to your open column, where I hope it will attract the attention of those who have been negligent in this regard.

Duluth, March 28. I. L.

THE LAUNCH'S "POP" NO LONGER "SMART."

To the Editor of The Herald:

I inclose a clipping from an advertisement which aptly voices the feelings expressed by a large number of members and visitors at the boat club last summer. The regular exhaust of his engine is music to the owner's ears but it is far from such to others.

ONE OF THE OTHERS.

The clipping:

"Nearly every one can read the 'writing on the wall.' The 'word' has been passed round—it is no longer considered 'smart' to go chug, chugging out to the fishing grounds in early morn, or skating about making all the noise the motor will utter where people live on a shore not far off. The chap who keeps it up will soon get the name of being a 'cad' or a 'dunce' or a 'tight wad' and he'll be lucky if the present season does not see local ordinances everywhere compelling silent exhaust from motor boats. There is a bill in congress now competing it. It appears that if the boat users do not abate the nuisance by simple means now they will be compelled to abate it by some absurd, power consuming official red tape proposition, that will not only be a detriment but a hardship."

French Postal Savings Banks.

Consular Reports: The record of the postal savings bank system in France has been one of continued progress. In 1882, when this institution was established, the total number of postal banks in operation was 6,024, with 211,580 deposit accounts remaining open at the close of the year. These accounts, including interest due to depositors, amounted to $9,187,116, the average sum of the deposits being $43.41. On Dec. 31, 1909, the latest year for which complete statistics are available, the number of banks had increased by nearly 2,000, the deposit accounts numbered 5,542,582, and the deposits, including interest, represented an aggregate amount of $316,456,866, averaging $57.08.

The expenses of administration during 1909 amounted to $1,504,678 and the net profits to $526,786. It may be recalled that individual accounts are limited by law to 1,500 francs ($289.50). When an account exceeds this the surplus is invested by the bank in national bonds. The total value of the bonds purchased in 1909 was $2,080,575. The withdrawals, including these purchases, amounted to $104,916,150.

"Best Governed City."

New York World: Until a certain test case is decided, it seems the city is powerless to prevent a horde of impudent speculators from blocking the sidewalks, offering insults and committing assault upon persons who venture out in public at "theater hour." This need not greatly surprise any one. The city cannot suppress burglary and violence. It cannot stop half time in the schools. It cannot clean the streets. It cannot protect the parks from hoodlums. It cannot force asphalt contractors to mend holes in the pavements. It cannot build subways even when it has $2,000,000 worth of plans, every legal obstacle removed and the money saved to begin with. All it can do is to spend more than $250,000,000 a year.

Precocious Willie.

Harper's Weekly: "Pa!" came little Willie's voice from the darkness of the nursery.

Pa gave a bad imitation of a snore. He was tired and did not wish to be disturbed.

"Pa!" came the little voice again.

"What is it, Willie?" replied the father, sleepily.

"Tum in here: I want to ast you sumpin'," said the little voice.

So pa rose up from his downy couch, and putting on his bath robe and slippers, marched into the nursery.

"Well, what is it now?" he asked.

"Say, pa," said little Willie, "if you was to feed a cow on soap would she give shaving cream?"

Couldn't Hear Him.

Baltimore American: "When I rose to speak it was so still in the hall you could have heard a pin drop."

"Yes."

"Well, I stood there for a moment looking out over the audience and framing my first sentence, and I am sure that I should have been able to get along all right, but just when I had got ready to utter my first word, some fool in the back end of the hall yelled, 'Louder!'"

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Why Not for the State?

Hill City News: If the commission form of government is such a good thing for cities, why wouldn't something of that sort be a good thing for the state? That would do away with a lot of expensive foolishness that goes on every two years.

Broken Pledges.

Pine River Sentinel: Reapportionment is dead, or nearly so, and unless something miraculous is done by the legislators, or Governor Eberhart calls an extra session, it's all off for at least two years. Party and individual pledges have been broken, and Northern Minesota is made to suffer by reason of a lot of tricky senators. Every newspaper in the northern half should rise in its might and spare no efforts henceforth to see that every senator responsible for the condition is properly advertised for the kind of an individual he really is.

Talk of Dividing State.

Ely Miner: A division of the state on the recent reapportionment vote in the senate would be just about the proper caper. Sectional lines were drawn to a nicety in that vote, and it was plainly shown that the southern end of the state has no use for the northern end. When it comes right down to brass tacks, the northern end could get along without the southern end, considering all we get out of them is abuse in return for our good tax money.

Another Talks Division.

Aitkin Independent: The state senate last week decided, by a vote of 36 to 27, to refuse to give to the people a reapportionment based on population as provided by the Constitution. Thirty-six senators representing a population of 910,322 thwarted the will of 1,165,286 people represented by only twenty-seven senators. Southern Minnesota has demonstrated in a bald, cold-blooded manner that it will retain its representation in the legislature at all hazards. The impotence of Northern Minnesota under such manifest unfairness can result in only one thing—state division. This may sound absurd to the self-satisfied down-state people, but it is a possibility by no means so remote as it may seem. Even a name has been suggested for the new state, Vermilion, to indicate the state of feeling of its people.

Cast Aside Fairness.

Eden Valley Journal: Reapportionment was killed in the senate. The senators who voted against a fair reapportionment because of selfish interests are of too small a caliber to make laws for a state. They cast aside fairness, honesty and justice to hold their seats in a body that is not honored or elevated by their presence.

Supporters of Reciprocity.

Wabasha Herald: It is being charged that in Minnesota only Democratic papers are supporting Canadian reciprocity, in order, perhaps, to make it appear that it is a party issue. But we find that such good Republican papers as the Cannon Falls Beacon, Stillwater Gazette, Benson Times, Princeton Union, Anoka Union, Elk River Star News, Lake Benton News, etc., are on the side which holds that the Canadian tariff agreement would result in the greatest good to the greatest number.

A YEAR OF COMMISSION PLAN.

Topeka State Journal: It ought to be interesting to Topekans who have had one year of experience with the commission form of government to learn that Col. Roosevelt has come out with a strong indorsement for this method of governing cities. The system is gaining in popularity all the time and its adherents among prominent men who are students of government are likewise increasing in number rapidly.

Indeed, it seems to open the way for the solution of the rather perplexing problem of municipal administration. Nothing much is heard around this city that the commission government has been a failure here or that it would be desirable to change back to any plan that savored of the old common council system with its representatives from the several wards and its much divided authority for the transaction of the city's business. And this, in face of the fact that the first year of commission rule has been more expensive than was the last year under the old form of government. A large share of this extra expense was brought about by the general increases in salaries among the firemen, policemen and other city employes which were made by the old city government just before it retired from the field. These increases in salaries were deserved, but it is hardly fair to criticize the commission system for being a more expensive method of government in view of the fact that it has had this extra burden to bear. The probabilities are that when order is finally worked out of the chaotic conditions of affairs in which the city's finances were left under the old system of government, the commission plan will prove to be far more economical than was the old one. At any rate, there is every reason to believe that the taxpayers will get more for their money because the commission system makes possible the conduct of the city's affairs in a prompt and businesslike way.

The efficiency of the commission plan rests in the main on the caliber and abilities of the men who are chosen to administer it. For that reason the approaching municipal primaries and election are of essential importance to the future government of the city. From among the candidates for the mayoralty and the commissionerships who are in the field it ought to be possible for the voters of Topeka to select a commission that will do the work expected of it in the best possible way. Discernment and care will have to be used by the people in making their selections, but they have generally used such discretion in the past and can be depended to do so in the present instance and on all future occasions. It is incumbent, though, on all the qualified voters in the city to register, so that the results of the primaries and the election will be a full and free expression of the sentiments of the whole people of the city.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: Every family is a debating society, only without parliamentary rules.

A girl could kiss a man in the dark without realizing it if he was the right one.

The more excuse a man has for not having come home the more thankful he would be for a single good one.

A man has to be a grandfather before he can realize that he doesn't know anything like as much as he thought he knew when he was a grandson.

The Humble Peanut.

New York Globe: Farmers' Bulletin No. 431, "The Peanut," has just rushed into public view. It "supersedes," we are told on the title page, a former monograph bearing the title "Peanuts." The new bulletin, with the singular name, contains thirty-nine pages of pictures and text, and tells the peanut's story from A to Z. It is an interesting story, too.

No one seems to know where the peanut originally came from. It was introduced into the United States in early colonial days, and is supposed to have drifted up from tropical America. Some closely related plants are natives of Brazil. The peanut does best in a sandy loam, and requires a long season free from frost, plenty of sun, and a light rainfall during its period of growth. A large part of the Southern states is, therefore, suitable for peanut culture, and it has even extended its area westward to California.

The average yield per acre is thirty-four bushels, but this can be increased by proper methods of cultivation up to sixty bushels. The Peanut Bulletin estimates that with the latter yield there should be a net profit per acre of between $36 and $45. At these figures a peanut farmer with a hundred acres under cultivation ought to be on easy street.

Too Early for Him.

Mack's National Weekly: A city chap went to work for a farmer out in one of the western counties of Kansas recently. At 3 o'clock the next morning the farmer called to him to begin the day's labors. A few minutes later the young man came out of the bedroom carrying his grip.

"You ain't a-goin' to take that grip with you to work, air you?" asked the farmer.

"Naw," answered the man with a fine scorn, "but I'm goin' to find some place to stay all night!"

TWO WASHINGTONS.

Honolulu Star: Senator Makekau made the speech of his life before the combined senate and house this morning, when there gathered the government forces to do honor to the memory of George Washington, whose birth anniversary is today.

In brief Makekau's remarks, as elocutionally interpreted by Former Senator Cachio, were:

"I never met George Washington in his lifetime, but I have heard about him. Only yesterday I accidentally stumbled across a history and on the first page to the left I saw a picture of that great man. He was of a stature like myself, tall and good looking. In the picture he was leaning over a small woman, like my mother. He looked down with love and she looked up with pride. It is one of the noblest incidents in his great life.

"Another inspiring incident in his life is where he is picking roses for Martha, who became his wife. I am proud to say that I have a Martha Washington rosebush in my backyard.

"Still another most inspiring incident in his life is where he prayed to God before a battle, through which prayer, kneeling on the bare ground in the darkness, he whipped the British, though they outnumbered him. The moral of this is that you should love your mother, be good to your wife and don't forget God.

"Washington was a great man, but he was not the only Washington.

"Kamehameha the Great was the Hawaiian Washington. He had no powder and shot, like Washington, but he had kahunas. And I tell you he did more with those kahunas than George Washington ever did with his powder and shot, for Kamehameha's kahunas prayed and continued to pray after Kamehameha was dead, with the result that they captured America and everything that is American. They captured the Stars and Stripes and brought them to Hawaii. They captured the American army and navy and brought them to Hawaii, and by praying our kahunas will continue to capture everything that is American and bring them to Hawaii. Kamehameha was a great Washington."

Advice of a Moralist.

Philadelphia Press: A man talked in his sleep and revealed that he was a bigamist, so the second wife has had him arrested. The moral is, if you talk in your sleep, do not commit bigamy.

Is Careful About His Weather.

Ohio State Journal: The understanding is that King George does not expect to employ Prof. Willis L. Moore to predict the coronation weather.

WOMAN'S REALM.

The American Civic association, which has for its purpose "the cultivation of higher ideals of civic life and beauty in America, the promotion of city, town and neighborhood improvement, the preservation and development of landscape and the advancement of outdoor art," and in which the women's council of this city is considering taking a membership, has organized its work under a number of departments. One of these is the department of nuisances. It has for its object the abatement of nuisances of all kinds.

The smoke nuisance, against which the women's council has been directing its energies for a number of years in Duluth, is one of its principal subjects. The entire literature of smoke prevention has been boiled down into a little booklet issued by the association. This booklet shows that smoke is a nuisance to the public and a waste to the factory creating it. It gives the experiences of cities and factories that have abated the smoke nuisance, and calls attention to the fact that throat, lung and nasal diseases were much more prevalent in many cities in the days of the anthracite coal strike than they were before or have been since.

The women of the smoke committee have been active this winter trying to interest the building owners and agents to help in the abatement of the smoke nuisance here and have met with no decided opposition, but with very little actual success. They have adopted the plan of visiting several buildings each week and trying to interest the owners in the smoke consumers which have been used with success in a few buildings in the city.

The billboards nuisance and objectionable advertising have also received their attention. The American association has published a booklet on the subject in which it condenses all the literature on the subject of billboards. It shows how the billboard offends art, mars the landscape, spoils the effect of city architecture, is dangerous to property and to health and then proposes model ordinances and legislative acts to suppress it.

The council expects to take up this fight with renewed energy again this spring.

LENTEN TEA.

Miss Campbell Talks on Y. W. C. A. Work.

"The Young Women's Christian association should be a clearing house for all the girls and women of the city to give each that opportunity which she may lack of obtaining the truly balanced life." This was one of the things which Miss Ada Campbell, general secretary of the local Young Woman's Christian association said yesterday in her talk on the work of that organization at a Lenten tea given by Mrs. E. Frank Barker at her home on Park Point.

Miss Campbell gave interesting statistics showing the standing of the local association to be above the average standing for a city of this size, in capacity of its dormitories and equipment, its cafeteria and the value of the real estate owned by the association, but below the average in educational work and Bible classes. She spoke interestingly on the problems of meeting the needs of various girls and women of the city and the ways in which some may help.

Mrs. Julia Barnes read an interesting paper on her trip to Alexandria and Plymouth which was full of pleasing pictures. Miss Frances Berg played several delightful piano numbers, Miss Alta Hallock sang "Not a Sparrow Falleth." In her usual pleasing manner, accompanied by Miss Vera Bronson and Miss Sparks read.

Mrs. Barker was assisted by Mrs. Harry Harrington and Mrs. Henry Gude, who poured tea in the dining room assisted by Miss Helen Harbison, Miss Mary Weston and Miss Eleanor Keyes. Killarney roses were the flowers used.

THE EVENING STORY

"A CHILD'S DESIRE."

By Jane Harris.

At first the new arrangement had puzzled the Child very much, but, being a quiet little girl, she had thought it out in her optimistic way and evolved a certain degree of comfort from her own conclusions.

The answers to her many questions had only confused her. Mother said, "You will have to be a reasonable little girl, Consuelo, because Mother cannot explain things to you just now." And Father sighed when the Child turned to him, pushed the curls back from the broad, white forehead and murmured, "Daddy will try to make you happy, darling, but do not ask him questions."

After that the Child had turned to "The Beautiful Lady" in the great drawing room. This Lady was in a picture and held a love-baby in her arms; the Child had never heard any one call the picture "The Holy Family," but to her childish mind the presence of a man's kindly face and the Baby who lay in the Lady's arms suggested the immortal tie that bind together nature, both human and divine, and she felt that between these three there was a "something" that in her own lonesome little life was lacking or had been taken away.

The Child would creep into the room at every opportunity and sit in one of the many beautiful chairs. Here she could say aloud many of the thoughts that crowded in during the hours of her uneventful days, spent with the nurse, the governess and the maids; because father and mother were seldom at home, at least, both at the same time.

One day flushed with excitement, she hurried in to tell her Lady the news. "You see," she said, "I've got lots to tell you this time, farver and muvver have had a 'standing, and I'm to be his little girl one day and her's the next, because they—O! if you was a really truly lady you would know more 'bout these things, but I'm sure you will think I've done the best I can, because it would be nicer if I could just have them both the same day and love them both together, like your little Baby does up there, but my nurse says there are many kinds of farvers and muvvers so I'll try to think 'bout one when I'm being with the other; don't you 'spose that will be all right?"

The Child gazed wistfully at the gentle face of the picture Mother, wondering if today her longing for a "live-confidant" could really cause the Lady to nod her head to any of her questions.

"Well, anyway," continued the Child, "even if you can't move or speak, I shall do my bestest, and I'm coming in to tell you more in a few days." Just then her nurse came in to take her to lunch and prevented further confidences, but the little girl paused at the door and waved her hand to the picture Mother.

Then began the days which were to alternate her time between the large, rather gloomy study where her father read and wrote and the smaller room that her mother called her "den." A partition, invisible but nevertheless unsurmountable, seemed in the Child's fancy to exist between these two rooms, although the distance was not great nor had any one ever spoken of such a condition, still the unseen barrier prevented her from ever asking the father to go with her to the cosy den, and neither had she dared to question her mother as to "why" the dainty sewing could not have been done by the light of father's study lamp.

At the end of the week the Child was confronted by a new problem. There being seven days a week how could she divide the time equally between the two she loved so much? "Dearie me," she exclaimed as Marcia was dressing her Sunday morning, "What shall I do? It wouldn't be fair to muvver if I stayed with Daddy today; why tomorrow will be her time again, and I'll be all mixed up! Now, Marcia, please do tell me the bestest way to straighten things out."

Marcia was an unemotional maid, well trained, and she hesitated over an answer to the Child's eager questioning.

Suddenly the little girl clapped her hands and said in a shrill voice, "Oh! I have it! I'll have them both on Sundays! That won't be wrong will it, for Sunday is God's day and God is Love—that's what the minister-man says—so I will just love them both on Sunday."

Happy in having thus found a way out of the dilemma, the Child talked on quite gaily for one usually so quiet and did not notice that the maid said nothing, although there were unshed tears in her eyes and she was very gentle while the golden curls were being made.

After a solitary breakfast, the little girl stole down stairs and confided to the Lady her plans for the day.

"You darling Lady:" she cried in the ecstacy of the new found happiness, "It's going to be just lovely! I'll have them both to dinner and then we'll come in here to stay all the afternoon so you'll be sure to see what fun that will be, and then—Oh! do you 'spose I could have them both to put me to bed? Of course muvver would unbutton me'"—she hastened to explain, as the propriety of this new suggestion dawned upon her childish mind —"but they both could hear "I laime" and then, if they wasn't too tired, perhaps they'd watch me go to sleep.

"But I've got to hurry now, for the invite-ations have got to be sent right away—you see, they do not know I want them both yet—so good-bye, dear Lady!"

The little notes were written and Marcia, troubled as to the outcome of this newly-formed arrangement, but saying nothing to discourage the wistfully happy little girl, was pursuaded to deliver them. The man received his in amazement and was plainly embarrassed until after the maid had left the room. His heart had seemed to contract within him at first sight of that folded white square, because his mind instinctively grasped the suggested hope that if She had sent it—! But no, he told himself immediately, that could not be, and he unfolded the paper rather reluctantly, although anxious to learn what it contained.

Then he read:

"Dear Farver as this is a uneven day I want you both so I can begin right over again with muvver's day in the morning. So I repeatedly ask you to eat with me and muvver at dinner and then we can all be happy in the big room until supper. The lovely Lady knows we are coming because I told her and as her little Baby has its farver and muvver all the time she knows all about 'God is love.' At dinner time I will tell you more but won't you please R. S. V. P. Yores very dearly,

"LITTLE CONSUELO."

In the rush of thoughts that came to him when he had finished reading the note, the child's father saw two with startling clearness—the vision of a child-mother who smiled through tears to say, "Our own little one, dear!" and the memory of a day when a woman, beautiful but cold, turned to him and said, "We must stay here awhile for the child's sake, anyway!"

How long he stood there, thinking, living, suffering the life these memories brought back he could not have realized, for his mind seemed to be in a vice and he was unable to move.

A touch on his hand, a voice, timid but sweet and low, aroused the man, and he turned to meet the gaze of eyes that, like his own, were full of unshed tears.

Before either could speak, a little child ran into the room crying out, "Did you get my invite-ation, daddy? And muvver, too!" catching sight of the woman standing silently beside her father.

The man answered her, although his voice sounded strangely far away and rather shaky. But the child did not notice that; she only wanted his assurance that everything was all right.

"Yes, dear," he said, "and mother and I are coming in to dinner with you."

His wife said nothing, but her eyes once more sought his as the little daughter crowded in between them, holding a hand of each in her eager grasp.

"And after dinner, muvver! Can't you and daddy be happy with me? It will help me out so much, because I love you both, and I want you together on Sundays, anyway."

"How would you like to have us both every day, darling?" questioned the wife, in accents that trembled more than she cared to have the man hear, for she bent over the little girl until her face almost touched the golden curls.

"Oh! could I? Would it be all right? Is that the way some little girls have their farvers and muvvers?"—the questions tumbled over one another in the child's eagerness to understand this new found joy.

"Could she?" repeated the man, himself, bending low over the child's figure in an effort to look into his wife's face and read her answer before she spoke

"Say 'yes,' muvver!" pleaded the child, leaning back to look into both faces at one time.

"Yes, dear,—John!" faltered the mother, and their glances met once again, this time in mutual acknowledgment of a troth which they plighted for all time, pledged and sealed before the eyes of the baby who "loved them both, and who wanted them to be happy together."

When they put her in the little white bed that night, and sat, one on each side to watch her go to sleep, she roused up from the first childish slumber to murmur, "The beautiful Lady knows all about it, 'cause I slipped in to tell her while you were coming down the hall"! then she added, smiling sweetly, "This was God's day and God is Love!"

DO YOU UNDERSTAND WHY PEOPLE BUY THE KIMBALL PIANO?

This is easily explained: Because the KIMBALL PIANO is made in the largest factory in the world and has the capital which can afford to employ the most skillful workmen to be had in the profession.

The Kimball company buys its "raw material" in large quantities. This alone places it in a position to place a high-grade piano on the market at a lower price than any other piano manufacturer.

The Kimball company manufactures every part of a piano in its own factory — absolutely everything from the woodwork to the strings. This also lessens the cost to the buyer.

The Kimball prices are moderate because you buy direct from the factory to the home.

Notice to Contestants: Sore open every evening till 9 o'clock until April 22.

tion, to this effect: "The senate shall be composed of sixty-three members, and the house of representatives shall be composed of such number of members as may be prescribed by law. The representation in both houses shall be apportioned equally throughout the different sections of the state in proportion to the whole number of votes cast for governor at the election next preceding such apportionment. Provided, however, THAT NO LEGISLATIVE DISTRICT SHALL BE COMPOSED OF PORTIONS OF MORE THAN ONE COUNTY, AND THAT NO MORE THAN FOUR MEMBERS OF THE SENATE SHALL EVER BE APPORTIONED TO ANY ONE COUNTY.

Though Hennepin county now has seven senators and Ramsey county five, and though St. Louis county by its population is also entitled to five senators, the proposal in this measure is that never, no matter how many people may live in any one county, or how much those people need legislative action for the redress of their evils, can that county have more than four out of sixty-three senators. The three large counties must always be content with twelve out of the sixty-three, leaving fifty-one to the county.

Another proposed change provided by the bill is that basing legislative representation on voters—or citizens—instead of on population.

Senator Moonan, when the bill was brought up yesterday afternoon, proposed an amendment making the limit seven instead of four, which was lost. Senator Nelson proposed that it be placed at six, and his amendment to that effect was also lost.

Senator Wilson proposed an amendment to the effect that in all counties where proportionate and equal representation is denied, the rate of taxation for state purposes shall be reduced in the same proportion. His amendment was ruled out of order as not being germane to the subject matter of the bill.

Boyle Makes Strong Speech.

Senator Brady of Minneapolis moved that the bill be indefinitely postponed. Senator Boyle of Eveleth seconded the motion, and made a strong speech against the bill.

"No man on the floor of this senate," said Senator Boyle, "really believes that there is any danger to the state in giving the cities their fair share of representation. The proposal is only introduced to stir up strife between the country and the city. The men you are attempting to disfranchise by this measure need legislative help more than any other body of men. Don't shackle them! Other states have large cities, but they have not thought it necessary to say that a man in the city is not entitled to the same voice in the affairs of state as a man in the country."

Senator Pauly said that a vote in the Twin Cities ought to be as good as a vote in the country.

Senator Dwinnell of Minneapolis offered an amendment striking out the provision limiting each county to four senators and inserting in its place a provsion that no county having more than 200,000 people shall ever have a representative in the senate.

Senator Duxbury, one of the authors of the bill, said that he was surprised that a man of so much dignity as Senator Dwinnell should offer such an amendment.

Senator Rockne of Goodhue county said that there was merit in the proposal to limit the representation of the cities. The limitation proposed by the bill was too small, he thought, and he did not favor it. The members ought to get together, however, on some reasonable basis of discrimination against the cities.

"The time will come," he said, "when the people of the cities will have to appeal to the conservatism of the country to preserve the existing order."

Senator Duxbury said that the congested votes in the cities were too easy to do log-rolling with. They are compact and have a common interest, and it was therefore easy to trade them so as to get control of the senate.

Senator Schaller said that not enough attention had been paid to an important principle in the bill, which was that representation should be based on the number of citizens rather than the population. Aliens should not be entitled to make the state's laws.

Protest Against Discrimination.

Senator Wilson of Minneapolis protested against the principle of discrimination involved in the bill. There seldom or never is conflict between the city and the country in the legislature. Their interests are mutual. What the cities object to is the principle of the proposal. He had no objection to the provision basing representation on citizenship, rather than population, but the idea of discriminating against people living in cities is, to them, humiliating and almost insulting. The bugaboo that city votes are dangerous is ridiculous.

Senator Putnam, supporting the bill, said that the representatives of Hennepin, Ramsey and St. Louis counties rallied to the defense of the railroads against the Cashman distance tariff bill, which was in the interests of the country districts. "The cities," he said, "are trying to grab too big a slice of what the country has."

Senator Coller said that clearly many of the senators favored the provision basing representation on voters instead of populaton, and that as to the limitation of city representation, opinions differ as to what the limit should be and whether there should be any. Therefore he moved that the bill be laid over to see if the senate couldn't get together. His motion was adopted.

Stone Apologizes Again.

The house had a recurrence of the recent tendency to fracture parliamentary proprieties yesterday afternoon when it was engaged in the operation of killing Dr. W. T. Stone's bill providing for consolidated graded rural schools of industrial training and domestic sciences.

Representative Kunze, chairman of the committee on education, which had killed the bill but had had its report overruled by the house on Dr. Stone's motion, said that it had been impossible to get the author to attend Stone's motion, said that it had been impossible to get the author to attend the committee meetings when the bill was to be considered.

Dr. Stone began his reply thus: "About the invitation to appear before the committee by the very uncertain chairman—"

"I protest against that anguage," said Representative Kunzo hotly. "I want it understood that I am no uncertain quantity."

Speaker Dunn said that the members ought not to forget themselves in debate, and read the house a tart little lecture on the use of personalities. Whereupon Dr. Stone withdrew his language and apologized.

The bill was then killed, 40 for and 63 against, partly on its merits and partly because of its authorship.

The house also failed to pass Representative Andrew Davis' bill providing for medical school inspectors and health officers, one-third of the cost to be paid by the state, one-third by the municipality and one-third by the school district.

The vote was 56 for and 37 against, so the bill failed to get the necessary sixty-one votes.

Ribenack Scores Victory.

The house passed Representative Ribenack's bill giving the naval militia $5,000 additional annual appropriation, the vote being 86 to 13. There was applause when it passed. This bill was recommended for indefinite postponement by the committee on appropriation, and the report was adopted, killing the bill. Then the adoption was reconsidered and the bill placed on general orders, from which place it was advanced to the calendar, where it was reached yesterday and passed. Besides Representative Ribenack, who has worked hard for the bill, the naval militia is indebted to Representative John G. Lennon of Minneapolis, who made a stiff fight for it.

Representative Phil S. Converse of Detroit was a happy man yesterday afternoon when the house, by a vote of 78 to 15, passed his bill appropriating $10,000 for a new fish hatchery at Detroit. He has put in a hard winter's work on the bill, and yesterday the action of the house enabled him to put it over to the senate, where Senator Marden will have a try at it.

Duluth School Bills Passed.

The house yesterday afternoon passed Representative Congdon's bills regulating the finances of the Duluth school district by limiting the annual tax levy to 12 mills, by providing that the city council by a two-thirds' vote must ratify all proposed school bond issues, and by limiting the district's bonded debt to 3½ per cent of the city's assessed valuation.

Other bills passed by the house yesterday afternoon were as follows:

By Representative Greene—Requiring express companies to make free deliveries in all parts of cities of more than 25,000 people.

By Representative O'Neill—Providing for the establishment, completion and construction of public drainage ditches lying wholly or partly within the territory of new counties.

By Representative Wescott—Amending the hotel inspection law so as to give the hotel inspector a salary of $2,400 and such help as he needs, and fixing the fees to be paid by hotels for inspection at $5 to $15. The bill passed 92 to 1, all the St. Louis county members, including Representative Ribenack, a hotel keeper, voting for it. On motion of Representative Lennon A. W. Crozier, described as the father of the U. C. T., was given an opportunity to thank the house for its action, which he did neatly and succinctly.

By the house labor committee—Authorizing the labor commissioner to forbid the use of dangerous machinery until it is properly safeguarded.

By Representative Ole Peterson—Providing that the county's share, 10 per cent, of liquor license fees shall go into the road and bridge fund instead of the general revenue fund.

By Representative L. H. Rice—Appropriating $5,000 a year for the next two years to be used in building roads and trails through Itasca state park, and $2,500 a year for maintenance.

By Representative Hoffman—To protect fish by causing the construction and maintenance of screens in water courses leading to water power plants.

By the house labor committee—Prohibiting the employment of boys under 18 as messenger boys between 9 p. m. and 5 a. m.; prohibiting the employment of girls in such capacity at any time, and prohibiting the employment of children in theaters.

By Representative Hauge—Regulating the sale of seeds.

By the house labor committee—Authorizing the labor commissioner to forbid the use of dangerous machinery

COLDER

Winter has evidently taken sides with the lion, and the king of the jungle is not to assert his right to take charge of the weather conditions during the closing since the meek and lowly lamb held sway when the month opened. The snow flurries predicted for last night proved to be a well defined snow storm and Duluth again lies under a blanket of white today. Cloudy and colder is the prediction for tonight and tomorrow. The lowest temperature last night was 23 deg.

Fair weather prevailed a year ago today, with showers in the evening.

The sun rose this morning at 5:53 and it will set this evening at 6:33, giving twelve hours and forty minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The low pressure that has moved its center from Saskatchewan to Minnesota caused snow or rain over Montana, the Dakotas, the Lake region, Mississippi and Ohio valley states and Florida during the last twenty-four hours, together with higher temperatures over the greater part of those districts. Somewhat colder weather prevails in the Southwest, North Atlantic states and Alberta. The Alberta drop in temperature will reach the Head of the Lakes tonight."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 29.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m., Thursday:

Wisconsin—Snow, flurries tonight; Thursday probably cloudy.

Upper Michigan—Snow tonight; Thursday clearing.

Minnesota—Probably cloudy and colder tonight; Thursday fair.

Iowa—Cloudy tonight with colder in west and central portions; Thursday probably fair.

North and South Dakota and Montana—Generally fair tonight and Thursday; colder tonight.

Shipper's Forecast: Protect 36-hour shipments of perishables against temperature 10 deg. to 20 deg. above zero in the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Michigan Copper country.

RICH FINDS ON CUYUNA

New Range Expected to Be Active During Coming Summer.

George H. Crosby Finds Immense Body of High Grade Ore.

With the advent of spring mining operations on the Cuyuna iron range, sixty miles west of Duluth, are becoming numerous.

In the last few weeks two big ore bodies carrying many millions of tons of commercial ore have been encountered by drills and partly proven up. One mine is ready to ship and by the time the season is in full swing work will be proceeding on six shafts.

George H. Crosby, after whom the metropolis of the Cuyuna is named, has found an immense body of high grade ore in the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 10, immediately west of the Interstate mine near Crosby. Three drills are at work and all of them are in ore. Drilling has been in progress since about the first of the present year.

Another new find is that made by Louis Richleau, R. B. Whiteside and other Duluthians in the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of 34, 134-28, about half way between Crosby and Brainerd and north of the Mississippi river. The deposit is large and its discovery is of special importance as its presence proves that the ore formation runs further north than many people believed. The drill had penetrated 103 feet of ore at last reports and was still in mineralized ground.

The Kennedy mine of the Rogers-Brown iron company near Crosby is prepared to ship over the Soo. There are 200,000 tons of ore on the dump and the mine can be operated heavily. Through the development extending from the shaft four forties will be mined.

The Rogers-Brown company is putting down a shaft in the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of 11, 46-29, on the western edge of Crosby. This mine will develop two forties. The shaft has been put down more than 140 feet and the mine can be converted into a producer quickly. It lacks hoisting machinery which will be provided when the operators are prepared to send out ore from it. The Rogers-Brown company will put down a shaft this summer in the south half of the northwest quarter of 11, 46-29. It will be known as the Pine Tree. The ore body is large. The fee is owned by the Weyerhaeusers.

The Inland Steel company is sinking a shaft in the southeast quarter of the northeast quarter of 10, 46-29, a short distance from Crosby. The mine will be known as the Interstate. The fee is owned by the Hill and Drummond interests. The same operators are sinking a shaft in the west half of the northeast quarter of section 11, one-fourth mile west of Crosby. Work was started about three weeks ago. The fee is owned by George H. Crosby.

In the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of 22, 46-29 the Inland Steel company will put down a shaft this summer. The fee to this property is also owned by Mr. Crosby.

In sections 10 and 11, 44-31, southwest of Brainerd, Pittsburg and Brainerd people will sink a shaft to a large body of high grade ore. The fee is owned by the Brainerd Mining company.

The Inland Steel company and the Rogers-Brown Iron company have bought sites in Crosby for their Cuyuna range headquarters and other buildings.

TARIFF RELATIONS OF THE DOMINION

Points Not Generally Considered in the Reciprocity Discussions.

Washington, March 29.—A pamphlet on the tariff relations of Canada, just published by the bureau of manufactures of the department of commerce and labor, brings out some points not generally considered in current reciprocity discussions. Three factors serve to complicate the commercial relations of Canada with various countries: First, British preference; second, special trade agreements; third, most-favored-nation treaties. The tariff itself is triple in form, with separate columns for the British preferential, the intermediate, and the general rates of duty.

The lowest or preferential rates are applicable to imports from practically the whole British empire, except Australia, and negotiations are now in progress with that commonwealth. The intermediate rates were not given effect by the tariff itself, but were offered by Canada on terms of reciprocity. A number of these rates, and certain special rates, were accorded to France by the convention in effect last year. The remainder of the intermediate tariff is not yet in force. The foreign countries not enjoying tariff concessions either by special agreements or most-favored-nation treaties pay the duties of the general tariff volume. At present the United States is included among the countries paying the general rates; many of the reduced rates in the proposed reciprocity arrangement are the same as those in the Canadian intermediate tariff.

Further Complications.

The most-favored-nation treaties of Great Britain which are binding upon the colonies further complicate reciprocity negotiations. The reduced rates granted to France in return for part of the French minimum tariff were extended without compensation to twelve countries entitled to most-favored-nation treatment under British treaties. Minister of Finance Fielding's resolution in the Canadian parliament provides that, if reciprocity with the United States becomes an accomplished fact, the rates of the reciprocity arrangement shall at once become effective as regards those nations. Comparatively little benefit would accrue to them, however, for the articles in the proposed arrangement are chiefly those of which the United States is the principal exporter to Canada. According to Canadian estimates, the proposed reductions in duty on imports from the United States would reach $2,500,000, as compared with a reduction of about $120,000 on imports from Great Britain and the British colonies and little more than $30,000 on imports from the most-favored-nations. France would benefit only in the case of the articles specified in the Franco-Canadian convention. French garden seeds, for example, would be admitted free, the same as American garden seeds, while French roofing slate would not be admitted at the reduced rates granted to slate from the United States, since the former, but not the latter, is named in the French convention with Canada. Germany can receive no benefit whatever from the arrangement. German imports are now subject to the general tariff, and for seven years up to 1910 had to pay one-third higher duties.

The development of Canada's commercial relations is traced historically, the distant tariff tendencies receiving emphasis. The Canadian attitude toward reciprocity is reviewed and, at the end of the pamphlet, comparative tables are given, showing item for item the present rates of duty on imports into Canada from the United States, the reductions under the proposed arrangement, and the rates applying to the other countries of the world.

"Tariff Relations of Canada" is one of the tariff series of the bureau of manufactures and is for distribution upon application.

MADE REGENT OF UNIVERSITY

John C. Greenway Appointed Regent of Arizona Territorial University.

The Phoenix, Ariz., Republican says: "In the rush of news matter demanding attention on Tuesday night only a meager mention was made of the appointment by Governor Sloan of John C. Greenway of Bisbee to the office of regent of the territorial university. This first opportunity is seized to say more about it for the two reasons that the office is one of great importance even though not weighted down with financial emoluments, and that Mr. Greenway is a gentleman who fully measures up to its demands.

"Mr. Greenway is a very suitable person for such a place in the activities of a budding commonwealth. That he is not unfamiliar with the needs of such an institution as the territorial university may be readily understood when it is known that he is a graduate of Yale, which is an institution of the highest rank. Nor is he merely a college man, but he has devoted himself to a life of useful activity being now a well known and competent mining engineer, as well as one of the leading figures in the industrial world of Southern Arizona. He has charge of the Arizona interests of the Calumet & Arizona Mining company which are second in magnitude probably to those of no other business concern in Southern Arizona, except Phelps, Dodge & Palmer. Mr. Greenway succeeded Col. Powell in this work.

"One reason for Mr. Greenway's appointment was that the governor desired that the new member should represent the mining industry on the board, other lines of business being well represented already, and the industry having always been so friendly to the university."

Washington, March 29.—Postmaster General Hitchcock yesterday designated forty-five additional postoffices as postal savings depositaries in as many states and territories, mostly at industrial centers where there are many wage earners. It is Mr. Hitchcock's intention to confine the offices as nearly as possible to industrial centers really needing such banking facilities, particularly giving consideration to geographical location, postal receipts, foreign money order business and general efficiency of postmasters. He believes the service is well along in the experimental stage and should be extended rapidly.

About The Time It Takes For a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet to Work on The Food and Bring Relief.

TRIAL PACKAGE SENT FREE.

There is no long wait between the time you take a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet and the feeling of relief it will bring to an overloaded stomach. It gets busy in a jiffy and quickly sets things to rights in that tired and disordered stomach. It goes right at the work of digesting the food it finds lodged there and in no time at all has things on the move—the gases cease forming, the breath is sweetened, the coating on the tongue disappears and you are no longer conscious that you even have a stomach.

That is one of the chief recommendations for Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets—that they don't take forever to acomplish the purpose for which you need them. It is just as if you put an extra stomach or two to work when yours needed help. You can't continually overload your stomach and expect it to always smile. It is going to get rebellious and sulky after awhile and refuse to go on being driven to do double work. You must rest it occasionally—not by starving and thereby weakening yourself physically—but by using a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet to do the work of digesting your food.

These tablets contain all the active elements of the natural stomach juices and will alone and unaided digest food just the same as the gastric juices. And nothing could be more harmless than these tablets. They do not effect the system in any way—do not cure any ailment except as they digest food. Use them freely.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists everywhere. Price, 50 cents per box. A trial package will be sent if you will write F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

STATE MINE INSPECTORS

Should Not Be Selected By Popular Vote, Says Dr. Holmes.

Director of Federal Bureau Suggests Methods to Reduce Accidents.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 29.—The selection of state mine inspectors by popular vote must be stopped if there is to be a reduction of accidents in the coal and metal mines of the United States, according to a statement made before the students of Case School of Applied Science by Dr. Joseph A. Holmes, director of the federal bureau of mines.

The director was giving a number of suggestions which if followed up would mean a reduction of the number of accidents. The mines of this country exact a toll of more than 3,000 lives yearly.

"The state mine inspectors should have greater permanence in office and freedom from political and other outside influences," said Director Holmes. "Their selection and continuance in office should depend upon their training and experience. They should be examined by a non-political board of mining men. They should be appointed upon the recommendation of such a board from the applicants that have shown the highest skill and best experience. Under no circumstances should they be selected by popular vote. In other words, politics should have nothing whatever to do with their selection or their continuance in office. The inspectors should have better support in the way of compensation. In fact, the salary and other conditions should be such as to enable the state to secure the best possible type of men for this important work."

To Reduce Accidents.

Other methods of reducing the number of accidents were suggested as follows:

The use at each mine of a limited number of men well trained and experienced concerning the best methods of using explosives, electricity, the handling of gases and coal dust, the methods of timbering, with a view to preventing falls of roof; the methods of preventing and extinguishing mine fires; and the methods of rescue and first aid work. These trained men can serve to good advantage as special inspectors or foremen of each mine company.

There must be active, determined co-operation between the miners and the mine management and the state mine inspectors in the enforcement of the mine rules and regulations, and the punishment of every person, whether mine worker or mine manager, who disobeys these rules and regulations.

The continuance and extension of the investigations and inquiries such as are now being conducted by the government concerning the causes of mine accidents and methods of prevention. The prompt distribution of all such information as can be obtained on this subject from these and other sources among the miners and officials.

TAFT FOR LORIMER

President Urged Edward Hines to Work for His Election.

Banker Says Lorimer Is Greatest Man Since Time of Christ.

Springfield, Ill., March 29.—Two witnesses were examined by the senate bribery investigating committee yesterday afternoon, Edward J. Hines, a Chicago lumberman, and John J. Hughes, stockholder and director of the La Salle Street National bank, which is known as Senator Lorimer's bank in Chicago.

The trend of Attorney John J. Healy's questions, particularly in regard to Mr. Hughes, led to Davenport, Iowa, Rock Island and to the home of Senator Landee.

Hughes was interrogated at length regarding incidents that had occurred at Senator Landee's home. Both witnesses for the attorney denied that they had used money or had knowledge of any money being used in connection with the election of Senator Lorimer.

During his examination Mr. Hughes persisted in praising Senator Lorimer, who, he declared, was "the greatest man since the time of Christ." Mr. Hughes said that he had urged every member of the lower house of the Forty-sixth general assembly to aid in Senator Lorimer's election.

Taft and Aldrich Uneasy.

Mr. Hines, who was the first witness examined, testified that President Taft and Senator Aldrich were uneasy about the senatorial deadlock at Springfield and that they had urged him to do his utmost in bringing about Senator Lorimer's election. Mr. Hines declared that President Taft was anxious that Illinois should elect a senator without delay in view of the then pending tariff question.

Mr. Hines denied that he had been in Springfield during the senatorial deadlock. He said that all of his conversations relative to the Lorimer election were held over the long distance telephone from Washington or Chicago to Springfield.

Mr. Hines said that to the best of his recollection he had transacted business with the following Chicago banks during the year 1909: Continental Commercial National, Hibernian National, Corn Exchange National, Fort Dearborn National, Northern Trust company, Graham & Sons Co., Blue Island Avenue National.

Before being excused Mr. Hines agreed to furnish the committee as soon as possible a complete list of banks through which he and his companies did business in 1909.

Ex-Senator Albert J. Hopkins of Aurora, Herman Kohlsaat, proprietor of the Chicago Record-Herald, and Cyril R. Jandus, who were subpoenaed to testify, did not appear. Chairman Holm announced that Mr. Kohlsaat would testify today and that owing to illness, Mr. Jandus was excused until next week.

MORE PRAISE FOR UNITED DOCTORS

Chicago Woman Writes Letter Telling How They Relieved Her of Dropsy.

Mrs. A. N. Frances of 819 Garfield boulevard, Chicago, writes the following letter in regard to her case and the wonderful good she received from "united" treatment, the new method of relieving disease that is used by the United Doctors, those famous medical specialists who have their Duluth institute located on the third floor of the Columbia building. She says:

"Several years ago my health began failing and from a healthy, normal woman, weighing over two hundred pounds, I became a veritable invalid. I took on a dropsical condition, my feet and limbs being affected especially, and at times the swelling was so great that my entire foot, with the exception of my toes, would be covered with the overhanging flesh from my ankle. At this time my heart became affected also and my suffering was greatly increased by its disturbed action, causing what is commonly termed "hot flashes."

For weeks at a time I was unable to leave my house. These hot flashes added greatly to my misery and at times the heat from my head would burn and scorch the combs in my hair. These hot flashes continued a long time; my heart would palpitate, and at times, almost choke me. Life for me had certainly become one long protracted spell of misery. I lived on the third floor of a Chicago flat and for months at a time it would be impossible for me to get up and down the stairs. Life became an existence of pain and suffering only, and I saw nothing in life for which to live.

"In August of last year I heard of Dr. Jackson of the United Doctors and their famous treatment of difficult cases. I consulted with him and began treatment at once. Now it is only a few months since that time and my gain has been so marvelous, and the pleasure I derive from my restored health so great, I feel I can never say enough in praise of the United Doctors and their work.

"I feel that I am well; my old troublesome ailments have disappeared; my heart action is good; I climb the stairs to my home with ease, and, in addition to this, I have but just returned from a 200-mile trip, this being the first time in two years I have been physically able to get about.

"I most heartily indorse the United Doctors and their treatment.

"MRS. A. N. FRANCES."

RAIN RAISES THEIR HOPES

Red River Valley Farmers Jubilant Over Fine Prospects for Crops.

More Modern Farming Methods Than Ever Will Be Adopted This Year.

Crookston, Minn., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The rain starting late yesterday afternoon has raised the hope of the farmers in the Red River valley that the ground will be thoroughly soaked before the seeding starts. Some seeding may be done this week, though the majority of the farmers will confine their work in the fields to harrowing and discing. Never before has the land been prepared for the seed as it will be this spring. The lesson learned last year, coupled with the effect of the better farming special and the constant agitation that has been kept up during the year, and the space devoted by the press to the necessity for better farming methods is bearing fruit. Many farmers who have been interviewed this spring state that the land will be cultivated this spring in the preparation of the seed bed as it never has been in the past. The land was plowed exceedingly dry last fall, and can thus be pulverized with comparatively little work. There is a general disposition to refrain from seeding too early, but rather to work the land up in fine shape, and rush the seed in as soon as the seed bed is warm to insure immediate germination.

To Drag After Sowing.

Many farmers this year will drag the wheat fields twice after the grain has been sown, once about a week later and again just as the blades are coming up. This will be done with a light harrow and will conserve the moisture.

The favorable conditions have resulted in general optimism among both farmers and business men throughout this section, and if the crop goes in in fair shape, with an early rainfall after the bulk of the crop is in, business is going to be good.

In Crookston, and in practically every village in Northwestern Minnesota there is a large amount of building in prospect. Crookston has five big brick buildings certain for the early spring, Warren has the new North Star college and Taralseths' big store, contracts for both of which are let, Thief River Falls has several big brick buildings certain, and Fosston, Argyle, Roscau, and other places have far more than the average amount of building certain, thus making business active along all lines. If, on top of this the prospects should be better than average there will be a vast amount of building in a small way which will make times livelier in this section than for several years past. The present moisture is specially important as the pasturage is now a most important feature owing to the extensive dairying.

CLOTHING CATCHES IN ELEVATOR BELT

Marmath, N. D., Man Has Left Arm Crushed and Is Nearly Killed.

Marmath, N. D., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—With one arm mangled in the cogs of the rapidly moving engine in the dark basement of the Western grain elevator, A. E. Odegard narrowly escaped a more serious accident and kept consciousness until his cries were heard by Percy Pirnle, who came to his assistance. While attempting to run an elevator belt onto the shaft Odegard's clothing was caught in such a manner as to badly crush his left arm and also tore almost all his clothing from his back. He suffered intense pain during the ordeal and it took two men to get him out of his entanglement. He will be laid up for some weeks.

CONCERN WOULD BOYCOTT SALOON

Escanaba Manufacturing Plant Would Stop Saloon Cashing of Pay Checks.

Escanaba, Mich., March 29.—The Escanaba Manufacturing company, which makes more clothespins, butter dishes and pieplates at its factory at Escanaba than any other corporation in the world, and which employs hundreds of hands, has boycotted the saloon. It has issued an order forbidding its employes to cash pay checks at any place where liquor is sold. As a means of carrying out the boycott a new form of check has been adopted. Across its face, printed in bold type, are the words: "Not to be cashed at a saloon." Below the date line is the following: "Subject to all of the conditions named on the back hereof." On the back of the check these sentences appear:

Agreement on Check.

"This order will not be paid or honored by the drawer or by the bank upon which it is drawn if it be or becomes indorsed by or the property of any person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of selling spirituous or intoxicating liquors, either at wholesale or retail, or if it be or becomes indorsed by or the property of any person who conducts a hotel or boarding house in connection with any place where such liquors are sold, and the person in whose favor it is drawn, and every person into whose hands this shall come, accepts it subject to these conditions and in full payment of the amount named on its face and of the claim against the drawer for which it is given. The undersigned each agree to the foregoing."

In each envelop containing the pay checks is inserted a strongly worded letter denunciatory of the liquor traffic.

WENT TO RELIEF OF GEN. CUSTER

East Grand Forks Man, Who Was Member of Famous Expedition, Dies.

East Grand Forks, Minn., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Ryan, one of the most familiar characters of this city, was found dead on the steps leading to the second floor of the Parry saloon, evidently having entered the hall from the street. Heart failure was given as the cause and an inquest deemed unnecessary. No living relatives are known here but an effort is being made to locate them if there are any before funeral takes place.

The deceased has been a resident of this city for twenty years, was about 60 years old and was a member of the relief expedition that was sent to the aid of Gen. Custer at the time of the massacre on the Little Big Horn in 1876.

SANDSTONE MAN HAS CLOSE CALL

Barely Escapes From Burning in Old Livery Barn Early Tuesday.

Sandstone, Minn., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire early Tuesday morning completely gutted the old livery barn on Main street, known as the Holler barn. The building has been unoccupied for a year and was used only for storing vehicles. A driver who slept in the little office barely escaped, and the wood frame burned like tinder and gained considerable headway before the fire department arrived. Through hard work the adjoining buildings were saved, and had it not been for the brick wall of the Pat Kane place, the entire block would undoubtedly have been destroyed. The building was an eyesore to the passerby, and the loss is not a serious one.

STATE BANKS ARE GROWING RAPIDLY

Gain in Resources of 701 Banks $12,748,000 in One Year.

St. Paul, Minn., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The 701 state banks of Minnesota, on March 7, showed a total increase in resources of $12,748,000 over the corresponding date a year ago. According to a comparative statement of the resources of the banks, issued by Kelsey Chase, superintendent of banking, the resources of the banks under his jurisdiction are $128,434,794. On March 29, 1910, the resources of the then 654 state banks were $116,564,000.

During the year there has been an increase of about $8,000,000 in time certificates and $1,791,000 in deposits subject to check. Returns from the state banks in January, at the time of the previous call this year, showed time certificates amounting to $65,000,000, an increase in this item of $2,000,000 for the two winter months.

This extraordinary showing for the increase in deposits is further emphasized by the fact that two months ago the deposits subject to check amounted to only $34,000,000 an increase during the two months of this year of $2,000,000. There has also been an increase of $200,000 in demand certificates.

The state banks now have on deposit $67,130,000 in certificates of deposit in addition to $36,676,000 subject to check, $1,044,000 demand certificates and $1,682,000 cashiers' checks.

MANNING CATHOLIC CHURCH

Will Be Organized in North Dakota Town Next Sunday.

Manning, N. D., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—A Roman Catholic congregation will be organized here next Sunday, April 2, with Rt. Rev. Catholics in all parts of Dunn county are interested as there are few churches in this vicinity and all are anxious that a substantial one, suited to the needs of the future as well as the present, will be erected in Manning.

ORDINANCE NOT EFFECTIVE.

East Grand Forks Act About Saloons Passed Too Late.

East Grand Forks, Minn., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the new city ordinance requiring saloon keepers to own or possess a lease of the building in which they conduct their business before they can secure a license to sell liquor will have little effect this year has been discovered in the fact that the ordinance cannot become a law until April 24 and that the time for issuing licenses falls on April 20. ## COMMENTS AND OPINIONS ON THE SPORTING PARADE

(BY BRUCE.)

GET Charley Kilpatrick talking and you will learn a lot of dope about some of the great boys who performed in the golden past of the athletic age

Yesterday, the big fellow, for he is almost in the "white hope" class at the present time, opened up the conversation throttle and came through with some intimate stuff about Wefers, Sheppard, Crum, Conneff and some of the other old boys, their athletic days past, but their memory still verdant in the minds of the followers of some of the greatest athletic events in the history of the United States

"Crum, great as he was, could never have beaten Wefers," said Kilpatrick in answer to the question as whether Crum was right in that great 100-yard race in the international games of 1895, when Wefers defeated Bradley, Great Britain's crack sprinter. Crum running third "Johnny might have had something the matter with him, but he was never the wonderful performer that Wefers was.

"To my mind, Wefers was the greatest of all short distance runners. He was strong up to 300 yards and was about the best competition man we have ever had. He was a big, strong chap, had a wonderful finish and also had nerve. I am of the opinion that Wefers would have beaten Duffy, had the two met in the 100-yard dash, and there is no doubt or the outcome of a race between this pair of speed merchants in the 220-yard dash

"I don't think America ever had a greater miller than Tommy Conneff. I was on the same track team with Tommy, the one that defeated the pick of Great Britain's athletes back in 1895, and to say that Conneff was a machine is the only adequate way to describe his running. That afternoon we met the Englishmen Tommy was sent out to beat the one mile record. George Orton was told to take him the half mile in something like 2.20, instead of that, Orton changed the pace to suit himself, as he thought that he had a chance to win and Tommy missed the record, though he won the race easily enough.

"The same afternoon he went out and copped the three-mile event. I went in after winning the half and paced him part of the way in this race. I have never seen the endurance and wonderful running power that this fellow displayed. I don't believe they have ever made a greater runner than little Tommy.

"Mel Sheppard in my opinion is the greatest middle distance runner we have today. He is nothing less than a marvel. Though Emilo Lunghi holds the half-mile world's record of today, covering the distance in 1.52 4-5 there is little doubt in my mind that Sheppard is the greater runner of the two. I only wish that Mel was the holder of the present record."

At the present time Kilpatrick is with A. G. Spalding & Co., and is doing some missionary work in the way of playgrounds. He has been with the big sporting goods house since he left Madison, Wis., where he was the trainer for the University of Wisconsin track team.

There never lived a greater half miler than this same Kilpatrick. His record has stood for years, and though men have been trying for this mark, it stood until Lunghi lowered it in September of 1909. He stands about six feet, and in his palmy days was one of the most graceful travelers who ever sped over the cinder path.

Just Where Does Carly Stand?

HOW FUNNY the world is! Philosophers, and students of human nature, and the Johnnies in the front row of the head musical show, have all made this remark before. There is nothing in the least original about it. It is merely being applied to the prize fight in Oklahoma, yesterday.

It was one grand day on Sapulpa, and there is also reason to believe that it was also one grand evening and later night. Had Schreck won the sublime would have been turned to the very lowest drop of the ridiculous. There must have been fear and trembling in the promotor's heart, after building so grand a show that the very eyes of the nation were upon, lest this big duh fail at the last moment even to beat poor, old time scarred and man-beaten Michael Cassius Schreck, a good old plug who has run his last race.

Imagine the enthusiasm of the people of the state of Oklahoma. You will have to put your mind on it if you really get at the local color. The people of that section of the country are daffy about this man, and the very fact that they are shows what imagination and a good press agent will do.

Sitting off afar a man can meditate calmy, if his brains are not cramped for cranium room. In the thick of hilarious excitement only the cool and calculating leader thinks, the mob get to the stage where it feels and is carried on blindly by emotion and that something in the air that many word painters have just failed to catch.

If any of us were out at Sapulpa we, too, would be influenced by the nervous rush of enthusiasm, by that something that gets into the hearts of men and makes them like unto children. For after all it can be said that men are children plus reason.

Here we have a fight that in the city of New York, or in wickedly wise San Francisco, would not attract the least bit of attention out of the ordinary. It would be put down as a second-class battle.

But out there in the comparative wilds of Oklahoma, where intense enthusiasm is one of the big assets of the country, they have looked upon this fight as one of the big pugilistic events of the country. It is to them one of the greatest battles that has ever been fought, and for years, perhaps, some of the men who sat by the ringside will tell the story of the fight that was held out there under the burning sun of the bright Western sky.

There were cowboys, the last sentinels of the West that is slowly giving way to the relentless march of the higher forms of civilization that we know first by the grasping hand of commercial enterprise, and miners, and cattle owners, and sheep owners, who fraternized with the owners of cattle; and there were Indians, and men of less strenuous callings, and women imbued with the strange excitement of it all into more timid emulation of the sterner sex.

This strange medley of human nature sat around the ring yesterday and watched with the keenest possible delight a ponderous engineer pound into submission a man who, some half score years ago might have humiliated this Monster Morris and turned the whole celebration into an anti-climax so absurd that men would have gone quietly into corners to seek excuse for their lapse of reason.

What has made the most vivid impression upon the whole country is the picturesqueness of the whole affair. That same brand of white heat enthusiasm resulted in the acquisition of California and Texas and other sections of the West, and so perhaps it has became the birthright of the good citizens of that part of the country. They build an arena almost in a night, and stranger still, fill it to its huge capacity with yelling, howling, half mad men, and some women, too, who in their fantastic fightitis imagine that they are witnessing one of the great events of pugilism.

And what do we know about Morris? We merely know that he is still the greatest living example of the fadism, the "white hope," and that until he is beaten he will be staked by the citizens of his native state as the greatest living fighter—Jack Johnson in abeyance and his star in the descent.

The fight has eliminated one of the dead ones that Morris will not be able to fight. His progress has been slow and sure, and some of us are inclined for the time being, with the right of changing our opinion, to hanker after the opinion that the sureness of the victories are more to the credit of his managers than to the credit of Morris.

Most any man with health and courage under his hide should be able to beat Marvin Hart and Mike Schreck. In meeting these forgotten incidents of our past pugilism the Morris mountain, with his immense frame, was not taking the least chances. So far he has played the sure thing route.

But his victory is interesting from the very fact that it spells progression and will mean that eventually he will meet some man with only half a foot in the pugilistic grave; Messrs. Schreck and Hart had the best parts of their carcasses buried in the sands of dissipation.

The future course of the Morris boy will at least be interesting. He has given us the slightest peg to hang ever fluttering hope upon, and should he come along and whip several fairly decent citizens of Pistiana, then there will be some excitement that will cause a wide-eyed stare to jump from one end of the country to the other.

And in the meantime, Oklahoma, particularly Sapulpa, is one of the most interesting spots that can possibly be imagined. It is firmly planted on the map, for it has caught the imagination of us all.

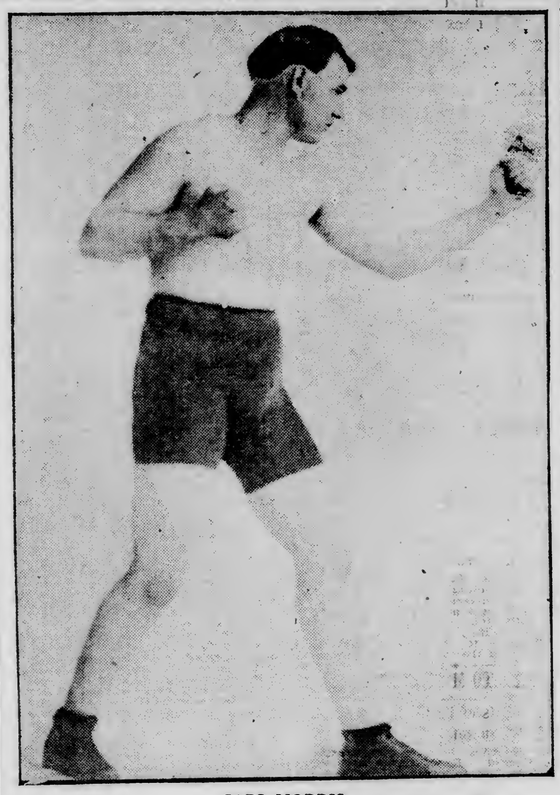
MORRIS BEATS SCHRECK BUT SHOWS HE IS SLOW IN RING



CARL MORRIS.

Sapulpa, Okla., March 29.—By knocking out Mike Schreck, the Cincinnati heavyweight, in six rounds here yesterday, Carl Morris of this city kept himself in the running as a "white hope."

That was about all he did, however, for his showing was not such as is calculated to indicate that Champion Jack Johnson is in imminent danger of losing his title to the ex-engineer of Sapulpa. A right hook to the jaw won for Morris.

Morris beat Schreck fairly enough, but the fight was slow. About all Schreck did was to act as a punching bag for Morris, and await the coming of the end. The records show that the "Flying Dutchman" landed in all about a half dozen punches, none of which were hard enough to jar even a middleweight. And Morris is far larger than a middleweight, for he weighed in at 245 pounds.

Schreck was fat and slow. He took a bad beating and was a bloody and pitiful sight when the final count came. There are those who are willing to intimate that Schreck was glad to hear the "referee" called off. But if he was, he is not to be censured.

One thing did Morris prove in this fight, and that is that he can battle with both hands. He hit Schreck with both rights and lefts today. This is the first time in which he has used his left punch to any extent.

Morris Is Slow.

Morris is slow. He has a punch, true, but it will take a large amount of training to put him in a class with any of the leading boxers in the heavyweight division. Morris, however, says he knows his limitations, and he intends to train from now on for speed.

Morris left here last night for Tulsa, where he will make his future home. He is now under the management of Frank Ufer, an oil man, who paid $25,000 for the right to handle him.

Fighting has not been a poor game for Morris. He stepped down from the cab of an engine last July to enter the ring. Yesterday he stepped from the ring into a new $6,000 automobile he had purchased with his earnings. Fearing the machine, which he bought in Kansas City, would not be here if it came by freight, Morris had it shipped by express. That cost him $120.

The fight yesterday drew approximately $25,000. Of this the fighter got 40 per cent. Jim Barry challenged the winner, but his defi was not accepted.

Schreck entered the ring at 4:40 o'clock, and Morris followed in two minutes. Time was called at 4:50 p. m.

Audience Is Noisy.

It was a noisy audience that awaited the beginning of the fight. Hundreds of cowboys, dressed in the garb of the plains, occupied ringside seats. There being no ban placed on noise, they frequently gave way to their enthusiasm, whistling and yelling as loud as they could.

Several Indians were in the audience. Morris himself is part Cherokee and he has many faithful friends among the red men. Few of the Indians had ever attended a prize fight and this, added to the fact that their local pride was one of the participants, made them keen for the battle to begin. They, too, yelled until restrained.

Hundreds of railroad workers, who knew Morris when he was an engineer and had no thought of becoming an aspirant for the crown of Champion Jack Johnson, mingled with the ringside throng. They brought with them the bell from an engine that Morris was running when he made his last "run" over the road. This bell was hung near the press box and rung whenever Morris followers raised a cheer for their favorite.

Open With Rush.

Round 1—The fighters rushed at each other like panthers. Morris led off with a hard right swing for the head but missed. They clinched. Morris landing lefts to the body. The referee broke them and Morris drove a right and left swing to the head. Another clinch followed and in coming out of it the ex-engineer swung another right to the head and followed it with a right to the stomach and left to the head. Schreck swung wildly with his left and missed. Morris put a left and a right to the face.

Round 2—Morris led with a left to the head. Schreck missed a right to the head. Morris drove three rights to Schreck's stomach, visibly affecting the "Flying Dutchman." Morris peppered Schreck's face with rights and lefts, the Cincinnati man being in distress. Morris drove two lefts to the head and then pounded Schreck's stomach with two more punches. They mixed, exchanging rights and lefts. They exchanged rights to head. Morris sent a stiff right body punch home. Schreck put an uppercut to Morris' chin. Morris landed a hard right to the head as the round ended.

Schreck Goes Down.

Round 3—Morris was at his man quickly, sending home a left to the head and short right to the jaw. Schreck sent a right to the head and received a similar blow in return. Morris shot rights and lefts to the head and stomach, distressing his opponent greatly. Schreck drove a light right to the head and Morris put a left to the stomach. Morris floored Schreck with a left to the jaw. Morris was fighting his opponent the second he regained his feet, driving a right to the stomach and a left and right to the head. Morris sent three rights and a left to the head, Schreck trying futilely to cover up. Morris put a right and a left to the wind. Schreck tapped Morris on the head with a right. Morris drove rights and lefts to Schreck's jaw. Schreck retaliated with a right to the jaw. Morris put Schreck down with a right to the head. Schreck quickly regained his feet, only to go down again from a body punch. Schreck was on his knees when the round ended.

Round 4—Morris missed a left to the head. He then landed a right to the head and took a left to the head in exchange. Morris swung his right to the wind and a moment later put his right to Schreck's face. They clinched and Morris pounded Schreck's kidneys. Coming out of the clinch, Morris put a left and a right to the head. Schreck sent a light left to the head. Morris drove a left and a right to the head, rocking Schreck. Schreck again put a left to the head. With a hard left to the head Morris knocked Schreck through the ropes. He was up at the count of three but only to run into a stiff right to the head. Schreck's face was badly swollen, due to repeated right and left punches. Again Morris punched Schreck's head with a left and a right. Schreck hooked a right to Morris' face, but the ex-engineer brushed it off with a smile. Schreck was in great pain when he went to his corner.

Round 5.—They exchanged light left taps. Schreck swung a left to the face. Morris drove his right first to the head and then to the stomach. Schreck came back with a right to the body. Morris jolted Schreck with a right to the jaw and before Schreck had ceased staggering from the effects of the blow, pounded in a volley of rights and lefts to the head. Morris' nose was bleeding slightly from a glancing blow Schreck sent to his opponent. Schreck planted a stiff right to the jaw and Morris tore in with a right and left to the head. They clinched. Morris put Schreck through the ropes with a right to the jaw. The round ended with Morris beating his opponent with both hands, seemingly at will. The end was in sight.

Round 6. — Schreck rushed Morris, landing right and left to the body. They clinched and Morris again beat Schreck's kidneys. Mike landed a right to the jaw as they came out of close quarters. Carl rushed his opponent and began peppering in rights and lefts to the head and body as he pleased. After the round had gone 1 minute and 2 seconds, Morris hooked a hard right to Schreck's jaw and the Cincinnati man took the count.

HARRY FORBES "COMES BACK"

Is Outpointed By Johnny Coulon But Shows Old-Time Cleverness.

Kenosha, Wis., March 29.—Harry Forbes, the former champion bantamweight, showed that he could "come back" last night and notwithstanding the fact that he was beaten by Johnny Coulon, it was only on points and Forbes showed a lot of his old-time cleverness. His game showing made him a prime favorite with the crowd. Coulon had a lot on Forbes in quickness, but Forbes rocked Coulon repeatedly and at one time knocked the champion through the ropes. Both boys were strong at the end of the ten rounds.

In the preliminaries, Young Kilbane of Kenosha and Young Owens of Chicago fought a four-round draw. Jimmy Troy of Milwaukee had the better of Red Gallagher of Los Angeles in six rounds, and Young Sorrens of Racine had a shade over Fritz Rudy of Kenosha in six rounds.

Frankie Conley at the ringside challenged Coulon for forty-five rounds before Tom McCarty's club of Los Angeles for a purse of $2,000. "Pop" Coulon accepted the challenge for the champion and agreed to sign articles.

Coulon and Forbes entered the ring at 10:40 o'clock, both under weight. Coulon was a 2 to 1 favorite in the betting.

AFTER WORLD'S FASTEST BOATS

Motor Boat Committee Will Start Campaign for Water Speeders.

A meeting of the motor boat committee of the Duluth Boat club, composed of Robert Marshall, captain of the motor boat division and chairman of the committee, Dr. Day, George Burns, G. A. Taylor, "Bill" Jones and Albert Ames, is scheduled for this evening or tomorrow, and when the committee members get together some official information is expected to be forthcoming regarding the activities that will be taken in the work of lining up water fliers for the events of the carnival.

A great deal of work has already been done. Letters have been written to motor boat manufacturers in the East, to owners at Detroit, Dubuque, Peoria, La Crosse, Wis., Winona, St. Paul and Minneapolis. Several favorable replies have already been received. The meeting of the committee will mean the first official step in the campaign for some of the fastest motor boats in the country.

It was stated to The Herald that a fine cup would be offered in the near future, and this offer may come up at the committee meeting. It is also stated that one of the fastest boats in the East, a boat that has been a sensation both in America and Canadian waters, may be seen at the big Duluth carnival.

For some time there have been rumors of a surprise. The names of the Dixie, the Wigwam, the Lamb IV, and the famous Hoosier Boy have been mentioned. Certain it is that the members of the committee are going to try to induce the owners of some of the very fastest boats in the world to send their fliers to the Head of the Lakes, and it will not be surprising if the name of some famous boat is given out as a local contestant.

RODE AFTER PAL BROWN

Chicago Manager Would Match Young Ketchel With Hibbing Fighter.

William Rode of Chicago, has written to the sporting department of The Duluth Herald, stating that he is after a match for his fighter, Young Ketchel, and would like nothing better than a fight with Pal Brown of Hibbing.

According to the letter sent by Rode, Ketchel can make from 128 to 130 pounds and is one of the strongest boys in the country at that poundage. Rode says further that the record of Young Ketchel is a first-class one and that he has the promise of a future meeting with Ad Wolgast.

Rode has already written to Dr. Plapper and arrangements may be made in the near future for a meeting between the two boys. On the showing Brown made against Greenwald he is entitled to consideration with some of the best boys of the country. If Young Ketchel is as good as his manager says, and this opinion is backed up by C. E. Hogue of the Chicago American, he might be a very fit opponent for Brown.

As announced in The Herald some time ago, Plapper is at the present time negotiating for a meeting between his boy and one of the cracks, and if his negotiations are successful, Brown may meet Frankie White, one of the best little fighters in the country, at a very near date.

Hibbing friends of Brown are very anxious to see him meet some first-class man. He has beaten all the third and second raters that have been brought to meet him, and it has been suggested that a fight with some one in the first flight would be welcomed in the way of a diversion.

RUSSIAN LION SAILS FOR HOME

Hackenschmidt Will Return to United States for Match With Gotch.

Today George Hackenschmidt, the wonderful Russian wrestler, is scheduled to sail for home. He promises, even threatens to return. He still clamors loudly for a match with Champion Gotch. It is generally believed the pair will finally sign up some time late this spring, or else the match will be the banner event on the fall wrestling program.

While Hackenschmidt has not met Yussif Mahmout and has failed to gain a victory over Zbyszko, the Polish champion, he has defeated every American wrestler of note with the exception of the champion of them all, Frank A. Gotch.

In some respects the tour just ended has been one of the most remarkable in the history of wrestling. In most of the cities where he has shown the big Russian has played to crowded houses. In temperament he is one of the best fellows who ever came to this country and by his gentlemanly conduct he has in a measure won the approval of the American wrestling fans.

A match between Gotch and Hackenschmidt is pretty sure to be arranged. The public will never be satisfied until these two men meet in a contest that will once for all settle beyond cavil or dispute the merits of the two wonderful athletes.

Here in this country we are pretty confident of the ability of Gotch to beat Hackenschmidt. In Europe the contrary opinion is held. You can get an argument anywhere you spring the match. It has to come, and for that reason alone the return of Hackenschmidt will be a matter of interest.

JACK JOHNSON IS TAKEN BACK TO HIS CELL.

San Francisco, Cal., March 29.—Prize Fighter Jack Johnson is in jail and unless some higher court comes to his relief on a technicality, he will serve a 25-day sentence for automobile speeding.

Johnson has been an oft-time offender of the speed laws and after fourteen arrests from which he escaped with light fines or dismissal, he ran against Acting Police Judge Treadwell last Thursday. On that day he pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding and on Saturday he was given a jail sentence.

He took an appeal to the superior court and yesterday afternoon Judge Mogan dismissed the appeal and ordered the fighter into immediate custody. Ten minutes later two deputy sheriffs had him in charge, bound for the branch county jail.

AS TAWNEY SEES IT.

Airs His Views on "Modern Theory of Representative Government."

Winona, Minn., March 29.—James A. Tawney in his first public utterance since his retirement from congress, severely criticised what he termed "the modern theory of representative government," that the representative must bow to the will of his conatituents, regardless of his own reason or judgment. Mr. Tawney spoke at a banquet given in his honor. Conclusions formed at the corner grocery, he declared, are the basis on which a representative is considered.

"What kind of conclusions are those formed by the people in advance of deliberate investigation and intelligent discussion," he asked, "and yet our modern theory of the duty of a representative is that he should accept such reasoning as this.

"The effect of this theory of the duty of a representative cheapens legislative representation, both national and state. In short

"It is lowering the standard of efficiency and fitness as a body of the only national legislative organization in which the people are directly represented.

"It is not my purpose to reflect on the personnel of that body, but like men who prefer continuance in office to effective retirement, many of them accept the modern theory of the duty of a representative and vote too often under what they imagine fo be the will of the people, as claimed by newspapers, and uplift magazines, rather than vote in accordance with their unbiased judgment."

S.S.S. PERMANENTLY HEALS OLD SORES

If a quantity of normal blood is placed in a vessel and vigorously whipped with a bunch of twigs, a white, sticky substance is found clinging to the twigs and binding them together. This is a natural element of the circulation and is known as plasma, a fibrous constituent—and is the true healing quality of the blood. This plasmic property is frequently destroyed by impure accumulations in the blood, and this vital fluid not only loses its power to heal, but becomes a source of irritation to any wound or open sore or ulcer on the flesh. Continually the blood discharges the impurities into the place and gradually the infection spreads and the sore enlarges. The nutritive corpuscles are also weakened, and the blood has not sufficient nourishing power with which to stimulate the place. External applications cannot cure an old sore, because such treatment does not affect the blood; the most that can be expected from plasters, washes, salves, etc., is a cleansing, soothing effect on the ulcer.

I was suffering greatly from a sore on my left breast, which had begun to eat, and at times deep, shooting pains would pass through it. I consulted physicians, but their treatment did not benefit me very much. I knew that the disease was hereditary in my case, as an only sister, my mother and two of her sisters had been similarly affected. After I had finished the first bottle of S. S. S. I felt some better, so continued it until I was cured.
Belton, Mo. MRS. J. CASSELL.

In 1877 I had my leg badly cut on the sharp edge of a barrel. A great sore formed, and for years no one knows what I suffered with the place. I tried, it seemed to me, everything I had ever heard of, but I got no relief. At last I began the use of S. S. S., and continued it until it removed all the poison from my blood and made a complete and permanent cure of the sore.

S. S. S. heals old sores in a perfectly natural way. It goes down into the blood, and removes the impurities and morbid matters that are the means of keeping the ulcer open; then the sore is bound to heal. S. S. S. is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and not only does it cleanse the circulation, but it restores the healing, plasmic qualities and aids in promoting every necessary quality for good health. S. S. S. builds new flesh tissue from the bottom of the ulcer to the outer skin, and makes a permanent cure. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free. S. S. S. is for sale at drug stores. # ON THE IRON RANGES

GILBERT BOARD PLANS SEWERS

Money Will Be Borrowed From State to Be Used in Carrying on Work.

Gilbert, Minn., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The old village board in final session last evening, reappointed President Lazarus Rubenstein, of the water and light board to a three-year term. The other members of the board are Edward Kircher and Prof. C. L. Newberry.

Village Attorney Radamacher was instructed to make every effort to secure the $20,000 loan for the installation of a sewer system here from the state, and in company with Village Clerk David M. Mouser will go to St. Paul to confer with State Auditor Iverson. State Treasurer Smith will aid in securing the loan for the village. Engineer Bowman has been secured to supervise the installation of the system and has had his plans for the same approved by Prof. Bass of the state university. Work will start as soon as possible. The plan of having the system's outlet in the direction of Ely lake has been abandoned as it is believed the village eventually will have to use the lake as its reguar source for water. Instead the system will empty in the swamps near St. Louis river. The improvement will cost over $30,000, and work will first be started in the First Addition to Gilbert, as $12,000 donated by the Oliver Iron Mining company to Sparta residents when they removed to this village is at hand. The donation will be used in conjunction with the loan from the state, and it is expected that the long awaited improvement will be completed this summer.

The new village board, Peter Le Duc, John Kern, Richard Lakso and Clerk D. M. Mouser will hold their initial meeting tonight. Attorney Walter H. Radamacher, Health Inspector D. M. Francis, and Chief of Police Ole Saline, are slated for reappointment with Frank Zagone and Aleck Karvinen, patrolmen, as new appointees.

The joint meeting of the old and new Missabe Mountain township boards which was called for Monday, will be held Saturday afternoon on the second floor of the village hall which has been rented by the township. The old township hall at Eveleth has been vacated, and desks removed to the village hall here. The old hall will be sold.

EVELETH STUDENTS ARE DOING FINELY

Boys and Girls in Quest of Higher Education Winning Laurels.

Eveleth, Minn, March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual spring supply of seeds to be distributed in the local schools is en route from Washington, according to a letter received by Supt. B. O. Greening from Congressman Miller.

Honors are coming to local high school students who are attending higher schools of learning elsewhere. At Ann Arbor Paul J. Erickson, a sophomore law student, captured second prize in an important oratorical contest, while Harry Rabinowitz, a freshman law student, and Abe Feldman, a senior law student, are also making good records. Esther Perris, valedictorian of the 1910 class, is making an exceptionally good record at the Stout training school, Menomonie, Wis., according to Supt. Harvey of that institution, who writes that he wishes all his future pupils were as brilliant as the Eveleth representative.

Many Will Teach.

Many of the graduates will soon be teaching, as Gladys Springer is to graduate from the Grand Rapids, Mich., school for kindergarten instructors, Esther Rabinowitz, Anna Mulligan and Irene Davey are attending the St. Cloud normal, while at the state university Eveleth is represented by John Saari, a dental student; Ben Wilk, an engineer; and Barry Wilk, of the academic department. William Cornwall is studying medicine at Marquette university, Milwaukee, while Manuel Shapiro, a Rush Medical college graduate, is assisting at the Cook County hospital, Chicago. Eveleth is also being well represented in an athletic way at outside schools, as Will Ellsworth is regarded as a high class track athlete at Hamline university.

ASKS $5,000 FOR BREAKING WRIST

Virginia Woman Claims City Should Reimburse Her for Injury.

Virginia, Minn., March 29—(Special to The Herald.)—Alleging negligence on the part of the city in not properly cleaning its sidewalks, Mrs. Helma Odlo, who claims to have been injured as a result of a fall, has filed a claim with the city for $5,000 damages, according to a report made by the city clerk at the council meeting last night. She claims she slipped upon the icy sidewalk at the corner of Cleveland avenue and Chestnut street and in the fall caused her wrist to be fractured in four different places and that she had received other injuries that has caused her much pain and suffering. The case was referred to City Attorney Poirier.

H. E. Devine, who has held the position of assistant city engineer to E. F. Johnson, resigned and the council appointed A. F. Balthouse in his stead.

To Regulate Speed Nuisance.

An ordinance regulating the smoke nuisance received its first reading and the ordinance regulating the use and handling of gasoline and other explosives received its second reading.

Complaint was made against the bus drivers exceeding the speed limit on Maple street and the police and fire commission will be asked to remedy the matter.

Meat Inspector John Byrne reported he had made an inspection of all the meat markets, groceries, hotels and restaurants and found them all complying with the sanitary regulations.

Miss Jessie McNell, clerk of the municipal court, reported fines collected for the week ending March 25 of $265.50.

SOON BEGIN SHIPPING

From the Underground Pits in Hibbing, Is Report.

Hibbing, Minn., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.—The new sorting yards for the Hull-Rust and Burt Sellers pits are now completed and all the ore will in future leave over the Coleraine branch instead of via Mitchell. The underground pits will probably commence to ship ore as soon as the weather warms up.

Superintendent of Gilbert Schools Engaged for Another Year.

Gilbert, Minn., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Supt. C. L. Newberry of the schools of District No. 18, including Gilbert, Sparta, McKinley and other points, who was formerly superintendent of the Ely schools, has been engaged by the school board for another year. The contract for furnishing the electric lamps for the new high school was awarded at the price of $269.20. Electric lamp shades costing $41 were ordered.

EVELETH BALL FANS HOPE TO HAVE TEAM.

Eveleth, Minn., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eveleth will probably have a strong city team, conducted on a cooperative basis with only the battery securing a regular salary. Supt H. L. Burns of the Adams stripping, formerly a strong member of the Hibbing and Eastern league nines, is one of the prime movers. City Attorney Edward L. Boyle, Pat Boyle of Gilbert, and Hank Boyle, now at Michigan, infielders, who have represented Eveleth on the diamond in past years, it is thought will again play here this season. J. Lambert, formerly of the Two Harbors and Virginia teams now resides here, and with the three Boyls, would constitute the fastest infield on the range.

TOWER FAVORS SELLING BONDS

Vote of 117 to 13, People Favor $16,000 Issue for Power Plant.

Tower, Minn., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The special election held yesterday to vote upon the proposition of issuing $16,000 in bonds to develop the power at Park Falls for furnishing the city lighting and power carried by a vote of 117 to 13. The plant at present is a steam one, but is badly run down and would require a large expenditure to put it in good order. It is quite probably the plant will be constructed this season.

HIBBING ASKED FOR FRANCHISE

Northern Traction Company Seeks Permission to Build Through Village.

Hibbing, Minn., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—The application for a franchise for twenty-five years for an electric street railway from the Northern Traction company was received by the village council last night and laid on the table for two weeks. The motion to lay it on the table was made by Capt. Wearne, who said "this will give the public the chance to discuss the matter, and also give the Northern Traction company the chance to show us what they are going to do."

No opinion was given on the matter by Mayor Weirick, but it is understood he will not oppose the matter if it is for the benefit of the village, and the public express a desire to have the line built.

The application states that the Northern Traction company shall commence actual construction of the road within six months from the date of the written acceptance of the franchise, and shall have one mile in operation within a year, and approximately five miles within five years thereof. It is stated that the line will be extended to Chisholm as soon as the local section is finished, but for the present only the business section of Hibbing will be served, including Pine street from First to Third avenues, and Third avenue from Pine street south to the neighborhood of the new depot.

Eventually the line will embrace several of the outlying locations and other small towns near Hibbing, as outlined in a recent issue of The Herald. The Northern Traction company includes the following well-known local men: R. F. Berdie, Gus Carlson, Max Ragowski, John A. Healy and P. H. Nelson.

Fire Chief Reappointed.

Fire Chief Charles McIlhargey was reappointed at a salary of $160 per month, and although the matter was not discussed in open council, it is understood that that body is fully satisfied with the work of the chief. The percentage of disbursements to be paid to the new treasurer, Dennis Healy, by way of renumeration was fixed at ¾ per cent. The report of the clerk of the municipal court for the week ending March 24, showing total receipts of $115, was read and accepted. The Hibbing Tribune was made the official paper for the year. A motion was laid on the table to increase the number of voting precincts from one to three or five, as the number was found to be too heavy for the election officials to handle at the last election, 1,688, the law fixing 400.

Must Be Citizens.

An ordinance was passed so that in the future no license to sell intoxicating liquor will be granted to any man who is not a citizen of the United States and no transfer will be granted to any man who is not a full citizen.

R. A. Angst was reappointed a member of the water, light and power building commission. Mr. Angst was the chairman for the past year and handled the affairs of the commission in a most able manner, thus making his reappointment desirable. Capt. William Wearne being the member to retire at the end of the current year is the new chairman, and he, like Mr. Angst, is a practical mining man and well calculated to pilot the commission through the coming strenuous year.

Mrs. T. S. Silliman was appointed a member of the library board to succeed Judge Martin Hughes. Judge Hughes had to resign on account of pressure of legal work, and his loss will be felt deeply, not only on this board, but especially on the school board to which he has given so much thought and attention during his term of office.

WOMAN SEEKS $50,000.

Sues Soo Railroad at Marquette for Death of Husband.

Marquette, Mich., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—A personal injury suit has been started in United States district court by Mrs. Lena M. Templeton, who resides in Chicago, Ill., against the Soo Line railroad, because of her husband having been killed by a train at Rexton, Mackinac county, May 2, 1908.

In her declaration now on file with the clerk of the court, Mrs. Templeton alleges that her husband, Matthew Templeton, who was employed as a lumber hand and on the day he was killed intended to go by train from Rexton to Garnet. She states that in order to reach the Rexton station platform, it was the usual custom of passengers to walk along a path at the side of the track for a short distance near the station. While walking on this path, Templeton, she says, was struck by the snow plow of a locomotive running in the opposite direction, thrown for some distance and instantly killed. She asks for a judgment of $50,000.

WOLVES KILLING DEER.

Crust on Snow in Upper Michigan Aids in Slaughter.

Houghton, Mich., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Fisher, deputy game warden, of Baraga county, states that wolves have been slaughtering deer at a lively rate the past couple of weeks. He says that the crust on the snow has made it hard traveling for the deer, as the animals break through, while the crust does not crush under the wolf and the deer falls an easy victim. Mr. Fisher reports seeing four deer carcasses one afternoon recently.

Casselton Holdup Foiled.

Fargo, N. D., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—An unsuccessful effort to hold up Frank Heinz of Casselton resulted in the arrest of John A. McGregor, who was brought to Fargo and held for trial.

RESTRAINED BY POLICE

out of his stateroom, leaving the place in darkness and was attempting to jump through a window when he was deterred. At Pittsburg officers were summoned and McAllister was overcome. He is reported as much improved at the hospital.

Ill For Some Time.

Chicago, March 29.—Dickinson McAllister, who was taken from a Panhandle train at Pittsburg in a delirious condition, is a former president of the Metropolitan Elevated railway in Chicago, and former chief engineer of the South Side Rapid Transit company, the "Alley L."

Mr. McAllister's illness dates from last summer, when, upon the death of his father and sister, the old McAllister homestead at Harrisburg, Pa., in a suburb of Fort Hunter, was sold, after having been in the family for over 100 years. He never had married and had made his home with his sister there. He brooded over the sale of the old place and over the family misfortune.

Monday he suffered another attack and asked to be taken to the old home in the hope of the associations restoring his mental equilibrium. E. M. Jordan, an old friend, and John C. Hayes of Jordan's office went with him. They left Chicago Monday night.

that he had seen no labor resolution favoring it, but the general public has an interest which should be safeguarded.

Representative Moriarity said that apparently the legislature had abandoned Oregon as a place to get its laws from, and had gone over to Canada, where the government season all its acts with the stigma of oppression of the lowly.

Representative Campbell said the bill would give employers forty-five days to fortify themselves against strikes, which often can be won only by striking quick and hard.

Representative Lennon thought the bill fair, and Representative O'Neill said that labor and capital are not the only parties in interest; that the chief sufferer in industrial disputes is the public.

Representative Knutson said labor's attitude was not fair, because it wanted the right to strike any time it felt like it, regardless of other interests.

The bill was killed and the lid nailed down by the defeat of a motion to reconsider its defeat.

Representative Spooner's bill increasing the gross earnings taxes on railroads from 4 to 5 per cent was also a special order, but it went over to this afternoon.

The senate was expected to take up the Seegenc constitutional amendment giving women the right to vote this afternoon.

Nothing was heard from Representatives Klemer and W. T. Stone, who had threatened to file definite charges today that the house committees are packed. Representative Klemer said that he had not decided what to do, and his leading supporters said the same thing. There is a possibility that the matter is ended, especially in view of the apparent disposition of the house to set its foot down on further brawling, in order that business may proceed. In this stand the Democrats are particularly active.

The senate received five bills this morning at the request of the governor. One, by Senator Rustad, proposes a constitutional amendment making the speaker of the house elective by the people instead of by the house.

Senator Boyle introduced and had passed a new bill repealing the law under which the range county attorney is appointed by the county board, as a bill now going through puts the appointment under the county attorney.

Representative Ribenack had the senate bill by Cheadle, giving Duluth power to issue $700,000 bonds to build an electric lighting plant, substituted for his bill on the calendar, where it will be reached and passed in a day or two.

The special committee appointed to investigate the report that cattle were unduly delayed in the Twin City yards, reported such delays exist and are unnecessary, and that they cause losses to shippers.

The house killed a bill by Representative Conley requiring lumber to be of the dimensions it purports to be. The bill was recommended for defeat by the general legislation committee, and Representative Conley tried to overturn the report.

Representative Lennon said that the effect would be to subject Minnesota lumber manufacturers to competition in other states that they could not meet, and though Representative R. C. Dunn said that it was a good bill, and merely provided that lumber buyers should get what they are paying for, Representative O'Neill said that the change would be an expense for which consumers would have to pay, and the bill was killed, 51 to 42.

Representative Lundeen had better luck with his bill giving veterans preference in public appointments, which he rescued from defeat by an adverse committee report.

The house general legislation committee recommended for passage the Thielen bill prohibiting street cars from carrying more than fifteen strap hangers.

The insurance committee killed the bill regulating fraternal insurance concerns.

The committee on public health recommended for passage a bill prohibiting the sale of liquor that does not conform to the provisions of the Federal pure food law.

Verholz, brewerman, was sentenced to twelve years in the penitentiary, bringing to a close one of the most mysterious murder cases in the recent history of Butte. Verholz, although he knew who shot him and that he was dying, refused to divulge the name of his assailant. Roberts was convicted on purely circumstantial evidence.

Suffrage Bill Advances.

Madison, Wis., March 29.—By a division of 18 to 5 the state senate yesterday advanced to the third reading the James bill granting the right of suffrage to women providing the bill is indorsed by a referendum vote. Assemblyman Merlin Hull's bill to prevent vote swapping was passed in the assembly with only six votes against the measure.

INTEREST IN GARDEN PLAN

Maxwell's Visit Has Turned Attention to Greysolon Farms Project.

Experimental Garden Will Be Cultivated During Coming Season.

The visit of George H. Maxwell to Duluth and the interest he aroused in the homecroft movement has given new life to the Greysolon Farms company's project for a home garden and market garden community on a section of land back on the hill. Not that the project has ever languished, as far as the people behind it are concerned, but Mr. Maxwell's visit and the pleasure he expressed in the progress the home garden movement had already made in Duluth brought the Greysolon Farms project more closely to the people of Duluth and created greater interest in it.

Although the transportation feature has not been definitely settled, the company is proceeding with the preparation of the land for the reception of purchasers. Two hundred acres have already been cleared and about twenty-five acres have been sold. Some of the purchasers will go on the land this year and the company is preparing to rush the clearing and plowing so that as much land as possible may be ready for cultivation this year.

The experimental garden, which will be a unique feature of Greysolon Farms, will be cultivated this year. Fertilizer was hauled and spread over the seven acres to be used for the garden and it will be mixed with the soil so that planting may be done as early as possible. The experimental garden will be under the direct supervision of the state agricultural school and an expert from that institution will visit it once a week to observe the crops and give advice to the other farmers.

The object of the company is not only to get farmers on the land but to keep them there and see that they are successful in their agricultural efforts. The experimental garden—or vegetable farm—will be for the benefit of the novices. They will be taught what seed is best to plant, what care is necessary to the growing plants, what harvesting measures should be taken and what disposition should be made of their crops after they are harvested.

Mr. Maxwell was deeply interested in the Greysolon Farms project. It is a step toward the ideal condition that he is working for in industrial communities. It is to be an object lesson to Duluth.

"This unit is just a start and we are anxious to make a success out of it," said C. P. Craig this morning. "To be successful, it must attract people to the land, make them successful gardeners, keep them at it and at the same time give the syndicate a return for its money. While we are anxious to see Duluth grow and are anxious to see the homecroft idea prosper, we are business men and we are conducting this as a business proposition. If we get our money out and a fair return on it, we will thus encourage other business men to take up similiar projects. We have no copyright on the idea and we would be glad to see others proceed along the same lines in order that as many as possible of the industrial workers of Duluth may be placed on homecrofts, to reduce the cost of living for themselves and perhaps to reduce it for other citizens by marketing part of their products."

TEACHERS RETAIN HOPE

Matter Is in Hands of the Commercial Club Committee.

Each step that the Congdon bills take toward becoming laws causes uneasiness among the school teachers and those interested in their cause. They fear that the bills will go through both houses without amendment and that the campaign of the teachers for higher salaries will avail nothing on account of the lack of funds to meet proposed increases.

Both bills passed the house yesterday and went to the senate, but by that fact the hope of the teachers for desired amendments has not been crushed. Although the report of the Commercial club committee has not yet been made, it is known that the committee will take such a position that amendments may be made to the bill limiting the total tax levy to 12 mills so that the limit may be removed from the general fund. It is believed that if a reasonable request be made for such an amendment, it will be granted.

The board and the teachers are leaving the matter up to the Commercial club committee and the committee is expected to report soon. It will undoubtedly report in favor of increasing the salaries of the grade teachers, but the amount of the increase to be recommended and the measures to be taken for adjusting the finances of the board to meet the increases are in doubt.

The report of the committee on schools, which is to recommend the election of teachers and the salaries to be paid, is being held up pending the outcome of the legislative measures.

The word has gone forth from members of the school board that unless the 8-mill limit is removed from the general fund, the desired increases cannot be granted. In the face of that fact, it is believed that steps will be taken to have the Congdon bill amended so that, while the board will be limited to a total levy of 12 mills, it will be allowed to use its own discretion as to the manner of apportioning the money so produced.

The bill limiting the bonded indebtedness of the district to 3½ per cent of the assessed valuation and providing that the bond issues of the school district must be approved by a two-thirds vote of the city council is expected to go through. There is some dissatisfaction among members of the school board over the provision giving the city council supervision over school district bond issues, but there is no very pronounced opposition to the bill.

LARGER THAN THE HAMONIC

More particulars regarding the new steamer which will be constructed in the near future for the Northern Navigation company reached the office of the company here today.

It is said that the plans call for a larger and faster boat than the Hamonic, and that the new boat is to cost about $600,000. Plans for the new steamer are being prepared at the present time by the Collingwood Shipbuilding company, and the Port Arthur Shipbuilding company.

Whether the work of construction on the new boat will be completed during the present season, is not known at the present time.

Steamer Is Moved.

The steamer James Laughlin was moved this morning over to the Superior shipyards, where some overhauling will be done on the big boat. Several other boats are due to go over this week, and from now until the opening of navigation the tugs are sure to be pretty busy.

DAVIS HAS UGLY WOUND

Claims He Killed Charles Taylor in Self Defense.

"Charles Taylor Hit Me First With Peavy," He Says.

Ed Davis, confined at the county jail and charged with the murder of Charles Taylor in a lonely shack near Brimson, Minn., yesterday, says that he killed Taylor in self defense.

Davis has an ugly cut on the back of his head, his face is badly scratched in a number of places and as the result of loss of blood and the liquor he consumed yesterday, he is still shaky. He told a Herald reporter that he is so weak and his head pains him so that it is hard for him to think and connect the events of yesterday.

It took him some time to think of the men's names with whom he spent the time at Taylors shanty.

He said that they were all "pretty drunk." "We had taken a lot of booze," he said.

He stated that it was a clear case of self defense. "Taylor hit me on the head with the peavy," he said, "and then grabbing the weapon, I hit him with it. I don't remember how many times. Anyway, he went down.

"Condon butted in and I had to floor him, too. He and I had trouble before, but I never had any with Taylor. Condon was all right because he talked to me before I left the place. I told him Taylor was dead and he didn't say much. He must have been there alone some time with Taylor's body because I left him there and told a farmer on my way to the station about the trouble. He started for the shanty right away."

Davis is a big, powerful looking man of middle age. When working he has followed the woods for some years. He was in jail and served a 30-day sentence for vagrancy a short time ago, being released March 9.

He states that he has a wife and two step-daughters somewhere in the city but he does not know where.

He couldn't get along with them so he left them, he said. He said the last time he heard from his wife she was living at 303 Thirteenth avenue west.

His mind was evidently not clear when talking this afternoon. He remembered things seemingly with difficulty. He was unable to stand erect in his cell at the county jail his head hurt him so. He was dizzy and staggered.

He will be arraigned in municipal court tomorrow morning.

WAS INSANE ONCE BEFORE

Mrs. Bertha Clausen, the woman who, on arrival from New York yesterday, was examined as to her sanity and ordered taken to Fergus Falls, was committed to the state institution once before.

She was found to be suffering from mental disease in June, 1908. After a week's confinement at the institution she was discharged as cured, according to information on file at the probate office.

The petition at the time the matter was up before the probate court before was signed by the husband, Thomas Clausen. She was at that time held in the county jail pending her examination.

Mrs. Clausen was suspicious of her husband. She imagined that he was in league with her enemies to kill her.

For some time past Mrs. Clausen has been visiting in Norway. She was apparently well when she left this country. She became ill while on her visit to the old country and as she had lived for some years in the United States she was sent back to this country by the Norwegian government.

She was brought to Duluth by Miss Hulda Haltquist, a deaconess who works in New York. Governor Eberhart had been in communication with the Norwegian authorities for some time and it was he who furnished the information and ordered her brought here.

She was examined in probate court yesterday, found to be suffering from a metal disease and again ordered taken to Fergus Falls.

The attack this time is quite different than the first. She is violent and gave her nurse much trouble on the journey from New York.

FROSTBITES PROVE FATAL

Woodsman Dies After Long Exposure in the Northern Woods.

Believed to Have Lost Way While Looking for Job.

Brought to the city with his hands, feet, ears and face terribly frozen, Steve Roentgen, a laborer, 35 years old, died yesterday at St. Luke's hospital following an operation which was performed in the bare hope that his life might be saved.

The full particulars of the case could not be learned, as he could talk but very little English. It was with some difficulty that the authorities learned his name.

But it was gathered that he had gone into the woods outside of one of the range cities, supposedly to look for a job. Becoming lost he began to wander about in the woods, and was caught in a storm, accompanied by a sharp drop in the temperature. It is thought that he must have wandered about a day or two before finally coming out on a road, where he fell exhausted.

The man was found by a settler who was on his way to town, and was brought along in his rig. Temporary assistance was given by a physician who was called, but as he was a county charge, he was sent to the poor farm. His condition was so bad that it was impossible for them to properly care for him there, and he was sent to St. Luke's hospital. There was scarcely a chance that he could live, but to leave no stone unturned, he was operated upon yesterday morning and died the same afternoon.

The body was taken to the undertaking rooms of J. L. Crawford. As far as can be learned the unfortunate man had no relatives or close friends in this country, and will be buried in the pauper's field at Greenwood cemetery.

MUST CLEAN THE ALLEYS

Board of Public Works Issues Ultimatum to Property Owners.

Dirty alleys in Duluth will have to be cleaned. So said Olof G. Olson, president of the board of public works this morning. Mr. Olson declared that the alternative will be arrests on warrants sworn out by the board of public works or men in the board's employ.

Mr. Olson explained that he has made a preliminary survey of some of the alleys in the city. He declared that they are dirty, blocked with ash piles, manure piles and rubbish of all kinds. He asserts that the persons responsible for this condition will have to remedy it, or be in danger of arrest.

Each spring the board has the task of getting the alleys into shape. And as regularly as spring comes around, the alleys are found in about the same shape. According to officials at the works board office, they are worse this year than they ever were.

The health department is also getting ready for the annual spring cleaning which is done under its supervision. The same description applied to the alleys about its many back yards in the city. If anything, they are dirtier and filthier than they have been in past years. With contagious diseases at the lowest they have been in Duluth for years, several of the inspestors generally employed in this branch of the department will be transferred temporarily to the sanitary end. Each will get a district to cover, and will be held responsible for its condition. All premises will be inspected, front as well as back, and the owners or tenants told what will be required by the department.

A little later basements in the city will be examined. This is also an annual affair. Winter accummulations are found in many of them, and it seems that the stuff is seldom moved if the authorities do not compel action.

WILL FAVOR A NEW JAIL

Committee of County Board Not Likely to Recommend Workhouse.

The board of county commissioners will hold its regular monthly meeting April 7.

The most important matter for consideration is the proposition to build a workhouse or a new county jail.

The committee has investigated fully the matter of a workhouse for the Point of Rocks and the members have about come to the conclusion that to follow up the idea would eventually prove a waste of money.

The members say that it would take a large sum of money to start the workhouse and that a new jail would, in a very short time, be necessary, even with the thinning out of the prisoners and sending them to the workhouse.

It is expected that the committee will report in favor of a new jail.

The Commercial club of Tower, Minn., has sent in a communication to the board asking that more money be spent in that district for roads. The communication states that Tower is in the midst of a very rich agricultural district and its development is hindered for want of better roads.

The matter of the division of School District No. 29 will also come up for discussion and settlement.

New independence wants the Shipley road completed.

There are liquor licenses to be discussed, road petitions, bridges, road repairs and other routine matters to come before the board.

LONGS ARE IN RETREAT

They Liquidate Wheat as Shorts Hammer Market—Values Slump.

Precipitation Is Scattered—Foreigners Try to Resell Cargoes.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 29.—Wheat declined precipitately today. May losing 1½c and July declining a similar distance. The markets closed at new low levels for the crop. On account of the slump flour prices were reduced 10c a barrel. Durum wheat lost 1½c but cash went on a May basis. Cash spring wheat equalled May. Oats lost ¼c. Barley walked forward 2c, the quotation of $1.05 establishing a new high level for this market, the previous high mark being $1.04 two years ago. Rye was unchanged.

Flaxseed was dull and featureless. May declined ½c to $2.46½. Antwerp quoted Plata February-March seed at $2.08, a drop of about 2½c from yesterday.

Wheat was demoralized from the beginning. Precipitation in the Northwest and the Southwest outweighed reports of dust storms in Oklahoma. Bearish crop reports continued to come also from Kansas and Nebraska. Shorts hammered the market and their activity did not cease at any time during the day although they became more cautious when levels established new prices for the crop.

Disgusted longs unloaded wheat and there was said to be heavy selling of country lines in the Northwest. The country loaded up last fall and margined its wheat for a big crop. The drop has come and the country is being frozen out, almost every fractional decline carrying the market into stop-loss orders.

The cash demand was fair but the flour trade continues dull. Minneapolis sent out reports that a curtailment in the operation of flour mills there was imminent. One mill will be closed down tonight and the capacity of several other mills will be limited. Small mills are running irregularly. The decline, apparently, has destroyed chances for new business. Flour prices are easier and demoralized and sellers still have the whip hand. Buying is on a hand-to-hand basis.

Durum wheat is scarce and there has been some evidence of an Eastern demand. The result was a firming of the cash position today. Cash durum went on a May basis. It was 1½c under yesterday and a few weeks ago it was 1c under. First-class spring wheat is not plentiful. A Minneapolis dispatch said elevators are putting away soft wheat. There are about 6,000,000 bu of velvet chaff in store at Minneapolis which will be delivered in May. This wheat is not desired by millers.

Foreign markets were lower and the demand was light. The French markets were demoralized and there was an effort to resell cargoes. Argentine shipments will be smaller this week but the outlook is for large supplies in Europe and the foreign situation is distinctly bearish.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The weaker American cables yesterday and the bearish Argentine and Australian reports were offset by the closing steadiness in Buenos Ayres and the talk of smaller Argentine shipments this week and prices were ¼d to ¾d lower. Following the opening pressure developed and prices lost ¼d to ¾d. Selling at this time was due to bearish European statistics and a general belief that future supplies will be large. Continental markets are heavy and there has been a noticeable withdrawal of inquiry from this center and there is a very small demand for spot. At midday the market was easy but dull and ¼d to ½d lower than yesterday.

"The corn market opened ¼d lower and during the morning May further declined ¼d on liquidation in this month. The firmness in Buenos Ayres was offset by lower American offers and expectations of continued liberal Danubian shipments and a poor spot trade.

"Australian wheat crop of Victoria this year is officially placed at 34,800,000 bu as compared with 29,687,000 bu last year.

"Our Argentine agent cables that there have been heavy rains in the north which is unfavorable for the harvesting of corn. This is reflected in the Buenos Ayres market at the close yesterday."

Topeka reported that two inches of snow fell there yesterday afternoon and messages to the Kansas City Times said snow and rain fell in Northern, Central and Eastern Kansas yesterday. The Union Pacific said snow west of Ellis. Snow melted as it fell.

Chicago Record-Herald: With the exception of the limited area in Western Kansas which has succeeded in attracting and holding the attention of most of the crop experts so far, it is generally admitted that the general outlook for winter wheat at the present is much above the average. Reiterated reports of the poor outlook in Western Kansas and Western Oklahoma have lost their effect on the trade, as the general disposition has been to throw that section into the discard, figuratively speaking, as it would not materially affect the prospects for one of the largest winter wheat crops ever raised. Moreover, the reports even from that section have been more optimistic, and yesterday's advices were to the effect that, while ten days later than last year, the crop in the western end of Kansas was not dead by any means, but was showing indications of being much alive. The trade keep in mind the direful predictions in regard to Kansas conditions in recent years and are not inclined to be unduly alarmed, especially when the general conditions all through the winter belt have been so favorable.

Chicago Record-Herald: Flour millers are not inclined to take a very optimistic view of the trade situation. Local dealers profess to find no signs of improvement, and the reports from the spring wheat millers in the Northwest are not optimistic. Minneapolis mills claim that, while shipping directions are coming in a little more freely, there is no material improvement in new business, and that buyers are taking hold only in a hand-to-mouth way. Some of the interior mills in Michigan and Indiana are taking a little more hopeful view of the situation.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Favorable Conditions and Poor Demand Depresses Wheat.

Chicago, March 29.—With crop conditions favorable both in this country and in Europe, and with poor demand for the large supplies in prospect, wheat today showed unmistakable heaviness. Dispatches were at hand telling that the bearish outlook extended also to the Southern Hemisphere, Australia in particular. Light rains general throughout the chief wheat raising districts of the United States formed the principal domestic influence against prices. The opening here was ¼@⅜c to ⅜@½c down. May started at 87¼c to 87⅜c, the same change from last night as the market taken altogether. A drop to 86⅞@87c followed.

Very bearish reports from Kansas further discouraged the bulls including a number of Eastern longs. There was much shifting to deferred months, especially September. The close was weak with May at 86⅛@¼c, a net loss of 1½c.

Corn weakened in consequence of the depression in wheat, although local traders were at first inclined to take the buying side. May opened unchanged at 48⅛c, touched 48¼c, and fell to 47⅞@48c.

The fact that offerings were light checked the decline somewhat. The close, however, was easy at 47½c for May, ⅝c under last night.

In oats, the main feature was unloading of May by cash dealers who were also buyers of July. Prices tagged in the direction taken by corn. May started a shade higher at 30½c and declined to 30¼@30⅜c.

Provisions went lower all around on account of a big run of hogs. First sales were at the same level as last night to 5@7½c off with May options at $15.70 for pork, $8.50 to $8.55 for lard and $8.85 for ribs.

Cotton Market.

New York, March 29.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 6 to 8 points in response to better cables than expected, and on a renewal of yesterday's late covering movement. There seemed to be some foreign buying also accompanied by reports of an improved trade in Manchester and a better demand from continental spinners, but domestic trade accounts remained unsatisfactory. Southern weather advices were favorable, and in addition to Wall street selling there seemed to be some cotton offering by the leading bull brokers. The market turned easier shortly after the call and before the end of the first hour lost practically all the initial improvement.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Ease With Which Values Decline Shows Market's Hollow Character.

New York, March 29.—The stock market was irregular at the opening today. The largest changes were made by Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie, which advanced 1⅞, and by American Car which gained a point. Norfolk & Western lost ⅝.

Bidding up of selected stocks failed to hold the market, and there was a pretty general shading off to below yesterday's closing. Canadian Pacific went up a point to 225, and its affiliated stocks, Wisconsin Central and Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie were 1 and 2 points higher respectively. Wabash preferred responded with a rise of 1⅜ to the announcement the company had sold the last of its Wabash-Pittsburg terminal bonds at good prices. Lehigh Valley also showed temporary strength. Speculation at 11 o'clock was very quiet but there was no pressure of consequence on the market.

Fears of an early decision in the trust cases had a restrictive effect on speculation and traders also were somewhat disappointed with the failure of the large interests to carry on their rise of yesterday. Much was made of the unusual success attending the bidding up of closely held stocks, such as the Canadian group, in which new high records are a daily feature.

A new angle was given to the bulge in these stocks today by an unconfirmed report that Canadian Pacific was buying into the Hawley stocks heavily. There was also talk along these lines of Lehigh Valley acquiring a large interest in Wabash.

The motion introduced into the Pennsylvania legislature to investigate the anthracite industry held the coalers back some, but the selling was very moderate. By midday most of the important stocks were practically on a level with last night's close. Dealings in convertible bonds were again a marked feature of the early session, sales of Atchison, Union Pacific and Norfolk & Western issues of this class constituting a large percentage of the whole.

The market closed weak. Still lower prices were recorded in the final hour when such issues as Reading, Union Pacific and United States Steel fell sharply. Rumors associating the general financial situation with the forthcoming session of congress were circulated with some effect, but the ease with which quoted values declined offered striking proof of the market's hollow character. Extreme dullness marked the final dealings.

HILL CITY EXPLOSION.

Hill City, Minn., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Elmer Boyer and Mrs. Robert Kagy, wives of employes of the National Woodenware company, who came here recently from Ithaca, Mich., were severely burned yesterday afternoon when a can of kerosene exploded as one of them was pouring some of the liquid into a heater. Their clothing took fire and they ran screaming from the house. Neighbors came to the rescue and rolling them in the snow extinguished the flames, although both sustained painful burns. The house took fire, but the flames were soon extinguished.

INFLAMMABLE STUFF IN MINNESOTA CAPITOL.

St. Paul, Minn., March 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is enough inflammable material in the sub-basement of Minnesota's new capitol to do damage amounting to $500,000 in half an hour, according to E. E. Corliss, custodian of the building.

"The fire never would get to the floors above," said Mr. Corliss, "but if the stuff ever got afire it would do considerable damage. The capitol was never intended for a storehouse, and it is a shame to keep things there that the departments have."

INAUGURATION TO BE A BRILLIANT AFFAIR.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 29. — (Special to The Herald.)—That the inauguration in October of Dr. George Edgar Vincent, who assumes the office of president of the state university next Saturday, will be a brilliant affair was hinted by Dr. Cyrus Northrop this morning in announcing to the students in chapel the arrangements for Dr. Vincent's coming.

Dr. Northrop told the students that he will give an address on his last appearance in chapel, but he said formalities will be tabooed in connection with the assumption of presidential duties by Dr. Vincent.

SUFFRAGE BILL DEAD IN SENATE

Senate Kills Measure in Favor of Votes for Women.

Only Speech for or Against Is Made By Senator Sageng.

House Against Increase in Gross Earnings Tax on Railroads.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—These three measures were added yesterday to the legislative graveyard in which the session of 1911 has made a number of new mounds:

Woman suffrage.

Increase in the gross earnings tax on railroads.

Industrial arbitration.

The woman suffrage bill came close enough to passage to keep its advocates in suspense until the last moment. It got thirty votes, two less than it needed to pass, and there were thirty-two votes against it.

There was an anxious moment at the close of the roll call when there were thirty votes for the bill, thirty against it and two senators who had not yet voted, having passed their names on the roll call. Senators Glotzbach and McGrath both failed to vote on the first call. Their failure to vote

HIS RECEPTION NOT WHAT HE EXPECTED

German Bringing Back Stolen Property, Pounced on By Family.

New York, March 30.—John Grauvogel, a middle-aged but small German, was sobbing convulsively and all of William Einstein's family, together with the domestics, were standing guard over him with improvised weapons in the hallway of the Einstein home tonight, when the police were called in and found the little man in possession of $4,000 worth of jewels which had been stolen recently from the Einstein home.

With little command of English and still less of his emotions, Grauvogel explained that he had bought the jewels from Robert B. Breker, a butler formerly employed by the Einstein's, for $150, but that when he had read the story of the robbery he decided to return them to the owner.

He thought his kindness little appreciated, for when he appeared at the Einstein house, he asserted the whole family set upon him as though he were the robber and beat him into a corner until the police were called. He was held at the station house until a late hour explaining his case. He said that Breker had told him he was on his way to Chicago.

PAY FOR UNJUST IMPRISONMENT

New York Senator Introduces Bill to That Effect In Legislature.

Albany, N. Y., March 30.—Senator Ormrod of Monroe county has introduced a bill amending the pardon law by giving a man unjustly imprisoned the right to recover damages from the state. Senator Ormrod said:

"My attention was directed to this matter by the pathetic story of Andrew Toth, the Pennsylvania steel worker, recently released from prison after serving twenty years for a crime he did not commit.

"I am advised that whereas one may recover damages from the state for property taken for public use, or for injuries to the person or property by reason of the state's negligence, there is no remedy for an innocent person unjustly convicted of a crime and sentenced to a term of imprisonment.

"I think the best method of procedure is to permit the governor to fix the amount of compensation rather than to have it go to the court of claims."

EGG CASE LOST BY GOVERNMENT

Produce Seized By Inspectors Not Adulterated or Decomposed.

Trenton, N. J., March 30—Judge Cross decided against the government yesterday in the United States court here in the "10-ton egg" case, finding that the produce seized by federal inspectors in a Jersey City cold storage plant was neither adulterated nor decomposed.

Assistant District Attorney Bacon appeared for the United States and Allan Strong for Keith & Co. of Boston, the defendants. The argument of the government was based upon the testimony of the experts of the prosecution that the egg product was decomposed and unfit for human consumption.

FORESTRY BILL HURT BY AN AMENDMENT IN HOUSE BY BOB DUNN

STRONG DEMOCRAT OF MINNESOTA HOUSE

H. A. SAGGAU, Representative From Ceylon, Martin County.

Salary of Chief Forester Is Cut From $5,000 to $3,000.

Speaker Pro Tem Lennon Bars All Outsiders From the Floor.

Clinton Rebinson Unable to Project Himself Into the Spotlight.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house took up as a special order this morning the forestry bill, introduced by the house committee on forestry, of which Representative Ferguson of Barker is chairman. While no particular opposition to the measure had been made evident when the house took a recess to this afternoon, the house had seriously injured the effectiveenss of the bill in the belief of its advocates, by adopting an amendment by R. C. Dunn, cutting the salary of the chief forester from $5,000 to $3,000. The friends of the bill urged that a cheap salary would mean a cheap man and that a cheap man would mean a cheap job, but the amendment was adopted, 67 to 34.

The bill, which has been months in preparation, and has the approval of all interests concerned, provides for a state forestry board of nine members, including the diector of the forestry school and the dean of the agricultural college. The board is to appoint as chief forester a man trained in forestry, who is to divide the timbered sections into patrol districts, appoint dis-

IMPEACHING OF INFORMER

Now Principal Object of Defense in Trial of Camorrists.

Abbatemaggio Stands the Severe Questioning Very Well.

Viterbo, Italy, March 30.—Gennaro Abbatemaggio, the informer, was cross-examined at today's sitting of the court of assizes which is tryling the thirty-six Camorrists for the murder of their treacherous associates, Gennaro Cuoccolo and his wife.

Most of the questions asked by President Bianchi and the lawyers of the defense concerned matters of secondary importance and were intended to impeach the informer. The latter stood the ordeal very well.

Lawyer Torre of counsel for the defense today received an anonymous letter in which the writer attempts to prove what has been asserted by the other prisoners, that the carabineers who ran down the Camorrists had manufactured the Cuoccolo ring evidence. According to the police, the ring had been taken from the hand of Cuoccolo to be sent to Luigi Arena in proof of the death of the man whom Arenas had denounced as a traitor to the Camorrists. The Carabineers swore that they found this ring at the home of a woman companion of the assassins.

As proof that this evidence was fabricated, the writer of the letter states that Littiello, a carabineer of the Legion of Naples, boxed the ears of his superior officer. Instead of being court-martialed he was sent to a hospital because he had threatened that, if he were punished, he would reveal the duplicity of the officers of the legion. Subsequently, the letter states, Littiello was declared insane and removed from the army.

MOTION TO QUASH ALL PROCEEDINGS

First Move By Defense in Cowan Impeachment Trial.

Bismarck, N. D., March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—With a motion that all proceedings under the impeachment resolutions be quashed as the first action upon the part of counsel for the defendant, when the articles of impeachment were read before the high court of impeachment today, the first day's session of that court proved unusually interesting. That the senate was sitting without authority, that the defendant had never been impeached in the manner laid down by the Constitution and laws, and that the trial of Judge Cowan at this time would be a transgression upon his rights as an American citizen were the grounds set forth.

Decision in the matter was delayed by the court until 2 o'clock this afternoon, the arguments being completed at noon.

INSPECTOR BUSY.

Twelve Men Arrested for Not Having Proper Fire Escapes.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 30.—As a result of activities following the recent holocaust in New York the city building inspector of Los Angeles ordered the arrest today of twelve owners of buildings which are alleged to be improperly equipped with fire escapes. A number of other owners have begun the work of equipping their buildings with proper apparatus.

MAY REMAIN IN PITTSBURG

Canadian Swindler May Be Prosecuted in Pennsylvania City.

Alleged to Have Defrauded a Woman Out of $1,000.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 30.—Developments today made it probable that Charles D. Sheldon, wanted in Montreal for alleged financial irregularities, will be compelled to answer a similar charge in the local courts before he is returned to Canada as a fugitive from justice. Counsel for Mrs. E. McAdoo, who accuses Sheldon of defrauding her out of securities valued at $1,000, demands that the matter be placed before the grand jury which will meet next Monday.

J. P. McGaskill, chief of the provincial detectives, who arrived here last night for the prisoner, will await the district attorney's decision.

JEWS CANNOT HAVE CHRISTIAN FIRST NAMES.

St. Petersburg, Russia, March 30.—The holy synod today issued an edict prohibiting Jews bearing Christian first names.

COUNT ZEPPELIN HAS NEW AIRSHIP

Craft Replacing Deutschland Makes Successful Maiden Flight.

Friederichshaven, Germany, March 30.—Count Zeppelin's new airship made a successful maiden flight today.

The craft replaces the passenger airship Deutschland, the highest developed of all the famous aeronaut's models, which, after a few thrilling exhibitions, came to grief amid the fir trees of the Teutoburgian forest on June 28 last. The motors and the vertical steering planes of the Deutschland were saved from the wreck and utilized in the construction of her successor.

INSURRECTOS ARE NOW CONCENTRATING WEST OF CHIHUAHUA

Object of Leader Madero's Move Believed to Be Two-Fold.

Near Enough to City to Participate in Peace Conferences.

At Same Time in Good Position to Attack If Negotiations Fail.

El Paso, Tex., March 30.—All available insurrectos in the field in Northern Mexico are being concentrated west of Chihuahua, according to news received here. It is believed by insurrecto sympathizers that the purpose of this move is to allow those who have fought for the insurrecto cause to have some part in the consideration of peace terms. That there has been no recent fighting around Chihuahua is regarded as indicating that the men in the field believe the selection of the new cabinet an evidence of good faith upon the part of the government preparatory to peace negotiations.

However, the concentration of Madero's forces near Chihuahua would make possible an immediate movement against that city should negotiations fail.

Many of the insurrectos are small farmers; they have been in the field for months and have suffered many hardships. As the time for planting their crops is now at hand it is thought here they will be willing to

BACK TO THE MINES FOR THOMAS LEWIS

President of United Mine Workers Will Return to His Old Vocation.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 30.—When Thomas L. Lewis relinquishes his position as president of the United Mine Workers of America tomorrow night he will leave the headquarters at Indianapolis for his home in Bridgeport, Ohio, and on Monday will take a place as miner in the Wheeling Creek mines of the Lorain Coal & Dock company.

It is said that Lewis has received a number of business offers, but he promises to remain in the miners' organization and his friends here say he will again be a candidate for international president. He recently discouraged an effort to make him the head of the Ohio organization.

DEMOCRATS STILL AT SEA

Secret Caucus Will Be Held at Albany Friday Forenoon.

Albany, N. Y., March 30.—The Democratic senators hope to settle the senatorship contest at a secret caucus tomorrow morning. The caucus today adjourned until 10 a. m. tomorrow without taking a vote, after the organization leaders had directed a full attendance with the expectation that a senator may be elected and adjournment taken for a week until the regular quarters in the capitol are ready for use.

Only a handful of Democratic members of the legislature were at the city hall, temporary capitol of the state, at the time set for the reconvening of the caucus today to act on the matter of a candidate for United States senator. The situation since the adjournment of the caucus last night appeared to have been complicated by Charles F. Murphy's fulmination against Francis Lynde Stetson, whom he accused of planning the ruin of the Democratic party in this state by the defeat of William F. Sheehan, the first caucus nominee. Murphy attributed Mr. Stetson's alleged course to the influence of the so-called "interests."

Senator Brackett, minority leader, said today that the Republicans were "sitting tight and awaiting developments."

Today's joint ballot was the sixty-second and fifty-seven votes were cast—no quorum. Kernan, Democrat, led with 12; Depew, Republican, had 11; Strauss, Democrat, 9; Sheehan, Democrat, 6; and Herrick, Democrat, 4.

WALKS SMILLINGLY TO THE GALLOWS

Joseph Christock Then Helps the Hangmen Do Their Work.

Pottsville, Pa., March 30.—Joseph Christock was hanged in the jailyard here today for the murder last fall of Mrs. Ann Richards. Declining the proffered assistance of a priest and deputy sheriff, the man walked smilingly from his cell to the foot of the gallows and ran lightly up the steps. It was a public hanging, and before him stood 1,500 people to whom he was waving his hands. Then he reached up, grasped the noose and placed it around his neck, put his arms by his side to be strapped, and smilingly said: "Good-bye all."

The man then held his head in position for the adjustment of the black cap, and in another moment the trap was sprung. He was dead in twelve minutes.

Before going to the gallows, Christock made a complete confession, declaring he had shot the woman when he was detected by her while attempting to mistreat her daughter. He told of numerous highway robberies and burglaries he had committed in the neighborhood, and ended his confession by saying that he deserved to be hanged for his crimes.

Robbers Get $40,000.

St. Petersburg, Russia, March 30.—Robbers held up a train at Widsow, a small station on the Warsaw & Granica line, last night, and secured $40,000 which was to have been used for the payment of railroad employes. Two passengers were wounded by the robbers, who escaped.

PROVISION OF BUCKETSHOP LAW INVALID

Amendment Which Defines "Bucketing" Declared Unconstitutional.

It Deprives Citizens of the Liberty to Make a Contract.

Decision Made By Supreme Court of the District of Columbia.

Washington, March 30—"Bucket-shopping" in the District of Columbia is a lawful occupation, according to a decision handed down today by Justice Wright in the district supreme court, and as a result the widespread crusade waged by the department of justice to end the practice in nearly a half score cities threatens to come to naught.

Justice Wright based his decision on the ground that the amendment to the code defining "bucketing" is unconstitutional because it deprives citizens of the liberty to contract guaranteed them by the Constitution.

The decision was rendered in the case of Edward Altemus of Jersey City and Louis A. and Angelo Cella of St. Louis, who operated a so-called bucket-shop under the title of the Standard Grain & Stock company. With twenty-six others they were indicted and while six of these pleaded guilty and were

SOME OF CAPITOL WALLS ARE UNSAFE

Occupants of Adjoining Houses at Albany Directed to Vacate.

Albany, N. Y., March 30.—The work of rehabilitating the fireswept state capitol begun yesterday while the flames were still crackling in the western wing, was continued today with increasing vigor. First efforts were directed to drying out the portions of the great building untouched by the fire but soaked by the tons of water poured upon the conflagration.

State Architect Ware has recommended that the legislature authorize immediately the preparation of plans for rebuilding the ruined third and fourth floors in the west end.

Unofficial estimates place the cost of reconstruction close to $4,000,000. It is said that an appropriation of this size would practically wipe out the estimated surplus remaining in the state treasury at the end of the present fiscal year. The state cannot bond itself for this rebuilding and the money must be taken directly from the treasury.

The first inspection after the smoke cleared away convinced the state architect that the remaining walls of the southwestern cupola were unsafe, and the occupants of houses on the opposite side of State street have been directed to vacate until the walls are pulled down or shored safely in place.

HOT FREE LUNCH IN THIS CHURCH

Pastor Adopts Plan to Secure Larger Attendance at Services.

Southington, Conn., March 30.—Well-buttered brown bread and hot cocoa served by the Rev. Fosdyke B. Harrison and his wife proved another innovation at the First Congregational church. The brown bread was the product of one who understood the none too common secret of making it, according to those who partook of it.

This unusual feature was explained by Ernest H. Bancroft, superintendent of the Sunday school, as being decided upon to increase attendance at Sunday evening services. The refreshments were served during a brief social hour preceding the service.

PRESIDENT GETS SHARE OF ESTATE

Cousin of Mr. Taft Passes Away in Connecticut Intestate.

New Haven, Conn., March 30.—When the intestate estate of the late Mrs. H. L. Globensky of this city was presented in the probate court here, in order to comply with the state law, it was necessary to name the heirs, and two of those mentioned were President Taft and his brother, Charles. According to Connecticut law the husband secures one-half of the estate and the heirs-at-law the remainder. Mrs. Globensky's maiden name was Caroline Elizabeth Taft, and according to the paper filed in court, she was a first cousin of President Taft. While the value of the estate is not given, it is believed to be small.

PROPERTY OWNERS WIN

Need Not Pay Cost of Paving of Street Intersections.

New Assessment Must Be Levied By Board of Public Works.

Property owners on Sixth street between First avenue west and Fourteenth avenue east will not have to pay for the paving of street intersections.

They appealed to the district court from the assessment and Judge Dibell has found in favor of the property owners and against the city of Duluth.

The case was in the nature of a test case and was heard at a special term of the district court before Judge Dibell last Saturday. Philip Smith brought the action. He asked to be relieved of the payment of $25.17, the second assessment for the improvement of the street and avenue intersections. All property owners on Sixth street between the avenues named were interested in the case.

The case hinged on the charter amendment which was adopted in February, 1910. The amendment provides that the cost of improving intersections shall be paid by general taxation. It states that the money used for improvements of this kind shall be drawn from the street intersection and sewer fund. The amendment was to have gone into effect at once after adoption.

The people of Sixth street had already paid one assessment before the adoption of the amendment. They were called on for the last and final assessment after the adoption. This they claimed was unfair and many of them determined not to pay until after the settlement of the test case which had already been brought in district court.

The city claimed that as the petition for the improvement had been made prior to the time of the adoption of the amendment, the old system should follow the improvement until finished and paid for.

The property owners need not pay the present assessment, and the board must make a new assessment, which shall not include the cost of the street intersections. The city may appeal the case.

Attorneys Andrew Nelson and Henry F. Greene represented the property owners, and Bert Fesler and Oliver S. Andresen the city.

COPPERS IN RUT; VALUES MARK TIME

Market Influenced By Uncertainty—Undertone Fairly Firm.

The copper market was dull today and values marked time. The strength in a few rails kept values up and the coppers benefited. The opening was extremely weak but the market firmed and closed about on yesterday's levels.

Interstate commerce commission's figures on railroad earnings were bullish, showing a gross increase of $16,000,000 in December. Shipments and production of steel for March will exceed any month since October although buying is less than in February. The decision of a court appeals of the United States that the Oklahoma 2-cent fare law is unconstitutional caused a better tone in rails.

There was nothing of interest in the copper market. The local market was quiet. Butte-Alex Scott was stronger, selling at $4.75 to $5. Denn sold at $6 and Keating at $2.75.

Amalgamated sold at $63.37½ to $63.50, Butte-Ballakiava at $5, Giroux at $6.37½ to $6.25, Butte Coalition at $18.25, Calumet & Arizona at $59.75, $59.50, $59.87½ and $59.75, North Butte at $28.50 to $28.25 to $28.37½, Greene at $5.50, Superior & Pittsburg at $14.37½ to $14.50, Shattuck at $19.

The Boston News Bureau said today: "John D. Ryan, president of the company says that the Amalgamated Copper company has not further extended its operations by acquiring control of the Roebling wire mills of Trenton, one of the largest consumers of copper in the country. The treasurer of John R. Roebling's Sons company, likewise says that control of his corporation has not passed. The copper trade in New York has this week been entertained by a report that Amalgamated had secured Roeblings, thus insuring itself of a positive outlet for at least a portion of its copper production. The story had its birth in the market letter of a local stock exchange house."

Work is proceeding at the Carman property and local officers expect that the Chispas vein will be encountered within the next thirty days. The drift on the 200 level is being driven toward the vein. It is possible that there may be delays in getting explosives, but the American owned mines in the district of Cananea have a special license to bring in explosives and if the insurrectos do not make trouble the management will not be handicapped by a lack of dynamite.

Watson, Alpers & Co. say: "The various big copper sections of the country are now better solidified than ever. Conditions are ripe for a combination of magnitude that would greatly stabilize the industry. That consummation we regard as certain in case the supreme court fails to condemn combinations of themselves, and makes clear the boundary between monopoly and lawful co-operation. Should such a big union not be permitted, the copper companies would be no worse off than at present. The vast importance of the pending trust decisions to this group of stocks is obvious."

The winding up of the affairs of the Butte & Boston Mining company will be completed in a few days. It is expected, and most of the 300,000 shares of Anaconda held in its treasury will revert to the treasury of the Amalgamated Copper company. The process has been completed in the case of the Boston & Montana and Trenton companies, but is still delayed by litigation in the case of the Parrot.

A Boston wire to Paine, Webber & Co. said: "The plans of the Amalgamated Copper company for absorption of the United States Metals Selling company are progressing as rapidly as possible. It is stated authoritatively that the Amalgamated has already acquired considerably in excess of 75 per cent of the stock of the United Metals Selling company and that the prospects of securing the remainder of the stock are good.

"Whether or not there will be any change made in the method of handling the metal by the Amalgamated Copper company can not be learned at this time, but the acquisition of the United Metal Selling company's contracts will place the Amalgamated company in a somewhat stronger position than it now enjoys, as it will have the direct handling of approximately 550,000,000 lbs of copper a year. Under the new arrangement the production of the following companies will be sold directly through the Amalgamated Copper company: Anaconda, including Clark property's production, 312,000,000 lbs; Greene-Cananea, 45,000,000 lbs; Copper Range, 36,000,000; Arizona Copper company, 32,000,000; Osceola, 23,000,000; Tamarack, 14,000,000; Ahmeek, 12,000,000; North Butte, 30,000,000; Utah Consolidated, 10,000,000; Champion, 10,000,000; Isle-Royale, 7,000,000; Pennsylvania Salt lbs. Total, 537,000,000 lbs.

"In addition to the above list, the copper coming into control of the International Smelting & Refining company through the treatment of custom ores will bring the grand total amount controlled by the Amalgamated when the plans are perfected up to 550,000,000 lbs. This amount could be increased considerably should conditions of the copper trade warrant such action.

"The total refinery output of the United States in 1910, according to the figures reported by the Producers' association, aggregated 1,452,122,120 lbs. Of this amount it is estimated that foreign ores contributed approximately 330,000,000 lbs, which would indicate that when the present plans are completed the Amalgamated company will handle about one-half of the output of the North American continent."

MANY AFTER LEGAL PLUM

Contest for W. J. Stevenson's Position Is Likely to Be Lively.

There is much speculation among the attorneys of the city as to who is to succeed William J. Stevenson as special county attorney.

Judge Walter G. Bonham, E. M. Morgan and Charles E. Adams are said to be candidates.

All three of the candidates are said to be out lining up support for the position. It pays $2,500 a year.

William J. Stevenson, who has held the position for the past two years was recently appointed assistant to the state attorney general. He will assume his duties within a short time at the state capitol building at St. Paul.

MILLER BUSY WITH BRIDGES

Has Two Before Board of Engineers for Their Consideration.

Washington, March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Miller today concluded a hearing with Gen. Bixby, chief engineer U. S. A., regarding the bridge over the Mississippi river at Hill City. This bridge was built without the plans having been approved by the secretary of war. It was built by the Hill City & Western Railroad company. The plan of the bridge not being in exact accordance with the requirements of the war department, this hearing was in relation to minimum changes necessary to make it acceptable. A satisfactory solution is thought to have been reached.

Representative Miller also has up for consideration before the board of engineers the matter of a wagon bridge across the Mississippi at Pokegama dam, Itasca county. This is one of the dams built by the government to regulate the flow of water in the Mississippi river. When the dam was built the government, for the convenience of the public, put a wagon bridge on top. The government, however, then stated it would not keep the ridge in repair and would not replace it when it was worn out. The bridge is now worn out and has been taken up, much to the inconvenience of the people affected. Mr. Miller is endeavoring to get the bridge replaced through the co-operation of the government and the local municipalities.

GRAND AVENUE WILL BE PAVED

Work Will Begin Immediately After Sewer Is Completed.

Despite the recommendations of the city engineer and the mayor to the contrary, it is probable that Grand avenue will be paved immediately after the laying of a storm sewer in the street and that no time will elapse for the ground to settle as some of the city officials have advised.

At least, this is the program mapped out by the council, according to Alderman Barnes of the Eighth ward. The assessments have been levied for the paving and provisions have been made for the putting in of a storm sewer. Unless a protest comes from the property owners, the paving will follow the storm sewer without delay.

Property owners are divided on the question. Some are unwilling to pay the assessment unless the return benefits of the pavement are received at once. They say that they can use their money as well as the city can and do not want the city to hold their money up for a year.

Others claim that it would be an unwise move not to allow the clay on Grand avenue to settle for several months after the sewer is installed, so that there will be a firm foundation for the paving. This is also the recommendation of the mayor and city engineer.

As the property owners have not got together on this question, no expression from the majority has been obtained by the council.

EUCLID LODGE HOLDS BANQUET

Third Degree Is Conferred on a Class of Candidates.

Euclid lodge, No. 198, A. F. & A. M. held a dinner last evening at the West Duluth Masonic hall on Central avenue in celebration of the conferring of the third degree on a class of candidates. A large number of Euclid lodge members turned out to the affair, and there were also several visiting Masons.

The banquet followed the degree work. Mason Forbes, senior warden, acted as toastmaster and had a good stock of stories for the occasion. He called upon several present for talks. Among those who responded were: Rev. E. B. Collier; L. A. Barnes, treasurer; L. Peters of Dallas lodge, Cloquet; C. C. Salter, past master, Euclid lodge; Frank S. Cleveland, W. H. Wright, senior deacon; and Martin Meldahl, worshipful master.

The dinner was one of the first affairs held in the basement hall since it was damaged by the flood two years ago in July. Water entered the basement of the place and ruined a hardwood floor. A new one has been laid and it is planned to have many social affairs of this kind in the future. A lodge of the Eastern Star, the Masonic auxiliary, may be organized at West Duluth this summer.

Nearly 4,000 Children Expected to Enter Commercial Club Contest.

Pupils of County Will Receive Instruction in Farming Each Day.

About 4,000 children in the various parts of St. Louis county will raise vegetables during the coming season and exhibit them at the various country schoolhouses throughout the county next fall for prizes which will be offered by the Duluth Commercial club. The Commercial club is also furnishing the seeds.

In response to letters sent out by N. A. Young, county superintendent of schools, recently, hundreds of letters are being received at the county superintendent's office from children anxious to know the conditions of the contest and get the seed.

The Commercial club and the county superintendent's office are working the proposition out together and already the children are showing more than ordinary interest.

The rural school teachers have been informed of the movement among the children and under orders from the county superintendent, they will devote a part of each school day to teaching the children something about farming.

The letter to teachers sent out recently reads:

"Duluth, Minn., March 27, 1911.—To the Rural School Teachers: The Duluth Commercial club has 2,000 packages of seed for distribution among the pupils of the rural schools. We have been requested to arrange for the distribution of these seeds. It is our plan to conduct a school contest, in the fall, the conditions of which will be made known to all pupils who may wish to enter this contest.

"In order that we may make the distribution of the seeds we desire the teacher in each school to explain to the pupils that two packages of seed will be sent to each pupil writing a letter to this office. In this letter the pupil will state the two kinds of seed desired. The pupil will be expected to plant the seed, give proper attention to the growth of the same, and exhibit the product at the time of the school contest, except in the case of perishable products.

"The following is the list of seeds from which the pupils may make their selection: Early flint corn, earliest dent corn, peop of day sweet corn, golden bantam sweet corn, market gardeners' lettuce, Davis kidney wax beans, peas, gradus, market gardeners' red beets, radishes and Chantenay carrots.

"Pupils who wish to enter the contest may exhibit any of the following articles: Potatoes, early and late varieties; corn, early and late varieties; sweet corn, pumpkins, squash, beets, table and stock; carrots, rutabagas, parsnips, cabbage, work apron, fancy apron, button holes, patching, cakes, canned fruit, jellies and bread.

"The teacher in each school is expected to devote some time during regular school hours to the following: Preparation of soils, seeding and selection of product to be exhibited.

"We hope to receive a large number of letters within the next ten days. Pupils desiring to enter the contest are requested to inform this office as soon as possible concerning the exhibit they may wish to enter in the school contest.

"Liberal prizes will be provided and we desire to have a large number of exhibitors."

TWO MORE WOMEN PLACED UNDER ARREST.

The broom which the city administration is using to give Duluth a moral cleanup, made another little sweep last night when two alleged disreputable women were arrested by Detectives Terry and Toewe over the Saloon at 19 West Superior street. They gave their names as Dora Asher, 28 years old, and Mabel McNamara, 33 years of age.

Both entered pleas of not guilty when arraigned in police court this morning on statutory charges. Their trials were set for April 5, the same date as that fixed for the trial of Minnie Cookman, who was arrested Tuesday afternoon on charges of running a house of ill fame at 228 Lake avenue south and with selling liquor without a license. The two are said to have been connected with Cookman case.

HOW TO SUCCEED

During the last few years, conditions in all lines of business, even professional life, have changed so completely that every man is waking up to the fact that in order to win success he must specialize and learn to do some one thing and do it well.

So it is with any article that is sold to the people. It must have genuine merit or no amount of advertising will maintain the demand for the article.

For many years we have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy. From the very beginning the proprietors had so much confidence in it that they invited every one to test it, free of cost, before purchasing.

It is a physician's prescription.

They have on file thousands of letters received from former sufferers who are now enjoying good health as a result of its use.

However, if you wish first to try a sample bottle, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and mention this paper. They will gladly forward you a sample bottle by mail, absolutely free.

HAS A MODEL ESTABLISHMENT

Gopher Shoe Works Remodels Its Store and Shop.

Times have changed greatly since the days when people took their shoes to the cobbler for repairs and stood at the little low bench or sat on a drygoods box while the cobbler whetted his knife, cut out a piece of leather, shaped and tacked it into place.

A splendid example of the up-to-date shoe repairing establishment of the present day may be found at the Gopher Shoe Works at Second avenue west, where Nels Turnbladh, the proprietor has just about completed the remodeling of the shop and store and made it a pleasant and interesting place to visit whether on curiosity or business bent. Mr. Turnbladh has accomplished what no other shoe shop in the country has yet attempted. He has arranged his establishment so that his patrons may sit in comfortable chairs and watch through glass partitions every operation of the electrically driven machines which turn out in a few seconds better work than it formerly took human labor hours to do. The glass partitions cut out all annoying noises. The machines are all the latest types that can be found in the largest fine shoe factories of the country and are so arranged that one may sit at ease and watch the interesting process from the cutting of the sole to the sewing or nailing and the finishing touches.

The work of the machines is augmented by that of six skilled workmen and the volume of business which passes through the shop every day is astonishing. Aside from the main store and shop, the Gopher Shoe Works has two other shops in the city and every bit of the work is handled expeditiously and in a thoroughly workmanlike manner. The glass partitions cut out all annoying noises.

By reason of the remodeling the store, which is finished in weathered oak, has gained very much in attractiveness and sets off to much better advantage the large stock of new spring and summer footwear that has just been received from some of the best factories in the country.

Only the best grades of men's, women's and children's shoes are handled and these are sold for less than other stores because the Gopher Shoe Works operates at less expense than other dealers.

The Gopher's slogans are becoming household phrases in Duluth.

"We make shoes."
"We repair shoes."
"We know shoes."

These phrases are becoming as well known as the Gopher's familiar sentence, "The Name of Shoe Repairing Fame."

DULUTH CHINAMAN WEDS HANCOCK GIRL.

A dispatch from Red Wing, Minn., says that Louis Wong, a native of Hong Kong, China, and a resident of Duluth was married there yesterday to Florence Strolberg of Hancock, Mich. The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. Arthur Cook at the parsonage of the First M. E. church of Red Wing.

None of the residents of Duluth's Chinese colony were able to place Wong today and he is believed to be a recent arrival in Duluth if he lived here at all. The Duluth Chinamen admitted that they might know Wong under a different name from that given in the marriage certificate.

RAILROADS

DECLARED CONFISCATORY.

Oklahoma Enjoined From Enforcing the 2-Cent Passenger Rate in State.

St. Louis, Mo., March 30.—The 2-cent passenger rate in Oklahoma was declared to be confiscatory and was held invalid by a decision of the United States circuit court of appeals handed down here yesterday. The unanimous opinion of the court restrains the members of the corporation commission of Oklahoma and the attorney general of that state from enforcing the provisions of the Oklahoma Constitution reducing the maximum passenger fare to 2 cents per mile and reducing freight rates in intrastate traffic.

EVANS IS PRESIDENT.

Tramway Official Succeeds David H. Moffat on Moffat Road.

Denver, Colo., March 30.—W. G. Evans, president of the Denver City Tramway company, was yesterday elected president of the Denver, Northwestern & Pacific railroad (Moffat road) to succeed the late David H. Moffat.

Fred G. Moffat was elected vice president, and Gerald Hughes was named as a director of the company.

NEW IOWA EXPRESS RATES ARE SUPSENDED.

Des Moines, Iowa, March 30.—Judge Smith McPherson at Council Bluffs yesterday temporarily enjoined the Iowa railroad commission from putting into effect the new express rates which were promulgated some time ago, and which would have reduced the rates in general 15 per cent, taking effect today. Attorney General Guernsey of Des Moines, representing the express companies, obtained the temporary estoppal upon the grounds that the new rates are confiscatory.

HOW MUCH IS A CORD?

Wood Dealer Tells Court Wood Measures Less When Split.

Hearing Postponed While He and Inspector Try the Experiment.

When a cord of four-foot wood has been sawed and split, does it measure up several cubic feet less than a cord, or 128 cubic feet?

That is the question which arose in municipal court this morning when J. D. O'Connell, a wood dealer, was put on trial before Judge Windom on a charge of having given William Langdon short measure, when he bought half a cord of the small wood. To determine the matter, the case was postponed until tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock. In the meantime the sealer of weights and measures, Mr. O'Connell and others will saw and split a half cord of wood at the O'Connell wood yard. On the stand this morning Mr. O'Connell contended that the half cord sold to Mr. Langdon did not measure sixty-four cubic feet for the reason that the splitting process lessened the quantity. He claimed that it would be reduced to fifty-two or fifty-five cubic feet. Judge Windom allowed that it might be so, but wanted to be absolutely sure. He announced that if the case were different, and that if the purchaser had been deliberately defrauded, it would go hard with the man who had made the sale. He said that in case of such convictions, severe penalties would be imposed.

MISS MEEKER IS IN DULUTH

New Assistant Secretary of Associated Charities Comes to Assume Duties.

Miss Edna Meeker, the new assistant secretary of the Duluth Associated Charities, arrived in Duluth this morning from Elizabeth, N. J.

Miss Meeker will take the place left vacant by Mrs. Robert Lee, who has been assistant secretary since the office in the courthouse was opened by Secretary Dinwiddie. Mrs. Lee resigned recently.

Miss Meeker was engaged at the meeting of the executive committee held some days ago. Of all those recommended for the place, Miss Meeker seemed the most capable.

She comes to Duluth with much experience in the work. She has done settlement work in Chicago and New York, as well as in a number of other places. She has been engaged in many different branches in the same line of work.

For the past few months Miss Meeker has been at her home in Elizabeth. She was forced to take a rest as continual and hard work caused her health to break down.

Miss Meeker will assume her duties Friday. Mrs. Lee will remain for a week or ten days to assist Miss Meeker in becoming familiar with her duties.

Beautiful Complexion Easy to Produce

(From The Fashion Designer.)

"Half the energy and care devoted to her complexion by the average woman is misdirected and misapplied. Greasy face creams and pore-clogging powders never will give lasting beauty to the skin.

"The complexions of Japanese women are the wonder and envy of foreign women traveling in the Orient. Yet the Japanese beauty devotes less than five minutes a day to her complexion. All she does is gently massage her face, neck and arms daily with a solution made by dissolving a small original package of mayatone in eight ounces of witch hazel.

"This harmless treatment produces and preserves that smooth and satiny skin, so clear and soft and beautiful, delicately colored and always free from roughness, redness, wrinkles and hairs. Any woman with the same treatment can achieve the same results."

SNOW MOST OPPORTUNE

Heavy Fall of the Beautiful Worth Thousands to Settlers.

March Is Expected to Go Out Like a Lion.

When the snow let up early this morning, Duluth had been favored with a total of about nine inches of the white product of the clouds. The snowfall hardly partook of the nature of a storm. The fall was gentle and unattended by wind or low temperatures and the temperature was just low enough early this morning to avoid slushiness. But the snow melted rapidly toward noon.

The snow is worth thousands of dollars to settlers and farmers in Minnesota. The long dry spell during the early part of March threatened to leave the land with a deficiency of moisture, and already there were reports of brush fires before the snow came. Yesterday's storm came just at the opportune moment. It was too early to interfere with plowing or planting, and it will provide all the moisture needed. The snow is said by farmers to be even better than rain. Much of the rain water runs off as soon as it falls, if the land is well drained, but the snow melts and soaks into the ground.

Duluth was given the bulk of the snow in this section. The fall extended to the ranges and east for some distance but the territory west and south had very little snow, and St. Paul had only flurries yesterday.

While the temperature was high enough today to melt some of the snow and make walking uncomfortable, the mercury will be well below the freezing point again tonight, the weather man says. Snow flurries are predicted for tonight and tomorrow, so the chances for March going out like a lion are regarded as excellent.

WILLING TO DROP DUTY ON FLOUR

Minneapolis Millers Notify Senator Clapp to That Effect.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 30.—So eager are most of the millers of Minneapolis to have the reciprocity agreement with Canada ratified in congress, that they are ready to go as far as granting the wishes of those who seek to have the entire duty taken off flour to make the reduction comparative to the proposed reduction in wheat.

Senator Moses E. Clapp has been notified to this effect by the Minneapolis men, who recently wrote him of the immense value of the reciprocity pact to the milling interests. In reply to this letter Senator Clapp asks: "What I would like to know is whether or not a protective duty on flour is at all essential to our milling interests."

To this the following reply has been made: "We do not believe it is necessary or essential that there be a protective duty on flour."

Though many American millers would agree to allow Canadian flour to come in without duty, it is hardly probable that the Canadians would agree to allow American flour to be shipped into Canada without a duty, since the Americans would likely be able to flood that country with their product.

FARMERS OUT IN CROWDS

Potato Special Visits Northern Part of St. Louis County.

Special Attention Given Poultry Raising and Gardening in Cities.

Cook, Minn., March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Up in the farming country of St. Louis county today the potato special is exercising its primary function of instructing the farmers in the culture of potatoes, and everything is subservient to that instruction. In the cities and towns of the range potato instruction was given incidentally to the farmers who came from the outlying districts, but stress was laid on poultry raising and home gardening for the benefit of the children and townspeople.

But today potatoes are again in the limelight and the experts are busy judging samples, explaining the reasons for recommendations of certain varieties for growth in this section of the country, telling measures for caring for crops and instructing their auditors in methods of marketing. Interest is taken in the poultry raising feature, but the farmers are especially interested in potatoes and their hunger for information is being appeased.

The crowd this morning was a large one, despite the poor roads and the consequent difficulty experienced in getting over them. The experience of the speakers here was the same as at other points. The talks were short and just enough was told to get the farmers going. Then a bombardment of questions followed and the discussion waxed warm at times. The farmers of this section are wise—a good deal wiser than a good many people think. Their questions are at times a surprise and a revelation to the experts on the potato special, for they show depth of study and expanse of knowledge hardly expected of men without scientific education in the cultivation of the soil. Though they have not attended agricultural schools, many of the farmers have not failed to keep abreast of the times in agricultural matters and they show that the institutes formerly held and the instructions given them have had results.

Interest in Poultry Raising.

In the towns, the potato special has resolved itself into a poultry-raising and home-gardening special. In fact the instructions given in the range towns visited thus far have been along the lines of the homecroft movement which was given impetus in Duluth last week by George H. Maxwell. Special work has been done among the children and the results will be evident during the coming season.

At every town A. B. Hostetter, an indefatigable worker, by the way, has called upon the superintendent of schools and made arrangements for the children to visit the potato special in squads of fifty. The children were given every opportunity to view the exhibit and then were inspired with the home garden idea. N. E. Chapman has done effective work in proving that anybody with a little time and a little space can get a start in some way and go into the poultry raising business. The speakers have proved to the satisfaction of hundreds of children already that poultry-raising and gardening will be profitable for the time and of incalculable benefit in after years.

Although the miners and many of the business men are unable to attend the sessions at some of the towns, the children are being reached, and, through the children, the speakers know that the parents will be reached. In the range towns there are hundreds of gardens and hundreds of poultry-yards this year where barren ground was littered with rubbish a year ago.

This afternoon, the special goes to Lake Junction and this evening Virginia will be visited. All day tomorrow, the special will be at Hibbing and the speakers are anxious that as many farmers and as many business men as possible visit the train. The big meeting at Hibbing will be at the armory in the evening and the speakers expect to address one of the largest meetings of the trip.

Good Meetings at Eveleth.

Eveleth, Minn., March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two enthusiastic sessions were held here yesterday afternoon and evening, the first in the coaches of the potato special on the Iron Range tracks and the second at the high school. Sixty farmers from Wolf, St. Louis river, Mud Hen district and nearby were present at the afternoon session. The session was divided into divisions, with C. E. Brown, Elk River, speaking on "Potatoes," N. E. Chapman of the state agricultural college on "Chickens," H. A. Hopkins on the "Relations Between Merchants and Farmers." All the addresses were illustrated by chalk talks and carefully followed by the audience. Three hundred and twenty-five school children attended the session and took special interest in the address on "Chickens." It was learned that 200 of the 325 are members of families where poultry is raised at home, which the agricultural experts believe is a better showing than can be made by Duluth. The botany and agricultural classes of the local high school also attended the session.

The display in the baggage car was closely viewed by the visitors, and much interest shown in the potatoes grown close to Eveleth. Pictures of the Haenke farm, four miles from here were also on view. John Stone Pardee, secretary of the Duluth Produce association, returned to Duluth yesterday, and in the evening Prof. Willis of the Northwestern Homestead, St. Paul, joined the party.

In the evening at the high school the speakers were greeted by a very large audience composed of many school children who took a prominent part in the activities of the session. A. B. Hostetter of the Duluth Commercial club presided at the meeting and opened the program by telling of the needs in the agricultural development of this part of the state. O. M. Olson, Prof. Chapman, Mr. Brown and Prof. Willis spoke.

return to their farms and await the development of reforms if assured by the cabinet that the reforms already outlined will be enacted.

The insurrectos will demand, however, that they retain their arms, that all prisoners taken since the outbreak of the insurrection be released and that the families of those who have fallen in the insurrecto ranks be given the same compensation awarded to families of the federal dead.

De La Barra Nears Mexico.

San Antonio, Tex., March 30.—Senor De la Barra, the new Mexican minister of foreign affairs, passed through here today on his way to Mexico City, but was not joined by any of the Madero family, who are expected soon to enter into peace negotiations with representatives of the Mexican government.

On subjects of public interest, Senor de la Barra was silent. He expressed the highest esteem for the American people and for President Taft and for other high officials with whom he has had to deal as minister to Washington.

Relations between Mexico and United States, he said, were of a sincere friendliness, due to similar high ideals of justice and humanity. He said he did not expect to see Senor Limantour at Monterey but would proceed directly to the City of Mexico for an interview with President Diaz.

"Can you give an assurance that there will soon be peace in your country?" he was asked.

"I cannot say; I do not know. I must first visit my country."

A score of Mexican residents here paid their respects to their distinguished countryman during the brief stop of the train.

Week Will Tell Tale.

San Antonio, Tex., March 30.—Another week will tell whether there is to be peace or further war in Mexico, according to Alfonso Madero, brother of the rebel leader, Francisco I. Madero.

A synopsis of the talk between Jose Limantour, the Mexican minister of finance, and Francisco I. Madero, Sr., at New York, in which tentative proposals are made, has been sent to the insurrecto chieftain, at present a day's journey west of the city of Chihuahua. Within a week his answer is expected. He will say the final word as to whether negotiations shall become formal.

"My brother," said Don Alfonso, "if he is convinced of the sincere wish of the government to grant the concessions demanded by the people will appoint envoys to meet the government representatives. Where such a meeting will take place I cannot state. Certainly none of our family would care to visit Mexico without the fullest guarantee for our safety."

May Still Be Fighting.

Hermosillo, Mex., March 30.—No government announcement has been made here of a federal victory over rebels near Ures and as hacks have been leaving here for the last two days loaded with ammunition, it is believed fighting is still in progress. Rebels are known to have their forces concentrated near there and it is believed following the fight of Monday the battle has continued.

All passenger carrying hacks in the city have been pressed into service to take ammunition to the front as they are lighter and can move quicker than wagons and carts. The distance to Ures is sixty miles.

"Foley's Honey and Tar is the best cough remedy I ever used as it quickly stopped a severe cough that had long troubled me," says J. W. Kuhn, Princeton, Neb. Just so quickly and surely it acts in all cases of coughs, colds, la grippe and lung trouble. Refuse substitutes. Sold by all druggists.

trict rangers who are in case of need to employ patrolmen, and generally to have charge of reforestation and fire protection. The bill also provides very rigid regulations intended to safeguard the forests against fire losses.

In opposing the Dunn amendment, Representative Mattson said that millions of dollars' worth of property and many lives have been lost because of the notorious inefficiency of the state forestry service and that the proposed bill would make the service efficient, providing the house was not niggardly in the matter of the salary.

Representatives Dunn, W. T. Stone, Clinton Robinson and others thought $3,000 a pretty big salary; big enough, at any rate, and their idea prevailed.

Speaker Pro Tem Lennon at the opening of the house session this morning announced that while he is in the chair the rule barring outsiders from the floor would be rigidly enforced, as the house had much work to do and should not be disturbed. He also said that he could find no rule permitting a member to interrupt a roll call to explain his vote, and therefore he would not permit explanations during roll call except by unanimous consent. Later several attempts to explain votes on roll calls were made but somebody always objected.

The house tax committee this morning recommended for passage the bill by Senator Wallace of Minneapolis exempting from taxation all state and local bonds.

Representative Clinton Robinson had intended to project himself into the spotlight this morning, since Representative Klemer had vacated it. The temperance committee voted to kill his bill taxing beer wagons and prohibiting the delivery of drinkables anywhere except to licensed saloons, the idea being to shut off sales to houses of ill fame. He announced last night and this morning that he proposed to make a personal attack on the floor of the house against some of the members of the committee, "even if I am thrown out," he added. However, he was disappointed. The committee did not make its report.

The house adopted a resolution by Representative White providing that, since New York's fire proof capitol burned, the custodian should look carefully into conditions in the Minnesota capitol.

Representative Libera's bill giving Winona the midnight lid was killed by the adoption of an adverse committee report.

Representatives Nolan and Mattson offered a resolution providing that a committee of one member from each congressional district pick out the local bills and that these be made a special order for Monday evening. The resolution was referred to the rules committee.

The house adopted Representative Knapp's resolution appropriating $1,500 additional for the expenses of the special drainage investigating committee, of which he is chairman.

On motion of Representative Holten, several pending drainage bills were made a special order for Tuesday.

Senator Boyle this morning had the Ribenack bill, giving the naval militia $5,000 additional annual appropriation substituted in the senate for Senator Pugh's bill to the same effect. The bill undoubtedly will pass.

The new reapportionment bill, on which Senator Rockne and others are working, will probably be introduced tomorrow and it will have the pledges of enough senators to pass it through the senate.

JUDICIAL CONTEST HARD TO FORECAST

Battle of Ballots in Copper Country Next Monday Will Be Close.

Houghton, Mich., March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the first election for circuit judge ever held in the district the voters of the Twelfth judicial district, including Houghton, Baraga and Keweenaw counties, next Monday will eradicate party lines, even though the two opposing candidates for the election are of different parties.

Prosecuting Attorney William J. MacDonald of Calumet is the Republican nominee and Attorney Patrick H. O'Brien of Laurium, formerly of Superior, Wis., is the Democratic nominee. Both are confident of election; both have appealed to the people at large, regardless of party affiliations. The Democratic vote in the district is very small, probably not running more than 2,000 registered voters, yet it is certain that the election will be a close one. A record-breaking vote in the three counties is expected.

Houghton to Decide.

Mr. MacDonald will undoubtedly carry Keweenaw and Baraga counties, but the election will swing on the vote in Houghton county, which outnumbers that of the other two counties by ten to one. Mr. O'Brien is one of the best known personal injury case lawyers in Northern Michigan and has been accused by his enemies of being of a Socialistic turn, but he is making his appeal to the workingmen and is gaining votes. He will undoubtedly be given almost the entire support of the following of Oscar J. Larson of Duluth, who asked for the Republican nomination at the primaries and was defeated by Mr. MacDonald by eighty-seven votes. The contests in almost every township in the three counties this spring for township offices at this election is helping to stir up the interest and get out the big vote.

WORKING FOR THE ANGELS

Probate Court Prisoner Says He Draws a Good Salary.

On information furnished by C. H. Troyer, Lorenzo Merickle, 54 years old, will be examined as to his sanity in probate court this afternoon.

Merickle claims to be working for the angels. He says they have a lot of work to do and it keeps him busy keeping even. The orders come in faster than he can fill them. They keep him up all night some times.

He says his pay checks are signed by God. He draws a good salary, he says, but some way the money slips through his hands in ways unknown.

The angels get him out of any trouble that he happens to get into and he has no doubt that they will take care of him during the ordeal in probate court.

He says they hover about and watch over him as a mother does her young son.

The information was filed this morning and his examination will be held before a board of examining doctors and the probate judge this afternoon.

EBERHART LAUDS TAWNEY.

Governor Says Winonan Has Rendered Public Much Service.

St. Paul, Minn., March 30. — At a luncheon yesterday at the Minnesota club, at which the St. Paul bar and representative business men were hosts and James A. Tawney, the retiring representative, and Walter I. Smith, the new Iowa federal judge, guests, and Charles W. Ames toastmaster, honors were paid both the Winonan and the judge from the Hawkeye state. Governor Eberhart was among those present.

Mr. Tawney's retirement from congress, Governor Eberhart said, he felt sure did not end his public career, for he is the strongest, ablest and most representative man Minnesota has produced. "There is a wider field open to him," continued the governor.

"I want to express for the state thanks to Mr. Tawney for his public services to the state."

The governor also paid his compliments to Judge Smith, whom he welcomed cordially.

When it came Mr. Tawney's turn to speak he indulged in a formidable attack on a bill pending before the Minnesota legislature, which, if it passes, will give the people of the state the initiative, referendum and recall. He declared it is destructive and revolutionary to such an extent that all the people ought to combine to defeat it. "This bill will change the very form of our state government," he said.

SON IN DULUTH INQUIRES.

Asks St. Cloud Police About Suicide of His Father.

St. Cloud, Minn., March 30.—Chief of Police John Quinlivan has received a letter from Master Clarence Ackley of Duluth asking for information concerning the death of his father. The lad wrote that J. J. Ackley, who died at St. Raphael's hospital, a few minutes after drinking carbolic acid at the Grand Central hotel, on March 13, was his father. Nothing had been heard of Ackley for a year, stated the son, and it was not until informed through the chief of police of Escanaba, Mich., who had been notified by the local police, that Clarence knew of the death of his father. That Ackley left a family was unknown to the local authorities until the receipt of the letter.

A meeting of men will be held in the First Baptist church, First street and Ninth avenue east, Monday night. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock. All of the men affiliated with the Baptist churches of Duluth and Superior are expected to attend.

The speakers will include Dr. Lemuel Call Barnes of Worcester, Mass., Rev. W. T. Stackhouse, leader of the Baptist Men's Movement of the North and West; Dr. Frank Peterson of Minneapolis, representative in this state for the Baptist missionary societies; Rev. E. R. Pope of Minneapolis, superintendent of the Baptist state missions, Rev. Mr. Risinger of Minneapolis, a Sunday school and evangelist worker, and C. Bowers, a missionary in India who is in this country on a furlough. He is acting temporarily as executive secretary for Duluth, Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Sunday will be known as "Men's Day," in the Baptist churches at the Head of the Lakes. The visiting clergymen will speak as follows: Dr. Stackhouse, First Baptist, 10:30 a. m.; Dr. Barnes, Central Baptist, 10:30 a. m.; Rev. E. R. Pope, West Duluth Baptist church, 10:30 a. m.; Dr. Barnes, First Swedish, Baptist, 11:30 a. m.; Dr. Peterson, Bethel Swedish, 10:30 a. m.; West Duluth Swedish, 7:30 p. m.; Finnish Baptist, afternoon; Rev. Mr. Risinger, Central Baptist, 7:30 p. m. Dr. Stackhouse will preach at the American Baptist church in Superior in the evening and Rev. Mr. Risinger will preach in the morning.

Rev. W. T. Stackhouse until recently was secretary of the Baptist Laymen's Movement for Canada. He has left that work to take up a similar occupation in the United States. He worked in the great Canadian Northwest for seven years and became known as the "big superintendent." His territory was 1,500 miles long and 300 miles wide. He had more than 450 preaching stations. His influence, his friends say, was felt from Vancouver to Halifax. The Northwest Baptist says that "Some of his friends are fond of finding in him the Lincoln type." Mr. Stackhouse is several inches over six feet in height.

According to "Who's Who in America," Lemuel Call Barnes is a prominent Baptist clergyman, who has held many important pastorates. He was elected foreign secretary of the American Baptist Missionary union in 1891. He has been a member of the board of managers for the union for many years. He was elected president of the Federation of churches in Pittsburg, Pa., in 1901. The following year he became pastor of the First Baptist church of Worcester, Mass. He is the author of "Thirty Thousand Years of Missions Before Carey," and various monographs and religious articles.

Rev. A. C. Bowers has been working in the interest of the Baptist Laymen's Missionary movement for the last four months in Ohio and West Virginia. He is one of four missionaries on furlough who have volunteered their services. He has had many exciting experiences with tigers, snakes and wild animals in India. On several occasions he narrowly escaped death when he encountered serpents in the district in which he worked there were 232 baptisms in slightly more than two years. Seven tribes were represented.

WILL FLOAT MORELAND

Captain Reid Will Again Undertake Task Begun Last Fall.

Big Steamer in Good Condition—Will Be Brought to Superior.

Houghton, Mich., March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Capt. James Reid of the Reid Wrecking company of Port Huron and Sarnia will this week begin fitting out his big wrecking tug Manistique here and his lighters for the purpose of again taking up the work of salvaging the wrecked ore carrier Moreland, which stranded and broke in two on the sawtooth reef at Eagle river late last summer.

Capt. Reid says that with two weeks of calm weather he will float the Moreland and place her in drydock. The big ship, which is the largest on the Great Lakes and cost $450,000, will be repaired at Superior, Wis., if she can be released. The Moreland is in excellent condition, despite her winter battle with storm and ice floes. The ice floes, which crowd in between the ship and the land, a mile distant, with every northeaster, have not more than scratched the Moreland. The past winter the ice has not piled up, however, on the reef as it does most years. The boat appears about a foot lower in the water than when she was abandoned last fall. Capt. Reid has hopes that the patches he placed on the steamer's hull have held and that they will need only a little strengthening, after which he will pump her out, jettison the remainder of her cargo and float her off the rocks which penetrate her bottom.

There is plenty of ice in Lake Superior, but it is disappearing rapidly. Navigation was opened by the tug Sheldon in Portage lake early this week, but boats cannot yet pass through and likely will not for another week. The only boat to pass through then will be the Reid wrecker and possibly her lighter. There is from six inches to two feet of solid ice in the lake. Numerous bergs and large floes are seen off Keweenaw every day. Marquette harbor is reported clear of ice, while Duluth harbor has little. Considerable ice is hanging up on the northern side of Isle Royale. The harbor at Port William and Port Arthur, Ont., can be freed of ice at any time. The river west of the Soo is reported filled with floes, which are rapidly going over the falls of St. Mary's river.

FIRST TRIP OF EASTON

Booth Line Boat Will Leave for Port Arthur Sunday.

Will Take Fishermen to Their Work on Isle Royale.

Navigation at this end of Lake Superior will open next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, when the steamer Easton of the Booth line will leave for Port Arthur, touching at Two Harbors, Grand Marais and other points en route. On the return trip she will touch at Isle Royale and will be the first boat to visit the island this spring. It is said that the lake and harbors are almost entirely clear of ice and no trouble is expected in getting through.

Last year, the first boat in commission at the Head of the Lakes was the Moore of the Booth line, which left for Port Arthur, March 27.

The Easton also closed navigation last season, the last trip being made Jan. 20.

Except for a gasoline boat, Grand Marais has been entirely cut off from communication with other points during the winter, as has Isle Royale. There were some lumbermen on Isle Royale, but it is understood that they have left in a sailboat and have returned to the mainland. The Easton will carry freight and passengers to the different ports along the shore, and will also take the fishermen up to the fishing grounds on Isle Royale.

MENOMINEE DOCK CONTRACT AWARDED.

Menominee, Mich., March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—C. I. Cook has let the contract to Capt. Larson of Marinette for the building of a large dock along the river. It will begin at the present Ann Arbor docks and run for a distance of 1,000 feet up the river. The cost of the new dock will be $5,000.

NEW BOATS TO BE BUILT

Standard Oil Company Orders Three Barges for 1911 Delivery.

Buffalo Men Will Also Have New 10,000-Ton Steamer.

The American Shipbuilding company has booked orders for three more vessels for delivery in 1911. The new boats are for the Standard Oil company and will be turned out at the Lorain yard. James C. Wallace, president of the shipbuilding company, closed the deal in New York last Saturday.

The new boats, all barges, will be full Welland Canal size. They will be 258 feet over all and 40 feet beam. The barges will have a capacity of 1,000,000 gallons each and they will cost $400,000. The material for the boats will be furnished by the Carnegie Steel company.

This order makes seven vessels that the Standard Oil company has closed contracts for with the American Shipbuilding company since last fall. The other four ships—two steamers and two barges—are building at the Cleveland yard. Two of the boats will come out in June, but it will be late in the season when the other two ships are placed in commission.

The three barges just ordered are for November delivery and they will probably be sent to the coast before the close of navigation. With the new work on hand this order will keep the Lorain plant pretty busy until late in the season.

The steamer Quincy M. Shaw, building for M. A. Hanna & Co., will be the first boat to be launched at the Lorain yard. The keel for the Shaw was laid two weeks ago and she will be the hundredth vessel to be turned out at that yard. The bulk freight steamer for the Wisconsin Ore company will also be built at the Lorain yard. She will be built on the Isherwood system.

The plans for the carferry steamer for the Mackinac Transportation company, which were prepared by Frank Kirby, naval architect of Detroit, have been received by the builders. The new boat is to be placed in commission next fall and and it is expected that the contract will be awarded during the next thirty days. The new boat will be the most powerful of her class on the lakes.

Detroit, March 30.—A. C. Passano, president of the Great Lakes Engineering works, of this city, has closed a contract to build a 10,000-ton steel bulk freighter for Boland and Cornelius of Buffalo. The new steamer is to be completed at the opening of navigation in 1912. She will cost in the neighborhood of $400,000.

In part payment, the Great Lakes Engineering works takes the steel bulk freighter Yale, built at Cleveland, in 1895. The Great Lakes works has sold the Yale to the Port Huron & Duluth Steamship company, accepting in part payment the steamer Portland, formerly the steamer A. B. Wolvin, which was turned out at Cleveland in 1900. It is understood the Portland has been sold to New York purchasers, who will operate her in the coast trade.

The new steamer for Boland & Cornelius will be 524 feet long, with a beam of 54 feet and depth of about 39 feet. She will be equipped with triple expansion engine and Scotch boilers.

C. O. Duncan, manager of the Port Huron & Duluth Steamship company, says the steamer Yale will be rebuilt into an up-to-date passenger steamer for next season, and will be operated on the Port Huron and Duluth route with the steamer Lakeland, formerly the Cambria, rebuilt for passenger and package freight traffic early last year.

The Yale and the Portland will be delivered at the plant of the Great Lakes Engineering works, Ecorse, as soon as possible to be put in shape for their new lines of traffic.

ICE CONDITIONS ON GREAT LAKES

The reports from the regular and display stations of the weather bureau and the meteorological service of Canada indicate that the ice is gradually disappearing in all the lakes. On Lake Superior a few fields are reported along the north shore near Port Arthur and some fields in the extreme eastern portion. Many harbors are open. Whitefish bay is clear of ice. The St. Mary's river is solid, though beginning to show the effect of the warm weather. In Green bay the ice is broken and moving with the wind.

The ice fields in Lake Michigan are confined to the extreme northern portions of the lake, around Beaver island and off the mouth of the Straits. The ice in the Straits is softening rapidly and open water is reported between Mackinaw City, Mackinac island and St. Ignace. The steamer Algomah reached her dock on Mackinac island on March 22. The north passage is clear of ice as far west as Graham shoal.

On Lake Huron most of the ice has drifted off the west shore, though some broken fields are reported in Saginaw bay and a moderately heavy field in Thunder bay. The ice in Georgian bay remains solid except a small opening near Owen Sound.

The only ice fields on Lake Erie are confined to the extreme eastern end; and they have commenced to run down the Niagara river. The ice remains solid in the extreme northeast portion of Lake Ontario.

In comparison with the same period of last season the ice conditions on Lake Superior are about the same. In the St. Mary's river there is more ice this year. About the same conditions prevail this year as last in Green bay and on Lake Michigan and Lake Huron. There is more ice in the straits. There is less ice in Lake Erie and considerably more in Lake Ontario.

ONE CHARTER IS REPORTED

Local Elevator Company Contracts for First Grain Cargo.

Rate on Grain Expected to Be 1 1-2 Cents for Opening.

The navigation season will open dull and quiet about the middle of April.

The first charter of space for grain was made yesterday afternoon when a local elevator company chartered room for April shipment. It is probable that the cargo will comprise coarse grain. The only other charter made this year for a cargo of barley which is now in a bottom in the bay. It was loaded in February.

At this time last year several cargoes of grain had been chartered for shipment in April. This year only one cargo has been reported besides the barley now afloat. The space chartered yesterday probably will amount to a little more than 200,000 bushels. The kind of grain is optional with the shipper. The cargo of barley amounts to more than 200,000 bushels.

Shipments of package freight will begin about the middle of April. The season will be slow at the opening as grain shipments will not be heavy and ore and coal shipments will be light.

Rates on grain have not been published but it is said the shippers expect a rate of 1½ cents a bushel.

STEAMER OF MODERN TYPE

New Vessel on Chicago-Duluth Run Will Be Fast.

Passengers on Lake Vessels Are Well Protected Against Fire.

George E. Dennis, traveling passenger and freight agent of the Chicago & Duluth Transportation company, reached here today with detailed information of the new steel passenger steamer that is being constructed for the company, and which will operate the present season between Duluth and Chicago.

The new boat will be named the Minnesota, will be over 390 feet in length, of steel and of the latest design and one of the fastest boats on the lake. According to the information of Mr. Dennis, the new boat will compare with any of the passenger steamers on the Great Lakes, in the point of being complete in every detail and containing everything that modern methods in steamship building can provide.

On June 24 the Minnesota will leave Chicago on its first trip of the season. The intermediate points of the route of the new boat will include Milwaukee, Mackinaw, the Soo, Portage and here.

Last season the Chicago & Duluth Transportation company had a steamer operating between Duluth and the Copper country. The running of this boat was more in the nature of an experiment. The placing of the Minnesota in commission will be the result of the success of the experiment of last season.

"I was in the office of the city department of Chicago, of which the fire inspectors are a part, just the other day, right after the big fire in New York," said Mr. Dennis, "and I could not find an inspector. They were all out on the job.

"Ordinarily you can find about thirty-five of them sitting around. But when the big fire in New York was reported, you ought to have seen those fellows get out and start inspection work in their districts.

"Since the disaster to the steamer Slocum the restrictions regarding fire drills on the steamers of the Great Lakes have been very severe. Every steamer on the Great Lakes is compelled to have fire drills of the crew at least once a week, and most of the steamer drills even oftener than that.

"You can't tell when an inspector will walk aboard your boat. There is no politics in this line. These inspectors are on the job all the time and the result has been the passengers on the passenger boats on the Great Lakes are accorded the greatest possible protection against fire.

"New systems have been installed for the calling of the men to their various posts. Every employe of the boat is known by a number and in his bunk are printed instructions corresponding to the system used in the drill. Waiters and the help in the kitchen are even required to take part in the drills.

"On the Minnesota there will be a crew of something like 120 men, and every one of these men will be required to go through the fire drill at least once a week. The disaster to the Slocum has resulted in the most efficient fire protection for Great Lakes travelers."

Menominee, Mich., March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—There will be little excitement over the election here this year. W. F. B. Be Dell has been nominated for justice of the peace on both the Democratic and Republican tickets.

WILL REPORT ON SCHOOLS

Public Affairs Committee of Commercial Club to Hear Report.

Recommendation for Increased Salaries for Grade Teachers Expected.

The Commercial club committee on school affairs, appointed after a conference between members of the school board and of the committee on municipal affairs and the state and county committee, will submit its report at a meeting of the public affairs committee of the club tomorrow evening. Chairman W. A. McGonagle is anxious that there be a full attendance of his committee and also that all other members of the club interested in the matter attend.

Although the committee's report will not be made public until it is submitted at the meeting, it is known that a recommendation will be made that the club use its influence to obtain increases in salary for the grade teachers of Duluth. The increases are undoubtedly contingent on legislation, which will so adjust the financial affairs of the district that increased salaries can be met, and it is expected that the committee will recommend some amendments to the Congdon bill now before the state senate, so that the board may see its way clear to grant the increases asked.

The committee has gone thoroughly into the question of school district finances and the report is expected to be a comprehensive document, covering the ground not only insofar as teachers salaries are concerned, but also explaining the heavy expenditures of the past few years, which gave rise to complaints against the school board. The committee held a session with the school board and went over the records for several years. Correspondence was had with St. Paul and Minneapolis officials so that comparative figures might be obtained from those cities. The case of the teachers, who claim that they are underpaid, has been fully investigated.

The school board claims to be a much misunderstood body. The high tax rate of the last few years, members of the board say, was an absolute necessity if the efficiency of the schools was to be kept up to a proper standard. The 8-mill limit must be removed from the general fund if the ordinary costs of maintenance are to be met, not to say if teachers' salaries are to be increased, they say. They have put their side of the matter up to the Commercial club committee and through that committee they hope to reach the general public.

The Congdon bills, one limiting the total school tax levy to 12 mills annually, and the other limiting the bonded indebtedness of the district to 3½ per cent of the assessed valuation and providing that bond issues shall be approved by a two-thirds vote of the city council, have passed the house and have gone to the senate. It is believed that the Commercial club committee will recommend that the limit be removed from the general fund and the board allowed to apportion the amount produced by a 12-mill levy as it sees fit, or that expenditures now made from the general fund be transferred to the building fund in order that more money may be available for the teachers' salaries.

If the legislative recommendations of the committee are adopted, steps will immediately be taken to carry them into effect by having the Congdon bill amended in the senate. Representative Congdon has expressed himself as disposed to be fair and to consent to any amendments thought necessary to insure increases of the teachers without defeating the primary motive of his bill, which is to limit the levy to 12 mills.

Members of the school board and teachers are anxiously awaiting the report of the committee and expressions already made by members of the committee lead the teachers to believe that they will obtain some increase in salary—even if it is not as great an increase as they started out to obtain.

A RASH BECOMES MASS OF HUMOR

On Baby's Face, Head and Shoulders—Parents Decided He Could Not be Cured—Cuticura Made His Skin Perfectly Clear.

"Our boy was born in Toronto on Oct. 13, 1908, and when three months old a slight rash appeared on his cheek. What appeared to be a water blister would form. When it broke, matter would run out, starting new blisters until his entire face, head and shoulders were a mass of scabs and you could not see a particle of clear skin. Other parts of his body were affected, but not to such an extent. We did not know what to do for him and tried about every advertised remedy without avail, indeed some of them only added to his suffering and one in particular, the Remedy, almost put the infant into convulsions. The family doctor prescribed for him and told us to bathe the baby in buttermilk. This did not do any good, so we took him to a hospital. He was treated as an out-patient twice a week and he got worse, if anything. We then called in another doctor and inside of a week the boy was, to all appearances, cured and the doctor said his work was done. But the very next day it broke out as bad as ever.

"We decided that it could not be cured and must run its course and so we just kept his arms bandaged to his side to prevent his tearing his flesh. We left Toronto and shortly after our arrival in Duluth, the Cuticura Remedies were recommended. We started using them in May, 1909, and soon the cure was complete. You would not think he was the same child for Cuticura made his skin perfectly clear and he is entirely free from the skin disease. There has been no return this time. We still use only Cuticura Soap for baby's bath. Robert Mann, Proctor, Minn., May 3, 1910."

FLOWERS FOR THE UNITED DOCTORS

Grateful Patient Brings a Beautiful Floral Offering as a Token of Esteem.

With her arms loaded with beautiful cut flowers and her countenance aglow with smiles, Mrs. Clarence Agnu came to the United Doctors' institute on the third floor of the Columbia building. Mrs. Agnu was accompanied by her husband who was also smiling and happy. The occasion of the visit was to thank these doctors for the seeming miracle they had performed in curing Mr. Agnu of a bad case of rheumatism with which he had been afflicted for years.

When Mr. Agnu commenced treatment with the United Doctors a little over three months ago he was so crippled up with rheumatism that he could not work and had lost his position as an engineer. Now he is well and was on his way to Chicago to accept a position and go to work again.

When Mrs. Agnu thanked the doctors for restoring her husband to health, there were tears of joy in her eyes as she handed him the big bouquet of flowers.

And many others who had given up hope of ever being cured of rheumatism have praised the United Doctors' treatment for restoring them to health. Among hundreds of others is Christ Staben, of R. F. D. No. 1, S. Omaha, Neb., who writes:

"About five months ago I came to the United Doctors to see what they could do for me for inflamatory rheumatism. After a careful examination the doctor told me he could cure me in a short time, but as I had been experimented upon by so many physicians I really had a lack of confidence. Now I want every one to know exactly what they did for me.

"These specialists took my case and began helping me from the first and I feel better today than I have for over a year. Before I began taking treatments from these wonderful specialists I could not do any farm work, but just to think it has only been a few months and I am now able to do my own work and feel like a new man entirely.

"I am only too glad to tell the poor suffering public who have had rheumatism what these United Doctors can do for them and I will willingly answer any letters regarding my past and present condition, for I know if it had not been for these United Doctors I would have been laid up entirely. I can recommend them to any one because their prices are reasonable and they give the very best personal attention.

WEST END WILL LEARN HOBO SIGNS

West End Boys Will Attempt to Intercept Tramps' Communications.

Hope to Make Gatepost Hieroglyphics Matter of Common Knowledge.

By learning the secret signs of the tramp fraternity, the Daniel Boone boys, members of the progressive juvenile organization at the Neighborhood house at the West end, expect to upset the plans of "hoboes" who molest housewives and sometimes steal from homes.

Mysterious marks on fences, houses and other buildings usually mean something to the tramps and it will be the aim of the Daniel Boone boys this summer to intercept these signs wherever they are found and make the secrets of the tramps common knowledge.

Daniel C. Beard, known the country over as a worker among boys, who founded the Sons of Daniel Boone, the Boy Pioneers and who is national scout commissioner of the Boy Scouts of America, is preparing a new manual for the Boy Scouts of America, and in it he will devote several pages to the hobo signs and symbols. Mr. Beard has made an extensive study of the tramp hieroglyphics and has learned the meaning of most of the signs which can be found on gate posts, houses, fences and barns.

The local branch of the Daniel Boone boys will interest itself in the work as outlined by Beard. By certain signs the tramps communicate information about a place visited to other tramps who follow them. The signs as a rule are said to indicate whether or not there is a dog in the house, whether the housewife is kind or whether the place is easy to rob. If the boys learn them, they can read the messsages left by the tramps, and if they are dangerous, can be erased.

If the plans of the Daniel Boone boys work out, the present symbolistic communication of the "Weary Willie" will be wiped out, as far as Duluth is concerned.

WANT SCANDINAVIAN LANGUAGES TAUGHT.

Should the Scandinavian languages be introduced in the high school curriculum in Duluth?

An interesting discussion on this point is expected to be forthcoming at a meeting tomorrow evening at Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street. Representatives will be present from most of the Swedish and Norwegian churches of the city.

Both the Swedish and Norwegian languages, it is claimed by some, should be taught in the schools as well as German and French. They believe that it should be introduced in the course of study and left elective on the part of the pupil.

DISTRICT SUPERINTENDENT TO PREACH EASTER SUNDAY.

Rev. James Sanaker of Minneapolis will preach the Easter Sunday sermon, April 16, at the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street. Rev. Mr. Sanaker is district superintendent of the Red River valley district of Norwegian-Danish M. E. churches.

The choir is making special preparations for Easter and will present a cantata at that time. The songsters are also planning on a special musical program for Palm Sunday, April 9.

SUFFRAGE BILL DEAD

showed that they were in doubt. If they would vote for the bill it would pass.

Senator Glotzbach voted "no," and that settled it. Senator McGrath followed suit when it was no longer possible for his vote to pass the bill.

The final roll call resulted as follows:

Against the bill—Senators Ahmann, Anderson, Carpenter, Clague, Coller, L. O. Cooke, Donaldson, Dunn, Dwinnell, Fosseen, Glotzbach, Gunn, Hackney, Handlan, Johnston, Klein, L'Herault, McGrath, Marden, Murray, Pauly, Poehler, Pugh, Rockne, G. H. Sullivan, J. D. Sullivan, Swanson, Van Hoven, Wallace, Wells, Works—32.

Absent—Senator Stebbins.

Last evening the advocates of votes for women were planning one last faint hope on the rumor that Senator Fosseen who voted against the bill, might be induced later to move a reconsideration of the vote by which it was lost.

There would have been a vote on the bill yesterday forenoon had the advocates of the measure not put it over to the afternoon in order to give Senator Hackney, whom they thought one of their friends, to get there. When he arrived he turned out to be against their bill.

Speech by Sageng.

The only speech on the bill, but that a mighty good one, was made by its author, Senator Ole O. Sageng of Ottertail county, Populist.

He said in part: "This measure is a very simple thing, and it is strange that so much effort has been put forth to defeat it. It is simply a matter of whether or not this senate shall submit to the voters of the state the question of letting women vote. It is simply a question of submitting this matter to the men who elected us and whose will we are here to represent. There is nothing new or strange or revolutionary about woman suffrage. It has been tried in many countries and in several of our states, and it has worked well there.

"We have been flooded with circulars and petitions, emanating from what source I know not, presenting what purport to be arguments against this bill. Against the proposition that the women should have this weapon of the ballot to protect their homes and children, they present such arguments as that women would neglect the home if they were given the right to vote. That is an absurdity which I do not believe a single man on this floor really accepts. Women would be no less wives and mothers with the ballot than without it. They say that the basis of government is force, and that therefore women are disqualified. That might have been accepted in the Dark Ages, but it will not be accepted now. If it is true, Jack Johnson is the highest exponent of our system of government. They say that the women do not want to vote; yet wherever they have been given the chance, they have used it as fully as the men use it. They say it would increase the corrupt vote. I deny that as a slander upon American womanhood. That argument has not been justified by the experience of any place that has tried woman suffrage. Women are entitled to vote because taxation without representation is tyranny. They are entitled to vote on the theory that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed. In short, we cannot deny women votes without denying every sacred principle in the Declaration of Independence."

Aside from Senator Sageng's speech, a strange silence brooded over the senate. There were not even the usual number of short speeches in explanation of votes. In fact, not a single senator explained his vote during the roll call.

The senate chamber was crowded, and the audience included a number—but not a great number—of women.

Railroad Gross Earnings Tax.

The Spooner bill increasing the railroad gross earnings tax from 4 per cent to 5 per cent, an increase of 25 per cent, was beaten overwhelmingly in the house, the vote being 26 for and 88 against.

There was little speech-making about this measure, either, and in point of fact there has been little interest in it. When it was taken up as a special order Representative Lewis C. Spooner said nothing further than that it had been drawn by the attorney general at the request of the tax commission, and that it was a matter that would have to be passed upon finally by the people at the polls, as the railroad taxes cannot be changed under the Constitution without a vote of the people.

There was no debate, but several members spoke in explanation of their votes. Representative Campbell said that the railroad employes are against the bill because they fear additional taxes may cut into their wages. Representative Conley was afraid higher taxes might mean higher freight rates. Representative R. C. Dunn was against it because he thought the railroads pay enough taxes now, because this is not an opportune time to increase the railroad taxes, because the increase might mean lower wages and higher freight rates, because raising taxes and wages and cutting down freight rates is a process of burning the candle at both ends that cannot keep up indefinitely, and because he feared the effect of the bill on the rate litigation now pending in the federal courts.

The vote on the bill was as follows:

For—Aker, Andrew Anderson, A. V. Anderson, G. W. Brown, Denzer, Diessner, Hafften, Hauge, Healy, Henion, Hillman, Hopkins, Knutson, MacKenzie, McNeil, Nye, O'Neill, Papke, J. E. Peterson, Rice, Rines, Robertson, Spooner, Sulerud, C. H. Warner, Wescott—26.

Against—J. J. Anderson, Boothroyd, Borgen, Bouck, L. D. Brown, Burnquist, Campbell, Christie, Clarke, Conley, Converse, Crane, Davies, Davis, R. C. Dunn, Speaker Dunn, Edwards, Farley, Ferguson, Fowler, Frankson, Fuchs, Greene, Harding, Herzberg, Hoffman, Holmberg, Holten, Jelinek, C. E. Johnson, J. N. Johnson, J. T. Johnson, Just, Keefe, Kelly, Klemer, Knapp, Kneeland, Kunze, L. J. Lee, J. F. Lee, S. N. Lee, Lennon, Libera, Lindberg, Lundeen, Lydiard, McDonald, McMartin, Mattson, Metiling, Minette, Moriarity, Morton, Nash, A. Nelson, H. Nelson, Nolan, Nygren, O'Brien, Orr, Palmer, Petry, Peters, A. J. Peterson, Ole Peterson, Praender, Putnam, Reed, Ribenack, Robinson, Rustad, Saggau, Sampson, Schuler, Schwartz, Skartum, W. T. Stone, Sullivan, Thielen, Untiedt, Utecht, Virtue, Voxland, E. Warner, Washburn, White, Whiting, Wisniewski—88.

Labor and Arbitration.

While the legislative representatives of labor were instrumental in killing the Knutson bill adapting to Minnesota the Canadian industrial concillation law, they want it distinctly understood that this is not to be taken as indicating opposition on their part or on labor's part to arbitration.

R. E. Jones of Two Harbors, legislative agent of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen & Enginemen, expressed labor's attitude when he said to The Herald yesterday afternoon:

"Labor favors the principle involved in the Knutson bill, but we object to that bill because it is one-sided and unfair.

"Under it, if ten men out of 3,000 in one shop happened to quit on the same day, it would be an offense punishable under the bill.

"Yet, while the bill also prohibits lockouts, it could not prevent an employer who wished to discipline his men from shutting down his plant on the pretext that it needed repairs, and thus practically locking out his employes until they were ready to come to time. We have information that it has worked that way in Canada."

Limiting Speeches.

The house yesterday afternoon adopted a resolution offered by Representative R. C. Dunn that should facilitate business in that body during the remainder of the session. As offered, it provides that no member could take more than three minutes in explaining his vote on a roll call, nor more than five minutes in debate on a bill on the calendar, except by unanimous consent.

Representative J. T. Johnson moved an amendment giving only one minute for explaining votes, and his amendment was adopted. The amended resolution was then adopted unanimously.

After the governor had signed the Duluth electric light bill, which Representative Ribenack got through the house yesterday afternoon, the city of Duluth will be able, if the people vote to do so, to issue $700,000 in bonds to build a city electric lighting plant. The governor's signature will be applied within a few days.

Speaker Dunn was ill yesterday afternoon from an attack of ptomaine poisoning, and the house elected John G. Lennon of Minneapolis speaker pro tem. The speaker was exceedingly ill, but his condition was not considered serious.

The "Klemerites" held a meeting yesterday afternoon to decide what to do about the case, but as only eleven members attend the meeting, nothing was done. Those present were Representatives Klemer, W. T. Stone, Campbell, J. F. Lees, Sulerud, Nolan, Voxland, A. J. Peterson, Putnam, Lundeen and McMartin.

While reports continued that both Klemer and Stone proposed to make definite charges against the house organization, the general impression was that little would come of it, as the house has much work to do and little time to waste in quarreling.

School for Orphans.

Though the country members, led by C. Robinson and W. T. Stone, made a hard fight fight against C. E. Stone's bill appropriating $125,000 for a "Minnesota state trades and industrial school" for dependent orphans and abandoned children, it passed the house yesterday afternoon, 67 to 37.

The senate yesterday afternoon passed Senator Hanson's bill prohibiting the sale of malt liquors, whether intoxicants or not, except in licensed saloons. Senator Marden's bill providing for a fish hatchery at Detroit, a duplicate of Representative Converse's house bill, also passed the senate. The bill having passed both houses, Detroit will get its fish hatchery.

The senate passed Senator Boyle's bill amending the law providing for county schools of agriculture so that proposals to establish such schools may be carried by a majority of those voting on the proposition instead of a majority of those voting at the election. This bill is in the interests of the proposed $75,000 county school of agriculture to be located on the ranges.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Mack-Leone Players in "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
ODEUM and LYRIC—Photoplay.

Green Room Gossip.

Tonight the Mack-Leone company will present its new scenic production of George M. Cohan's national song show, "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway."

Miss Maude Leone will sing "So Long Mary," and Willard Mack's original rendition of "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway" ought to be a revelation to his friends who are wagering that he can't sing.

Again, James Rennie will sing the "Popular Millionaire."

Mrs. Annie Adelaide will be Mrs. Purdy, a charming old lady of New Rochelle.

Little Cora Morris is Flora Dora Dean, a lady of the foothlights, and Jack Montgomery is the police sergeant. G. R. Walling is the butler—such a butler, and there is a real singing and dancing chorus. There is also an enlarged orchestra.

It is the first venture of the Mack-Leones into musical comedy, and it is causing no little speculation.

An accident which crippled him, drove George W. Jinks from the musical comedy stage into vaudeville.

Mr. Jinks and his wife are appearing under the odd title of the Gee Jays at the Orpheum this week, presenting an English pantomime act, in which they impersonate marionettes on a miniature stage. Gee and Jay are the initials of Mr. Jinks, and he chose this odd title for a stage name. Mr. Jinks was formerly a musical comedy actor in London, and his wife was appearing as a drawing room singer in the English metropolis. One day during a performance he slipped and broke his leg. He has been unable to dance since that time, and was forced to seek some other means of livelihood. He and his wife hit upon their present vaudeville act, and they have been using it for the last two years. They came to America a year ago, and are planning to return to England in the summer.

There is one other act in America that is similar to it, that presented by "Jolly Funny Rice." It was seen in Duluth last fall.

"Such acts are quite common in England," said Mr. Jinks. "They are very popular with the English people, and there are all kinds and descriptions of marionette shows."

"The Code of Honor" is the feature film of the new program of photoplay at the Lyric. It is founded upon the etiquette and the various forms of dueling current in Berlin. All details were carefully worked out and superintended by Lieut. Wrana and Count Alberti of the German army.

Then there is a comedy film developed on the theme of the school board, which undertakes to select the homeliest applicant as teacher. The proposition is finally voted down and a director falls in love with the new teacher. "The Aching Void" is a society drama showing how a loveless couple are drawn together by the presence of a child. The illustrated song by Mr. Mistachkin will be "Who Are You With Tonight?"

A Mother's Safeguard.

SONG FROM "THE OLD TOWN" IN VICTOR RECORDS.

Montgomery and Stone, the clever comedians, who have won such fame, have just sung their first number for the Victor phonograph. It is "Travel, Travel Little Star," a song from their new play, "The Old Town." This song was the best number in the play and the record heads the list of the new offerings of the Victor company for April.

Ada Sassoli, the noted harpist, presents a charming menuett by Hasselman and her amazing technique is well exhibited. There are also two new records which John Lemmone, the Australian flutist, has made which are sweet-toned and perfectly played.

"Patience," an old time Gilbert and Sullivan opera, and "The Mascotte," by Audran, have been revived and records made of some of the most beautiful numbers from these operas.

In the grand opera numbers, a masterly arrangement by Safranek "Operatic Masterpieces," of arias from "Lohngrin," "Samson," "Aida," "Contes d'Hoffman" and "Faust" is superbly rendered by Pryor's band. Six Foster melodies are also attractively arranged under the title, "Gems From Stephen Foster," and played with rare expression by this favorite band.

There are others of all kinds from the nonsensical monologues to solo selections by the best artists.

Crippled Child Burned.

Albert Lea, Minn., March 20.—Almer, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Iverson, of Freeman township, was burned to death while out in the meadow where his father was burning brush and weeds. He was 11 years of age and a cripple, and when his clothes caught fire he was unable to put out the fire. When found he was so severely burned that he died an hour afterward.

TRAIN KILLS PIONEER.

Early Settler of Otter Tail County Killed Near Ashby.

Fergus Falls, Minn., March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Caldwell, aged 61, living near Ashby, Otter Tail county, one of the pioneers of this section who came here with an oxteam from Wisconsin about forty years ago, taking up the land upon which he resided, was struck by the Oriental Limited of the Great Northern, Monday afternoon, as he was walking along the track near Ashby, and killed. He was deaf and did not hear the roar of the approaching flyer. He was quite well known in this city, and is survived by his wife and one son, Floyd Caldwell, who graduated from the Fergus Falls high school a year ago, later going to the Fargo Agricultural college. He was an uncle of J. F. Bowman and Mrs. J. S. Billings of this city.

BARBED WIRE HOLDS WOLF.

Passing North Dakota Farmer Grabs and Kills Animal.

Osnabrock, N. D., March 30.—In crossing the Big Pembina on his way to Walhalla the other day, Hans Bratlie of Osnabrock had a chance to put in a few new stunts in the way of hunting. A big timber wolf crossed the road just ahead of his team and in trying to jump the fence next the road got caught and tangled up in the barbed wire. Bratlie had no gun so it was a case of go for the beast with nature's weapons, which he did and in trying to get the toehold managed to get a good grip on the wolf's tail. The wolf then made a few hurried circles around Mr. Bratlie's head and landed head first in the sleighbox, dead as a door nail, and Hans continued on his way to Walhalla after filling and lighting his corncob.

Park Falls Mill Damaged.

Park Falls, Wis., March 30.—Fire originating under the first floor of the planing mill here of the Attwood Lumber & Manufacturing company yesterday did $10,000 damage to the pulleys and belting before being extinguished, the mill proper being little injured.

THE CITIES AND THE SENATE.

If it were not for the gross injustice and the stupendous short-sightedness of the thing, there would be something screamingly funny about the attempts that are being made in the state senate to keep the cities out of their constitutional and equitable share in state legislation. It is not to be wondered at that Senator Dwinnell was moved to offer an amendment providing that no county of more than 200,000 inhabitants shall be represented in the senate. He was promptly reproved by Senator Duxbury for his "frivolity," but really it doesn't seem that his proposal was much more entitled to that adjective than is the scheme already proposed, to limit the number of senators from any one county to four.

Look at the thing in a common sense light for a moment: Here is a great state, with three large cities and thousands of acres of agricultural land, and between these two classes a horde of smaller cities and villages. Here come certain men and cry out that the big cities—which, it must be remembered, depend on the country districts for the necessaries of life for the people in the cities, for a certain proportion of the state's finances, for a market in which to sell the goods made or handled in the cities, and for the routes over which transportation lines must be built—that these cities, so dependent on the prosperity of the country for their own prosperity, will, if given a chance, crush the country districts out of all resemblance to portions of a free republic.

There never was a more ridiculous proposal made in any body of men than this that has been sprung in the state legislature. It is ridiculous on the face of it, and the farther one studies it out the more ridiculous it becomes.

Look at it from yet another standpoint: The cities, under our state government, are dependent on the action of the legislature for the exercise of certain functions necessary to their government. These proponents of the disfranchisement of people in the cities would have us believe that the centers of population are so incapable of looking after their own affairs that the legislature must be packed against them to keep them from doing themselves harm; that the cities should be placed, even more than they now are, under the power of the legislature, and that that body should be made up of a yet greater proportion of non-residents in the cities.

The proposal is dead against the principles of representative government. It is dead against the principles of equity. It is dead against reason. It ought to be dead in reality by this time.

MR. TWICHELL'S LETTER.

On another page The Herald tonight publishes a letter from Treadwell Twichell of Fargo, N. D., in which the writer takes severe exception to The Herald's criticism of the attitude which himself and certain other men of that state have taken on the question of Canadian reciprocity.

Mr. Twichell goes at some length into a defense of the position he and his confreres have taken, but in the opinion of The Herald he fails to make a good case. He suggests that the attitude of the newspapers that are urging ratification of the Canadian agreement is prompted by the fact that wood pulp and print paper are therein placed on the free list. But he ignores the fact, made public when the terms of the agreement were given out, that the carrying out of that part of the agreement rests entirely with the individual provinces of Canada, which control the crown lands and the products therefrom, among which are this same pulp and paper. Unless these provinces take favorable action, which is by no means certain, that phase of the agreement will go for nothing.

Mr. Twichell says the reciprocity measure "is being heralded as the much needed tariff revision." If it is being given any such greeting it is by Mr. Twitchell and his associates, and by them only. Witness the proposals of the Democratic leaders who will have control of the next house of congress. They intend to ratify the agreement and then revise the tariff. This reciprocity matter is not to take the place of tariff revision. It is to prepare the way for such action. The two are not identical, and they are not related except that the ratification of the reciprocity agreement will give that much stronger argument for tariff revision. The farmers will be in better position to demand general revision than they ever have been before or can be without that ratification.

Mr. Twichell cites President Taft's proposition for free trade with Canada, and Canada's objection to such relations. Would he and his associates have us give Canada free trade and get in return only the reductions in duties included in this agreement, and then call that "reciprocity?"

Mr. Twichell affects to deny that Liverpool grain prices govern prices in this country, that American wheat enters a world market instead of merely a local market. He would have us believe that because he does not instruct his agents in Duluth to sell to Liverpool interests, his grain enters and figures only in the Duluth market. But Duluth men buy grain to sell, and the price that they can get for it determines what they are willing to pay. What difference does it make in Liverpool whether grain is shipped from Port Arthur or Duluth? None. If American railroads get more grain to haul, they will not haul it at a loss just because it comes from Canada. But they will have more business, and more business means better service on all their lines. And that assuredly is in the farmers' interests.

Mr. Twichell says "the trusts are still protected." True; and Canada has nothing from which to protect them. Offer a crow the right to shed white feathers on your parlor floor, and what good does your offer do the crow? Or what damage does it do the looks of the room? American manufacturers are building and operating plants in Canada. Why admit their products on that side the line to a free market on this side?

Mr. Twichell rehearses part of the list of wooden materials that is included in the free list, but omits the planks, deals, shingles and fence posts that are used by the farmers. In this he is unfair.

Mr. Twichell asks "why should the American farmer, alone, be singled out, his products all placed upon a free trade basis, and be required to compete in his home market with the more cheaply produced products of the newer and cheaper lands of Canada?" It is to be hoped that he read carefully the tariff board's report as published on the editorial page of The Herald yesterday. That showed that a majority of Canada's occupied lands were valued higher than those in the United States; that where such is not the case the increase in value is proceeding by leaps and bounds, whereas the increase in value in this country is from 50 to 150 per cent less rapid; that wages in Manitoba and Saskatchewan are on the same general level as in Minnesota and North Dakota, being higher in both countries to the westward; and that where there are differences, which condition exists almost solely in the eastern states and provinces, those differences amount to only from 60 cents to $3 a month. The charge of cheap labor competition cannot stand. The charge of cheap land cannot stand. The charge of different standards of living cannot stand. And Americans have the advantage of a shorter freight haul.

The Herald welcomes Mr. Twichell's letter. It would welcome it yet more warmly if it were a half or a third its present length, and Mr. Twichell would profit also by greater brevity. But The Herald cannot see that Mr. Twichell has made any case. Rather, he has weakened his position by the statement he has made.

AN INTERESTING FIGURE.

> Woodrow Wilson is the most interesting Democrat in public life. Champ Clark cannot hold a candle to him. No apology is necessary for giving him continual publicity. The fascination of the things he does is excuse enough.

There can be no disputing of that statement. Wilson was interesting, when, as the head of a great university, he began to make statements on public affairs that attracted attention by their saneness and the keen knowledge of affairs which they evidenced. He was interesting in his campaign for governor. He was interesting in his fight against the political machine to get a senator for New Jersey. And he has been yet more interesting than ever in his struggle to down the machine and the invaders of public rights by instituting reforms in a state that was sadly in need of them.

And not the least interesting, even fascinating, incident in the New Jersey man's career was his interview with the Democratic boss of New Jersey, the man who claimed to be the one individual most entitled to Governor Wilson's thanks for his nomination and election, at the end of which the governor escorted his visitor to the door and told him to get out and stay out. It was like a scene from "The Man of the Hour." It was a new move in American politics. It was a grand climax to the fight the new governor has made against machine rule in that state.

He is charged by his enemies with playing politics. The charge might be made yet stronger. They might say that he is playing politics and winning. But the difference between Wilson and the machine politicians is that in his playing of the political game he is accomplishing good for the state, instead of feathering his own nest.

It would be interesting, by the way, to know what Woodrow Wilson would do if he were confronted with the question which Governor Eberhart is facing—how to deal with a legislative body that has repudiated alike party and personal pledges, that has refused to act up to the laws which it swore to uphold. There is a strong incentive to believe that if such a condition arose in New Jersey there would be an extra session, and also a fair and just reapportionment of the legislative representation, in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution.

HONESTY IS TOO EXPENSIVE.

To the average man, the fellow who pays his bills when they are due, deals squarely with all with whom he comes in contact, is honest in both business and social relations and is otherwise honorable too, there is something puzzling in the action of the state legislature the other day in refusing to pass a bill requiring that lumber must be of the dimensions it purports to be. And there is something even more confusing in the arguments made against the bill.

It was urged by one opponent that if Minnesota lumber dealers were compelled to give honest measure they could not compete with dealers in other states, and another man said that honest measure would mean more expense and higher prices.

To put the situation in a nutshell, it has become so customary to cheat and steal that the lumber dealers have got to keep on doing it to make an honest living, and if consumers really want their money's worth they must pay more than its actual value to get it. We defy anybody, anywhere, by any process of reason, logic, mathematics, ethics, religion or deviltry to make sense out of that, but it is exactly what these legislators said.

There have been charges of undermeasurements in lumber dealings, but they have always been indignantly denied. But here come men who claim to represent the lumber dealers, and who certainly act to protect those dealers, and tell us that it is customary to cheat buyers; that if any dealer treats buyers fairly and honestly he will be unable to remain in business because of competition by men who cheat and steal; that if any attempt is made to compel the dealers to be honest, the dealers will find means to circumvent the law.

It is hard to believe that conditions are as bad as these legislators admitted. But if they really are as bad as that, it is still harder to see why remedial legislation should have been abandoned. If a consumer steals lumber from a dealer's yard he is fined or imprisoned. It would seem only fair that when a dealer steals money from the consumer's pocket he should get the same treatment. Unless, of course, as the legislators would seem to imply, honesty is too expensive.

TRIUMPHANT PLUTOCRACY

By SAVOYARD.

The supreme court has vindicated the legal acumen of President Taft by deciding that the corporation tax is constitutional. The clause was inserted in the law of 1909 to prevent the advocates of an income tax from pressing their plan and in addition they were given the resolution submitting the income tax amendment to the states, a bantling that has been murdered in the house of its supposed friends.

The corporation tax is both good and bad. When it reaches him who has immense holdings it is sound policy; but when it strikes the struggling small investor with a score of shares or less it is vicious, and more mischiveous than it seems. The wide distribution of securities into small holdings is the only satisfactory solution of the corporation problem, and this corporation tax unfortunately tends to consolidate corporate securities in a few hands. Indeed it is a mighty poor and a mighty lame substitute for the income tax.

What makes the railroad question so pestiferous is the fact that a single individual, or a single family, oftimes, has enormous holdings of railroad stocks. The true policy is to have 1,000 holders of such securities where now is one. Safety demands such distribution and the law should encourage it rather than retard it. Every great corporation should adopt the policy of urging its operatives to invest their savings in its stock, and means should be taken to make it to the interest of the operative and many others of small means to do so.

Take the Louisville & Nashville railroad. Suppose 40 per cent of its stock was in the hands of the men who run it, frrom president down to section hand, and another 40 per cent held by the merchants, mechanics, farmers, hucksters, livestock traders, and others in the territory through which it passes. There would be no strikes on the part of the operatives, and no quarrels between shipper and carrier. No demagogue could make votes denouncing the railroad, for the road would be the property of the people it serves.

When the railroad question is finally settled, it will be on lines I have tried to suggest, or we shall have government ownership and operation. My plan is beneficent socialism. The other is vicious socialism. Under my plan the railroads could be consolidated into one gigantic corporation and the laws of every state might provide that fiduciaries of small estates invest their trust funds in its securities which would be as sound as government bonds. Then encourage every individual, especially the farmer and the laborer, to put his small savings into the stocks and bonds of the concern, and in time the people would run the concern. And other great corporations should be treated the same way—banks, industrials, and so on.

As for the very rich, they should be treated as their class is in England—their wealth should be taxed for the government. Here is the republic of the United States, the biggest governmental concern in the world, and the costliest, supported by taxes on consumption. I make no doubt that many a fellow with a salary of $40 a week in Wall street pays as much taxes on the clothes he wears as J. Pierpont Morgan or John D. Rockefeller, whose gigantic incomes are immune from taxation by the Federal government. If either of those two plutocrats was a subject of George V and resided in London he would pay thousands of pounds sterling in way of taxes to support the imperial government.

When that iniquity, the Payne-Aldrich tariff, was made, there was some brave talk of a clause providing an income tax. Senator Bailey announced that he could draft the provision with a copper bottom as to constitutionality. The personnel of the supreme court was radically changed, and in 1911 only two members of that tribunal remain who were on the bench when the income tax of the Wilson law was pronounced unconstitutional. And here I will digress to say that it is now known that Mr. Justice Shiras was not the member of the bench who changed his opinion of the matter. For years and years that grand man bore abuse, villification, contumely, in dignified silence, wrapped in the armor of his innocence. It was another member of the court who changed, and he was little enough to allow the world to suppose that Shiras was the man.

Well, they passed the corporation tax, which exacts from the man with one share of stock in the same proportion it does from him who has 100,000. Then they resolved that the state legislatures should pass on an amendment providing for the legality of the income tax, and they let it go at that.

There is not a state in this Union that would not vote for an income tax at a popular election and give the proposal an overwhelming majority. All this row we have had comes from the attempt—the successful attempt—of the rich to shift the burdens of taxation upon the masses. We see that in the tariff, which is purely a tax on the consumer and for the advantage of monopoly. Carnegie is a product of the tariff, and yet they said it was for labor. Carnegie is rated at $500,000,000, and he got it by the act of the American congress which shaped its tariff laws so as to allow Carnegie to levy a tax on every man, woman and child in the Union to swell his millions, and Carnegie now comes and says that the tariff on steel is no longer necessary, but Aldrich and Cannon disagreed with him, and the steel schedule still reeks with its pristine infamy.

As I remarked, it was up to the legislatures to authorize an income tax, and some astonishing things took place. Both Virginias opposed it. Nobody was surprised at West Virginia, the annex at Pennsylvania, and the property of the coal trust; but old Virginia, too, forbade the taxation for national purposes of Carnegie's $500,000,000. So did Georgia. So did Louisiana, so did Arkansas. I doubt very much if the Hon. William Lorimer favors an income tax.

What was the excuse? Why, states' rights! I recollect that thirty-four years ago states' rights were invoked to enable the Republican party to steal the office of president of the United States though less than a score of years earlier 3,000,000 men got their guns and went down South to shoot state rights to death. And now states' rights are prostituted to the office of shield to preserve the billions of Wall street from the clutch of the tax-gatherer. The tariff monopoly chuckles over the result, for if $100,000,000 were raised by a tax on incomes, it would make imperative a vast reduction in tariff duties, and hundreds of articles now taxed to the quick would be carried to the free list.

The Illinois legislature that sold a senatorship is mighty bad. But—

The company brought suit, and Judge Stearns yesterday handed down a decision in favor of the city. This knocks out all hope of the company to float any bonds and makes the way clear for the city to own its own water plant.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

ANARCHISTS NOT ALL ATHEISTS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In your issue of March 25, Rabbi Lefkovits, animadverts on anarchism and atheism. In doing so he has shown both ignorance and intolerance.

His assertion that "all anarchists are atheists" is altogether untrue. I will note one exception.

Tolstoi, the great Russian novelist, was an anarchist and one of the most intense religionists living. He accepted the full God-head as a source of supreme authority, while all Jews reject one-third of it—Christ, as well as his teachings.

When the fathers of this republic wrote the immortal words "all governments derive their just powers to govern from the consent of the governed," they, according to the rabbi's interpretation, were guilty of atheistic utterance. Were they "hair brained," as well?

The world's two greatest inventors are Edison and Sir Hiram Maxim, both of them materialists. "By their fruits ye shall know them." Are they "hair brained," as well? Neither of them is an atheist.

Haeckel, the foremost man in science in the world today, who has resigned his professorship in the great Jena university lately, is an outspoken materialist and so far from being "hair brained," as the rabbi would have us believe, is sometimes called "the intellectual emperor of Europe."

The learned rabbi should know that personal characterization of people is not an answer to argument.

DULUTH'S POPULATION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you kindly inform me through the columns of your daily paper what are of the official figures which represent the population of Duluth, according to the final returns of 1910 census? Thanking you in advance, yours very truly,

A. M. IRWIN.

Hibbing, Minn., March 28.

The census of 1910 gives the population of the city of Duluth as 78,466, an increase of 43.1 per cent since 1900.

Uses for Potash Salts.

Chicago Tribune: Potash salts of many kinds were imported into the United States from Germany last year and to the value of $11,000,000. Yet as far as the German supply is concerned it is said that at the present rate of demand upon the great potash beds at Strassfurt the supply ought to last for 600,000 years.

These potash salts are used for many purposes in this country—in gold mining, glass making, soap making, bleaching, dyeing, in photography and medicine. In the manufacture of explosives and for fertilizers. In recent years there have been attempts to discover potash in paying quantities in the Western desert portions of the United States. Quantities of the mineral have been found in rocks and in some of the dried beds of desert lakes.

The Shapes of Eggs.

Scientific American: There was recently had before the Zoological Society of London a mathematical discussion of the differences in the shape of eggs. A few eggs, like those of the ow, and the tortoise, are spherical, or nearly so; a few, like the grebe's or the cormorant's, are elliptical, with symmetrical ends; the great majority, like the hen's, are ovoid, or blunter at end than the other. The hen's egg is always laid blunt end foremost.

Eggs that are the most unsymmetrical are also eggs of large size relatively to the parent bird. The yolks of eggs are spherical, whatever the form of the entire egg may be. This has been shown to be due to their being enclosed in a fluid, the "white," which makes the pressure everywhere on the surface of the yolk practically constant.

THE STORM.

The storm king arose and hurried out,
From his palace dark, with a terrible stride
In a monstrous rage he stamped about,
"I must wash the dirty world," he cried.

He called his mighty steeds to him,
Lightning, wind and dapple rain,
Soon the earth grew still and dim,
And wild things scurried across the plain.

The tall trees bowed their stately heads,
The house wren hid beneath the eaves,
The spider swung from his silken threads
And crept beneath the dusty leaves.

The storm king drove with a reckless hand,
And the landscape groaned in pain;
With a might roar throughout the land,
He lashed to a gallop, his dapple rain.

Bruised and bleeding the roses lay,
Crushed beneath his chariot wheel,
But the kindly sun smiled the clouds away,
And hastened out to warm and heal.

The house wren flew from the sheltering eaves,
To look on a world so clean and gay,
The spider crept from beneath the leaves,
But the silken web had blown away.

"I'll build another one," he cried,
And straightway with his little hands,
He spun and twisted, and crossed and tied
A shining web of a thousand strands.

So I will turn from the storms of life,
Build up my shattered hopes again;
Ride out the angry waves of strife
And reach the Master through my pain.

DELLA McGOVERN.

Curious Drinking Vessels.

London Chronicle: One of the quaintest of drinking vessels is to be seen at the Bratwurstglocklein, a Nuremberg inn which has remained unaltered since it was built in 1400. Sausages, sauerkraut and beer are the only commodities obtainable and the limit of accommodation is reached when ten customers are present.

Yet several fortunes have been made out of the house, for it was the favorite haunt of Albrecht Durer, and the pewter he drank from is still treasured. This is a double vessel, one tankard fitting neatly into the other, and was reserved for Durer and his wife. According to tradition, when the artist was in a good humor he used to fill the inside tankard for his wife and they would clink lovingly together.

When domestic storms were brewing he kept the tankards together and let his wife go dry. Many other celebrities besides Durer have drunk from this tankard, and of recent years a record of their visits has been kept. Among the latest names are those of Carmen Sylva, the crown prince of Germany and the Austrian heir presumptive.

A curious drinking vessel figures in the youthful recollections of Bismarck, who told Busch that when he "was shooting at Tetzlingen in the time of Frederick William IV. the guests were asked to drink from an old puzzle goblet. It was a stag's horn, which contained about three-quarters of a bottle of wine and was so made that one could not bring it close to the lips, yet one was not allowed to spill a drop.

"I took it and drank it off at a draught, although it was very cold champagne, and not a single drop fell on my white waistcoat. Everybody was immensely surprised, but I said: 'Give me another.' The king, however, who evidently did not appreciate my success, called out: 'No, no more. Such tricks were formerly an indespensable part of the diplomat's trade. They drank the weaker vessels under the table and then wormed all they wanted to know out of them."

Horrible Situation.

Syracuse Post-Standard: The United States, according to the prophets of ruin, is at present bounded upon the north by reciprocity and disaster, on the south by revolution and war's desolation, on the west by the Japanese invasion and on the east by ship subsidy and national bankruptcy.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Party Promises a Joke.

Ely Miner: Party promises in Minnesota are a joke. The Republicans and Democrats both promised reapportionment before election but forgot their promises the moment they entered the capitol. This legislature is somewhat of a joke all the way through, one of these jokes that causes people to cry and not laugh.

The Democrats' Opportunity.

Roseau County Times: The majority of Republicans in the United States senate bolted the pledge of a downward revision of the tariff and a number of the so-called insurgent Republican senators insurged against the bolters. On the reciprocity bill insurgers and bolters alike have changed front, and the insurgents have lost prestige with the people. After all the first thought of the member of congress is one of self political preservation, and everything is subordinate to his re-election. The Democrats have a splendid opportunity to once more place the government back with the people.

The Price of Wheat.

Detroit Quiver: The Northwest Agriculturalist says that wheat dropped at Minneapolis "in anticipation of a flood into the market by the surplus from Canada as soon as the reciprocity agreement is adopted." Wheat went down nearly 5 cents during the week. Taft gets the blame. In 1910 wheat went down 6 cents in one week; in 1909 it went down 31 cents in one week. But I didn't hear any one say it was because of Taft or reciprocity with Canada.

Bad Feeling Caused.

Bagley Herald: It is now almost a foregone conclusion that there will be an extra session of the legislature, as the reapportionment problem has not been solved, and the way things stand now it has created considerable bad feeling, especially among Northern Minnesota people. About every effort that has been made thus far to secure for us a more rapidly growing section of country, and the representation that justly belongs to our part of the state has failed. Some of the senate leaders now say that the calling of an extra session would mean the political death of the governor. Suggestions like this have in times past been made before, but as a rule it has been found that the man who went ahead and did what he believed to be right could afford to smile at such remarks. Any rate it is up to the governor to call an extra session.

Where Is the N. M. D. A.?

St Cloud Times: What has become of the Northern Minnesota Development Association? Its great object was a reapportionment of the state. This was defeated by a combine of unprincipled senators. Why not have called the N. M. D. A. together and "made Rome howl?"

Has the Governor the "Sand?"

Breckenridge Telegram: Governor Eberhart pledged himself to reapportionment and promised that if the legislature failed to pass such a bill he would call an extra session. We will now see whether he has the "sand" to do as he promised, especially in view of the fact that the senators who are opposed to any reapportionment measure are daring him to keep his pledge.

Shows Better Judgment.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: We are pleased to note that Congressman Lindbergh heartily approves the course of President Taft in sending the troops to Texas—and thereby he shows better judgment and more broad guaged patriotism than do some of the other progressives.

Would-Be Capitalist's Fate.

Warroad Plaindealer: The editor of the East Grand Forks Valley View was sandbagged and robbed of $6.40 last week. He got what he deserved for trying to break into the capitalist class.

Geese Ruining Californians' Grain.

Oroville Register: According to reports brought to this city from Biggs yesterday geese are doing great damage to the growing grain west of Biggs, and in order to save their crops the farmers have resorted to employing geese herders. The bill for ammunition with several of the larger landholders is reaching no inconsiderable figure.

The geese are present in countless thousands and there are more of them than have been noted for many years. No objection is being offered by any of the ranchers to any one hunting on their premises, and they are receiving hunters with open arms. The geese are more palatable at this time than they have been at any time during the winter. They have fattened until some of the birds are weighing ten pounds or more.

Self-Supporting Girl Students.

Chicago Journal: The number of young women in Oberlin college who are wholly or partly self-supporting is given in a bulletin recently issued by the committee on beneficiary aid. Twenty-six support themselves entirely and fifty-four in part. Thirty-six others are using money earned before they entered college. Of these forty teach school, eleven do office work, fourteen do housework, seven are nursemaids, eleven tutors in the college, one is a companion, one is a music teacher and one is a curio saleswoman.

Others are engaged in the following occupations: Playground assistant, library assistant, postoffice assistant, artist, rug weaving, clerk, market gardening and seamstress.

Americans to the Front.

Syracuse Post-Standard: From reports received of Americans who are renting palaces from which to view the coronation pageant we judge that the English will be lucky if they get a peek at the parade.

Try It.

Omaha Bee: Every one of us can contribute a little in our own way toward the "city beautiful" by making our own front yards look attractive.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Judge: Fred—What's got Binks to walk like that?

Ned—Why, his wife wears a hobble skirt, and he's been trying to keep step with her.

Voice—In jail, guv-nor!

Chicago Record-Herald: "You used to say," she complained, "that you counted that day lost when you did not hear the sound of my voice."

"Yes, I know," he replied, "and I shall never cease to long for those dear lost days."

Harper's Weekly: "Hello, Binsky," said Jorrocks, "I hear you turned up at Willoughby's fancy dress ball."

"Yes," said little Binks.

"What did you go as?" asked Jorrocks.

"Why," said little Binks, "I gathered up my New Year's mail and went as a bill file."

Yonkers Statesman: Bill—Last week they said he couldn't keep the wolf from the door, and now his daughter's got a piano.

Jill—Oh, well, I guess they can keep the wolf away now, all right!

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: Hard-headed men may stick to soft drinks.

It's useless to waste broad hints on narrow-minded people.

If any one loves a man for the enemies he makes it's himself.

Do you deserve the good opinion of those who think well of you?

The woman who refused to marry a man because he didn't ask her never has any use for the woman he does marry.

The only time the average man is willing to admit that he is one of the common people is when he is running for office.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: More women ought to go to market and more men to church.

Next to money, sentiment most keeps happy families from breaking up.

There's hardly anything a man can't get cured of nowadays except selfishness.

You can tell a wig a woman wears by the emphatic way she acts as if it wasn't.

Pimples Off In 5 Days

The New Calcium Sulphide Treatment Does Wonders to Every Kind of Skin Eruption.

Trial Package Sent Free to Prove It.

You don't want to wait forever and a day to get rid of your pimples or other skin eruptions. You want to get rid of them right now. Next week you may want to go somewhere where you wouldn't like to have to take the pimples along.

You can get rid of them just in time by taking Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

These wonderful little workers have cured bad boils in three days, and some of the worst cases of skin disease in a week.

They contain as their main ingredient the most thorough, quick and effective blood cleanser known, calcium sulphide.

Remember this, too, that most pimple treatments reek with poison. And they are miserably slow besides.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers have not a particle of poison in them. They are free from mercury, biting drugs or venomous opiates. This is absolutely guaranteed. They cannot do any harm, but they always do good—good that you can see in the mirror before your own eyes a few days after.

Don't be any longer humiliated by having a splotchy face. Don't have strangers stare at you, or allow your friends to be ashamed of you because of your face.

Your blood makes you what you are. The men and women who forge ahead are those with pure blood and pure faces.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers will make you happy because your face will be a welcome sight not only to yourself when you look into the glass, but to everybody else who knows you and talks with you.

SKEPTICS SAID UNREASONABLE

Did Not Believe Vaccination Would Prevent Smallpox,

NOR ANTI-TOXIN DIPHTHERIA

Neal Cure for the Drink Habit Is Also a Scientific Discovery.

The statement that by the Neal treatment the liquor habit. can be cured is doubted by many. It is unnatural and unreasonable, so skeptics say. That's what they said when Stephenson announced his invention of the locomotive. People did not at first believe that vaccination would prevent smallpox. They were incredulous when they were told that a serum had been discovered that would cure diphtheria. But these things have been demonstrated to be true. Why should it not also be true that a remedy has been discovered for alcoholic poisoning? It is no more a miracle that the Neal Cure should restore a natural appetite than that anti-toxin should conquer what was considered a deadly disease. Anti-toxin does not take months to do its work. Its effects are produced in about three days, the time in which the Neal treatment cures the liquor habit. No person addicted to drink who wants to be his own master again should hesitate about taking the Neal cure. It is so soon effected. He runs no risk. If the cure does not cure he is no worse off. If it does cure, that is what he wants, and is willing to pay for. The Neal treatment is not merely a sobering up process, but a perfectly safe and thorough cure that frees the system of every trace of alcoholic poison and takes away all craving and desire for drink. It makes no difference how confirmed the drinker, or how long he has been drinking, or how much he is drinking; neither does it matter how many other treatments have failed, the Neal treatment will effect a perfect cure in just three days to the entire satisfaction of the patient. With the Neal treatment there are no hypodermic injections, no powerful or poisonous drugs and no bad after-effects. It is safe, harmless, positive. There are no failures. If you are afflicted with the drink habit and really want to be freed or if you are interested in a friend or relative who needs treatment, write to the Neal Institute Co., corner Belknap and Seventh streets, Superior, Wis., for their free booklet giving full information and a copy of their contract and guarantee bond. it will be mailed to you under a plain sealed envelope and everything will be strictly confidential. You can be treated at the Superior Institute, or at the St. Paul, Minn., Institute, 676 Dayton avenue, or the Minneapolis, Minn., Institute, corner Fourth avenue south and Seventh street, whichever happens to be the most convenient to you.

CANADIAN RECIPROCITY

Treadwell Twichell of Fargo Argues Against the Proposed Pact.

Claims It Would Be Disastrous to United States Farmer.

To the Editor of The Herald:

My attention has been called to your editorial of the 23rd inst., "What Reciprocity Is."

Having been largely instrumental in drafting the "thirteen reasons" to which you refer editorially as "absurdities," "of baseless character," "false," "mixtures of falsehood and absurdities," it would seem up to me to make such argumentative proof and cite such facts as were the dominating influence and the basis for my belief in the fairness of the conclusions drawn and expressed in these thirteen reasons which you have seen fit to attempt summarily to dispose of by the rather harsh and severe appellations above reproduced.

The issue involved is of great moment—pregnant with much good or ill to the people of the United States. If it has merit it is very unfortunate that none of its champions feel the necessity or advisability of putting forth through clear and analytical statements the specific benefits to be derived by the people of the United States, but seem rather to beg the question by calling those who are opposed to this measure "demagogues" or "ignoramuses," and the reasons for such opposition a mixture of "falsehoods and absurdities."

Our differences are of two characters, one of fact and one of conjecture. Let us both hope that they are honest differences. Your editorial says "A circular (the reasons) is being distributed freely, of the rankest political character." This is your conclusion. The facts prove beyond question that there is no political phase to this matter so far as this movement in North Dakota is concerned. My proof: Among the signatures to the call for a state conference to formulate the most effective method of registering our protest, we find two ex-governors, one a Stalwart Republican, one an Insurgent Republican; our last lieutenant governor, a stalwart; our present lieutenant governor, an insurgent; the last unsuccessful nominee on the Democratic ticket for governor, and one of our most brilliant and able Democrats whose name has for years been mentioned for high place in the Democratic councils in this state. Do the facts as they are bear out in the conclusion you have drawn? Do not they rather show that the movement is a general protest by the people of North Dakota, irrespective of political affiliation, against the measure in which they can see nothing but injury to their welfare.

As To Being Biased.

Would it not be as fair for me to say that you are biased because of the lower cost of print paper to you, or that you were the champion of the steel trust, or your judgment was warped because of fancied benefits you feit would come to Duluth. Before you charge us with writing "a mixture of falsehoods and absurdities" or we charge you with prostituting yourself for hire, being chloroformed by free print paper, or that the steel trust owns you, let us get down to our natural differences caused by our inability to overlook our personal interest—caused by being human.

The "reasons" were written by a farmer, with no other line of business, and approved by farmers and men who are business men and farmers, and these men who signed the call for our state protest are of as good moral and mental fiber as you could duplicate in your city. They are dividing the cost among them.

No; the American Protective Tariff league hasn't any finger in this movement. Personally, I am satisfied that there is not a so-called "high protection tariff man" active in this movement. We are paying our own bills, fighting for our rights as American producers and citizens. Our creed: That so long as a protective tariff is a part of the government policy of this nation we are entitled to the American market without competition with cheap labor and cheap land; that when the economic policy of our government, in this respect, is changed, it be changed so as to place the burdens or benefits of such change as evenly as possible upon all classes of industry; that inasmuch as we live under a protective policy (and will for many years to come) the benefit of such a policy should not first be taken away from that class (the American farmer), to whom it came last as a measure of benefit.

This measure is being heralded as the much needed tariff revision, and by its adoption it is unquestionably hoped to still, at least for the time being, any clamor for a further reduction of the tariff upon manufactured goods, known to be in excess of the amount actually required for protection. The farmer of the north half of the United States is to be quietly and expeditiously sandbagged, while the consumer stands supinely by, disregarding his inherent belief in the square deal, hypnotized by visions of a reduction in the cost of living.

We appreciate your side. With water transportation a possible immediate saving in lumber cost, cheaper wheat for your mills (reduction on flour duty not material), more grain for your elevators to handle and store, more cars of grain for your commission men to handle, and more and larger profits for the steel trust, all of which will probably aid to the growth of your city, I would not presume to insinuate that a reduction of about 25 cents per yearly subscriber in the cost of your print paper has had anything to do with your attitude in this matter, more than such a saving would tend to influence any of us that are human, and the others don't count.

From our viewpoint we feel that the benefits secured by you will no more than offset your loss in the American territory tributary to Duluth, occasioned by the enforced economy of the inhabitants of such territory through the reduction in the earning capacity of farm lands.

The "Reasons."

The "reasons" your editorial is based on are "North Dakota reasons." That this matter may be put fairly before you readers I submit them:

1. It is not a reciprocal agreement, but rather a business agreement, beneficial to the manufacturer of the United States and the farmer of Canada.

2. It will reduce the earning power of every acre of land in this state, reducing the value, forcing many of our farmers to leave for Canada and buyers from other states will follow.

3. That if passed it will cost as much to raise a bushel of grain as it does now and we will be forced to sell it for less.

4. That the United States farmer is entitled to his own home market.

5. That for several years past the price of all grains in the United States has been more than 10 per cent higher than at Canadian points directly opposite.

6. That it gives us nothing except free salt and free fish.

7. That the proposed reduction on salt amounts to nothing.

8. That the reduction of the duty on fish is not worth considering.

9. That this trade agreement leaves for the miller, the oatmeal manufacturer, the breakfast food companies, the beef trust, the malt trust and the steel trust, either all or approximately all the protection they have now, giving the consumer no benefit whatever.

10. That the biggest joker in this proposed arrangement is the free lumber fake. The difference in freight alone between the rough and planed lumber (planed lumber still retains the duty of $1.50) would amount to more than the reduction of $1.50 per thousand and that no farmer in North Dakota will ever buy a foot of lumber for less than he does now on account of this so-called reduction but the corporation that uses ties, piles, telegraph and telephone poles has been taken care of in the timber schedule as these are admitted absolutely free.

11. That the farmers of North Dakota are entitled to as much consideration by this government as any other class of people. That injury to the farmer means injury to all.

12. That the price of this arrangement will be the extension of our mortgages, will rob the farmer and his children of their comforts, happiness and that interest in farm life which would induce them to remain upon the farm.

13. That is should be the duty of governmental effort to raise, instead of lower the standard of farm life.

Charges Quibbling.

You quibble in your objection to reason No. 1. Reciprocity means mutuality and this proposed agreement is in no sense reciprocity unless there are advantages coming to both people which are in the nature of a fair trade. President Taft was called to task by the Boston Market club (a protection organization) for a public utterance in which he stated that he had instructed our commissioners to offer Canada free trade. In an interview Mr. Fielding, one of the Canadian commissioners, said "that while the president may have so advised our commissioners, such a proposition was never made to the Canadian commissioners, presumably for the reason that they, the Canadian commissioners, took the position that Canada would not enter into any trade relation that would be against the interests of the Canadian manufacturer." In substance, Canada through her commissioners insisted upon protecting her manufacturing interests, but would accept our markets for her natural and agricultural products. In God's name how could any one work out anything like reciprocity (under our national conditions) with Canada taking that position?

Regarding No. 2, you inquire how in the name of heaven can legislation reduce the earning power of land? Let me inquire, can not legislation increase the earning power of land? Can not legislation affect the earning power of a factory, and if so, why not that of a farm? Does not the present tariff do this? If it does not, why your cry against it? If legislation can increase the earning power of land by maintaining the value of the products thereof, as is done by the present tariff, will not the doing away with such tariff reduce the earning power of our lands? Let me give you a concrete example. Such legislation as will make the price of a bushel of wheat, weighing sixty pounds, the same on the day this letter is published, at Duluth and Port Arthur. Another: Such legislation as will bring the price of a bushel of wheat marketed south of the main street of Portal, N. D., to the lower price of the bushel raised and marketed on the north side of that street, the international boundary line running through the center of the town. See another: Such legislation as will make a bushel of barley sell for as much (transportation considered) on the north shore of Lake Ontario as on the south shore. When, in heaven's name, does not legislation increase or reduce the earning power of land? With farm products of the same value in Northwest Canada as in the United States (transportation cost considered) the new lands of Canada procurable at approximately one-half of the purchase price of our lands, will look more attractive to the purchaser than will our lands. If this agreement goes into effect and the price of farm products seeks a common level on both sides of the line, resulting in a depreciation in the selling price of all our farm products, the American farmer who has eked out an existence will unload, save what he can of his equity, go to Canada and start anew, nearer out of debt. If his products sell for less, his load becomes heavier and forces him out.

Or reason No. 3, you say "that is false, for grain is sold into the world's market only, not into a local or national market." You seem to admit it will cost as much to raise. Let my answer to No. 5 cover this point.

No. 4 is disposed of as "a mixture of falsehood and absurdity."

A Question of Veracity.

No. 5. "That for several years past the price of all grains in the United States has been more than 10 per cent higher than at Canadian points directly opposite. We have come to a point of veracity, ignorance will not excuse. I challenge you to show the incorrectness of this statement. Take any two or all of the points nearest the boundary line in the northwestern part of the United States and the nearest town in Canada, take the price of wheat the same day in each month in these adjoining towns for the six years last past. Publish these figures and then apologize. Take your own market, Duluth, the most favored point for the shipment of grain in the entire United States; take the first day of each month for three years last past, add to the Duluth selling price of No. 1 northern cash wheat, your cheapest midsummer lake and ocean rates to Liverpool, and tell your readers how many months you find when you could sell what bought at Duluth in Liverpool or any other foreign grain center except at a loss—and be square enough to tell how much that loss would be. Tell them how much more the commission men of Duluth will pay me today, net, for a cargo of wheat to be sold in Duluth than they would pay me, net, if I instructed them to sell it in the world's best market outside of the United States, and if it were summer time and with your cheapest transportation. Tell them how much larger premium they could have given me prior to this agitation for the free admission into the United States of Canadian grain. Cover barley if you will. Give the figures. You can get them. You cannot theorize away the fact that Duluth, Minneapolis and Chicago, not Liverpool, are making the price on all spring wheat raised in the United States. If we are wrong on this proposition, the figures which you can obtain from the secretary of the Duluth Board of Trade will prove it; if we are right every business element in Duluth should aid those who seek only a square meal, remembering that we have contributed largely to the growth and prosperity of your city.

Your criticism of No. 9 is not germane; the trusts are still protected.

The Lumber Deduction.

For No. 10. You fail to challenge the correctness of my statement. I understand as well as you do, that woods, for furniture making, railroad ties, piles, and telegraph poles, for the railroads; telephone poles, for telephone companies; staves for flour barrels, whisky barrels and beer barrels, will be admitted free. These things may possibly aid us a very little.

What we want understood is, that some of the farmers of the Northwest fully appreciate that it is not the intent of this lumber reduction to aid us in building cheaper houses, barns, or granaries, and that we are not going to get any material benefit from a reduction of this character.

If Secretary Knox' statement of the purpose of this agreement was a correct one, "That is sought to reduce the cost of food stuff to the consumer," then the next reason follows.

As to the correctness of the last conclusion each man must decide for himself. Greater production means a lessened cost to the consumer, more labor and intensified farming. To secure these things the young man must remain on the farm. To have them stay there the government should lend its aid, not as philanthropy, but as a measure of national economy. By a policy which protects the products of the farm, farming can be made a paying vocation, the young man would be induced to remain upon the farm instead of migrating to the city, the land would be better and more intensely farmed, and as a result, the production would be increased and that at a lessened cost to the consumer.

The Republican party stands for a protective tariff covering the difference in the cost of production at home and the cost of production abroad. Why should the American farmer alone be singled out, his products all placed upon a free trade basis, and be required to compete in his home market with the more cheaply produced products of the newer and cheaper lands of Canada?

After reading your editorial, I am forced to conclude that all farsightedness and wisdom is not of Duluth.

You owe it to yourself and your American customers to help along such lines as will make for the prosperity of the nation, but especially does your paper and Duluth owe to the farmer of the Northwestern states your aid in retaining to them, your neighbors and customers, who have aided materially in building up your city, a fair deal in the division of the country's prosperity. Respectfully,

TREADWELL TWICHELL,

Fargo, N. D., March 28.

COMPANY C HOLDS BANQUET

Mayor M. B. Cullum Praises Members of Militia Companies.

The banquet of Company C of the Third regiment, Minnesota National Guard, at the Armory last evening, was such a decided success that it will likely prove to be the first of a series of similar affairs.

Mayor M. B. Cullum, principal speaker of the evening, paid the members of the company a high compliment, and extended it to others who are enlisted in similar service. He touched upon the benefits which are the result of a military training, and declared that it could not help but make a better and more patriotic citizen of a man to join organizations similar in character to the company at the banquet board.

Capt. W. O. Flodin, who acted as toastmaster, said that it takes as much, if not more, courage to enlist in time of peace and prepare for war than it does to join the army after actual hostilities have been started. Short addresses were also delivered by Col. F. E. Resche and Lieut. R. M. Weaver, editor of the Third Infantry Bulletin.

MARINETTE MAN IS ACCUSED OF EMBEZZLING.

Marinette, Wis., March 30.—James Van Camp, former county clerk, who resigned several days ago, when an apparent shortage in his accounts was discovered, was arrested Tuesday, charged with embezzlement of $342.

The specific offense with which he is charged is the extracting of tax redemption receipts out of the back of the regular books without filling in the stub, and then disposing of the receipts and appropriating the proceeds for his own use.

Van Camp's mother is here from Milwaukee and is making every effort to save her son from imprisonment.

RAID GAMBLING JOINT.

Minneapolis Police Break Up Games Arresting Seven Players.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 30.—Consternation reigned in the alleged gambling house of S. M. Blake, second floor, 30 Sixth street, north, Tuesday night, when a squad of police, led by Night Chief Fern, pounced down on it and arrested every man in the place, also confiscating all the gambling paraphernalia in sight.

When the policemen arrived the door was opened only partially, being held in place with a chain. Capt. Fern placed his brawny shoulder to the door and the chain gave way, disclosing a cozy clubroom with a roulette wheel and several poker tables in it.

Seven men besides the proprietor, were busily engaged in play at the time. Money and chips galore were piled up and promptly confiscated. The roulette wheel and the three poker tables were hauled to police headquarters, as were also the proprietor and the seven men found in the place.

All gave fictitious names and were released on bail.

PLAN MUCH ROAD WORK

Crookston Commercial Club to Work for Better Polk County Highways.

Starts Movement That Will Result in More Serviceable Roads Being Built.

Crookston, Minn., March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Commercial club will start a good roads campaign in Polk county with the hope of securing tangible results the present year. The matter will be handled in a systematic manner with the intention of securing the co-operation of the board of county commissioners, the township boards and securing the full quota of state aid. Four main highways were designated as state highways by the board of county commissioners last year, and a substantial sum to reimburse Polk county has been certified to by the state highway commission for road work done last season.

In the allotment this year, Polk county, after complying with the prescribed conditions, can secure $1,000, and their remains of previous allotments $2,305.84, due from the state as soon as the proper amount of work has been done. The new law goes into effect May 1, so that the $1,000 can be secured when $2,000 worth of work has been done on the state highways under the supervision of a man designated by the highway commission and following specifications approved by the commission, while the $2,305.84 can be secured only when three times that sum has been expended, as provided under the old law.

Our state highway runs north from the state experiment farm west to Fisher, Mallory and East Grand Forks and east to McIntosh and Fosston, passing through Rosebud and Columbia; another runs from here to Fertile, one southwest to Climax and Nielsville, and one north to Euclid and Angus.

Permanent Work Planned.

Sufficient work of a permanent character will be planned on these state roads to more than absorb all the state aid, and definite plans will be formed for additional work each year with an increased allowance from the state when the systematic permanent improvements of the main roadways become evident by work already done.

The Commercial club committee will also take up the shipment of crushed granite and gravel with the railroads for use on the public highways in order to secure the free shipments offered.

Many farmers have promised to cooperate, and it is believed that the farmers will assist to the extent of hauling gravel free of cost while going home empty from this city and other centers, for the improvement of the roads they have to travel in order to get to a market. With co-operation from the county and township boards and the individual farmers, it is believed will bear great fruit.

LAST SNOW WILL HELP.

Crow Wing County Farmers More Encouraged By Improved Conditions

Brainerd, Minn., March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Con O'Brien of Brainerd, speaking of the crop outlook in Crow Wing county, said: "Soil conditions this year are dryer than last year, although this last snow helps. The farmers have plowed more ground but very little seeding has been done, most of the farmers waiting until April 10 for this branch of spring work, although some farmers have done a little wheat seeding. The acreage will be the same as last year, corn and oats being the favorite crops. There is no shortage in seed grain, as arrrangements were made last year to take care of all the farmers in the head of a large general store, trading with many farmers and leasing much land to them. Mr. O'Brien is well acquainted with agricultural conditions in Crow Wing county. Adam Brown, well acquainted with the farmers of the county, said: "Soil conditions were very dry, but the recent rain and snow has made about the same amount of moisture as the ground had at this period last year. There is less plowed ground than last year, due in part to the amount of farm land purchased for mining and exploration work. A mining company, as a rule, does not plant many potatoes. The farmers are getting ready now for their seeding and will start within a week, if the favorable weather continues."

Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Societies Meet There in 1912.

East Grand Forks, Minn., March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the selection of Blackduck as the next meeting place, a special address by Mrs. E. ## BECAME BITTER AGAINST WOMEN

Red Lake County Man Who Was Jilted Became Unbalanced---Committed.

Crookston, Minn., March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—A sad case of insanity came to light in connection with Paul T. Sorenson, who was committed to the Fergus Falls asylum from Red Lake county. Sorenson has been a resident of this section for years and is well connected. He has a farm near Oakley, Red Lake county, and was well-to-do. He had been engaged to a young lady and was to have been married last fall, but she is said to have jilted him. From that time he was a changed man. About Christmas he began acting very queerly and a brother at McIntosh took him to his home, but all efforts to get his mind away from his affair of the heart failed and he went from bad to worse till at last the sight of a woman made him violent, and as he is a big, husky fellow, standing six feet high, he had to be sent away. He was as tractable as a child till he saw a woman, when he would rave wildly and it required several men to hold him, the faithlessness of the girl he had loved having turned to the most insatiable hatred, and it was feared he would kill some one if he was not placed in an asylum. He had to be securely strapped when taken away, as no matter where he saw a woman, he became excited and thought of nothing, apparently, but his own grief, and waned vengeance.

BLIND-PIGGING GIVEN SETBACK

North Dakota Judge Enjoins all Langdon Places From Selling Booze.

Langdon, N. D., March 30.—The most drastic action ever taken in the state to enforce the prohibition laws occurred here when Judge Pollock of Fargo, holding court for Judge Kneeshaw, put a stop to all blind-pigging in this city for an entire year. He issued an injunction for that time against five places, two drug stores and three hotels, and placed the costs, which were considerable, against the places of business as a lien on the property.

Three Hotels Hard Hit.

As a result the U. C. T., Ironclad and Columbia hotels will be compelled to close the doors of the rooms in which it is alleged liquor was sold and the Ferguson and Francis drug stores will be compelled to close up their entire business for one year from date. H. A. Close, the only other druggist in the city with a permit to sell liquor, voluntarily surrendered his right when the hearing of the injunction so the town is dry.

LARGE FUNERAL AT CROOKSTON

Last Rites Paid Thursday Afternoon to Late Chris Houston, Pioneer.

Crookston, Minn., March 30.—(Spcial to The Herald.)—The funeral of County Commissioner Chris Houston was held this afternoon from the M. E. church, under the auspices of the Masons, the Woodmen and members of the Old Settlers' association, attending in a body. The sermon was preached by Rev. W. C. Hodgson. John Wyand, C. F. Mix, C. C. Strander, E. M. Walsh, L. Ellington and W. G. Lytle, all pioneers, were pall bearers.

The death of Mr. Houston meant the passing of one of the earliest pioneers of Polk county. He came here in 1875 from Rustlcoville, Prince Edward Island, where he was born, Aug. 2, 1854, with Duke Jewell, now a veteran engineer on the Great Northern, and the two helped pull stumps on what is now Main street. A brother, Robert Houston, took a claim that included the heart of Crookston, and his claim shanty still stands near the river bank just off South Main street. Mr. Houston resided in the city for eight years, and twenty-seven years ago moved to his farm, three miles from the city, in Fairfax, where he resided ever since. In June, 1883, he married Nina Gooden and to them was born five children, one boy dying in infancy, and another at the age of 9, and three daughters, who with the widow, survive him. May and Margaret reside at home, and Mrs. Hayfowe Latta resides at Grand Forks. His brother, Robert Houston, resides at Everett, Wash., and the other living brother, John, remains in Prince Edwards Island. One nephew, Hazen Houston, a son of John, attended the funeral today.

The funeral was the largest held in Crookston in some time, old friends attending from all parts of the county, and county and city officials being present. There were many floral offerings. The interment was in Oakdale cemetery.

East Grand Forks, Minn., March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—The refusal of a single merchant to observe 6:30 o'clock in the evening as closing time on five nights of the week has raised havoc among the salesmen and saleswomen of this city and they have raised all sorts of threats to make this merchant suffer for his action. April 1 has heretofore been observed as the time when stores keep open until 9 o'clock, but this year the clerks circulated a petition asking that Sept. 1 be the time for evening opening. Every merchant but one signed it, but the single one defeats the proposition.

Women of Grand Forks Start Something Towards Clean Slaughter.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—A municipal slaughter house operated under the supervision of the city board of health has been agitated by the health board and Women's Civic league for some time and the first steps toward that end were taken yesterday afternoon. The pure food committee of the civic league took several pictures of the various slaughter houses in the outskirts and this failing to have action they organized an automobile party Wednesday and took the mayor, members of the city council, city officers, and board of health members out on a tour of inspection. The conditions at some of the places were deplorable and the demonstration was so convincing that some action will be taken at once. Most of the council members favor the municipal slaughter house.

NAMES WERE MIXED.

H. A. Simons of Bemidji Erroneously Accused of Doing Wrong.

Bemidji, Minn., March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Through a strange mixup of type in a Bemidji story in Tuesday's Herald it was made to appear that H. A. Simons, the well known court commissioner of this city, was accused of the theft of some grips from the Red Lake depot, along with Ted McManus. This was entirely wrong as McManus had his first hearing before Court Commissioner Simons and was afterward taken before Judge Stanton, where he pleaded guilty and was given eighteen months in the penitentiary, as stated in the story. Mr. Simons naturally feels offended over the queer position in which the story placed him and this correction is offered in the hope all who saw the original story will realize at once it was a mistake pure and simple and unintentionally harmed Mr. Simons.

Most Children Are Wheat-Hungry

Nearly all children have wheat-hunger—a craving for the body-building elements found in the whole wheat, the most perfect food given to man—his "staff of life" for four thousand years.

The whole wheat contains all the elements needed to build the perfect human body. This cannot be truthfully said of any other cereal. It is through the shredding process (patented and owned by The Shredded Wheat Company) that the whole wheat is prepared in its most digestible form.

By this process all the tissue-building elements in the whole wheat are retained, while the outer, or bran, coat is scattered along the shreds in infinitesimal particles in such a way as to stimulate peristalsis (bowel exercise) in a natural way.

Give a child two Shredded Wheat Biscuits every morning with hot milk and a little cream and he will be fully satisfied and will lose his taste for mushy porridges that are usually bolted down without chewing.

You can't build sturdy boys and girls out of books and sermons. Their bodies must be developed from the food they eat. Shredded Wheat is an ideal food for them to study on, to play on, to grow on.

Shredded Wheat Biscuit with hot milk or cream makes an ideal breakfast for school children and is quickly and easily prepared. The porous shreds of cooked wheat combine naturally with all kinds of fresh or stewed fruits, making a complete, wholesome meal. Your grocer sells them.

TRISCUIT is the Shredded Wheat wafer—a crisp, tasty, nourishing whole wheat Toast, delicious for any meal with butter, cheese or marmalades. Always toast it in the oven before serving.

Nothing can be good for everything. Doing one thing well brings success.

Doan's Kidney Pills do one thing only.

They cure sick kidneys.

They cure backache, every kidney ill.

Here is Duluth evidence to prove it.

David H. Todd, 1102 E. Second St., Duluth, Minn., says: "My experience with Doan's Kidney Pills gave me confidence in them. Long before coming to this country, I heard of this remedy, it being considered a very valuable one in England. I first took Doan's Kidney Pills in 1897. I had been working hard and I believe overexertion weakened my kidneys. My back ached a great deal and was so lame and painful that I could hardly endure the misery. The kidney secretions were unnatural. After taking Doan's Kidney Pills a short time, there was a change for the better and as I continued using them, I steadily improved. I recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to a parent who had a child troubled by a kidney weakness and in this instance, their use brought great relief."

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: April 2. II Kings, v, Elisha Heals Naaman, the Leper.

THE CONNECTION.

God was the God of the Syrians as well as of the Jews. He took as much delight in the welfare of Gentiles as in the Jews. It was for their sakes He selected the Jews for special training and responsibility. The healing of this Syrian general shows His interest in Gentiles and it is told in order to keep the truth in our minds. It also shows how some of the Jews were true to their responsibility for the welfare of others—the little maiden and the great prophet did their unselfish part.

THE LESSON.

I.

The Leper Learns of the Cure. 1-4.

"Now Naaman, captain of the host of the king of Syria, was a great man with his master, and honorable, because by him Jehovah had given victory unto Syria; he was also a mighty man of valor, but he was a leper. And the Syrians had gone out in bands, and had brought away captive out of the land of Israel a little maiden; and she waited on Naaman's wife. And she said unto her mistress, Would that my lord were with the prophet that is in Samaria! then would he recover him of his leprosy. And one went in and told his lord, saying, Thus and thus said the maiden that is of the land of Israel."

1. CONTRASTS.—We feel the shock of startling contrasts all along. Naaman, the great, the splendid, the proud, the popular head of the armies, providential protector of his country against the rising power of Assyria, the brains of Benhadad's reign, a fine soul, contrasts with the loathsome, polluting, incurable disease of leprosy. Not segregated as he would have been, in Israel, he is still to be shunned. He contrasts with the humble prophet from whom he receives healing and with the little Hebrew servant girl from whom he hears of that prophet.

2. KINDNESS.—It was unusual and rationally justifiable, the kindness of the little Hebrew slave girl, in telling him of the cure. Syria and Israel had united to resist Assyria and when the latter withdrew, they kept in practice by fighting each other. There had been no exchange or release of prisoners and this girl was held. It speaks much for her that she could easily forgive her captors and rise above race prejudice. It speaks well for him that he was held in high personal esteem by her. Race prejudice might have sealed her lips as it so often shut up the sympathies of the Jews against those who were not thought by them to be the objects of God's care. There was not only elemental human sympathy in her heart, but a right and unbiased sense of God's goodness to all. Torn from native land and a happy home, she still kept loving and lovable. Naaman must have weighed the matter very cautiously and carefully before he ventured to act on the suggestion. It is to his credit that he was cautious and that he, at last, was confident.

II.

He Seeks the Wrong Healer. 5-7.

"And the king of Syria said, Go now, and I will send a letter unto the king of Israel. And he departed, and took with him ten talents of silver, and six thousand pieces of gold, and ten changes of raiment. And he brought the letter to the king of Israel, saying, And now when this letter is come unto thee, behold, I have sent Naaman my servant to thee, that thou mayest recover him of his leprosy. And it came to pass, when the king of Israel had read the letter, that he rent his clothes, and said, Am I God, to kill and to make alive, that this man doth send unto me to recover a man of his leprosy? but consider, I pray you, and see how he seeketh a quarrel against me."

1. MISTAKE.—The thought that the prophet must be a magician, very much like those of Syria; that of course he was in the employ of the king of Israel, who could command his obsequious services at will; that he would be open to receive pay, as their own magicians were, or at any rate, the king of Israel would take the money, amounting to $60,000, and the "changes of raiment," and see that the cure was wrought; that he could command the cure of his favorite with an insolence that amounted to a threat of trouble in case the cure was not promptly made. Naaman took the gifts to purchase the cure and the king sent the letter to compel it.

2. ALARM.—The king of Israel was scared. It was pitiful, that he did not know what great resources he had in the prophet Elisha, and that he seemed at the mercy of Benhadad, who was a friend one day and an enemy the next. His alarm shows guilt in knowing neither God nor God's servant. He disclaims the power of God, yet he does not know that he has God with him. As he looks out on the commander-in-chief of the Syrian army and reads the strange request of the king to have him cured, his fears are relieved by Elisha's servant who walks in and directs affairs.

III.

The Leper Finds the Healer. 8-14.

"And it was so, when Elisha the man of God heard that the king of Israel had rent his clothes, that he sent to the king, saying, Wherefore hast thou rent thy clothes? Let him come now to me, and he shall know that there is a prophet in Israel. So Naaman came with his horses and his chariots, and stood at the door of the house of Elisha. And Elisha sent a messenger unto him, saying, Go and wash in the Jordan seven times, and thy flesh shall come again to thee, and thou shalt be clean. But Naaman was wroth, and went away, and said, Behold, I thought, He will surely come out to me, and stand, and call on the name of Jehovah his God, and wave his hand over the place, and recover the leper. Are not Abanah and Pharpar, the rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel? May I not wash in them and be clean? So he turned and went away in a rage. And his servants came near, and spake unto him, and said, My father, if the prophet had bid thee do some great thing, wouldest thou not have done it? How much rather then, when he saith to thee, Wash, and be clean? Then went he down, and dipped himself seven times in the Jordan, according to the saying of the man of God: and his flesh came again like unto the flesh of a little child, and he was clean."

1. POWER.—The prophet showed the power of his sympathy in relieving the situation and preventing the return of the leper uncured, possibly preventing war, for they were both in an ugly mood. He showed the consciousness of power in not rising to greet the general, but sending him instructions by his servant. The simplicity of it insulted the great man.

2. HUMILITY.—It was required of the great man. It was a humbling process he was taking Naaman through, compelling him to come to a humble house, to receive no ceremonious welcome, but simple, blunt instructions. It was necessary that his spirit be cured of arrogance. The general's resentment reacted into submission at last.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

In the East, the exact mode of meeting and receiving a guest is one of the most important parts of social etiquette. The host is generally seated on a cushion, carpet or mat, exactly in the center of the side of the room opposite to the door, on the raised dais, which is commonly to be found in an Eastern hall or guest chamber. If the visitor be of inferior rank, the host remains seated, while the other advances, making a salaam or obeisance at each step, the form of which differs according as he is a slave, a freeman, a messenger, a suppliant or a trader. If he be of equal or nearly equal rank, the master rises and makes a step, or several steps, forward. And, as I have myself often experienced, in exact proportion to the number of his paces is the amount of consideration shown to the guest by the servants and others. But if an inferior is honored by the visit of a superior, all propriety demands that he should at once come forward and meet his visitor before or outside his door.—Gelike.

The whole story is a parable of men's way of treating the gospel, and of the gospel's way of treating men. Naaman wished to be dealt with as a great man who happened to be a leper; Elisha dealt with him as a leper who happened to be a great man. So many of us take offense at being put on a level with the poorest, least cultivated and most sinful, and at having to go in at the same narrow gate. There is no private entrance to the kingdom of heaven for the wise and prudent, and no carriage entrance for the rich. We all have to come as sinners; that common characteristic obscures our differences of rank, wealth, ability or education, and if we insist on our being dealt with otherwise than the mass of our inferiors in these respects are dealt with, we shall not be healed.—Thompson.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. Why is the disease of leprosy so typical of sin?
2. Can a friend of God ever be without opportunity to do good?
3. What are the chief benefits of misfortune?
4. May one seek God in the wrong way and not find him?
5. What is more valuable than bodily health?
6. Why is the simplicity of salvation in Jesus sometimes a stumbling block?
7. Why is the spirit of obedience the most essential thing?

GREEN TEA WILL BE YELLOW IN FUTURE

There will be no more green tea after May 1. Fare-thee-well, green tea devotees. Green tea will be yellow. The national tea board, a branch of the pure food commission, has decided that green tea cannot pass the customs office. To enter it must be yellow or straw-colored.

Green tea that is green has been green only because the Chinese and Japanese tea exporters have colored it with a copper powder for preservative purposes. The copper gave the leaves a hue like polished emerald. Its use came into general practice when the voyages to this country occupied many more days than at present.

Rapid transit has made it unnecessary to "embalm" the tea and after May 1 it will be received in its native dress of yellow. Black tea is simply left in the sun to cure.

One kind of green tea will be permitted to come in although it is not really green. It is termed Japan tea and is more expensive and more nearly black than ordinary green tea. This brand is especially cured in bamboo baskets in the sun.

CONFERENCE OF ENDEAVORERS

Big Meeting to Be Held at Glen Avon Presbyterian Church.

Tomorrow evening the Christian Endeavors of Duluth and vicinity will hold the regular quarterly rally at the Glen Avon Presbyterian church and the officials of the local union, headed by President Cecil J. Hockin, have arranged a meeting that is expected to eclipse anything ever held in the city, with the possible exception of the sessions of the Christian Endeavor convention held here several years ago.

The meeting will begin at 8:15 p. m., and special street car service has been arranged to take care of the crowd. The union has about 500 members in Duluth, and Cloquet, Carlton and other nearby towns have agreed to send delegates to the meeting, so a large crowd is expected.

The following program has been prepared:

Vocal solo .....
Mrs. Lowrie of Cloquet.
Organ solo .....
Mrs. L. A. Marvin.
Reading .....
Miss Agnes Johnson.
Vocal solo .....
Miss Maude Matteson.
Address .....
Rev. J. C. Faries.

Mrs. L. A. Marvin will be accompanist for the song service and Mr. Faries will lead the singing.

Much in the way of business is to come up at this meeting, including the name of a delegate to the Atlantic City convention and the discussion of plans to land the state convention for Duluth in 1912. Many of the societies have announced that they will be present with their full membership to capture the banner for attendance, and the union has invited all pastors, all friends of the Christian Endeavor work and strangers to attend. Following the business and the address of the evening the Glen Avon society will serve refreshments to their visitors.

MILWAUKEE MEN TO VISIT DULUTH

Large Delegation Is Coming on Annual Excursion in June.

Official notification has been received of the proposed visit of a large delegation of Milwaukee business men during the second week of June on the eleventh annual excursion of the Merchants and Manufacturers association of that city. The special train, consisting of nine coaches, will leave Milwaukee June 5 to follow an itinerary which includes forty cities in Northern Illinois, Western Wisconsin and Northeastern Minnesota.

The annual excursion is in line with previous trips taken by the Merchants and Manufacturers association through territory tributary to Milwaukee trade. The Merchants and Manufacturers association is the representative business organization of Milwaukee with a membership of more than 1,000, composed of the leading business houses of the Cream City. In previous years trips have been taken through Northern Wisconsin and the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, Southwestern Wisconsin and Iowa, and the Dakotas. This year the Milwaukee business men will devote their entire itinerary to territory within and very near the Badger state.

CONTRACT LET TO McLEOD & SMITH

Rust-Parker-Martin Building Will Be Completed Aug. 15.

The contract for the Rust-Parker-Martin company's wholesale house on Lake avenue was let yesterday to McLeod & Smith, and the assembling of material for the construction will begin immediately. The piling has already been driven, and the contractors on the superstructure will be able to proceed with the work without delay. The contract calls for the completion of the building by Aug. 15 of this year.

The building will be eight stories in height and will be of reinforced concrete construction, with the outer walls of brick and tile. It will be as nearly fireproof as possible, as no wood will be used in the construction except where absolutely necessary.

The building will front fifty feet on Lake avenue and will run back 257 feet to the slip. It will have direct railroad and water connections, and the interior equipment of the building will include every device for the expeditious transaction of business. The Rust-Parker-Martin company has been in business since Aug. 15, 1910, and its growth has been rapid.

W. A. Hunt is architect for the new building.

STRONG MAN SANDOW IS TRAINER TO KING GEORGE.

New York, March 30.—King George of England is probably the only sovereign in Europe who has an athletic "trainor." He has just honored Eugene Sandow, the strong man, with an appointment by royal warrant to be "professor of scientific and physical culture to his majesty." Press dispatches declare, however, that the honor is a recognition of Sandow's efforts at improving the physique of the rank and file of the British army rather than acknowledgment that any personal benefit would be derived by the king from his services.

TRUSKETT FOUND GUILTY OF MURDERING FRIEND.

Independence, Mo., March 30.—A. A. Truskett, 70 years old, a wealthy business man of Caney, Kan., last night was found guilty of murdering J. D. S. Neeley, a millionaire oil man of Lima, Ohio. The jury had been out since 6 o'clock Tuesday night and returned its verdict of second degree murder at 9 o'clock last night.

CARNIVAL PLANS GROW

Elaborate Water Parade Will Be Held on Opening Evening.

Carnival Night Will Follow With Dancing, Music and Masked Revelry.

The big pageant night and the grand carnival night were decided upon at a meeting yesterday afternoon of the carnival and program committees of the Duluth Illuminated Carnival.

Pageant night will come on the evening of July 20, the opening day of the big show, and carnival night will be July 21. Special features are being evolved at the present time for both evenings.

Committee members stated that the water parade will be more spectacular, more elaborate and more beautiful than ever before. Several unique features are being planned at the present time, and it has been given out by the committee that there will be a series of distinct surprises in store for Duluth people and the hundreds of visitors expected in the city.

Carnival night will be replete with fancy dances, beautiful music, for it is expected that there will be a number of outside bands here; confetti throwing, masked marches and zig zags, and in general will be a typical carnival something on the order of the famous Mardi Gras of New Orleans.

One of the big features of the entire carnival, according to the decision reached yesterday by the committee members, will be the water sports. It is believed that the people of Duluth take a deep interest in water sports in general, and with this belief the program committee will go ahead and arrange the most elaborate program of water sports that has ever been held in the Northwest.

It is planned to have crack swimmers from all over the West meet here, and special canoe races, log rolling contests, canoe tilting, high diving and fancy swimming exhibitions will go to make up a series of events that should attract some of the best swimmers of the Northwest.

An effort will be made to induce some of the crack swimmers of the Chicago and Illinois athletic clubs to come up here and take part in the swimming events.

All of the committees are hard at work and the work of whipping into shape an exhibition that will take rank among the big events of its kind in the West, has assumed definite shape and direction.

WOMAN MAY HEAD ST. LOUIS CLUB

Mrs. Britton Says She Will Succeed M. Stanley Robison.

Cleveland, March 30.—Mrs. Helen Hathaway Robison Britton, niece of the late M. Stanley Robison, principal owner of the St. Louis National Baseball club, who died here last week, will be the next president of the club, she announced here yesterday. Mrs. Britton inherits her uncle's stock under his will probated yesterday.

No Law Against It.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 30.—August Herrmann, who is one of the directors of the National league, said when told that Mrs. Britton is likely to be president of the St. Louis club and therefore become a member of the National league, that there is nothing in baseball rules to prevent her from serving.

"Nor will there be any National league member seek to prevent the young woman from serving," Herrmann said. "Should Mrs. Britton ever attend a meeting of the league directors as president of the St. Louis club, she will be accorded more than the ordinary courtesy. But I imagine that some time, but not in the near future, there will be changes in ownership, or at least in active management that will result in a man becoming president of the St. Louis club."

PRESIDENT LYNCH'S OFFICIAL BULLETIN.

New York, March 30.—Contracts and releases approved by the National league were announced by President Lynch last night as follows:

Releases: Chicago to Danville, William B. Kirman, R. T. Fisher; to St. Paul, A. A., C. P. Beaumont, C. R. Clark, J. F. Cook, Jr.; to Spokane, N. W. L., Philip Conley; to New Orleans, Leo Anzelmeier. By Cincinnati to Los Angeles, Infielder Moore. By Philadelphia to Chattanooga, W. V. Cannell. By Pittsburg to Indianapolis, A. A., Eugene Moore.

NEW YORK BOXING LAW TO BE TESTED.

New York, March 30.—A test of the New York state boxing law under which many "clubs" have sprung up and under whose guidance numerous fights or sparring exhibitions are held weekly throughout the state, is to be made before the court of general sessions. William J. Brown, owner of Brown's gymnasium and president of the Brown's Athletic association, and Daniel Sullivan, who fought Frank Matell on the night of March 21, were each held, yesterday, in $100 bail by a police magistrate, who found them guilty of having violated the boxing law.

CY YOUNG IS 44 YEARS OLD

DENTON P. (CY) YOUNG.

Kansas City, Mo., March 30.—Denton P. (Cy) Young, who is here with the second division of the Cleveland American league baseball squad, was 44 years old yesterday. He was the recipient of numerous telegrams of congratulation from baseball players and followers of the game.

Young was born at Gilmore, Ohio. This is his twenty-second year in major league baseball, he having joined the Cleveland club in 1890. He is in better physical condition now than he has been for two years. He scouts the suggestion that he is ready for retirement.

To date Young has won 504 and lost 306 games he has pitched in the major leagues. This gives him a winning per cent of .622.

The veteran player's record shows that in the last ten years he has not passed as many men as he did in the first ten years of his playing, indicating that he is acquiring control with age.

SPECULATION IS DENOUNCED

Des Moines Club Censured and Player Made Free Agent.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 30.—"The attempt of the Class A Des Moines club to place this player with the Class C Elgin club at a monthly rental of $50 is one of the pettiest and most pernicious acts of speculation in players ever called to the attention of the national commission," said the supreme court of baseball yesterday in a decision declaring Player Penfold a free agent and nullifying his 1911 contract with Des Moines.

The evidence showed that Penfold, whose home is in Chicago, had signed to play with Des Moines at $125 a month; that on May 3, last, he was ordered to report to Elgin with instructions to sign an Elgin contract for $175 a month and remit $50 a month to the Des Moines club.

COMMENTS AND OPINIONS ON THE SPORTING PARADE

Al Van Kraenzelein's Great Race in Paris—The New Baseball Park—Socialist Newspaper in the Sport Field—Will Artha' Train in Jail?

(BY BRUCE.)

YOU will find occasionally articles from the pen of one of the greatest athletes who ever stood in running shoes and waited for the starter's word. This man is Al van Kraenzelein, now the athletic trainer at the University of Michigan, and at one time the greatest hurdler in this or any other country.

This tall and angular chap is from the West. Before he came under the very wise eye of Mike Murphy, an Irishman with wit and wisdom and discretion of the highest sort, he was winning high jump events at one of the leading colleges of this section of Uncle Sam's domains.

It was only when Murphy got hold of the youngster that he blossomed into his full glory as one of the greatest athletes who ever came out of college or athletic club training quarters. It might be said right here that it is very doubtful if there has ever been an athlete like this same Kraenzelein.

He developed into a hurdler and also became one of the greatest broad jumpers this country ever produced, as well as a high jumper and a great 100-yard man. It is said that he could also put the shot and throw the hammer, could play a corking good game of baseball and football, but that Murphy decided he would limit the abilities of the young man to two or three events.

One season the tall and long-legged Mr. Kraenzelein won the 100-yard dash, the broad jump and both of the hurdle races in the intercollegiate events. It might be added here, for the sake of the truth alone, that there were some other men on the track team of the University of Pennsylvania that season, however serious their presence might have seemed.

This story started with one of the greatest hurdling feats ever accomplished, as the exact of its being. Maybe it has wandered. Back to the straight and narrow. The story is quite the thing.

Kraenzelein and Mahoney and McClain were all members of the American track team that competed in the Paris events when the Olympiad was held in the sultry city. Mahoney was from the University of Chicago and a great hurdler. McClain was from the University of Michigan and also one of the fastest men in the West.

These three men were lined up at the starting line in the 120-yard hurdle event. Somehow Mahoney and McClain happened to beat the gun and beat it in a manner both thorough and artistic. They were not called back for some reason and were at the first hurdle before Kraenzelein got started. Any man in the least familiar with track events will tell you what an awful handicap this meant.

The two runners, both crack hurdlers, were something like ten yards in front of the Pennsylvania crack before he even arose from his crouching position with the crack of the gun. The lank Quaker hurdler was off with the flash of the gun and set out after the flying pair.

It has been said that never before or since has such an exhibition of hurdling been given in any country as the Frenchmen were permitted to witness that day. Will you believe it, when it is stated that Kraenzelein caught and passed his rivals and won the race?

He did, and in doing so he ran one of the greatest races that has ever been run in the history of track athletes of the whole, great world, and that is one of the reasons that when you read some article signed by this fellow, or about him, you will want to know that he was perhaps the greatest individual performer who ever donned the spiked shoes, and Percy, quite a number of the boys have been up in the star class.

Pardon Baseball in This Weather.

A MAN might almost be lynched for talking baseball in some parts of the country in this kind of weather. Talking baseball just now seems like holding light and airy conversation with the coal man while he tells you that 'ere large and formidable bill is positively correct in every detail.

About 'steen scores of people have asked for information on the new baseball plant, and about that many more have either telephoned or written in. The which of all pardoning the hone cake language of Louisiana, goes to show that there is a deal of interest in the proposed venture.

Mister Jawn Desmond is at the present time slightly indisposed at his domicile. Grip has a hammerlock on him for the time being. He will be out and doing in a few days and then, with the assistance of the weather, according to the latest accounts, preliminary work on the park will start within a few days.

There has also been some talk about the proposed park being in reality as far away from town as Athletic park. That viewpoint will be changed if the street car company and the aerial bridge people will give the fans the service to which they are entitled. If there was a tunnel, for instance, the location of the proposed new park would be considered a mere stone's throw from the very center of the business section.

If the right kind of service is given, there is every reason to believe that the new park will be an easy ten minutes' ride from the Fifth avenue corner of Superior street, and its location down there should, on the sultry summer afternons, prove a great attraction to the fans.

Jawn has had this dream for some time and he apparently has the energy to push it through. Duluth needs live men in the baseball game, and if anybody is going to make a success of the game here, it will require a man with the nerve of genial Jawn.

The man who tackles things in this world is, after all, the man who gets ahead. If Mister Desmond gives us a new baseball park he will have accomplished something after all, and it will very probably be shown before the summer is very old that the boys around town appreciate the Desmond brand of industry.

Breaking Into the Sporting Game.

MAYBE some of you failed to take a deep and abiding notice of it, but do some of you remember the mere mention of the fact that Sampson, the German wrestler, recently deposited a forfeit of $1,000 and the amount was placed in the hands of the sporting editor of one of the Socialist newspapers of Chicago. As far as the writer knows, this is the first time in this country that one of the Socialist papers has ever figured in a big sporting event. All of which shows progress.

You know, Bill, that every first-class paper these days has a good, live sporting page, and the blossoming out of a certain Socialist paper of Chicago with an up-to-date and live sporting page goes to show that the manager of this rag has the right idea in increasing the popularity of his sheet.

Will He Train in Jail?

WILL Lil' Artha climb up and down the bars of his cell and do some runs up and down the steel corridors to keep himself in condition? One wonders. They used to have Sandy Ferguson in the jail every so often. Jail was like a sweet, motto-hung home to erring Sandy. On one of his numerous trips to the calaboose, the big Scot received a challenge from some fighter. He accepted it and started light training in the jail.

Right here it is suggested that breaking rocks is one of the very best methods of getting into condition. At any health resort they will tell you the same. In addition, breaking stones calms the mind, aids digestion and induces sleep.

After the somewhat wild and frivilous, not to say butterfly, existence that the black has been leading of late, this jail stuff might be a pretty good thing for him. Feed a man on whipped cream and chocolate creams and cream puffs, and you will find him longing for some of the old three-square fodder. Some of the prison prunes and simple food should help Artha.

WINONA GETS GEORGE DAUSS

Star White Sox Twirler Sold to Pirates By Mike Kelly.

Winona, Minn., March 30.—The biggest baseball news of the season for Winona fans is that George Dauss, star Duluth pitcher, has been released by Manager Mike Kelly of St. Paul to Winona. Dauss is now with the Saints at Excelsior Springs, Mo. He was sold to the Pirates for $100 and the papers were received yesterday by President Conrad. Dauss was one of the best pitchers in the Minny league last year and pitched some marvelous games. He nearly made good with the Saints this spring and may be recalled by Kelly before the season is over if needed. Dauss is a strong batter, and a pinch pitcher. "Twas often his pitch in time that saved the nine" for Duluth last year, and he was the mainstay of the Sox. Winona pennant winning stock goes up with Dauss in the nine. Dauss has a pitching record of .500 in his eighteen games with the Sox last year; he won seven and lost seven and was tied in one. He stood tenth in pitchers' fielding with .967; made only two errors in thirty-one games; had forty-five assists and five putouts.

Swanson, the star outfielder of Red Wing last year, has signed at Chicago, according to a letter from Joe Killian, yesterday. Malloy is expected to sign shortly. Landry of Superior, playing 124 to Swanson's 114, was the only fielder who outshone Swanson in all the league. Swanson stands eighth in the list of fielders with .977, Landry seven with .979. Swanson got 225 putouts to 221 by Landry and six errors to five by the Red Sock. He had thirty assists, or seven more than any other outfielder counted. Swanson batted .272 and stole seventeen bags.

Manager Killian has already scheduled three pre-season games as follows: Saturday, April 22, La Crosse Clothiers; Sunday, April 23, Dubuque Cubs; Sunday, April 30, St. Paul Conrads. President Conrad disclaims any interest in the latter team and threatens to bench all the players on the nine and work in the "pretzel station" himself if Killian and Dauss don't beat the Cigarmakers.

Otto Koepping and Jim Crangle have reported to Davenport.

INDIANS WILL LOSE BLACK

Crack Third Baseman Will Not Report With Red Wing Candidates.

Red Wing, Minn., March 30.—In all probability candidates for positions on the Red Wing ball team will assemble in this city earlier than April 27. The association directors believe that it would be unwise to call the bunch together at this late date and the time for the first rehearsal will probably be set a week earlier than at first planned.

That Black will not return to the fold now seems a certainty. The little third-sacker announces that he is through with league ball but will play Saturdays and Sundays with the Gunthers of Chicago. McGarry, the man signed to take care of the difficult corner, is said to be a lightning fast fielder and a fair hitter. McGarry played with Lethbridge two seasons and also starred on the famous independent team which represented Alexandria three years ago.

The first base position will be covered by the playing manager. Cook should be able to do justice to that cushion. He ought to field better than Joe Kelly and he feels confident that he can hit the pill at a 300 clip.

Cook has signed a fast semi-pro for second base but for the present his name is withheld. Every effort will be made to land an infield of experienced league players.

The chances of landing a fast man for the short field looks better every day. This position will undoubtedly be filled in a day or two.

With Weidel, Fautsch, Jonson, Pearl and Spillane the pitching staff is fully as strong as any in the league.

The catching department looms up fairly strong with Hilding, reporting June 1, and Anderson and Bill Fehle ready to receive at the sound of the gong.

It is possible that Anderson will be sent to right garden and Fautsch for a starter will be sent to center field. What Red Wing needs most is an outfield.

PHIL MOORE WINS HALF-MILE RUN.

At the Y. M. C. A. last evening Phil Moore copped the half mile run in 2:28, which is very good time on a track as small as the association oval. The event was well contested and brought out a good field of starters.

Following is the order of time made in the event: Phil Moore, 2:28; Capen, 2:32; Goldsmith, 2:34; Patrick, 2:34; William Nelson, 2:34 3-15; Mondshiem, 2:35; Beschenbossel, 2:35; C. A. Johnson, 2:36; Maslund, 2:37; George Bailey, 2:40; Zellinger, 2:43; Coning, 2:44; Sands, 2:45; Persgard, 2:46; Berkelman, 2:46 2-5; Cameron, 2:48, and J. Moore, 2:51.

George Bailey still leads in the point standing, having 755 points to his credit in the list of events that have been contested, J. Naslund following with 700 and W. R. Cameron standing third with 633.

LANGFORD IS LONDON CARD

London, March 30.—To the English sportsmen Sam Langford has become one of the wonders of the world. His training quarters at Wembly, a suburb a few miles northwest of London, is the Mecca for all the fight fans in this part of the globe.

Round about Wembly Langford has splendid roads for his outdoor work. His training party, which includes Bob Armstrong, "Porky" Flynn, George Byers and Prof. Davis, has taken possession of an English inn called the Norfolk Arms on the outskirts of the town, and from there a start is made every morning.

Six or seven miles are covered and the men are back at the inn by 11 o'clock. Until dinner time—I o'clock—Sam and his party sit around a great open fire in a big reception room on the second floor reading the papers or playing cards.

Just before dinner Sam entertains the training camp and visitors to some of his ragtime piano playing. When he is at the piano he seems to imagine he is in the ring and is intent upon making every blow a knockout.

At 1 o'clock dinner is announced. No English fare for Sam and his party. Pies, buckwheat cakes and cornbread form a good part of the menu.

An hour later the men are in the gymnasium. Sam throws the medicine ball with Byers and Armstrong. Then he indulges in shadow boxing and exercises of the arms and body, following by rope skipping. Finally Sam dons the gloves. Armstrong is the first to get his dose. Sam hooks, swings upper cuts and jabs, and "loops the loop," and Armstrong grunts and grimaces as the blows go home. And all the while the English fight fans are crowding Langford's training quarters.

WELLS COMING OVER.

English Champion Will Meet the Best American Lightweights.

Matt Wells, present holder of the English lightweight championship and Lord Lonsdale's belt, is coming to America shortly, prepared to meet all comers at the English limit, 135 pounds, at 2 o'clock.

Wells will make the Fairmont A. C. of New York his headquarters while in America, and will probably box Packey McFarland in that arena some time in May or June.

If Freddie Welsh wants another crack at him, Wells says the former English champion will be accommodated.

But there is no possible chance of a match between Wells and Wolgast or any other boxer who insists upon 133 pounds ringside. Wells could not make that weight without reducing himself to a skeleton. He can scarcely make 135 pounds at 2 o'clock, and would be much stronger if he could weigh in at 140.

Wells, therefore, is barred from competing for the title now held by Wolgast, but is just cut out for McFarland, who, in the opinion of Welsh, can make the new English champion look like a boob in a ten-round bout.

KAUFMANN WON'T FIGHT LANGFORD

Big Al Turns Down Offer of $10,000 to Meet Tar Baby.

New York, March 30.—Al Kaufmann, the California heavyweight, has turned down an offer of a $10,000 guarantee to box twenty rounds with Sam Langford in Paris, France. An agent of Hugh McIntosh, who is promoting glove contests in Paris, made this proposition to Kaufmann the other day and met with a prompt refusal.

Kaufmann declared that he wouldn't make a match with anybody until he had failed to arrange a fight with Jack Johnson. He said he wasn't afraid of Langford, and expressed a willingness to meet the Boston Tar Baby in due time, but not just now. It was McIntosh's plan to match Kaufmann and Langford with the idea of putting the winner against Johnson next fall, but Kaufmann's attitude has blocked the negotiations.

Prior to Langford's scrap with Bill Lang, the Australian, in London last month, Kaufmann was busy telling his friends that he was anxious to show his supremacy over the Boston slugger. But the easy way in which Langford disposed of the Antipodean is said to have raised a doubt in Kaufmann's mind.

It will be recalled that in Philadelphia last fall Kaufmann had his hands full outpointing Lang in a six-round bout. Lang complained of a broken wrist after the second round was over, yet there never was a moment when he was in danger of a knockout. As a matter of fact, he made Kaufmann extend himself to win the popular verdict, and at that the Californian didn't cover himself with glory. Just prior to that affair Langford refused to go through with a bout in which Kaufmann was the other principal.

At the last moment Langford refused to fight because of a personal matter with the manager of the bout. Kaufmann, however, charged Langford with being chicken-hearted and proceeded to make capital out of the fiasco. But Kaufmann's refusal to take $10,000 for a scrap with Langford in Paris is regarded as conclusive proof that the Californian doesn't care for the Tar Baby's game.

EIGHT-CYCINDER BOAT FOR DULUTH MAN.

St. Paul, Minn., March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Duluth folks interested in motor boat races have been keenly concerned over an 8-cylinder motor boat, said to be designed to be one of the fastest afloat, which is being built for a Duluth man. Henry Ribenack was visiting his brother, Representative Ribenack, yesterday, and rumor connected his visit to the Twin Cities with the new boat. Warning to Railroad Men.

Look out for severe and even dangerous kidney and bladder trouble resulting from years of railroading. Geo. E. Belt, 639 Third St., Fort Wayne, Ind., was many years a conductor on the Nickel Plate. He says: "Twenty years of railroading left my kidneys in terrible condition. There was a continual pain across my back and hips and my kidneys gave me much distress, and the action of my bladder was frequent and most painful. I got a supply of Foley Kidney Pills and the first bottle made a wonderful improvement and four bottles cured me completely. Since being cured I have recommended Foley Kidney Pills to many of my railroad friends." Sold by all druggists.

ON THE IRON RANGES

THREE SQUABBLE OVER STORE RENT

Eveleth Trio Facing Court Proceedings Over Renting Storeroom.

Eveleth Minn., March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Robert Mantel, M. Feldman and M. S. Greenblatt, local merchants are involved in a legal tangle which attorneys believe is due to the fact that Mr. Feldman failed to have his wife affix her signature to the five-year lease made with Mr. Greenblatt for the Bazaar, owned by the former. Greenblatt's attorneys claim that under the state law governing leases, owners must have their wives' name signed to a five-year contract.

Mr. Greenblatt recently vacated the building and sold his stock to Mr. Mantel, the latter believing he would easily secure steady possession of the store, but Feldman refuses to rent it, as he says he will hold Greenblatt for three and a half years' more rent. All the principals have been consulting lawyers and the matter will in all probability be aired in the courts. In the meantime the building is empty and Mr. Mantel has removed the stock purchased from Mr. Greenblatt to his old quarters.

FORMER MESABA RANGE MAN DIES

M. P. Larrabee Who Located Rich Iron Mines Called in Wisconsin.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., March 30.—M. T. Larrabee, aged 60, died yesterday of Bright's disease at the home of his brother-in-law, Dr. H. McCormick at New Auburn, Wis. He was a prominent timber and mine owner, and came to this city years ago. He lived here until four years ago, when he moved to Minneapolis, where he has resided in the winter, spending his summers in the Long lake region in this county. While a timber cruiser, he located for himself a choice tract of iron land on the Mesaba range in Minnesota, which was afterward developed into an iron mine that brought him great wealth. He was also a holder of coal and timber lands on the Pacific coast. A widow, two sons and a daughter survive. Interment will be made here.

LEAGUE FORMED AT DEER RIVER

Civic Improvement Back of Organization That Has Elected Officers.

Deer River, Minn., March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting held in the high school Monday evening for the purpose of perfecting the organization of a civic improvement league, the committee on permanent organization reported and submitted a constitution, which was adopted after several additions and amendments. The following officers were elected: President, M. J. Moran; vice president, W. B Taylor; secretary, C. W. Emery; treasurer, A. D. Ingersoll. Regular meetings of the society will be held on the first Monday of each month. The membership list is already well started and the name of every good citizen in the community should be enrolled. The roll will be held open for charter membership until April 30. The next meeting will be held in the high school building next Monday evening. Let the good work of improving and beautifying the village move forward.

Mr Dickerson of Grand Rapids was here Tuesday looking over the situation for the establishing of a public library at this place. He thinks the outlook is very good and there is no question but that Deer River will have a public library in the near future.

The Eileen Oge troupe, which left Saturday to play at Cohassett, was greeted here by a full house.

Attorney Shear of the county seat was a business visitor here Wednesday.

Miss Jennie Patrick was among those from Deer River attending the surprise party given on Mrs. George Dewey at Grand Rapids Saturday.

Rheumatism Comes From Bad Kidneys

Once Your Kidneys Work Properly, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease and Bladder Trouble Disappear—How to Cure Yourself.

It is no longer necessary to spend months and months undergoing a complicated treatment for rheumatism, kidney or bladder trouble, or spend a good many dollars in doctors' bills

A new treatment can now be obtained which seems to act more like a marvel than a medicine. This treatment has produced such satisfactory results in a short time that it is now guaranteed from first to last.

There should be no more doubt about the rapid cure of rheumatism, no fears of the fatal termination of treacherous kidney disease or dropsy.

Rheumatism means nothing more nor less than that your kidneys do not work properly. Your blood passes through the kidneys hundreds of times a day to be filtered and purified. When the kidneys are weak, the poisons are not taken out of the blood as they should be. This leads to various diseases, such as rheumatism, terrible Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy and bladder trouble.

The new guaranteed treatment is Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills. One day's use of them will prove their remarkable effect. M. T. Ridenour of Lima, Ohio, says: "When I feel bad in my back, I just take a couple of Derby's Kidney Pills and get immediate relief."

If you have rheumatism anywhere, back pains, cloudy, foul urine, pains in the bladder, Bright's disease or diabetes, put your whole confidence in Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills, and you will not be disappointed.

Dr. Derby's Kidney Pills are sold at all drug stores—25 and 50 cents, or we will send them direct from the laboratory of Derby Medicine Co., Eaton Rapids, Mich., prepaid if you wish. If you want to try them first, just tell your druggist to give you a free sample package.

VIRGINIANS ARE GETTING RESTIVE

Weary of Waiting for Government Building; Will Urge Miller to Action.

Virginia, Minn., March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—Congressman Miller will be asked to get busy on the federal building proposition for Virginia, the secretary of the Virginia Commercial club, W. J. Archer, having been so instructed to write Mr. Miller at a meeting of the publicity committee at a meeting held last night. The federal building proposition has been dragging along for over three years and Virginians are tired of waiting for something which they are entitled to. The government has already secured lots in this city upon which to erect such a building and it is reasonable to suppose that something ought to be done to relieve the situation here. The present postoffice quarters are inadequate to take care of the immense volume of business carried on here and the Commercial club wants Mr. Miller to do something in this line if it is possible for him to do so.

Also Want Postal Bank.

Mr. Miller will also be asked to take up the matter of establishing a postal savings bank for Virginia. It is realized that there is a large amount of money stored away here every month which does not go into the banks nor is not put in circulation and it is considered that the postal bank proposition will bring it out.

The advertising of Virginia was also discussed quite thoroughly and it was the consensus of opinion that electric signs along the main street might be the best plan of advertising, and the secretary was instructed to write several firms and secure prices for different signs.

Nell McInnis, chairman of the board of county commissioners, will be asked permission to hold a reception and entertainment at the opening of the new range courthouse, to take place some time during the next week or two, or shortly after the court and officials move into the building. It is planned by the committee to hold a reception and literary and musical entertainment during the afternoon and evening of the opening, at which time all the county officials and court officials of the county will be invited to participate.

HILL MINE ACTIVITIES.

It Is Expected Records Will Be Broken This Year.

Hibbing, Minn., March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is expected this year will be a record breaker in the way of ore shipments from the Hill mine here.

The Great Northern has a large crew at work between here and Calumet putting in several sidetracks from the Hill mine pit to the main line.

One more steam shovel was added yesterday, making a total of eight shovels and fifteen locomotives in operation, and all is in readiness for the opening of the shipping season.

The heavy fall of rain is delaying operations, as water drained into No. 1 shaft so fast that several pumps were drowned out, and the sudden drop in temperature delayed stripping somewhat, in that it froze the mud in dump cars loaded the night before.

Extra forces are busy night and day.

He speaks of the schools in this northern country as the most up-to-date institutions in the country. In speaking of Deer River, the writer says that under the management of Supt. George E. Keenan, the Deer River schools are equal to those found in cities twice its size. Deer River, the westernmost point in the iron range, has a group of twenty-eight teachers, including those at the locations and though very new, everything is complete and the work thoroughly modern.

SNOW

Just when one begins to think that Duluth is in the banana belt, the weather man sends along a few samples of his product to dispel such impressions. 'Twas some snow storm, Mercedes, but if you would enjoy skiing once more this year, you would do well to get out your skis in a hurry, for this is the kind of snow that melts quickly. Nine inches fell in the two days and rubbers are decidedly in style. A few more scattered flakes of snow are promised for tonight or tomorrow and the temperature will drop below the freezing point again tonight. Put your bets on the line and you'll even be safe in giving odds.

Fair weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 5:51 and it will set at 6:34 this evening, giving twelve hours and forty-three minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The storm general Wednesday morning has increased in intensity and has advanced its center to Quebec. During the last twenty-four hours this disturbance caused snow or rain in Eastern Canada, the Lake region, Upper Mississippi and Ohio valleys and in Atlantic states as far south as North Carolina. Somewhat colder weather prevails this morning over Iowa, the Dakotas and Minnesota in connection with higher barometric pressure. Another disturbance developing over Montana has caused some snow over the eastern part of that state and warmer weather over Utah, Wyoming, Idaho and Western Montana. It is not expected that the temperature at the Head of the Lakes will change very much during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 30.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Friday:

Wisconsin—Probably cloudy and unsettled tonight and Friday; not much change in temperature.

Shrouded With Secrecy.

The movements of the government leading up to the indictments were shrouded in the greatest secrecy. On April 2, 1910, however, when indictments were obtained, raids on "shops" in seven cities were made simultaneously, wires were cut and customers were thrown into panic. Since then, according to Attorney General Wickersham, "bucketshopping" has become a thing of the past east of Denver.

The government announced today its intention to appeal from Justice Wright's decision.

The attorney general, when informed of the finding, declared he would carry the question to the supreme court of the United States, if necessary, for he is anxious to have the matter determined in order that the department may proceed with furtner prosecutions along the same line, if the law is upheld.

In the meantime the law officers of the government will watch carefully the progress of an appeal of others of the indicted "bucketshoppers" now pending before Justice Gould of the same court. This appeal is not taken on constitutional grounds but raises technical objections.

CONDON IS UNINJURED

Second Woodsman Not Killed By Edward Davis at Brimson.

Brought to Duluth—Remembers Nothing of the Fight.

When James Condon awoke after a drunken slumber which lasted from about 8 o'clock Tuesday until about 5 o'clock in the afternoon he found Charles Taylor dead upon the floor of his shack, near Brimson.

Condon claims he does not know anything about the murder committed there that morning. Ed. Davis had been with them, but he could remember nothing of the events that had taken place early in the morning. His head hurt so badly that he didn't care much what did happen, so he went back to sleep, he says.

Condon was brought to Duluth last evening by Deputy Sheriffs Stevens and King. Taylor's body was brought to Duluth and is now at Durkan & Crawford's undertaking rooms. Condon is held at the county jail as a witness.

It is not thought that Condon had anything to do with Taylor's death. If he took any hand in the matter, it was probably against Davis, as the two men had never been good friends. It is believed that Davis is telling the truth about the matter.

The murder took place in a lonely cabin two miles from Brimson, Tuesday morning. The men had gone there Monday and had taken a quantity of liquor with them. Monday night they drank and played cards until long after sunrise. It was then that Davis and Taylor had an argument, and according to the story told by Davis, Taylor picked up a canthook and struck him with it. Davis says that he took the hook away from Taylor and hit him with it. Condon had interfered and he was floored. Davis then caught the train for Duluth. On the train he told of his act and surrendered to Deputy Sheriffs Stevens and O'Dea, who were on the train.

Condon was alone with Taylor's body for some hours. It was not until 1:30 on the afternoon of Tuesday that Emil Johnson, the farmer to whom Davis had shouted that he had killed a man, went to the cabin to investigate. He found Taylor's body on the floor of the shack, but he did not notice Condon, who was on the bunk asleep. There was a quantity of bed clothing over him and as he made no noise he was overlooked.

Both Davis and Condon are held at the county jail.

They were never good friends, according to Davis. He says that they have had trouble at different times.

Taylor, the man who was killed, had been living on the homestead for two years and had intended to prove up soon. He came to Brimson from Canada.

Coroner McCuen will hold a post-mortem examination on the body today.

According to Deputy Sheriff Stevens, the cabin is about sixteen feet square. There was a single bunk in one corner. Taylor was on the floor between the stove and the bunk. He had an ugly gash across the head and another long out across the right hand. The floor was strewn with dirty dishes, food, a broken jug, an old cant hook, torn clothing, and the "duckeys" which belonged to the men. Everything would indicate that there had been a struggle.

Davis will be arraigned in municipal court today.

If the reader of this has a friend or relative suffering from rheumatism it would be well to clip this prescription and present it. Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

You will find that this simple remedy takes hold of a cough more quickly than anything else you ever used. Usually ends a deep seated cough inside of 24 hours. Splendid, too, for whooping cough, chest pains, bronchitis and other throat troubles. It stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

This recipe makes more and better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly and tastes pleasantly.

Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and all the natural pine elements which are so healing to the membranes. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

This plan of making cough syrup with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) has proven so popular throughout the United States and Canada that it is often imitated. But the old, successful formula has never been equaled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

The Doctor

What Causes Appendicitis?

It seems as if the cause of appendicitis would be as widely and eagerly discussed as any question which has ever engaged the medical profession, and as the disease has become more common, or, perhaps, more surely recognized of late, it is well that it should be studied.

Some interesting suggestions have recently been put forward, one physician, for example, believing that the influenza germ is really responsible for every case of appendicitis, and that if we could successfully combat the former we should hear no more of trouble with the appendix.

Another theory, which in some respects is practical, is that nothing is so likely to cause an attack of appendicitis as sitting down on a damp or very cold seat.

Travelers are very careless, and in many cases inadequate means are taken to protect seats during wet weather. It is manifestly impossible for the busy conductor to do much toward covering or wiping down seats, but something might often be done by individuals on leaving their seats. Even if appendicitis be not related in any way to damp seats, other ills are.

Simple Cure for Whiter Ills.

When there are symptoms of cold in the head sixty drops of sal volatile may be taken in water as hot as can be borne, while another excellent preventive and cure is a glass of hot lemonade made of fresh lemon juice and honey and boiling water, drunk just before going to bed, in bed. Honey slowly eaten is excellent for a cough, while its properties are very soothing in the lemonade.

A little eucalyptus oil upon an old handkerchief or in a saucer placed on a table by the bed is a very good thing for a cold in the head, and will often ward off the evil or effect a cure when the cold is developed.

When toothache occurs in very cold weather, as is frequently the case, a visit should be paid to the dentist. But when the pain comes on at night it is a good plan to apply a hot water bottle to the affected part. Sleep will in many cases ensue after this treatment, and for a time, at any rate, the pain will be arrested. Neuralgia is often banished in the same way. Should it be possible to procure a bag filled with hot salt or bran, this will retain its heat longer than the hot water bottle will.

Camphor for Colds.

A good remedy for colds is a camphor inhalation. Put a teaspoonful of powdered camphor in a jug of boiling water and inhale the steam through the nose for five or ten minutes at a time. Repeat every four hours. Keep in the house and avoid going from one temperature to another. A few drops of spirits of camphor on a lump of sugar will assist the above treatment.

The "Follow-Up" Work

By CARA REESE.

Now comes the "follow up work." Now comes the rounding up of the pledges, the subscriptions and the promises made in the first burst of enthusiasm when the heralds were blowing the trumpets and the tapers were illuminating the idols and greasing the frosting on the birthday cakes. It is a long, hard job to clear a lot for farming and to till the soil and to gather folks far and near to witness the goodly sprouting. But there is a "follow up work" that is a longer and harder job yet.

There is a "follow up work" after the sowing. There is a "follow up work" for the churches as well as for the jubilee and its thanksgiving offerings. There ought to be thousands garnered into the fold. It is the "follow up work" which counts in most everything. Any one can start a business, or give a push and a shove as preliminary to an enterprise or make a statement or arraignment, but it is the "follow up work" which is going to win success or regulate or reform. There are "pilgrims of the night" in more ways than one. Likewise there are "heralds of the dawn" that make a stir and raise goodly hopes that in the end all may be right. There are indications of a coming rightcousness, gospel and civic; so far so good. But the "follow up work" must be the gauge of actual results and benefits.

There are "heralds of the dawn," genuine whitewings out for a cleanup of public highways. They do their individual work in routine fashion, but they never try to brush the street heaps along. The heaps are for the "follow up wagon." If the wagon fails in duty, the heaps soon spread out as a layer of dust and dirt as before. It is the "follow up work" that keeps the place trim. There is "follow up work" in household duties. A sad plight is the room which has been well swept, but not yet dusted. A disorderly looking table is the one at which a goodly meal has been partaken, but the dishes left as the diners finished. The garment may be carefully cut to pattern and fitted, but it is the "follow up work" that brings to perfection. The "follow up work" is ever the hardest and most tedious effort, but without it there can be neither finish nor excellence.

Ah, what a pity it is that promising opportunities are not worked out after a "follow up" system! What a pity that the good seed planted in the heart of youth ready for the same is not encouraged by a little friendly "follow up" talk or nurturing! What a pity that the signs of repentance and yielding in hardened or granite-like natures are not watched over and tended in a "follow up" ministration! Oh, the countless buds of promise that wither, the wise suggestions and ideas passed by in silence, the boundless possibilities in an assemblage of thousands and yet permitted to dwindle away with no attempt at a rounding up! There are proposed reforms which might have evangelized and made over the world, but they disappear in smoke. The vision is caught, but it eludes the grasp after all. It is only in the "follow up work" that permanent results are achieved. Be in at the start whenever possible, and fail not in the "follow up work" later.

A Mother's Influence

By FERDINAND C. IGLEHART.

The duke of Kent, in walking about the grounds at Kensington one rainy afternoon, got his feet wet, and, coming into the palace, instead of changing his boots and stockings, as he was advised to do, took his litti ebabe from her mother's lap and petted and played with her as she laughed and crowed at him, till a chill came on and pneumonia speedily caused his death.

The little fatherless babe was the Princess Victoria. Her mother, the duchess of Kent, was a wise and good woman, and deserves good credit for the manner in which she prepared her daughter for her crown. She was a rigid disciplinarian. She taught her daughter old-fashioned notions of industry, economy and study.

She kept from her as long as she could the fact that she was likely to be the queen, because she wanted to make of her a simple-hearted, modest, worthy girl. She let her run and romp, and ride horseback, and enjoy the scenes of nature, but required the closest application during the hours of study. So the girl queen came to her throne a simple child of nature, with a sane mind in a sound body, ready for her enormous responsibility.

Next to her mother, her governess, the Baroness Lehzen, had the largest influence in preparing the Princess Victoria for her throne. She had so much common sense, had such splendid views of life, and such a spotless character, and such a living faith in God that she breathed herself into the spirit of the child with the omnipotence of love.

Under the tuition of her mother and her governess, she appeared a girl of 18 with good health, a happy heart, a pure life, a knowledge of three languages, of history, of government, of everyday affairs; with reverence for the Bible, and an unfaltering faith in the providence of God and in the future life, worthy to take the crown of the greatest empire in the world.

Eternity alone can calculate the influence of a good mother on the destiny of her child.

"BUSY BEE"

John Mason sat in his handsomely furnished library with only his thoughts for companions. Just then they were taking a very unwelcome direction, but do what he would he could not get rid of them. He took up his magazine, but the type danced so persistently before his eyes that he gave up the attempt to read. It was Christmas eve and he hated the season, with its mocking message of "Peace on Earth." To him it brought no joy, but only the memory of a sorrow which had blighted his life. There was no "good will towards men" in his heart, only the savage rebellion against the fate that gave other men their desires in abundance, but would not even lay a healing touch upon that old wound.

He had not always hated Christmas. Once, nearly five years ago, he had thought it the loveliest time of the whole year, but that was before Jessie—How that thought would recur! It came again and again with an insistence that was well nigh maddening. Why should it torture him like this? It was not his fault—at least, not wholly. Jessie had made her choice and wrecked both their lives. What had become of her since then, he wondered. He had lost all trace of her as completely as though she had never existed. Probably she was married long since, and he was a fool to waste a thought upon her. She had never really cared for him, or she could not have given him up for the sake of an imaginary duty to her dead sister's child. Well, it was all over, and he must live his life as best he could, but he should never fill what ought by right to have been her place. That was sacred.

With a sigh that was almost a groan he rose from his chair by the fire and paused irresolutely, then pulled the curtains close over the windows and turned on the electric light. The room looked so cozy and inviting. If only Jessie had been there! He sat down to his desk and seized a pen, trying to distract his thoughts with work, but just then the door opened and in walked a self-possessed little maiden some 6 or 7 years old.

She paused for a moment inquiringly, then, having evidently found the face of the big man to her liking, she closed the door and came up to him confidingly. Who could she be? He had never seen her before, but doubtless she belonged to somebody who was paying a visit to Mrs. Davis, his housekeeper, or to one of the servants, and was wandering about on a tour of investigation. Usually he disliked children, but really this little girl was very bonny, with her large dark eyes and Gypsy coloring. He waited for her to speak.

"Good afternoon!" she said, politely and gravely. What a sweet, clear voice she had, and what a refined accent! Obviously a little lady.

"Good afternoon!" he responded, just as gravely.

"I came here with Mrs. Gray," the child went on, without the slightest trace of shyness.

"Indeed? And who is Mrs. Gray?"

"She is the lady where I live, and she is so kind!"

"And where do you live, little one?"

"My name is Bee, not 'little one,'" she corrected. "Don't you know Mrs. Gray?"

"I'm afraid I don't."

She shook her head regretfully.

"Let me sit on your knee, and I'll tell you about her," she suggested, with the air of one who knows the request will be complied with. He complied and the child went on:

"I've been here a lot of times."

"Have you, indeed?"

"Yes, but I've never seen you before, have I?"

"No, I think not."

"Mrs. Davis gives me cake sometimes. Does she give you any?"

"Sometimes."

"She is kind, isn't she? When she gives cake to Mrs. Grey, Mrs. Grey never eats it. Do you know what she does with it?"

"No, dear, I can't even guess. Won't you tell me?"

"She takes it home with her to divide amongst the children. There are such a lot of them. There's Mary and Florrie and George and Tom and Harry and Daisy and the baby.

"Let me see, that's seven."

"Yes," agreed Bee. "I can count," she added proudly.

"Can you? You are clever."

"Yes, and I know all my letters. Auntie taught me."

"Fancy that now!" he said admiringly.

"Don't you think it's very kind of Mrs. Grey to give the children her cake?"

"Very!"

"I 'magine she's a good mother"—approvingly.

"I'm sure she is, Bee."

"What funny little drawers!" the child said, pointing to the desk. "I would like to see inside them, and I mustn't ask. Auntie said it was rude." John laughed, but opened them.

"You haven't opened that one," she said, taking hold of the handle of the top drawer, which was locked. He frowned a little. It contained a photograph of Jessie and a few other trifles which belonged to the dear dead past.

"Now show me something else!" commanded her royal highness.

"I'm afraid I've nothing else to show you, Bee."

"Am I rude?" the child asked suddenly.

"No, dear, but—"

"Auntie calls me 'Busy Bee,' she said I'm 'quisitive. Do you think I'm 'quisitive?"—anxiously.

"Not very," said John reassuringly. Bee looked at him solemnly. Heavens, how like the child's eyes were to her's.

"I think I'll kiss you," she said, suiting action to words. "It's Christmas tomorrow," she continued. "Auntie has made some nice things for the children. Wouldn't you like to give them something, too?"

A pain like a knife stab shot through him. How selfish he had been! Perhaps if he had tried to live a little more for others and less for himself he might have found a sovereign balm for his aching wound, and it was this small "Busy Bee" who had artlessly shown him his duty. He stooped down, lifted the child high above his head, and kissed her.

"Come along, Bee," he said gaily. "We'll go out now, you and I, and buy some presents for the children. Shall we?" He rang the bell.

"That will be nice! I think you are a kind man," said Bee, with conviction.

"Mrs. Davis," said John, as the housekeeper appeared, "this little lady and I have been making friends, and we are just going out to purchase one or two Christmas boxes. Will you tell Mrs. Gray that the child is quite safe with me, and ask her to wrap her up warmly?"

Mrs. Davis looked her astonishment, but took Bee away, and in a few minutes reappeared with her comfortably clothed in scarlet cloak and hood. John was quite ready and the pair departed on their shopping expedition.

"Dear wee mite!" said Mrs. Gray, with tears in her eyes, as Bee told her what she was going to do. "She's always thinking of the children, bless her innocent little heart!"

When they came back the little girl was tired but happy, and her eyes shone like stars. John insisted on Mrs. Gray staying to tea with his housekeeper, so that Bee could have the meal with him. Her quaint speech and manner amused him greatly, and he found that his frozen heart was thawing rapidly beneath her influence. He would have loaded her with all sorts of indigestibles had not his common sense luckily stepped in and saved her.

"I shall tell Auntie Jessie how kind you've been to me," said Bee, when the meal was over. "She'll be so pleased."

He started. "Auntie Jessie," did the child say? Well, why not? There were more Jessies than one in the world, though not for him

"What is Auntie Jessie's other name, darling?" he asked trying to keep the excitement out of his voice.

"She has no other name; she is Auntie Jessie," Bee said, surprised at such a foolish question from her "nice man," as she called him.

"Well, where does Auntie Jessie live?" he went on.

"With me, and Mrs. Gray and the children," answered Bee.

"But where? at what house? In what street?"

"45 Atlantic avenue."

That told him nothing, and he decided to question Mrs. Gray. Suddenly, however, he remembered the locked top drawer in the writing table. He carried Bee into the library.

"Do you know that, Bee?" he asked showing her a colored photograph of a pretty girl in evening dress.

"That's my Auntie Jessie," answered the little maiden at once. "But she doesn't look like that now."

"What does she look like, dear?"

"She's thinner than that, and her dress isn't as pretty," said the child sorrowfully. "Oh, couldn't you give my auntie a nice dress for a Christmas present?"

"I—I'll give her lots of dresses if she will let me," he said unsteadily. "And you, too, dear little Bee"

"But I don't want dresses. Auntie makes me these beautiful ones."

"Auntie is an angel, darling."

"Yes. Do you know her?"

"I—I used to."

"Won't you come and see her? She will be glad."

A sudden thought struck John.

"Yes, dear, I will. I'll take you home, and tell her what a dear little niece she's got, and how you chose those nice things for Sissy and the rest."

"Oh, but those are your presents, not mine!" said Bee, anxious to be quite fair.

In the cab on the way to Bee's home the child fell asleep and pillowed her flushed little face confidently against John's shoulder.

For his part he reviewed his past conduct with regard to Jessie, and as he gazed at the sleeping child he wondered more and more how he could have acted as he did This was the rock on which he and Jessie had split. How annoyed he had been when Jessie told him of her intention to take charge of her dead sister's fatherless baby girl. How he had tried to induce her to let the child go to more distant relatives, who were better able to support it than poor little Jessie. How sweet she had looked in her refusal, and how patiently she had pleaded with him to look at the matter from her point of view, as a solemn and sacred legacy from that beloved sister, and how finally, when, firm in her sense of duty, she offered to release him from his engagement, he had angrily taken her at her word and left her with the bitter reproach that she had never cared for him! What a mad, mad fool he had been to throw away nearly five years of happiness!

The carriage stopped at 45 Atlantic avenue.

"Jessie!"

"John!"

He stepped inside the room and deposited his little burden on the sofa.

"The child is well," he said, answering her anxious gaze, and thinking how worn she looked, but how sweet, "she has been with me all the afternoon. Jessie, my darling, can you ever forgive me?"

"But Bee—the child—the old objection still exists," she stammered. "I could never part from her!"

"I will never ask you to," he returned tenderly. "I have been a selfish fool, but, ah, my dearest, I love you more dearly than ever, and listen—already I have learned to love the child."

Jessie, in the shelter of his strong arms, felt that her troubles were over.

Braised Rabbits.

An earthenware or other round stewpan, minus a handle, but possessing a cover, is necessary for braising. Dissolve two ounces of butter in a pan over the fire, cut the rabbit into pieces, dredge each piece with flour and fry in butter until lightly browned. Add a few sliced onions, half a pint of boiling stock of water, season with a bunch of sweet herbs, caraway seed, salt and pepper, put on the lid and braise in a hot oven until tender. Remove the pieces of rabbit, brown, thicken and strain the gravy and serve as hot as possible.

Crytalized Orange Peel and Fruits.

Take the rind of sweet oranges and soak it in water for several days, scald it in the same water, drain it, and cut it up in narrow strips. Make a syrup of one pound of sugar to one pint of water. Put the peel in and let it boil slowly. Drain on greased paper, taking care the strips do not touch each other. When dry make up in little sheaves, and tie round with baby ribbon. Make a thick syrup for the fruits with two cupfuls of castor sugar to one-third as much water. Boil till it is thick, keep warm, and drop in carefully sections of tangerine oranges, pieces of pincapple, banana, etc.

AN ORDINANCE GRANTING TO THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY, ITS SUCCESSORS AND ASSIGNS, THE RIGHT, PRIVILEGE AND AUTHORITY TO CONSTRUCT, LAY DOWN, MAINTAIN AND OPERATE A RAILWAY TRACK IN, OVER AND ALONG RAILROAD STREET, IN THE CITY OF DULUTH.

The Common Council of the City of Duluth do Ordain, as follows:

Section 1. That there be and is hereby granted to the Northern Pacific Railway company, its successors and assigns, the right, privilege and authority to construct, lay down, maintain and operate, by steam or other motive power, and with engines and cars, a railway spur track in, along, over and across Railroad street, said track to be of the ordinary construction. The center line of said spur track is described as follows, to-wit:

The spur track hereby authorized shall be immediately east of and as close as practicable to the most westerly spur track owned and operated by said railway company across Railroad street on the northerly side of block seven (7), in Bay Front division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof.

The work of construction of said track shall be done in a workmanlike manner and said street shall not be obstructed thereby more than is reasonably necessary, provided that said railway company shall save and hold harmless said city from any and all damages and claims for damages by reason of the construction, maintenance and operation of said track in, upon and over said street.

Sec. 2. The said railway company shall, and by the acceptance of this ordinance does agree to pay the proportionate share of the cost to the City of Duluth of any and all street or other public improvements on said Railroad street as to any property now or hereafter owned by said company on said Railroad street, between Seventh avenue west and Eighth avenue west, whether used for railway purposes or any other purpose, and any and all assessments now or hereafter levied and assessed on said property for such street or other public improvements. NOTICE OF PROPOSED VACATION—

Notice is hereby given that there has been filed of record in my office a petition for the vacation of the alley in Block 10, Highland Park Addition, lying between Nineteenth Avenue East and Woodland Avenue.

The object of the vacation is to allow the property owners to take care of and improve the alley, the topography of said alley being such as to make it too expensive for grading or paving.

Said petition will be heard and considered by the Committee of the Common Council on Streets, Alleys and Sidewalks, on Monday, April 24, 1911, at 3:30 o'clock P. M., in the City Clerk's office in the City Hall in the City of Duluth, at which time and place said committee will hear and consider the testimony and evidence on the part of parties interested.

C. S. PALMER,
City Clerk.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED VACATION.

Notice is hereby given that there has been filed of record in my office a petition for the vacation of that portion of the alley in Block 20, London addition, lying between the easterly line of Forty-third avenue east and the northerly boundary line of the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad right-of-way.

A portion of the alley sought to be vacated being bound on the easterly end thereof by the right-of-way of the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company, makes it impossible to obtain an outlet in that direction, thus precluding the use of the alley by the general public as a thoroughfare.

Said petition will be heard and considered by the Committee of the Common Council on Streets, Alleys and Sidewalks on Monday, April 17, 1911, in the City Clerk's office in the City Hall in the City of Duluth, at 3:30 o'clock P. M., at which time and place said committee will hear and consider the testimony and evidence on the part of parties interested.

City Clerk.

JUDGE COWAN SAID TO HAVE BEEN DRUNK IN COURT AND STREET

Attorney Bangs Makes Opening Address in the Impeachment Trial.

Charges of Serious Offenses Against Public Morals and Decency.

Alleged to Have Tried to Embrace and Kiss a Woman.

Bismarck, N. D., March 30.—(Special to The Herald.)—An exhaustive preliminary statement of the charges against Judge John F. Cowan of the Second judicial district, which the prosecution expects to substantiate by evidence introduced in the trial before the state senate, was made today before the impeachment court by Attorney George A. Bangs for the prosecution. His address was lengthy and in it he covered the ground as seen from his side of the case very completely.

Charges of drunkenness in public places, drunkenness in court rooms so serious that delay in cases resulted, that he went asleep on the bench, that he frequented places notorious for their violation of the prohibition law, that he violated his oath of office in failing to do his duty in prosecution of such offenders, that he was guilty of gross delay in making decisions in cases, and that he was guilty of serious offenses against public morals and decency, will be substantiated, Mr. Bangs declared, by an array of witnesses that will include counsel in cases before the judge, clerks in places where he is alleged to have purchased liquor, witnesses, jurors and litigants in court before him, as well as others who observed public drunkenness.

That the heard of managers have been fair in every detail of the work up to the present time, that they have exhibited no feeling of persecution and have recognized neither friend or enemy, in the preparation of the evidence, was the contention of the prosecuting counsel.

Witnesses Out of State.

The fact, too, that Edith McDonald, the Minnewaukan girl, and Nellie Schulz of Rugby, both of whom were prominently in the limelight during the first time the Cowan case came up before the house of representatives, are absent from the state was noted by the prosecuting attorney. He declared that the Minnewaukan incident, of which the McDonald girl was to testify, could probably be proved without her testimony, while he said that the prosecution still hoped to have Miss Schulz in the state as a witness before the court of impeachment.

First Mr. Bangs took up the effect of an impeachment, declaring that it was a course that was remedial in its nature. That is, an impeachment was brought about to relieve an existing condition that had proved intolerable. The laws do not prohibit criminal prosecution of cases against an impeached person, but the court of impeachment does not fix any punishment except removal from office with the probable adoption of a resolution under which such impeached person can hold no office of public trust in the state in the future.

"John F. Cowan, judge of the district court of the Second judicial district, was impeached by the house of representatives by resolution duly adopted Feb. 28, 1911," said Attorney Bangs. "The grounds of impeachment embrace all those specified in the Constitution and statutes, namely: Habitual drunkenness, crimes, corrupt conduct and malfeasance and misdemeanor in office. Thereafter articles of impeachment, in pursuance thereof, were adopted by the house and presented to the senate and it is upon these articles, with the pleading of the defense in response thereto, that the issues are framed which now come on for trial.

Presented Without Bias.

"The prosecution of these articles was by the house of representatives entrusted to a board of managers, consisting of George Homnes, A. P. Hanson, V. V. O'Connor, R. A. Nestos and R. S. Norheim. The duties imposed upon the managers have been delicate and onerous and the time allowed for the performance thereof has been very brief. The result of their labors is about to be laid before you; in presenting them the managers say that they have known no party and no partisanship; they have recognized no factions, no clique, no friend and no enemy, no passion, prejudice, bias, antipathy or inclination."

Under Article 1 in which a charge of habitual drunkenness is made, the evidence will be presented under the eighteen specifications of the second article, which are, in brief, that the accused jurist had been seen in various public places in an intoxicated condition. It is claimed that drunkenness upon the part of the defendant has been of such a nature as to impair his mental faculties as well as his physical faculties, and that the periods of intoxication have been so protracted and frequent as materially to interfere with the performance of his duties as judge.

"In support of this article," said Mr. Bangs, "the managers must submit all of the testimony which will be submitted in support of the eighteen specifications of the second charge, and in addition will call witnesses to testify to some forty or fifty other instances of intoxication, both public and private, at the same time presenting, as graphically as possible, the result of the gratification or these appetites by the accused upon his conduct of the duties of his office.

"The managers have not gone back to the year 1905, deeming it unnecessary to show more than conditions existing during the past four or five years; during the year 1905, two or three specific instances of drunkenness will be established, most of them in a public place, and which might have been specified under the second charge; each year thenceforward the number of such incidents increases, save perhaps in 1906, while the culmination comes in 1910, during which year they became so frequent as almost, if not quite, one per month, beginning with the Slaven's trial at Rugby, January, 1910, where he delayed the trial of the case for thirty-six hours or more. The case was set for Tuesday morning, Jan. 29, 1910, and it was an important case. It had been transferred from McHenry county, a jury had been called, and Judge Cowan left Devils Lake Jan. 24, reaching Rugby shortly after noon of that day. Although distant less than three blocks from the hotel, he was unable to reach the courtroom until Wednesday afternoon, more than forty-eight hours later. During the progress of the trial he fell asleep because of the exhausted mental and physical faculties.

The Trial Delayed.

"During the thirty-six hour period he kept to his room in the hotel, gratifying his appetite for strong drink, the jurors, the witnesses, the attorneys and the court officials stood about the streets and in the courtrooms discussing his condition. During the progress of the trial he fell asleep and the disgrace of the judiciary was increased by the spectacle of bets being made in the presence of the jury relative to some incident of the trial, the ruling he might make, or the period that would elapse before he would awaken."

The prosecuting attorney also referred to alleged drunkenness upon the part of the judge on April 4, June 29, Oct. 15, Oct. 31 and Nov. 8 during the same year. The first two dates and the last were election dates; on Oct. 15, it is claimed, he was intoxicated while arguing with a minister of the gospel immediately following an attempt to clean the city of Devils Lake of "the unwholesome conditions alleged there to be existing." The Oct. 31 instance is claimed to have occurred in the Ramsey county district court room when it is said that Cowan, instead of calling certain drug permit cases for hearing at the time fixed, called up a prisoner against whom testimony was given by a physician touching a filthy disease suffered by the prisoner, and that there were women in the courtroom at the time. Some of the women afterwards spoke to Cowan of the drug permit hearing, and they claim that the judge was at that time intoxicated. Reference is also made, in connection with the alleged intoxication of the judge Nov. 8, to the effect that he had been in a livery barn all the previous night in an intoxicated condition.

The Second Article.

Mr. Bangs took up the various specifications of the charge contained in the second article.

"The statute expressly prohibits and makes criminal the act of appearing in a public place under the influence of intoxicating liquor, whether the offender be an official or a private citizen, and the gist of the crime is the offense to public morals and decency. The statute is, perhaps, a slight modification of the common law, but its phraseology is plain, clear and explicit. If, from the evidence two-thirds of this senate is satisfied that at any time charged in these specifications, John F. Cowan appeared and was found intoxicated in a public place, then he is convicted. Not because of the intoxication, but because of the fact that he has wilfully gratified his appetites to the extent that is made criminal by the laws of the state. To whom may we look for examples in the observance of our laws if not to the judiciary."

Mr. Bangs then took up the various instances upon which it is claimed that Cowan had been intoxicated.

Under the first specification it is claimed that Cowan was drunk in court at Rugby June 18, 1909, that he delayed the work and went to sleep on the bench. Scott Rex of Grand Forks and Holbrook of Rugby are witnesses that will be called to testify to this occurrence. The second specification sets forth drunkenness upon the part of the judge the previous night to that referred to in the first specification, it being claimed that he was in the Grammond hotel at Rugby. The third specification is drunkenness in the Grace hotel at Lakota, with Rex and a traveling man named Landblom as the witnesses. The fourth specification is alleged drunkenness in the courtroom at Devils Lake with Messrs. Maurer and Branchflower as the witnessses. Duggan of Grand Forks and other witnesses will be called to testify under the fifth specification, that of intoxication in the courtroom at Minnewaukan Nov. 10, 1909.

The sixth specification is that in which Mrs. Hartley Shaffer of Benson county will be called as the principal witness. The action involving possession of certain horses alleged in the complaint to have been stolen by Shaffer on a certain date was up, and when called an amended complaint changing the date of the crime thirty days was filed. She asked for a continuance, being granted fifteen minutes to meet the new issue, and it is claimed that when she went to the judge's chambers she found him in an intoxicated condition and was there met with conduct unbecoming any man toward a woman.

Necessary to Postpone Argument.

The seventh specification charges drunkenness in the Hotel Vanderhoof at Devils Lake, Nov. 1, with Maurer and others as witnesses. In the eighth specification drunkenness in the Vanderhoof is also charged, this claim being based upon evidence by Duggan and Flynn. "It seems that Mr. Duggan desired to submit an argument that evening upon a motion because the judge intended to attend the Minot convention the next day. The judge opened court in a room in the hotel, but his condition was such," said Mr. Bangs, "from the use of liquor that it was necessary to postpone the argument until the next day. Mr. Flynn, another attorney, witnessed the incident."

Trial of the McKee vs. Haley case Aug. 4, 1908, it is claimed, had to be suspended because of drunkenness upon the part of the judge, this charge being contained in the ninth specification. On the same day it is claimed that John Mienacis was arraigned and that Cowan attempted to preside, and that again his condition was observed.

Specifications eleven and twelve relate to the June 29 and Oct. 10, incidents referred to under the first charge. The thirteenth specification relates to the time of the drug permit cases when ladies were in the courtroom, while the fourteenth specification covers the alleged intoxication on election day, Nov. 8, 1910.

"He (Judge Cowan) had spent the night before in the Gordon livery barn," said Mr. Bangs. "On the morning of Nov. 8, he was first observed in the stable by a farmer who drove in to put up his team. About 8 o'clock one of the aldermen saw him; about noon he was in a drug store betting on the result of the election, later in the afternoon he was seen staggering about the streets and about 5 o'clock was observed with a companion in the hall of one of the business blocks in such a condition that it was necessary to assist or drag him along."

Specification sixteen claims drunkenness the night of Nov. 7, being the Gordon livery barn incident. The fifteenth specification charges intoxication in the office of the clerk of court at Rugby and at that time, June 15, 1909, it is claimed that he assaulted Nellie Schultz.

Intoxicated on Street.

The eighteenth specification charges that he was found in an intoxicated condition on the public streets of Hansboro. "C. E. Blakely, a banker, as well as a number of other prominent men of the village will testify that Judge Cowan made one of the party carried by two automobiles, which came down upon the village one afternoon," said Mr. Bangs. "The party had been drinking and in some scuffle the judge's shirt had been torn from him. A new shirt was bought and, standing in the automobile in the streets of the village, he completed his toilet. The party then drove out of town a short distance where they disembarked by the roadside and completed the drinking bout. Mr. Clifford, returning in the evening with some ladies in an automobile, narrowly averted a serious accident, caused by the judge's party leaving their automobile in the road."

Next the third charge was taken up, this being based upon alleged purchases by Judge Cowan of intoxicating liquors in various drug stores and blind-pigs which liquors he, with his companions, drank upon the premises, or carried away with them for that purpose.

"I believe it is generally held that the private individual purchasing liquor to be drunk as a beverage is not a principal or accessory to the crime of selling the liquor although he aids and abets therein and without him the crime could not be committed.

"However, this may be," said Attorney Bangs. "Judge Cowan was one of the magistrates of the state and upon him there were duties devolving arising out of the office and owing by him to the people of the state.

"Under Section 231 of the constitution he took an oath to support that Constitution and the sixth section thereof following is the so-called prohibitory section under which the sale of intoxicating liquors to be used as a beverage is forbidden. The purchase of the liquors for the prohibited purpose was clearly a violation of his oath of office.

"Section 9798 provides that 'the judge of the district court must call a grand jury when he shall deem the attendance of such grand jury necessary for the due enforcement of the laws of the state.' It is idle to argue that this secetion vests an arbitrary power in the judge. It will be noted that the mandatory 'must' is used. It is not 'may.' The judge must call a grand jury under certain circumstances.

"The section means that whenever the judge has reason to believe that a grand jury should be called he must call it in order that the laws may be enforced. Having called it, he must charge it relative to the violations of the prohibition law. When Judge Cowan with his companions bought the liquor for the prohibited purposes in the drug stores and other blind-pigs, he knew the law was being violated and he wilfully refrained from performing his duty imposed upon him to call a grand jury."

Mr. Bangs then spoke of the laws relating to powers of ordering arrests where violations of laws are found, and claimed that Cowan had held that power and had not exercised it.

"The testimony seems to indicate beyond question that Judge Cowan frequented the drug stores in Devils Lake commonly known as the Green, Ness, Moran, Ball and Bond stores, and also the blind-pigs in Chlostri's restaurant and the Vanderhoof hotel. It is expected that several of the clerks who formerly worked in the drug stores will be present to testify and the proprietors themselves are under subpoena on behalf of the state."

Women Are Absent.

Edith McDonald, who testified before the house committee with reference to certain incidents in a hotel at Minnewaukan, Dec. 1, 1909, is absent from the state, Mr. Bangs said, "without procurement of consent of the prosecution. It is, however, believed that the lack of her testimony is not necessarily fatal to this charge but that the fact may be gleaned from other sources; the managers expect to place three or four witnesses upon the stand under the specifications." This is the fourth charge in the articles of impeachment.

Miss Schulz, the Rugby woman whose affidavit was brought to the impeachment committee of the house, is also absent from the state, Attorney Bangs said, but he hoped that she would be present to testify during the proceedings. The charge comes under the fifth article and is that the judge "then and there unlawfully and wrongfully seized the person of the said Nellie Schulz and attempted to embrace and kiss her against her will."

Under the sixth charge, that of delay in the making of decisions in cases, Bangs declared that in addition to the fifty instances specified in the articles of impeachment, there would be about thirty other cases brought up and proved to bear out this contention. "Not only do these instances establish a habitual neglect to perform the duties of the office, but such neglect constitutes a violation of the criminal laws of the state," said Mr. Bangs. He then proceeded to relate a number of instances in which it is claimed that there had been unnecessary delay.

The seventh charge relates to the filing of false certificates with the state auditor for the purpose of inducing the auditor to issue warrant for salary as provided. Eight specifications are included under this charge.

"Charge 8 embraces three separate specifications, the substances of which are that Judge Cowan, in the presence of jurymen, officials, witnesses and spectators did speak and conduct himself in a manner grossly unseemly and arbitrary manner and did abuse and treat the parties to the litigation, witness and counsel with gross contumely, and in the presence of the jury did so conduct himself as to indicate his bias, prejudice and partiality and did act and conduct himself toward litigants and attorneys in a domineering, abusive and insulting manner," contended Mr. Bangs in reviewing the charge.

Lawyers to Testify.

"In support of this charge, and these specifications thereof, lawyers will be brought from the Second judicial district as well as from other districts in the state, to testify to the conduct of Judge Cowan in specific instances while engaged in the trial of litigation; in addition, spectators present in the courtroom, litigants whose cases were under trial, jurors and others are expected to testify.

"In conclusion, the managers desire to say that they have not viewed these proceedings as essentially adversary in their nature," continued Mr. Bangs in closing his statement. "It resembles, to their minds, more an investigation or inquiry. It is true there is an accused, a defendant, but he is such in name only. The basic inquiry is whether or not this man may be safely continued in his position as district judge.

"The office is not viewed by the managers as the personal perquisite of Mr. Cowan, nor is it deemed peculiarly within the gift of the electors of the Second judicial district. It is a state office, an office in which the entire state and all of its people are interested. Litigants are forced into the district court of the Second judicial district from all over the state and from outside the state.

"If it were a matter that concerned only the people of the Second judicial district, they might be left to determine the question themselves, but to so assert is to entirely misunderstand the nature of the office of district judge judge and the functions performed by him.

"The honor of the state and all of its people is directly and vitally interested in the purity of the judiciary, and this interest extends as fully and completely to the Second judicial district as to any other district or to the supreme court itself.

"The managers have no personal feelings in this matter; they have merely attempted to the best of their ability to faithfully perform a duty imposed upon them and due by them to the state. The articles of impeachment with the evidence in support thereof, when this trial is ended, will be submitted by them to this senate in the utmost confidence that justice will be done to the people and to the state."

The cow, with her long, rough tongue, combs her coat of hair until it is clean and curly. The horse, more than any other animal, depends upon his owner to keep his coat in proper condition, but often he will roll on the green grass or rub himself down against a tree or fence.

Field mice comb their hair with their hind legs, and the fur seal in a similar manner spends as much time as a woman in making herself look smart.

After the bath he sometimes rolls himself in a toilet preparation of dust to keep off the flies.

DIDN'T FOLLOW INSTRUCTIONS.

Central Law Journal: The negro boy was up for the fifth time on a charge of chicken stealing. This time the magistrate decided to appeal to the boy's father.

"Now, see here, Abe," said he to the negro, "this boy of yours has been up in court so many times for stealing chickens that I'm tired of seeing him here."

"Ah don't blame you, sah," returned the father. "Ah's tired o' seeing him here, too."

"Then why don't you teach him how to act? Show him the right way and he won't be coming here."

"Ah has showed 'im de right way, sah," declared the old man earnestly. "Ah has suttenly showed 'im de right way, but he somehow keeps getting caught comin' away wid dose chickens!"

ASIAN SEAMEN ON BRITISH SHIPS.

Shanghai Times: One of the principal grievances complained of by the union, we believe, is the alleged growing preference of ship owners for Asiatic seamen, particularly Chinese seamen, to British seamen, for service under the red ensign. The recent declaration by Winston Churchill, home secretary, is to the following pertiment effect: With regard to the alleged dumping of Chinese labor on British ships, the figures show that the British seamen employed in the British mercantile marine is steadily increasing, while the number of Lascars and Asiatics of all kinds was stationary. In 1905 there were 263,686 persons employed, of whom 180,492 were British and 43,483 were Lascars and Asiatics. In 1908 there were 198,474 British and 42,000 Lascars and Asiatics, an increase of nearly 18,000 British seamen in four years. It should be remembered that a very large proportion of the Lascars and Asiatics employed were natives of India and British subjects.

A KENTUCK SPELLING BEE.

Cadiz Record: Dr. Herbert Cunningham, who was reputed to be one of the best in the bunch at the spelling bee, balked at the first word given out and was sent to his seat when he failed to spell the third word put to him.

Press Arwood could not spell Chicago and John King put an i where the e should have been in bullet. John Lawrence put the i before the e in nickel; Arthur Burnett put a u for w in frown and Harper Boyd spelled pew pue. Mrs. W. H. Jefferson, who was the best speller for the town side, missed the word cuckoo, while Prentice Thomas, Mrs. Robert Crenshaw and others missed words equally simple.

KING GEORGE'S MUSIC.

The Queen: King George has consented to lend to the British museum the whole of his private musical library, which contains, roughly speaking, about 1,000 manuscripts and about 3,000 printed books and music. As regards numbers, therefore, it is a comparatively small library, yet in it are to be found not a few priceless treasures, and of these the Handel autographs claim first mention.

They consist of thirty-two volumes of operas, twenty-one of oratorios, seven of odes and serenatas, twelve of miscellaneous music and eleven of cantatas and sketches. Handel promised to bequeath all his manuscripts to John Christopher Smith, his faithful amanuensis, but afterward proposed a sum of money in lieu of the autographs.

Smith, however, earnestly begged for the fulfilment of his promise, and Handel kept his word. Had Smith accepted the composer's proposition all the manuscripts at the death of the latter would have gone to the University of Oxford. Smith, who by the way refused an offer of £2,000 made by Frederick the Great for them, bequeathed then to George III to show his gratitude to the king for continuing the pension which had been granted to him by the dowager princess of Wales. These volumes were used by special permission of Queen Victoria by Dr. Chrysander for the critical edition of Handel's works published by the German Handel society.

There are also two splendid volumes of virginal music which belonged to Benjamin Cosyn and William Forster, both written during the first quarter of the seventeeth century. Then there is a most interesting volume of "Aires and Phantasies" for the organ, composed for Charles I by John Cooper, who having Italianized his name was known as Coperario. He was the master of Henry and William Lawes.

But a still older book of music is in the library, namely one by John Baldwine, "a singing man at Windsor." This not only contains compositions of English music of the sixteenth century but music by Henry VIII. Coming down to a later period mention may be made of the very copy of Mozart's early sonatas for violin and planoforte which the nine-year-old composer presented to Queen Charlotte in 1765. Of Mendelssohn there are many volumes containing autograph inscriptions. The trustees of the museum will place the collection for the present in a separate room. On the completion of the new galleries in Montague place it will be put into a specially constructed room, where it will be available to students under the conditions which now apply to valuable works in the departments of printed books and manuscripts.

BUFORD ARRIVES IN NICK OF TIME

Supplies on Transport Will Save Many Chinese From Starving.

Washington, March 30.—The United States transport Buford, bearing the relief supplies to the starving people of China which were collected in this country under the auspices of the American National Red Cross, arrived in Shanghai today, according to a cablegram received by the officials of the American Red Cross. The vessel will proceed immediately to Naking and Chinkiang to unload her cargo of mercy.

Announcement of the arrival of the United States transport in Chinese waters reached Washington almost simultaneously with mail advices to the state department from Shanghai and Nanking detailing tales of the indescribable suffering of the starving millions.

Mr. Bostick, a missionary, writing from Pochow, says the suffering poor have reached the extremes of misery. A few months ago they were living on wheat bran. With this exhausted, they have resorted to cooking leaves of trees and even simply dry wheat chaff.

Barefoot children, all but naked on freezing cold days, pitifully crying for bread present a common street scene. Mothers, no longer able to provide for their offspring, throw them away, probably in the frantic hope that compassion will force someone to care for them. Men, a few months ago able-bodied farmers, have been reduced to rags, shivering with cold and facing starvation.

"Many have perished in the streets," said Mr. Bostick, "but one of the saddest cases I have heard of was that of a man who died near me last week. He was so overcome with hunger that in the last moments, he picked up clods of dirt and crammed them in his mouth."

"A deaf ear must be turned to these pitiable pleadings by those trying to render assistance," continues the missionary, "because the amounts within reach are but a drop in the bucket."

SHORTS BUY BACK WHEAT

They Cover Freely---Green Bug Reports Are Discredited.

Barley Makes New High Point—Flaxseed Is Stronger.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 30.—The wheat market advanced today. May and July each climbed ⅝c. Cash was on a parity with May. Barley gained 2c. Durum gained ⅝c. Rye was unchanged and oats advanced ¼c.

Flaxseed gained 1c, closing at $2.47½ bid. Shorts at Winnipeg covered and that market went forward, closing at $2.37 bid, after selling up to $2.38. Antwerp quotations on Plata seed were unchanged.

Shorts evinced a disposition to cover and the wheat market opened strong and advanced quickly. Toward noon the buying power lapsed and the market appeared overbought. Shorts, who had covered, became confident and there was some selling on the bulge.

There was no legitimate bullish news, although people bullishly inclined sent out reports that were not favorable. These came from the Southwest. Lyle wired from Wellington, Kan., that conditions in the southern tier of Kansas counties are not good and that the new growth of wheat needs rain and that if moisture does not materialize soon the wheat will deteriorate. Six counties, with an acreage of 500,000 acres, it is said, will not make three-fourths of a crop. Kansas could lose 500,000 acres, however, and still raise the largest crop in its history. The state could lose 1,250,000 acres and still get a crop of 80,000,000 bu.

A bullish report on Kansas was issued by Smiley. It caused some buying for long account, but its effect was only temporary. Smiley wired that dust storms are prevailing in Southern Kansas. From Brownwell to Scott City the crop, he said, was a failure. From Oakley to Wakeeney the farmers, he wired, will not get back seed.

Reports of the presence of green bugs came from the north central part of Texas and from Southern Oklahoma. The weather is cool and dry and favorable for their increase, said the message. Damage to wheat and oats may take place, it was said. This report was not credited by the trade. B. W. Snow, commenting on the messages, wired that conditions of weather and crop growth have not been such as to make possible a green bug visitation. He said: "The aphis is present every year but it is held in check by its natural enemies except in seasons where the mid-winter is warm enough to force a luxuriant growth and develop the aphis abnormally early and is followed by a cold, backward spring, which prevents the multiplication of the fly which preys upon them. These conditions are not present this year and there is no reason to expect a green bug visitation." The state board of agriculture of Oklahoma reported that it was unable to find evidences of the green bug in that state.

There has been widespread precipitation in the Northwest in the last forty-eight hours. North Dakota has been generally visited by a light snow preceded by a slow, soaking rain. This precipitation is not generally shown on the weather map. Eastern South Dakota, according to The Herald reports, has had moisture also. Western and Central South Dakota is in need of moisture. The weather forecast for the Northwestern wheat states promises snow flurries tonight for Minnesota, cloudy and warmer weather for North Dakota and fair and warmer weather for South Dakota.

Cables were lower. World's shipments are unexpectedly lighter. The shipments from Argentina show a big falling off. Advices from India are bearish. There was talk of lighter shipments from Russia. The spot market is weak.

The Eastern demand for spring wheat is showing more strength. The Eastern buyers have taken some wheat lately that was in bottoms at Buffalo. They were holding off, believing that reciprocity would materialize soon. The expected delay has brought buyers into the market. They are purchasing on a hand-to-mouth basis, however, and will continue to do so until the reciprocity agitation is settled.

Barley advanced again today and the outlook is for higher prices. Barley is scarce and the demand from maltsters is firm. Receipts at Milwaukee and Chicago are extremely small. Coast prices are higher and the entire situation is unusually bullish. Today's values broke all records for this market.

Price Current said: Winter wheat has improved in appearance, and satisfactory development of the plant is reported with uniformity in practically all of the central regions. Considerable progress made sowing oats, which seems the order of farm work where climatic conditions permit. Only small amount of corn ground broken.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: Our Argentine agent estimates the wheat shipments this week 2,800,000 bu; last week, 4,632,000; last year, 2,136,000. Corn—This week, nil; last week, 161,000 bu; last year, 41,000. The sowing of wheat in the North is progressing satisfactorily, there having been good rains for the preparation of the soil. The wheat market at the opening was easy and ¼@½d lower, with pressure in May and July. Selling was induced by the weakness in American cables and the lower Buenos Ayres market at the close yesterday, together with continental weakness yesterday. Advices from Argentina are bearish regarding the new crop, and the outlook in India is very favorable. During the morning there was some support and prices advanced ⅜d for May and July, as a result of shorts profit-taking and some little speculative support on the decline. There was more inquiry noticeable for Australian cargoes, and the forecast is for smaller Argentine shipments this week and some talk of lighter shipments from Russia. Later, however, and just before midday, there was realizing, and values again declined ⅛@¼c from the advance. This was due to dullness and the weakness in spot and more favorable American crop advices. At this time the market was steadier but dull, and ⅛@⅜d lower than yesterday.

The corn market opened ¼d lower, and following the opening July further declined ¼d on the cheaper American offers and the fact that importers are reselling.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Covering By Shorts Leads to Recovery in Price of Wheat.

Chicago, March 30.—Efforts at covering by shorts of the larger kind led to a recovery today in the price of wheat. The fact that cables did not fully reflect yesterday's decline here tended also to cause a firmer feeling. Furthermore, signs pointed toward greatly reduced shipments from Russia and the Argentine. Some attention, too, was given to a report that green bugs were threatening crops in Southern Oklahoma and North Texas. Opening figures were ⅛c higher to ¼c off. May started at 86 to 86¼@86⅝c, the same change from last night as the market taken altogether. A rise to 86½c followed.

Professional speculators were inclined to the bull side because of the market having had a long decline. News of dust storms southwest helped to a further gain. The close was steady with May ⅝@¾c up at 86⅞c.

Absence of pressure let corn ascend with wheat. Demand, however, was not large. May opened unchanged to ⅛c up at 47½@47⅝c and climbed to 47⅞c.

Scantiness of sales by the country aided in maintaining the advance. The close, however, was easy with May at 47¾c, a net gain of ¼c.

Commission houses afforded support for oats. There was moderate buying in addition on the part of a prominent local dealer. May started a shade to ⅛c lower at 30⅜ to 30⅛@30¼c and then rallied to 30¾c.

A big trade developed in provisions. There was much stop-loss selling at the outset, but packers bought later. First transactions showed a drop of 5@17½c, with May deliveries $15.07½@15.17½ for pork, $8.30 for lard, and $8.62½@8.65 for ribs.

Cotton Market.

New York, March 30.—The cotton market opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 4 points in sympathy with the steady showing of Liverpool futures and the large English spot sales, but sentiment was very much unsettled owing to renewed selling of July by brokers supposed to be working for one of the old bull leaders, and while the offerings were largely taken by leading spot people, looked as if the purchases were against sales of May. May shorts were buyers and there was some support of Liverpool and prices gradually eased off under the aggressive offerings of the summer months and the market during the middle of the morning ruled about 1 to 2 points net lower on old crop positions. New crop months were again relatively steady in spite of favorable weather reports.

LOSSES ARE RECOVERED

Stocks Have Downward Trend in Morning But Advance Later.

Strength of Erie Has Tonic Effect on the Whole List.

New York, March 30.—Canadian Pacific lost 1½ of its recent gain at the opening of the market today, but allied properties, Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie, Wisconsin Central and Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic, were firm at higher prices. Southern Railway preferred lost a point and National Railways of Mexico second preferred ⅝. The general list was irregular.

After some hesitation the market stiffened, although the improvement in the standard stocks was small outside of Erie common and first preferred, which gained nearly a point. The secondary issues in the Canadian group made further gains, Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie rising 2¾ above yesterday's close, Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic preferred 2, and Wisconsin Central 1¾. Canadian Pacific rallied a point, but went off again to its low level and pulled down the market slightly with it. Associated Oil gained 2⅝.

The trend of prices was downward during the morning and the market failed to respond to the bidding up of special stocks, such as Erie and issues in the Canadian group. Reduction of the short interest by the vigorous upward movement of the early part of the week, deprived the market of a source of strength. Professionals took advantage of this condition to put out moderate short lines of stock. Another factor that operated against the bulls was the reluctance of traders to take on stock in view of the expectation that decisions in the anti-trust cases would be handed down at an early date. At noon outside of a few manipulated stocks the market was ruling a slight fraction below yesterday's close. Bonds were steady.

A further spell of weakness in Canadian Pacific sent it down to 223⅝, which was about 3 points below its high figure of yesterday. Reading and United States Steel among others of the active group went down a trifle further, but speculation generally was of a perfunctory character. United States Rubber was in demand and improved 1½.

The market closed strong. Erie achieved distinction as being the strongest and most active of the standard stocks. The common and the first and second preferred were up about 1½ each and the bonds were also very strong with the demand fostered by a variety of rumors, none of which could be confirmed in official sources. The strength of this stock had a tonic effect on the whole list and there was a further rise to the best prices of the day, with Union Pacific gaining a point.

GOOD PROGRESS MADE BY ST. LOUIS COUNTY BILLS IN THE SENATE

ONE OF THE LEADERS OF THE INSURGENTS

W. I. NOLAN,
Minneapolis Representative, a Leader of So-Called "Progressives" in the Minnesota House.

Bill Leasing Elevator Site to Duluth Advanced to Calendar.

Amended Forestry Bill Goes Through House By Unanimous Vote.

Limit of Damages Recoverable for Death Likely to Be Raised.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Though hints of possible opposition were heard, the St. Louis county delegation bill, introduced for the delegation by Senator Cheadle, leasing to the city of Duluth for public dock purposes the old state elevator site in Oneota, was advanced to the calendar by the senate yesterday afternoon.

Senator Putnam voiced the sentiments of those who may oppose the bill when he said that it seemed to him that the measure provided for a practical gift by the state to Duluth of a tract of land which he understood to be very valuable.

Senator Boyle said that he was sure that, when the senators had had a chance to read the bill as amended by Senator Cheadle, not a man on the floor of the senate would oppose it, and he suggested that the bill be advanced to the calendar with the privilege of amendment, which was done.

The amendment proposed by Senator

WILL RENEW HIS CHARGE

Klemer Case to Bob Up Again in House Next Week.

Drainage Probe Committee to Recommend Engineer Ralph's Removal.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Klemer case will bob up again in the house early next week, and this time it will be a duet, as Dr. W. T. Stone will join in the game with a separate set of charges. Klemer, it is understood, will renew his charge that the committees are packed, though perhaps in a slightly modified form and running to the effect that the house is so organized as to delay business, and will take the shape of a resolution calling for an investigation, to which Klemer has secured twenty-five signers, including himself.

Dr. Stone will submit a resolution making charges regarding the methods by which some of the house members were elected and the method of organizing the house.

The house is so behind with its work that there is likely to be much less interest in the matter than there was before. After today there are but fourteen working days, and the house has at least a month's hard work before it.

Within a short time the house will receive the report of the special committee headed by Representative Knapp of Chisholm, appointed to investigate state Drainage Engineer Ralph. It is credibly reported that the committee is likely to recommend Ralph's removal on the grounds of inefficiency and a lax of systematic organization of the service under him. There will be no findings of dishonesty, though several attempts have been made in the hearings to show suspicious circumstances.

The house tri-county committee this morning recommended for passage the senate bill by the St. Louis county delegation giving Duluth authority to condemn lands for public docks and to issue $100,000 in bonds for that purpose.

The house adopted the Mattson-Nolan resolution setting apart Tuesday evening as a field day for local bills. In the meantime a committee of one member from each congressional district will go over the pending bills and select those of a local nature. Some of the country members opposed the proceeding on the ground that most of the local measures are Duluth.

AIRMAN TRAVELS 90 MILES AN HOUR

French Aviator Maintains Remarkable Speed in His Monoplane.

Issy-les-Moulineaux, France, March 31.—Pierre Vedrine left Poitiers in a monoplane at 6:18 o'clock this morning and arrived here at 8:30 o'clock, having maintained an average speed of 90.2 miles an hour.

As soon as some minor repairs can be made, Vedrine will start again for Pau in an attempt to win the Aero club's cup for the best flight from Paris to Pau.

Vedrine began the Paris to Pau flight Tuesday but met with an accident which compelled him to descend at Poitiers. He had made 170 miles in three hours and ten minutes.

ONE CHARGE IS ELIMINATED

From the Articles of Impeachment Against Judge Cowan.

Bismarck, N. D., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.) — Judge Cowan's counsel was today successful in eliminating from the articles of impeachment the charges, general in their terms, of grossly unjust conduct in court against jurles, witnesses, litigants and attorneys upon his part, these allegations being contained in the eighth charge. Counsel Tracy Bangs argued that such charges were indefinite and not in accord with the statute bearing upon the manner of fixing the form of charges.

Counsel George Bangs argued that it was a habit that was sought to be established, that of habitually mistreating persons in his court.

This was one of the charges demurred to by defendant following the failure of the senate to sustain the motion to quash all proceedings yesterday.

EXPLOSION AT SOO INJURES THREE

Dynamite Lets Go, Hurling Italians in All Directions.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—As the result of a premature explosion of dynamite at the new lock, Sephina Augusto, an Italian laborer, is so badly injured that he will die. Liko Frangnito and Patsey Tecoleno, Italians, were also seriously injured. The men were loading a hole preparing for a blast when the charge suddenly let go. The whole lower portion of Augusto's face was torn away by a huge piece of rock, one eye was gouged out and he was injured internally. Frangnito was badly cut about the head and body and will probably lose the sight of one eye. Tecoleno was caught beneath a huge piece of rock and painfully crushed. All are at a local hospital.

MOST FEARED MAN IN ITALY TESTIFIES IN CAMORRA CASE

This bakeshop is being tried for the first time at San Antonio. It is built of sheet-iron and asbestos and is made collapsible so that it can be transported easily. The loaves are turned out every twenty minutes and each batch is stored by itself on the shelves of a tent, so as to identify the work of the different gangs of bakers and place the responsibility for any bad baking.

HEAVY FIGHTING ALL THE WEEK IN MEXICO

Over 1,000, Including Both Rebels and Federals, Reported Killed Near San Rafael.

Bloody Battle Rages Around Santa Barbara; Both Sides Send for Reinforcements.

Tucson, Ariz., March 31.—That a thousand men have been killed on both sides in a battle between federals and rebels in the vicinity of San Rafael and Ures, Mexico, since Monday, is reported by a federal officer in Nogales, Sonora, according to a special to a local paper from Nogales. The officer is said to have given this report to fellow officers upon receipt of news from Hermosillo.

Stubborn Fight at Santa Barbara.

El Paso, Tex., March 31.—A stubbornly fought and bloody battle between 300 insurrectos and 200 federal troops, has raged around the little town of Santa Barbara, southwest of the city of Chihuahua since Wednesday morning, according to a telegram received here last night from Parral. Both sides have sent for reinforcements.

Wednesday morning, according to the Parral dispatch, the insurrectos attacked and took Santa Barbara, but before they could strengthen its defenses; the federals rallied and attempted to retake the place. A body of twenty-five rurales charged through the insurrecto lines and succeeded in reaching the municipal building, but were cut off from the main federal body. They took refuge in the building but the telegram does not reveal their fate.

Finding himself outnumbered, Col. Arzamendi, in command of the federal troops, sent to Parral for reinforcements and the insurrecto leaders are said to have dispatched messengers in the direction of the camp of Madero and Orozco on a similar errand. Neither side had received reinforcements when the message reached here. It is said both sides exhibited the greatest coolness and bravery and the percentage of killed and wounded is high.

Officers of the insurrecto junta here, while declaring they hope earnestly for peace, again stated today that there seemed little prospect for immediate cessation of hostilities.

Gonzales Garza, insurrecto secretary of state, says the army in the field will have the final vote on any peace negotiations and that he does not believe they will vote to accept the terms that do not include the resignation of President Diaz. He declares the movement is an anti-Diaz one before anything.

Rebels Won Battle.

El Paso, Tex., March 31.—Advices to The Herald from Magdalena, Sonora, by mail, declare that Monday's battle reported from Agua Prieta as a vic-

ARRESTED IN AMERICA

Whither He Fled After the Murder of the Cuoccolos.

Captured By Lieut. Petrosino, Who Was Later Killed in Italy.

Maintains Insolent Assurance Which Has Frequently Saved Him.

Viterbo, Italy, March 31.—Enrico Alfano, commonly known as Erricone, accused of being the real head of the Neapolitan Camorra, perhaps the most powerful and certainly the most feared man in Italy, was called for interrogation in the court of assizes today. The crimes laid at this man's door are numberless and the machination with which he is credited almost beyond belief.

Under the gruelling today Erricone maintained the insolent assurance which, if not disarming suspicion, repeatedly saved him from arrest. At his headquarters in the Cafe Fortunio, where he received his agents, his victims and the police, Erricone was wont to smile blandly upon those who mentioned the Camorra and say: "Do you really believe there is such a thing? Why, those are stories of other times."

The prisoner was well prepared for today's examination, which was a thorough one. He denied every accusation made against him and ridiculed the tradition of his power.

CYCLONE WIPES OUT A VILLAGE

News Just Received From Isolated Places Tells of Damage By Wind.

Mobile, Ala., March 31.—The town of Gainesville, Alabama, was practically wiped out by the cyclone that swept through Monroe county Monday, according to belated news that reached here today. The cyclone cut a path of ruin 200 feet wide through the settlement. There were no casualties there but many persons were hurt by flying timbers from wrecked homes. The reports tell of tremendous property damage. Fields were swept clean of new and growing crops, forests were leveled, while hundreds of farm buildings were torn down by the wind.

The area of the storm sweep is remote from railroad and telegraphic communication.

TAMMANY PRESENTS JUDGE O'GORMAN FOR NEW YORK'S SENATOR

Probable That the Insurgent Democrats Will Accept Him.

Charles F. Murphy Reaches Albany and Is Directing Matters.

Organization Leaders Say Justice O'Gorman Will Be Elected.

Albany, N. Y., March 31.—Supreme Court Justice James A. O'Gorman of New York, probably will be the next senator from New York if the insurgent Democrats in the legislature will accept him.

Justice O'Gorman was announced as the organization candidate this morning on the unexpected arrival from New York of Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall. The insurgents resented the sudden injection of a candidate whose name had not appeared on any of the "eligible" lists they had submitted to the regulars; but not so strongly as to cause a withdrawal of O'Gorman's candidacy.

On the ground that they were not sufficiently familiar with O'Gorman's record to act intelligently, the insurgents brought about a postponement of a final caucus vote until 3 o'clock this afternoon. By that time they propose to be ready to give their decision. The organization leaders declare that Justice O'Gorman will be elected.

The vote at noon today resulted in no choice, a quorum not being present.

Murphy in Charge.

Albany, N. Y., March 31.—Charles F. Murphy arrived here this morning to take personal charge of the organization forces in what may prove the crucial caucus of the long fight to elect a United States senator. Foremost among the reasons why the Democrats were anxious to break the deadlock today is the proximity of April 4 and the assembling of the special session of congress. The legislators feared popular criticism would follow a failure to send a new senator to the national capital in time to give New York its full representation. A second reason, which appealed particularly to the regulars, was the overtures the Republicans are making to the Democratic insurgents and the threat of the latter that if the question is not settled today they will accept Republican aid to elect an "independent Democrat" hostile to Tammany Hall. In addition, the inconvenience of conducting legislation in the temporary quarters to which the members have been driven by the fire at the capitol, and the expectation that if the deadlock was settled today a recess could be taken until the regular senate and assembly chambers were ready for use, made for

BOY SHOOTS HIS SISTER BY MISTAKE

Hears Unusual Noise and Fires Shotgun at Moving Object.

Philadelphia, March 31.—Aroused by an unusual noise in his home at Lansdowne, near here, early today, and seeing a figure moving about in the dim light, Alexander Kerr, 18 years old, fired a shotgun at the object and then discovered that he had mortally wounded his sister, Nellie, 16 years old. The girl died in fifteen minutes. The father of the two is a night watchman and was away from home.

The grief stricken young man said he was so nervous at the thought of an intruder in the house that he did not really know what he was doing. His story was corroborated by the mother, and the authorities have not taken action against him.

RANCHER SHOOTS DOWN THREE MEN

Otis Weeden, Evidently Insane, Kills Neighbors in Cold Blood.

Everett, Wash., March 31.—Otis N. Weeden, a rancher of South Prairie, eight miles northeast of Barrington, armed himself with a rifle, went to the home of William Rinker, John Rinker and Jack Smyro and shot and killed each of them yesterday.

Weeden returned to his home, where he was found by a sheriff's posse. When he saw that he was about to be captured, Weeden shot himself. It is reported that he is fatally injured. No cause for Weeden's action is known. It is believed that he suddenly became insane.

As soon as the ranchers on the prairie learned of the murders, a posse was organized and started in pursuit of Weeden, who fled to the woods and made his way to his ranch.

The posse surrounded the house and an Indian woman was sent in to demand Wedeen's surrender. The fugitive refused to give himself up, and as the woman returned with his message, Weeden shot himself.

Rushing to the door, the posse saw Weeden lying on the floor. His weapon was pointed toward the door, and fearing that he would shoot, Deputy Sheriff Gonovan fired on Weeden, wounding him a second time. Wesden is a bachelor 40 years old.

FIND BODY OF FIRE VICTIM

Remains of Watchman at New York Capitol Is Recovered.

Loss of Books in Library Not So Great as at First Feared.

Albany, N. Y., March 31.—The body of Samuel J. Abbett, the one victim of the state capitol fire, was found this morning on the fourth floor in the southwest corner of the building where the flames raged fiercest.

A volunteer salvage corps including officers of the state library, and headed by Library Director James L. Wyer, Jr., and N. H. Stokes-Phelps of New York, continued today the search of the debris for valuable manuscripts. Mr. Phelps, a man of wealth and leisure who has specialized in the salvage of manuscripts, reclaimed many old manuscripts from the wreck of the burned Turin library in Italy.

Many Books Saved.

More than 100 men attacked the still smoking ruins left by the fire in the west end of the state capitol with shovels and crowbars yesterday afternoon and soon discovered that the wreck of the state's magnificent library was not as complete as at first supposed. Buried under tons of stone lay thousands of books that can be preserved by rebinding and many that escaped unscathed. The salvage may amount to many thousands of dollars.

Records of the war of 1812 were found intact and the custodians hope other valuable relics may be discovered in a state worthy of preservation. The work of clearing away the debris promises to prove an enormous and expensive task. A bill introduced in the legislature today appropriates $100,000 for this purpose alone.

Occasionally the debris in the ruined state library bursts into flames as the workmen admit the air to smouldering masses of books and papers, but the whole interior is so soaked with water, that no danger is feared.

FORMER MERCHANT A BLACK HANDER

Caught Taking Dummy Package and Confesses to Police.

Chicago, March 31.—Phillip Purpurpa, a former commission merchant of South Chicago, today confessed to the police that he had written no less than twenty-five letters to people of the suburb, demanding money and signing the epistles "The Black Hand." Some of these were successful, he said.

Purpurpa was arrested yesterday when he went to a designated spot and took a dummy package which had been deposited there by the recipient of a Black Hand letter, in accordance with the directions inclosed.

Police of the suburb had been told by the recipients of over twenty threatening letters that their lives were in danger, but had no clew to the identity of the sender until Purpurpa walked into the trap they set for him.

The police do not believe Purpurpa's letters were inspired by his individual needs, but are endeavoring to connect him with the senders of other missives of similar import, which have been mailed to residents to Chicago, one of them to Federal Judge K. M. Landis, and to the members of a jury in his court which was trying a Black Hand case.

THREATS CARRIED OUT.

House Dynamited by Members of Black Hand.

New York, March 31.—Although writers of Black Hand threatening letters demanding $1,000 of an Italian storekeeper had neglected to specify where the money should be handed over, their threats of what would happen if the money were not received were carried out today when a bomb was exploded in the front of the tenement. The explosion shattered windows, cracked walls, blew down partitions and caused a panic among the hundreds of tenement dwellers in the five-story building.

A SHOWING OF

SPRING CLOTHES

THAT WILL ENLIGHTEN YOU!

AT no time in the history of manufacturing clothing has the standard in making, as represented in Oak Hall good clothes, reached such a high plane. Fabrics are more refined, trimmings are better selected, while the making is so good that many of your friends will forsake the high-priced merchant tailor this season and get clothes that fit and wear longer than their marked price indicates.

Foremost among the models shown in Oak Hall good clothes is the "Willard," an English creation, made roomy. Designed by a young man from Harvard. To be worn by young men from 17 to 50. The coat is cut with long, narrow, close-fitting lapel and has a shaped-in back. Vest is cut higher than last season while the trousers are full with a self-sustaining waist. "Willard" comes in a variety of the newest novelty patterns. $20 to $30.

Now comes the clothing for which we have long been famous—clothes for the business man. This season's efforts to produce the ideal have brought forth garments that surely will appeal to you. Made over conservative models from neat, high-grade fabrics. We can frankly say that never have such values been offered at from $20 to $35.

Then, too, we are showing raincoats and spring weight overcoats just bubbling over with style and originality. Fancy silk lined overcoats in gray, tan and black, with linings blending so perfectly that really you hate to wear them for every day. But the price is not high and we are sure you'll be delighted at the raincoats and medium-weight overcoats we are showing at from $15 to $30.

SERIES OF BOLD CRIMES

Dynamiting of Steel Docks May Be Work of Organized Gang.

Four Such Outrages Reported on Lakes Within Past Year.

Police authorities along the Great Lakes are coming to believe that the dynamiting outrages which have been committed in different lake ports in the last few months are the work of an organized gang of men who are making this part of their regular business.

It is stated that they are of an unusually high order of intelligence; that they have had considerable experience with explosives; that they are plentifully supplied with ready money, and that they have unlimited nerve coupled with extreme cunning.

No reason has been assigned for the destruction of valuable properties which have been damaged to the extent of hundreds of thousands of dollars, except that the men responsible are fanatics on the subject of unionism, and that the properties damaged have been built by non-union workmen. Much money has been spent in the effort to run the perpetrators to earth, but thus far all work along this line has been unsuccessful, as far as can be learned.

The last outrage was committed near Buffalo last week, when a steel ore loader was wrecked, causing a loss of nearly $100,000. The job was of the boldest. The blast was set off between 8 and 9 o'clock in the evening, supposedly by three men who were seen in the vicinity in a high-powered gray automobile, in which they are thought to have gone to the loader. They then used the car to make a safe escape. Blood hounds were brought to the scene, but they could not pick up the scent because too many foreign foot prints had crossed those of the perpetrators. Two watchmen were on duty at the time the explosive was set off.

Henry S. Pickands, of the Pickands-Mather company, has been quoted as saying that he is certain that the wrecking of the structure was the work of union sympathizers. "The bridge cost us $120,000," the quotation continues. "The damage approximates $90,000, although there may be some salvage. Of course there will be a bigger loss of business and time, as we are on the threshold of a busy season."

The loader was built by the Hoyl & Patterson company with non-union labor, and is the fourth piece of work completed by that firm which has been wrecked by explosives in a comparatively short time. A hoist in Milwaukee was blown up less than three weeks ago. Last August the big steel coal dock of the P. & R. company at Superior was wrecked, and previous to that a costly hoist at Erie, Pa., was ruined. The Superior job was also a bold piece of work and is well-remembered at the Head of the Lakes. The construction company had not yet turned it over to the coal company, so the company had to stand the heavy loss.

Owners of hoists and other construction work which has been done by non-union labor along the lakes and also in other parts of the country are taking extra precautions to protect their property. More watchmen are being hired; warning devices are being installed, and nothing is being overlooked which will tend to insure safety. Large rewards for information which will lead to the arrest and conviction of the criminals have been offered, but thus far their effect has been as futile as the efforts of the detectives and the police authorities.

Grain at Buffalo.

Buffalo, March 31.—The elevating of grain in the local port last week dropped off almost 300,000 bushels. According to the official figures in the office of the Lake Carriers' association, 958,227 bushels of grain were unloaded at the local elevators during the last seven days.

WAGES WILL BE RAISED

Dredge Owners Grant an Increase of $5 a Month.

Between 7,000 and 8,000 Marine Workers Will Be Affected.

Members of five marine associations affiliated with the International Longshoremen's association will receive an advance in wages of $5 a month this season and a further advance next year, amounting to $7.50 over the present scale, under the terms of an agreement effected in the conference in Detroit of committees representing the dredge owners and the organizations of marine workers.

Contracts on this basis were signed by the owners and the executives of the marine bodies. The new contract becomes operative April 1. The agreement is in the nature of a compromise. The marine organizations first requested an advance of $10 a month and the owners offered $5. Each side rejected the proposition of the other. The workers then sought a wage increase of $7.50, but finding the owners firm in refusing to pay more than $5 this season, accepted that with the understanding the $7.50 increase will apply next year.

Personnel of Committees.

Negotiations have been in progress since Monday, following an unsuccessful effort to get together on a wage scale at a conference extending over two weeks in February. The owners were represented by Capt. S. O. Dixon of the C. H. Starke Dredge & Dock company, Milwaukee, and J. A. Smith of the Great Lakes Dredge & Dock company, Chicago. Other owners were present, but not as active workers in the conference. The marine organizations were represented by a special committee, comprising Capt. T. V. O'Connor, Buffalo, president of the International Longshoremen's association; J. J. Sweeney, Buffalo, president of the Tug Firemen & Linemen's association; W. B. Jones, Detroit, president of the Licensed Tugmen's Protective association; John Dickey, president of the Submarine Drill Workers' Association of the Great Lakes; Capt. E. F. Kemmet, Cleveland, president of the Licensed Tugmen's Protective association, and Thomas J. Dolan, Chicago, chairman of the conference committee and secretary of the International Brotherhood of Steam Shovel & Dredge Men.

The wages of between 7,000 and 8,000 marine workers will be advanced by the agreement, and all possibility of a strike, which for a time threatened to tie up practically all river and harbor improvement work on the Great Lakes, is averted. Representatives of the marine workers' organizations express themselves as well pleased with the outcome of the conference.

Wages of Marine Workers.

Under the contracts in operation last season the wages for various classifications of the dredge workers were:

| | Month. | Day. | Hour. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Deck hands and laborers | $ 55 | $2.98 | $0.25 |
| Oilers, firemen, watchmen | 66 | 3.40 | .28 |
| Second cranesmen. | 88 | 4.25 | .35 |
| First cranesmen... | 99 | 4.67 | .39 |
| Second engineer... | 110 | 5.09 | .42 |
| First engineer.... | 150 | 6.63 | .55 |

The scale for workers on the dredging tugs:

| | Month. | Day. | Hour. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Captain | $120 | $5.20 | $0.43 |
| Mate, second engineer | 90 | 4.20 | .35 |

Work on Sundays is regarded as extra time and is paid for at the rate of time and a half. The regular work day is twelve hours. Under the system of payment the foregoing scale applied to men for whom board was provided by the employers. Workers who supplied their own board were paid $22.50 a month more than the amount listed.

The advance of $7.50 a month will be equivalent to an increase of 24½ cents a day for each of the workers.

STORAGE GRAIN IS UNLOADED

Activity in Buffalo Harbor—Situation at Head of Lakes Quiet.

A number of grain cargoes are being unloaded at the Buffalo elevators. Down there the grain men are of the opinion that there will be an early opening in the grain department of navigation, and the opinion is being expressed at Buffalo that there will be some grain coming into that port before April 15.

Up here the contrary opinion is held. There has been no activity so far and no inquiry after carriers. There is something like 8,000,000 bushels of grain at the Head of the Lakes, not enough to make a very heavy movement, and there seems to be little interest locally in the carrying situation.

The steamers F. M. Osborne, Panay, William H. Truesdale and Matt Andrews are among the last boats to be relieved of storage grain. A load of flaxseed has been taken off the steamer Shuck.

Orders for coal are being taken at Buffalo at the present time, but many of the orders are taken with the proviso that the coal may be delivered after June 1.

GOPHER AT DOCKS TO RECEIVE NEW ENGINES.

News received here states that the Gopher has been taken to the docks of the Toledo Shipbuilding company, where the boat will be fitted out with new engines and given a thorough overhauling. When completed the Gopher will be brought back here. It is thought, according to the information that has been received here, that the Gopher will be back in the Duluth harbor within a month.

MERGER OF STEAMSHIP COMPANIES ARRANGED.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 31.—Notices will be sent today to the stockholders of companies owning seven steamships of the Hawgood fleet to forward their certificates to the Superior Savings & Trust Co. for transfer and re-issue in stock of the Commonwealth Steamship company, into which the companies are being merged.

The capital stock of the Commonwealth Steamship company, now $200,000, will be increased to $1,800,000. Andrew S. Upson, of the Upson Nut company, will be president; H. B. Hawgood, secretary, and John McHannan, treasurer.

The vessels to be merged are the steamers Abraham Stearn, J. Q. Diddle, H. A. Hawgood, A. H. Hawgood, Sheldon Parks, W. A. Hawgood and W. R. Woodford.

BURGLARS MAKE THIRD TRIP

Butcher Shop of H. C. Krantz Has Attractions for Thieves.

The third time within a month the butcher shop of H. C. Krantz, 1029 West Michigan street, was entered by thieves Wednesday night. The thieves secured about $2 in small change which had been left in the till, and about $20 worth of meats.

Altogether Mr. Krantz estimates that the three excursions of the burglars has cost him about $100 in cash and merchandise. Wednesday night the lock on the front door was broken off. The door was found open by the patrolman on the beat and a policeman was sent to the home of Mr. Krantz at 1 o'clock in the morning to notify him of the facts in the case.

He declares that that part of the city does not have the police protection to which it is entitled. He asserts that it is a rough neighborhood and should have more officers. He suspects that the burglaries were committed by persons living in the vicinity, members of a tough gang.

OPEN BIDS FOR SPRINKLING

The board of public works this morning opened bids for sprinkling for the coming season and for the laying of cement and wooden walks.

Because of a press of other business, consisting mostly of hearings for which property owners were waiting, the bids were not compared or the contracts awarded. This will be done either this afternoon or tomorrow.

Part of the streets, including all those of hard surface pavements, will be sprinkled with water, and part of them will be treated with calcium chloride, a dust-laying preparation which was tried here last year with much success. # LONG LIST OF CRIMES

Calendar for the May Term Will Be Very Heavy.

Two Murder Cases and Many Minor Criminals on the List.

The criminal calendar for the May term of the district court will be the heaviest for a long time.

Already there are twenty-five cases listed for the attention of the grand jury and they continue to come in every day.

The doing away with the April term of court is responsible for the piling up of the cases. The cases that were acted on by the March grand jury were on trial during March, and will continue during April as long as they last. The term is fairly well cleaned up at the present time. The new cases began to come in after the dismissal of the grand jury in March and they have been coming in ever since. There is still more than a month before the next meeting of the grand jury, which will be in the early part of May. It is expected that there will probably be fifty cases for the consideration of the jury when it meets.

The cases that are in at the present time embrace nearly all varieties of crime. There are cases of child abandonment, forgery, the enticing away of young girls, assault, grand larceny in the several degrees, forgery in all degrees, robbery and murder.

There will be two murder trials. Charles Hill, accused of killing Axel Hill on the Bowery Monday night, was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of murder in the first degree, as was Ed. Davis, accused of the murder of Charles Taylor at Brimson, Minn., the same night.

It may be that Davis will be tried on a charge of manslaughter. The affair took place under peculiar circumstances. Ed. Condon, who was with the two men in the shack at the time, claims that he was asleep and knew nothing about it. Davis claims that he was awake and that he took a hand in the fight.

It will be a hard case for the prosecutor, as the three men were very drunk, one of them is dead, and the other claims to know nothing about it.

Both Davis and Charles Hill are in jail. Davis sticks to his story in which he claims that he acted only in self-defense. Hill regrets his action, and also claims self-defense.

James Sillis will probably be indicted for indecent assult. Charles Johnson has a grand larceny charge to answer to.

Matt Maki is accused of grand larceny in the first degree. He stole $93.40 from Frank Ranta, it is claimed.

Frank Gallagher and Bert A. Kenny are accused of having attempted to rob Archie McCorison on Lake avenue some days ago.

John R. Porterfield is accused of grand larceny in the second degree. He is said to have stolen three overcoats from W. D. Williams.

Hjalmar Peterson will answer to a charge of assault in the second degree. John Crowley, Alton Bates and George Brown are accused of having robbed Richard Burkland.

Joseph Levato is accused of having bitten the hand of Parquale Cacchiene.

Danville, Ill., Has $175,000 Fire.

Danville, Ill., March 31.—Fire which started at 4 o'clock this morning and which for several hours threatened the retail district of this city, destroyed the Stahl-Urban Overall factory, valued at $175,000. Crossed electric wires are supposed to have been the cause. The fire was under control at 10 o'clock.

SPECIALTIES FOR EASTER

Fresh Eggs Quoted All the Way From 18 to 25 Cents.

Strawberries Are Scarce—Potato Prices Firmer—Butter Market Erratic.

SOME EASTER SPECIALTIES.
Fresh Easter eggs are 18 cents a dozen.
Easter lilies are 25 cents a bloom and bud.
Azaleas range in price from $1 up.
Violets for Easter are $1. a bunch.
Tulips, narcissuses and jonquils 50 to 75 cents a dozen.
Hyacinths 25 cents a plant.
Easter lamb and beef?

Fresh eggs are now 18 cents a dozen and the merchants say that the price will not be raised before Easter. Owners of chickens in this vicinity are getting 25 cents a dozen for their eggs, but there is absolutely no doubt about the age of the egg one gets from them so the extra amount is given cheerfully by many.

Spring lamb, the special roast for Easter, has not appeared in the Duluth markets yet. There is plenty of old fall lamb, but the merchants do not expect the spring lamb for another week, and they do not seem to have any knowledge of what the price will be when it does come.

Flowers for Easter this year promise to be plentiful and the florists say that prices will be more reasonable this year than in former years, especially on roses and carnations. Easter lilies and violets, especially the latter at $1 a bunch, will be featured strongly this season. The spring flowers, such as tulips, narcissuses and jonquils, will range from 50 to 75 cents a dozen, and lilies of the valley will be about $1 a dozen. Potted hyacinths for 25 cents apiece, azaleas, the pretty, bushy plant with its profusion of blooms in various colors, will sell according to the size of the plant. Easter lilies will sell at 25 cents a bloom or bud, as usual.

The regular markets are offering about the same fruits and vegetables as last week. Strawberries are in the market again for the first time this week, but are up to 20 cents a pint box now. Rhubarb is about the newest offering and is priced at 15 cents a pound. Asparagus has been reduced to 18 cents a bunch this week and is much more plentiful than before. Green peppers are selling four for 25 cents this week, instead of at 10 cents apiece, and ripe tomatoes are offered for 30 cents a basket. Cranberries, just about the last of the year, are 15 cents a quart now.

Down along Michigan street the usual orders have been placed for Easter eggs. No shipments have been received by people in the produce trade, but consignments are expected soon. Distribution to retailers will be made about a week before Easter.

The butter market early in the week displayed weakness, but since then has fluctuated, being firm and then weak. A fire in Chicago last week destroyed 1,000,000 pounds of butter, but the effect was not bullish. Eggs have been fairly stationary with a weak undertone. Otherwise developments in the wholesale markets in the last few days have been unimportant.

The general volume of business in the produce trade is lighter than is usual at this period of the year. The increase in the egg trade is offset by the curtailment of activities in the market for fresh fruits and vegetables. The butter branch of the market is the only part of it which appears in a congested condition.

Dealers in butter still have a large quantity in cold storage which must be disposed of before they enter the new crop year in June. Prospects of their getting out without hurting the market for the current make are decidedly slim. They have the recent experience of egg speculators fresh in their minds and their only fear is that they will have to travel the same road that egg speculators traversed before cold storage holdings of eggs were liquidated. The road is an expensive one, the losses of egg men having been heavy. Butter men are trying to avoid this experience.

The slim hopes held out by reports of export sales have evaporated as investigation disclosed that the British markets also were in a badly congested condition. Now there is Canadian reciprocity talk to cause additional worry to butter dealers who have stock to sell and who fear the influx of the Canadian product free of duty into Northern and Eastern markets. Stores are accumulating in butter centers, as buyers appear to have the whip hand and they are demanding concessions. The market is weak and has not recovered its equilibrium.

Eggs are being received in large quantities. In the face of heavy receipts the market has displayed surprising buoyancy. There are no more of last year's cold storage eggs in warehouses, but some of the season's product is now finding an outlet from the open market into coolers, being taken by speculators who made money on early purchases last year. There is not much snap to the speculative business, however, and the stability of the market is due to the enormous consumption of the product. The public is eating eggs in large quantities and the consumptive demand shows no sign of slackening.

Potato dealers are enjoying the first boom since the drouth scare of last summer. Prices are firmer and the gain is being well sustained.

Cold weather has retarded the ripening process of strawberries and receipts have fallen below expectations. Prices are up and the volume of business has contracted. Supplies of Southern green vegetables are moderate and prices are firm.

Most interest displayed in the market for poultry centered in chickens which have met with an exceptional demand. Springs were favored at the beginning of the week but the upturn in prices caused a buying demand for aged fowls. Chickens, ducks and geese are selling at practically stationary values.

Fruit trade is centered in oranges and apples. Pineapples have met with a steady outlet.

In the recent changes of weather the wholesale grocers have seen a possible warning that the trade may expect a repetition of conditions existing a year ago—several days of warmish and sunshine, followed by cold and sleet, when budding fruit trees and sprouting vegetables were seriously damaged and a short pack in nearly every line of canned goods was the result.

No. 3 Maryland standard tomatoes are the only thing in the canned goods line that show an easy tone. This fact is due to the dullness in the tomato market. Jobbers find it impossible to pick up first-class goods at prices usually quoted. Holders of goods that are slightly off standard are evidently taking advantage of the opportunity to unload.

There is an improved demand for canned goods and supplies are becoming low. The demand for California prunes shows a slight curtailment under recent advances, but holders continue firm in their views on account of the strong statistical position of the fruit both on the coast and in the different consuming markets.

INDIANS IN MAINE LEGISLATURE.

Red Man: There are two Indian representatives in the Maine legislature, who represent the Indians of that state. They are assigned seats in the rear of the chamber, but have no vote in the proceedings.

They are selected by their tribesmen because of their prominence and their purpose in the legislature is to give the Indians' side when various matters pertaining to their constituents' welfare are under discussion.

These Indians have had recognized representatives for years, who are treated with courtesy and consideration by the other members, and in all matters affecting the Indians do much good. The two representatives in office at present are Lola Coly, who lives on Indian island in Oldtown and represents the Penobscot tribe, and Lewy Mitchell, who represents the Passamaquoddy tribe.

BEGIN WORK NEXT WEEK

Soo Line Will Begin Construction of Twin City Line.

Will Be the Only Big Job Undertaken This Year.

Work on the new road between the Twin City and Duluth will be started by the Soo Line next week, providing present favorable weather conditions continue. President Pennington, in an interview given in St. Paul, said yesterday there is only sixty-five miles of connecting line to build, so that the new direct line between the Twin City and the Head of the Lakes will be finished and in operation this year.

The line will extend from near Foxboro, Minn., on the Brooten line, to Frederic, Wis., and will give the fourth direct route between the Twin City and the Head of the Lakes.

From present prospects this will be the only big work undertaken this year by the Soo Line. Mr. Pennington said that the line, as reported, will not be built this year in North Dakota.

"We've got to get more for what we do before we do much more," was his somewhat pessimistic utterance. "Conditions are not very favorable to get the money to carry on big undertakings. After the state legislatures get through, congress probably will begin an agitation again and disturb the business situation."

After this gloomy outburst, the president of the Soo Line cheered up somewhat.

"We are doing a fair business. Everything has not gone to thunder yet."

But Mr. Pennington pointed out that the Soo will not spend anything like the amount of money it did last year, when it expended about $2,000,000 on new lines, terminals and ore docks in Minnesota and Wisconsin. All of the work that had to be done was finished last year, so that under the item of "betterments and extensions" the company will not spend much money this year. But a good crop may change the whole aspect of things.

"Is it true, as reported, that the Soo Line is increasing its holdings in the Wisconsin Central?" was asked.

"No," he replied. "The Soo already has control, so there is no need of it."

PUBLISHERS COMPLAIN.

Rates on Print Paper to Des Moines Alleged to Be Excessive.

Washington, March 31.—In a complaint filed with the interstate commerce commission yesterday, practically all the publishing companies of Des Moines, Iowa, together with United States Senator Lafayette Young, proprietor of the Des Moines Capital, joined in the allegations that the railroad freight rates on print paper from points in Wisconsin and Minnesota to Des Moines are unreasonable, excessive and discriminatory.

The petition of the complainants is directed against the Great Northern railway and other Northwestern interstate carriers. It is averred that the rates now charged by the roads for the transportation of print paper are, on an average, 2½ cents per 100 pounds higher than the charges from the same points of origin to other equi-distant destinations. The commission is requested equitably to adjust the rates and to grant to the petitioners reparation on shipments made under the alleged excessive charges.

NO MORE MISERY IN THE STOMACH

Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Dyspepsia Vanish in Five Minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch Gas and Eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of Dizziness, Heartburn, Fullness, Nausea, Bad taste in mouth and stomach headache—this is Indigestion.

A full case of Pape's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents and will thoroughly cure your out-of-order stomach, and leave sufficient about the house in case some one else in the family may suffer from stomach trouble or Indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases, then you will understand why Dyspeptic trouble of all kinds must go, and why they usually relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or Indigestion in five minutes. Diapepsin is harmless and tastes like candy, though each dose contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for Billousness or Constipation.

This city will have many Diapepsin cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be cranky about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever try a little for Indigestion or Gastritis or any other Stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and forever rid yourself of Stomach Trouble and Indigestion.

COMES TO A SUDDEN END

Frink Case Dismissed When Plaintiff Presents His Evidence.

Failed to List Claim as Asset in Bankruptcy Proceedings.

Because Henry C. Frink failed to list his claim against the retail and wholesale meat dealers of the city as an asset, when he went through bankruptcy, he failed to recover any damages in his suit, which terminated suddenly yesterday when Judge Cant directed a verdict in favor of the defendants upon the motion of the attorneys who represented them.

It was claimed in making the motion that in 1904 when Frink went through bankruptcy in federal court, he failed to list his claim against the wholesale and retail dealers. It was claimed that whatever damage he sustained passed to his trustee. Judge Cant decided that no damages subsequent to the discharge from bankruptcy had been shown, although the plaintiff claimed the contrary.

The motion on the part of the attorneys for the defendants came as a surprise. All the evidence was in and the attorneys had made the play that they intended fighting the case to the end. The plaintiff was allowed to introduce as much testimony as he wished; each witness was cross-examined by each of the attorneys for the defendants, and then yesterday after the plaintiff had rested they made a motion for a directed verdict as stated.

The case was the longest of the present term of court. Frink claimed that he was forced out of business as the result of a conspiracy between the retail and wholesale butchers. He asked $57,000 as damages. The case had been hanging fire for about five years.

The defendants in the action were: The Armour Packing company, Cudahy Packing company, Swift, Nelson Morris, Hammond, S. & S., Hormel, Elliott and Mendenhall and the members of the Retail Butchers' association, which was composed of about sixty members.

Frink attempted to show that it was because he would not join the Retail Butchers' association that he was forced to go into bankruptcy. He claimed that the association was maintained for the purpose of keeping up the prices of meats and to keep those out of business who would not join their association.

Judge Cant stated yesterday in court that the action was undoubtedly brought in good faith and on reasonable grounds.

The trial was on in court nine days, and many attorneys from outside the city were engaged in it.

Mr. Frink was represented by Attorneys John B. Arnold and William Marx of Duluth and Attorney Frink of Marinette, Wis.

Of the defendants the Retail Butchers' association was represented by H. B. Fryberger; the Swift Packing company and four others, by H. J. Grannis; the Cudahy Packing company, by M. Douglas; the Armour Packing company, by Robert E. Olds of St. Paul and A. B. Stratton of Chicago; Hormel & Co., by F. B. Catherwood of Austin, Minn; and Elliott & Co., by Baldwin, Baldwin & Dancer, for whom H. A. Dancer appeared.

PREPARING FOR THE GRAND ARMY

Rochester Getting Ready for National Encampment in August.

Rochester, N. Y., March 31. — Fifty years ago Fort Sumter was fired upon; fifty years ago the Civil war, that long and bloody conflict between the North and South, was begun. Those were days that tried men's souls, and in order to celebrate the semi-centennial of that event, the members of the Grand Army of Republic, that noble body of men to wiilch so much honor is due, will meet in national encampment at Rochester, N. Y., from Aug. 21 to 26, inclusive.

The men will gather from the north, south, east and west; and the greeting to these conquering old heroes on the part of the Flower City will be genuine and sincere. The city is planning to make the affair memorable in the annals of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Every courtesy will be shown the defenders of the flag. There will be receptions, parades, camp fires and a constant round of festivities in honor of the distinguished guests. There will not be a dull moment; and the city, with all its door wide open, will be turned over to battle-scarred old veterans.

The citizens of Rochester are already working their heads off, figuratively speaking, in their efforts to entertain the national encampment. Mayor Hiram H. Edgerton, who was asked to name the general committee, has sciected sixty-five representative men of the city to aid in making arrangements for the affair. The committee is a comprehensive one, made up of veterans, private citizens and public officials.

Reservations are coming from the national and state officials throughout the country. There will be forty-four state departments represented. Rochester has several of the finest hotels in the country, so there will be no difficulty in entertaining the 150,000 guests expected.

Rochester's advantageous geographical position is well known, and there are a half a dozen trunk lines having a terminal here; the city is accessible from every point. Lake Ontario is no bar, as a mammoth car ferry is operated between this port and Canada, connecting with the Grand Trunk system and railroads of the North. A special reduced rate has already been secured; and the fame of the beauties of the Flower City, coupled with that of a convention city, will attract thousands.

COAL PRICES ARE LOWER

Annual Reduction of Fifty Cents a Ton on April 1.

Shortage of All Kinds of Anthracite at Head of Lakes.

COAL PRICES.

| | Today. | Tomorrow. |
|---|---|---|
| Nut | $8.00 | $7.50 |
| Egg and Stove | 7.75 | 7.25 |
| Pea coal | 6.75 | 6.25 |

Lay in your winter's supply of coal tomorrow, or any other day during April, if you are long on ready cash and storage room.

The coal companies allow you 50 cents a ton for storing the coal in your basements during the summer, and saving them dock room. They figure it costs them 50 cents a ton to carry the coal during the summer, in storage charges and interest on the money invested, and the annual cut of 50 cents a ton in hard coal goes into effect April 1. The price is raised 10 cents a ton each month until the former prices are restored.

There is a decided shortage of hard coal at the Head of the Lakes at the present time. The docks are nearly cleaned of hard coal, and in some sizes there is not a ton to be had, according to local agents.

Stocks of soft coal are fairly heavy, and all the companies are well supplied with all varieties of bituminous. There has been no cut in soft coal prices, and none is expected.

Grand Forks Boy Scouts.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Invitation to 1,500 boys, ministers and educators went out from the Y. M. C. A. yesterday inviting them to attend the meeting tonight at which a brigade of Boy Scouts will be organized. Fern Monson of Fargo will be the speaker and it is expected that the organization when effected will be the largest in the state.

Cheadle, which was adopted, provides that the state shall lease the property to Duluth for a period of twenty-five years, at the rate of $1 per year, and prescribes the form of lease to be entered into between the city and the state. In its present form the bill has the approval of the state auditor and other state officials, and when it is explained to the senate there is little doubt that it will go through.

The senate considered several other measures local to St. Louis county in committee of the whole yesterday afternoon. One, by Senator Boyle, provides for a change of venue from one municipal court to another, and is intended to enable range residents to escape being sued in the Duluth municipal court by having cases brought against them there moved to the range municipal courts, of which there are several. This bill was advanced to the calendar with the privilege of amendment.

Another local measure advanced to the calendar by the senate was the house bill by Representative Knapp, requiring the treasurer of St. Louis county to collect local assessments at the same time that he collects general taxes.

Word having reached the St. Louis county delegation that some folks have worried for fear some of the local measures might be lost, it may be as well to state that the chances now are that every measure asked for to meet local needs in St. Louis county will be passed. There will be a fight on the bill for a state building in Hibbing to house the mine inspection force, Senator Clague, chairman of the senate finance committee, being against it; but the delegation is making a hard fight for it and expects to win. The fate of the proposed sub-experiment farm at Duluth depends upon the action of the senate finance committee and the house appropriations committee, but the delegation is hopeful of success on this bill.

There is no doubt whatever about the passage of such bills as the range court bill and other purely local measures.

Forestry Bill Passed.

The house yesterday afternoon passed the forestry bill by a unanimous vote, after showing its prowess by cutting the salary of the chief forester from $5,000 to $3,000, and the salary of the secretary of the board from $2,400 to $1,800.

The reduction in the salary of the chief forester was fought hard by all the friends of the bill, on the ground that it will be impossible to get the right kind of man, the kind of man needed to make the forestry system a success, by the offer of a salary of $3,000.

It is hoped by the friends of forestry, however, that the senate will restore the salary to the original figure, and thus make it possible to get a man who will make the law a success.

Aside from the fight on salaries, there was no debate on the bill and it passed 103 to 0.

As adopted, the bill provides for a state forestry board of nine members, to be made up as follows: The director of the forestry school, the dean of the college of agriculture, two members appointed on the recommendation of the regents of the state university, two members appointed on the recommendation of each of the following bodies; the state agricultural society, the state horticultural society and the state game and fish commission.

The board is to have full charge of forestry work, but necessarily will delgate the greater parts of its responsibility to the chief forester, who must be a trained forester. The chief forester may appoint an assistant and such other employes as may be necessary. He is to divide the state into patrol districts, and to appoint district rangers over each, who are to employ patrolmen whenever necessary.

The forester is given power to order railroads to provide patrolmen to follow each train through forest areas, and if they fail to do so he can appoint his own men and charge the expense to the railroad company. It is made the duty of the railroads, acting independent of the forester's orders, to take care of fires set by their locomotives. Railroads are required to use spark-arresting devices on their locomotives, and to keep their right-of-way clear of combustible materials from April 15 to Dec. 1. Strict regulations about the use of fire in forest areas are provided, accompanied by suitable penalties for violation.

Cuttings and Slashings.

As to the disposal of cuttings and slashings from lumbering operations, always a vexed question, the bill makes the following provisions:

"Where and whenever in the judgment of the state forester there is or may be danger of starting and spreading of fires from slashings and debris from the cutting of timber of any kind and for any purpose, the state forester will notify the individual, firm or corporation, for any by whom the said timber has been or is being cut, ordering them to dispose of the slashings and debris as he may direct. Where conditions do not permit the burning of the slashings and debris over the entire area so covered, the state forester may require the person, firm or corporation for any and by whom the timber was cut, to dispose of such slashings and debris in such a way as to establish a safe fire line around the area requiring such protection, the said fire line to be of a width and of a character satisfactory to the state forester.

"When any person, firm or corporation, shall have been notified by the state forester to dispose of slashings and debris, either by entirely consuming the same or establishing a fire line sufficient for the protection of adjoining property, and fails to comply with such instructions, the said person, firm or corporation, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not less than $50 and not exceeding $100 and costs of prosecution for each violation thereof or failure to comply therewith.

"When any such branches, slashings or debris are left unburned contrary to the instructions of the state forester, the state forester may go upon the premises with such force of men as may be necessary, and burn such branches, slashings and debris, and the expense thereof shall be a lien upon the land on which they are situated, enforced as liens for the improvement of real estate are enforced, and such expense shall be a prima facie valid claim that may be collected from the person, firm or corporation who cut the timber or wood from which the said slashings and debris were made.

"Any person or corporation who cuts or fells trees or bushes of any kind in clearing land for roadbed or right-of-way for any railroad, highway or trail shall in the manner and at the time as above prescribed burn the slashings and all combustible material except fuel and merchantable timber.

Any person or corporation who cuts or fells trees or bushes of any kind in clearing land for agricultural or pasturage purposes, or who in any way clears land, is prohibited from setting fire to the slashings, brush, roots or excavated stumps or other combustible material on such land and letting the fire run: the material must be disposed of pursuant to the regulations of the state forester.

"Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not less than $25, nor more than $100, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than ten days nor more than ninety days."

Wages of Fire Fighters.

It is provided that the wages and expenses of men summoned to fight forest fires actually burning shall be fixed by the state forester and the labor reckoned and paid for by the hours of labor performed, which shall not exceed the rate of 25 cents per hour employed; provided no pay shall be given for fighting fire within one mile of the residence of such person unless employed by the state forester or his assistants. The forestry board is authorized to draw out of the money appropriated by this act a reasonable sum, not to exceed $5,000 at any one time, from the state treasurer and place the same in the hands of the state forester to be used by him in paying emergency expenses, and the state auditor is authorized to draw his warrant for such sum when duly approved by the president and secretary of said board. The state forester shall take proper sub-vouchers or receipts from all persons to whom such funds are paid and after the same have been approved by the state forestry board, they shall be filed with the state auditor.

It is also provided that every employe of the state forestry board and every person lawfully commanded to assist in enforcing any of the provisions of this chapter, who shall unjustly refuse or neglect to perform his duty; every person who shall kindle a fire on or near forest, brush or prairie land and leave it unquenched, or be a party thereto, or who shall set fire to brush, stumps, dry grass, field, stubble, or other material and fail to extinguish the same before it has endangered the property of another; every person who shall negligently or carelessly set on fire, or cause to be set on fire, any woods, prairie, or other combustible material, whether on his own land or not, by means whereof the property of another shall be endangered, or who shall negligently suffer any fire upon his own lands to extend beyond the limits thereof; every person who shall use other than incombustible wads for firearms, or carry a naked torch, firebrand, or exposed light in or near forest land, or who, in the vicinity of such land, shall throw or drop into combustible material any burning match, ashes of pipe, lighted cigar, or any other burning substance, and who fails to immediately extinguish the same, and every person who shall deface, destroy or remove any abstract or notice posted under this chapter, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and punished by a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100 and costs, or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than ten days nor more than ninety days."

Communities in the timber area are authorized, and where possible directed, to clear off all combustible material and debris and create at least two good firebreaks of not less than ten feet in width each, which are to completely circle such communities at a distance of not less than twenty rods apart, between which back fires may be set or a stand taken to fight forest fires.

Supervisors, constables and clerks of towns, mayors of cities and presidents of villages are constituted fire wardens for their respective districts. Communities are given authority to take necessary precautions to prevent the starting and spreading of forest fires, and are authorized to levy a tax of not more than 5 mills for a "fire fund."

Telephone Bill Adopted.

By a vote of 81 to 27, the house yesterday afternoon passed a bill by Representatives Minette and Schwartz, under which, if it passes, it will be possible for any person to telephone from his home to any other place in the state having a telephone, regardless of whether or not the connected telephones belong to one or more companies.

The bill puts the telephone companies of the state under the state tax commission, which is made a sort of public utility commission, in so far as telephones are concerned, and which is given authority to regulate the rates and service of telephone companies, including power to compel different companies to connect with each other.

Representative O'Neill wanted to amend the bill so as to put the telephone companies under the railroad and warehouse commission and to give cities the right to run their own telephone plants, but his amendment was lost.

Representative John G. Lennon opposed the bill on the ground that it was depriving the communities of the right of regulating their own public utilities.

Representative Clinton Robinson has lost his opportunity to attract the censure of the house by making an attack on the members of the temperance committee, which voted Tuesday to kill his bill taxing beer wagons.

Yesterday the committee decided to reconsider its action and to report the bill in without recommendation. Whether this was because the committee thought the house had no more time to waste in bickering, or whether it thought Robinson has had enough notoriety, does not appear; but at any rate Robinson's bill will go on general orders, though too late to become a law.

The senate judiciary committee, by a vote of 14 to 9, yesterday afternoon recommended for passage the house bill by Representative Ernest Lundeen of Minneapolis, raising from $5,000 to $7,500 the limit of damages recoverable for death by wrongful act.

Now that this bill is before the senate, it probably will pass, and the chances are that it will be about the only relief labor will get out of this session, so far as workingmen's compensation acts are concerned.

Killed by Senate.

The senate in committee of the whole yesterday afternoon recommended for indefinite postponement the bill by the senate committee on banks and banking, prohibiting the making of derogatory statements regarding banks.

The senate advanced to the calendar the following bills:

By Senator Lende—Giving any person caring for an intoxicated person a right of action for compensation for so doing against any person causing such intoxication, when liquor laws have been violated, and giving husband, wife, child, parent, guardian, employer or any other person who is injured in person or property or means of support by any intoxicated person, right of action against any person who causes such intoxication when such person has violated the liquor laws.

By Senator Sundberg—Giving farm laborers a lien on crops as security for wages.

By Representative Nash—Requiring automobilists who injure pedestrians to stop and give such assistance as they can, and to leave the number of their machine.

By Representative O'Neill—Providing for the payment by counties for physicians' services and other necessary expenses where they are made necessary because of physical injury received by peace officers in the discharge of their official duties.

By Senator Coller—Appropriating $7,000—one year's salary as governor—for the widow of the later Governor John A. Johnson.

By Senator Denegre—Authorizing cities of more than 50,000 people to condemn lands for playground purposes.

By the house committee on game and fish—Requiring non-residents to take out licenses at $1 each in order to fish in this state.

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT BLOOD HUMORS

ECZEMA ACNE TETTER SALT RHEUM PIMPLES RASHES AND ALL ERUPTIONS OF THE SKIN

The intimate relation of the skin to the blood is shown by the fact that impurities or poisons of any character are usually manifested in some form on the outer cuticle. The germs of fever in the blood will cause a flushing and redness of the skin; in like manner the uric acid of Rheumatism will cause inflammation, while malarious poison produces a sallow and chalky hue; and so with other impurities.

The skin is a real barometer to the blood, and the character of impurity infecting the circulation is determined by the effects on the outer tissue. Humors in the blood produce what we term in general, Skin Diseases. These are divided into several classes known as Eczema Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Psoriasis, Pimples, Rashes, etc., and each of these troubles indicate the presence of humors or acids in the circulation. The humors and acids by their irritating nature cause the delicate flesh just beneath the outer skin to ulcerate and discharge, and soon the skin is disfigured with eruptions which often are torturing to the sufferer because of soreness or intense itching. External treatment cannot cure an internal trouble, and for this reason salves, washes, lotions, etc., can have no curative effect on skin diseases. Such treatment can perhaps soothe, and make the irritated flesh more comfortable, but the real cause must be removed by purifying the blood before skin trouble can be cured.

I want to tell you of the great good I received from the use of S. S. S. I am now 75 years old and had suffered with Eczema for forty years caused by a humor in my blood, and could find nothing to cure me until I tried S. S. S. I suffered intensely with the itching and burning; pustules would form from which there flowed a sticky fluid; crusts would come on the skin and when scratched off the skin was left as raw as a piece of beef. I suffered agony the long years I was afflicted, but when I used S. S. S. I found a perfect cure. There has never been any return of the trouble.
Stockham, Neb. C. H. EVANS.

S. S. S. cures Skin Diseases of every kind by purifying the blood and removing the humors from the circulation. It neutralizes all impure acids, cools the over-heated blood, builds it up to normal strength, multiplies its rich, nutritious corpuscles, and adds to its purity in every way. Then the skin instead of being irritated by acrid impurities and humors, is nourished, soothed and softened by pure, rich blood. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice free. S. S. S. is for sale at drug stores.

TREATY IS VIOLATED

Possibility That Naval Maneuvers Will Not Be Held in June.

Only One Armed Vessel Allowed on the Upper Lakes.

It is possible that the naval review, which is scheduled for Chicago in June and which was to be attended by all of the nine militia-manned vessels on the Great Lakes, will not be held on account of the possibility that the maneuvers do not come within the treaty of 1817 between the United States and Canada.

Other reviews have been held on the Great Lakes without objection from Canada but the maneuvers which are appointed for next June are occupying the attention of the Dominion government. Canada will make immediate representations to the United States looking to the removal from the Great Lakes of most of the nine war vessels now used by the naval militia.

The Rush-Bagot convention limited naval armaments on Lake Ontario to one vessel of 100 tons, bearing one 18-pounder and that on the Upper Lakes to the same. Whether the presence of the nine vessels with their armament violates the treaty between the two countries will be determined. Canada will make formal representations to the American government and a commission or an arbitration committee may be appointed to decide the question.

The United States obtained the right from Canada to pass several training ships through the Canadian canals to the Great Lakes. The United States also made application for the passage of a cruiser into the Great Lakes but the Dominion government would not accede to the request as the presence of a cruiser on the Great Lakes, even temporarily, would violate the treaty of 1817.

INFRACTIONS OF LIQUOR LAWS

Temperance Societies Will Investigate to See If Any Exist.

Alleged infractions of the Sunday and after-hours closing laws by the saloon keepers of the city will be discussed this evening at a special meeting of the United Temperance society of the West End at 2102 West Superior street.

The new temperance society embraces the following temperance societies of the city: North Star, Lysglimt and Morning Star lodges of the Independent Order of Good Templars, the West end branch of the Women's Christian Temperance union and the Scandinavian Temperance society.

It is understood that the new temperance organization will wage a campaign against the saloon men and will take steps at the meeting this evening to collect evidence against any lawbreakers. Just what course will be pursued is not known. Private detectives may be employed.

The gathering this evening will be held at the home of L. A. Simonson.

The Moe home will be one of the most pretentious to be erected in the West end this year.

With a banquet and dance, members of Lodge No. 18, S. H. & E. F., a Scandinavian benefit society of the West end, will celebrate the twentieth anniversary of its founding tomorrow evening at Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street.

The organization has had a steady growth since it was formed, twenty years ago, and now has a membership of about 300 in the city. Jacob Gronlund is president of the local order, Albert Johnson, secretary, and Oscar Peterson treasurer.

In Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan the society has prospered and at the present time in these three states it is figured that the membership is close to 6,000. ## WILL INSPECT PROPOSED WATER MAIN ROUTES.

If good weather prevails Sunday, the trip of inspection over the proposed routes of the extension of water mains to the hillside district, which was to have been taken last Sunday by the Sixth and Seventh ward aldermen and members of the West End Hillside Improvement club, but was postponed, will be made.

Two routes have been picked out and it is a question with the hillsiders which would be the better. The attitude of the majority of the members of the Hillside club is an indifferent one, the main object being to get the extension, regardless of which way it comes over the hill.

After the inspection is made, it is probable that the club will take some action in recommmending one of the routes.

DREDGE OUTFITS TO NEW ORLEANS.

A shipment of two dredging outfits to New Orleans, La., was made this week by the Clyde Iron works of the West end. The dredges will be used in reclaiming swamp lands near that city. There has been a good inquiry for this kind of machinery this year, especially from the South, where considerable attention is given to the reclamation projects. In most of the ventures, Northern capital has been active.

as an errand boy in a flower shop. Early in life he had a place of his own. Then he established a grain market and speculated in cattle, bargaining with the farmers who visited the fairs. He grew wealthy and became a usurer, with an office in the center of the city. He wore fine clothes and his carriages and horses attracted much attention as he drove through the streets of Naples.

Six years ago he surrendered the highest place in the Camorra, the head of the society, to Luigi Zucci; but it is charged that he continued in control of the organization. He was repeatedly charged with responsibility for or complicity in crimes of burglary, the white slave traffic, fraud against the election laws and business corruption. Several times arrested, he was invariably discharged because of lack of evidence, or at the worst received light punishment. These escapes are said to have been due to his influence with the authorities, many of whom owed their offices to his control over the votes of the poorer classes, whom he often helped.

Arrested by Petroxino.

Following the murder of Gennaro Cuoccolo, Erricone was arrested and charged with the crime, but a way to his release was found in the false testimony of the priest Ciro Vitozzi. Fleeing to America, Erricone was re-arrested in Brooklyn by Police Lieut. Petrosino and has never since been a free man.

Abbatemaggio, the informer, has testified that Erricone approved the sentences of death imposed upon his traitorous associates, Gennaro Cuoccolo and his wife, and after the deed was done distributed sums of money among the assassins. These allegations, as well as that concerning his position in the Camorra, Erricone stoutly denied, in reply to the questions of President Bianchi and the crown prosecutor, Cavaliere Santoro, today.

TAMMANY PRESENTS JUDGE O'GORMAN FOR NEW YORK'S SENATOR

hope of a settlement at once.

Soon after Mr. Murphy's arrival, a report was circulated that Supreme Justice James A. O'Gorman of New York was the latest name to receive serious consideration by the organization leaders.

After a conference with Mr. Murphy, Senators Ferris of Utica and Saxe of New York, the latter, an insurgent, went to the home of Senator Roosevelt to sound the insurgent leader as to whether the name of Justice O'Gorman would be an acceptable addition to the list to be considered at the caucus.

Twenty-two insurgents were assembled at Senator Roosevelt's home when Saxe and Ferris arrived. After a short discussion they turned down the O'Gorman proposition until they could look up his record.

The insurgents declared that they could muster enough strength to prevent O'Gorman's selection at today's caucus. On this proposition they expected aid from some of the Sheehan men, who have threatened to join the insurgents in refusing to caucus if the organization insisted in forcing O'Gorman's name upon them.

At a conference between Murphy and the organization leaders at Mr. Murphy's room at Ten Eyck hotel, ending at 11:15 o'clock, the understanding was reached that O'Gorman's name would be presented to the caucus as the organization candidate. The leaders said they thought they could depend on twelve or thirteen insurgent votes.

LOUIS WONG IS UNKNOWN

Chinese of Duluth Never Heard of Red Wing Groom.

Mystery in Wedding of Celestial and American Girl.

Mystery surrounds the identity of the principals of the wedding of a Chinaman and an American girl at Red Wing a few days ago.

The groom said that his home was in Duluth, where he had large business interests. The girl said she had been working here for a year, in the employ of the man she married.

Who is Louis Wong? Is he really Louis Wong, or is he somebody else? Is he actually a Chinese resident of Duluth, who has assumed a false name in order to conceal his identity for the purposes of the marriage, or other reasons?

Who is Florence Strolberg, the bride, who claimed to have fallen in love with the Chinaman after she started to work for him in Duluth a year ago? According to a dispatch received here, she asserted that she was a native of Hancock, Mich., and born of Norwegian parents, but left an orphan and homeless by the death of her father and mother.

Never Heard of Wong.

Prominent Chinamen of Duluth state that they never heard of Louis Wong. They say that if he is what he has been represented, they would know him, and that if he were as well connected as claimed, even though he lived outside Duluth but within a hundred miles of here, they would have heard of him. Chin Ong, proprietor of the Mandarin cafe, the leading Chinese restaurant at the Head of the Lakes, and official interpreter of the United States government for three states, declared today that the name was absolutely strange to him. He said that he did not know the man and had not heard of any Chinaman in Duluth or the ranges named Louis Wong. He was unfamiliar with the name of the girl, and added that he has never had even an intimation of the fact that any Chinaman in the city has been contemplating marriage with an American girl. The name of Louis Wong does not appear in the lists of the immigration office at Duluth. It is also known that Louis Wong was the name given in the marriage ceretificate.

The dispatch which was sent out from Red Wing, and which gives an account of the ceremony, is as follows:

"Red Wing, Minn., March 29.—A unique marriage was solemnized in Red Wing today when Louis Wong, a native of Hongkong, China, took a pretty American girl, Florence Strolberg, of Hancock, Mich., as his bride.

"The ceremony was performed by the Rev. S. Arthur Cook at the parsonage of the First Methodist church. Miss Helge Luth of Minneapolis, a close friend of the bride, and Charles Wong, cousin of the groom, also of the Mill City, were witnesses to the ceremony.

"The groom is a wealthy importer of Chinese silks and is the proprietor of one of the largest hotels in Duluth. He owns considerable property at the Head of the Lakes and is said to be one of the wealthiest members of his race in the West.

"Left homeless by the death of her parents, the bride went from Hancock to Duluth about a year ago in search of employment. She went to work for the Chinese importer and in this way the love romance was begun which culminated in the wedding.

"It was truly an American wedding, the ring service being used. The groom was cleanly shaven and minus his queue. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served the bridal party. The groom is 35 years old and has been in this country about twenty years.

"He has become molded to the customs of the American people and is well pleased with this country. He says he has no intention of leaving America.

"The bride is a native of Hancock and is of Norwegian parentage. She celebrated her 20th birthday last week. The bridal party left for the Twin Cities and from there Mr. and Mrs. Wong will leave for their home in Duluth."

FIVE MEN TO EVERY WOMAN IN VILLAGE OF CANYON

Girls wanted at Canyon!

If George Bernard Shaw be right, and woman is the pursuer and man the pursued in the matrimonial marathon, the motto of unattached womankind in this vicinity should be "Canyon or bust."

Canyon is a thriving little settlement some twenty miles north of Duluth, near the new line of the Canadian Northern. The settlers there are up to date and alive; they keep in touch with the Commercial club's latest moves to aid the farmer, own their own land and homes, are rapidly clearing the country around the settlement, and read The Herald.

But—and here's the rub—young women are scarce in Canyon.

A Canyon settler writes to The Herald that when a party is given at Canyon, the young men have to dance with chairs or pillows. They can raise every kind of flower at Canyon from a sunflower to a violet, with the single exception of the wall flower. There isn't a wall flower in Canyon, and there are about five young men to every woman.

COURT DECIDES HALF CORD OF WOOD IS NOT ALWAYS A HALF CORD

When you order half a cord of wood and have it delivered, sawed and split for use, the dealer doesn't have to send you sixty-four cubic feet, according to a ruling made by Judge W. L. Windom in municipal court this morning.

The woodman may send you fifty, or fifty-three or fifty-five cubic feet, as was determined by the findings of the court today in the case of the city against J. D. O'Connell, a wood dealer who was arrested on a charge of having delivered a short half cord of wood to William Langdon on East Sixth street.

Yesterday afternoon George Duren, sealer of weights and measures, and Mr. O'Connell, laid out half a cord of wood of the same kind that had been delivered to Mr. Langdon. They sawed and split it the same as is done when sold to the public. It was replied, and according to the statement of the sealer on the stand this morning, it shrank to fifty-three feet. In other words, the wood measured eleven cubic feet less than it had before it was split.

In finding Mr. O'Connell not guilty, the theory of the court was that when a person orders half a cord of wood, he orders the wood while it is in four-foot lengths, and then directs the man who is making the sale to saw and split it for him, the extra compensation being for the labor of preparing the wood for use. The purchaser gets just as much wood as though he had had the original cord delivered to his home, and sawed and split it himself.

Judge Windom said that that was the reasonable and just view to take of the matter. He stated that he readily understood the position of Mr. O'Connell. He added that he was satisfied that wood would be sliced in this manner, and that he only desired to punish those whom it could be shown had deliberately defrauded the public by giving short measures.

MOTORMAN JUMPS, LOSING HIS LIFE

Tragedy at Newport Mine at Ironwood That Might Have Been Averted.

Ironwood, Mich., March 31—(Special to The Herald.)—Andrew Neuman, widower, 25 years old and a motorman at the Newport mines, was killed by a fall or jumping in the act of trying to save his life, from an electric motor of which he had lost control. If he had stayed by his post his life would have been saved. He had done everything possible to shut off the speed but seeing the motor had slacked up it is thought he jumped to save himself, while the motor stopped near the brink of the trestle, with the brakes on tight. The deceased's wife died five months ago, and he leaves a 14-month-old infant boy. His funeral was held Tuesday under the auspices of the Morning Star lodge, No. 1, of the Swedish-Finnish Temperance society, of which he was a member. There was a large crowd in attendance.

END OF THE PANAMA CANAL LIBEL SUITS

United States Attorney Enters a Nolle Prosse in Criminal Court.

Washington, March 31.—The curtain was rung down today on the celebrated Panama canal libel suits against the Press Publishing company, proprietor of the New York World, and Delavan Smith, publisher of the Indianapolis News, when United States Attorney Wilson requested permission of Justice Wright in criminal court No. 1 to enter a nolle prosse.

The United States supreme court had decided the cases in favor of the defendants.

The indictments nolle prossed today charged that the newspapers libelled President Taft, Former President Roosevelt, Charles P. Taft and William Nelson Cromwell, when they published a statement that in the purchase of the Panama canal $40,000,000 had been made by the syndicate which bought it from the French owners and transferred the property to the United States.

OBSTRUCTION PIERCED.

Hole Made for Third Longest Tunnel in Europe.

Berne, Switzerland, March 31.—The final obstruction to the Loetschberg tunnel through the Bernese Alps was pierced by the laborers at 3:50 o'clock this morning after five and a half years' work and the expenditure of $20,000,000.

The tunnel, which is the third longest in Europe, measurers approximately nine miles.

With the completion of the Loetschberg tunnel, which was planned to give the Simplon tunnel railway line a direct connection with the railways which traverse Switzerland from north to south, there will be a direct through route from Milan to Berne and thence to Calais and Bontagne. The distance from Milan to Calais by this route will be about 675 miles, or nearly eighty miles less than the existing route. The tunnel will be double tracked throughout.

NOT GUILTY, IS HIS PLEA

Fred J. Files Charged With Forging Name to Two Notes.

Arrested on Indictment Returned By Grand Jury Recently.

Fred J. Files, 27 years old, well known in Duluth, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detective Frank Schulte in a pool hall on First avenue east on a charge of forgery, an indictment on that count having been returned against him by a recent grand jury.

It is alleged that Files passed two notes for $250 each on a downtown bank, using the name of a prominent lumberman of this city. The notes are said to have been accepted by the officials at the bank without a question as to their worth when they were presented there in person by Files. It was stated this morning that the man whose signature was forged was willing that the case should be dropped, but that the bankers' association, with which the bank was connected, refused to allow this course.

Shortly after securing the money Files left the city, going to St. Louis, Mo. A couple of months after he left he is claimed to have gone to Chicago, where he married a Duluth girl. At that time it is said that no indictment had been returned against him, this being done only a comparatively short time ago at the instance of the bankers' association.

Files pleaded not guilty when arraigned in district court this afternoon and was taken to the county jail to await trial. Having been indicted by the garnd jury there is no provision for a preliminary examination in police court. Files is said to have been in Duluth several days prior to his arrest, stopping with a relative on Eleventh avenue east.

COMMISSION FILLED.

President Lowell to Assist in Fixing Postal Rates.

Washington, March 31.—Announcement was made at the White House today that President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard university, has accepted the position on the postal rate commission offered him several weeks ago by President Taft. Associate Justice Hughes of the supreme court of the United States is chairman of the commission and Lawrence Maxwell of Cincinnati, is the other member. The commission was created just at the close of the last session of congress. It will investigate the justness of the proposed increase in the second-class postage rates which was bitterly fought by the popular magazines.

About The Time It Takes For a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet to Work on The Food and Bring Relief.

TRIAL PACKAGE SENT FREE.

There is no long wait between the time you take a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet and the feeling of relief it will bring to an overloaded stomach. It gets busy in a jiffy and quickly sets things to rights in that tired and disordered stomach. It goes right at the work of digesting the food it finds lodged there and in no time at all has things on the move—the gases cease forming, the breath is sweetened, the coating on the tongue disappears and you are no longer conscious that you even have a stomach.

That is one of the chief recommendations for Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets—that they don't take forever to acomplish the purpose for which you need them. It is just as if you put an extra stomach or two to work when yours needed help. You can't continually overload your stomach and expect it to always smile. It is going to get rebellious and ulky after awhile and refuse to go on being driven to do double work. You must rest it occasionally—not by starving and thereby weakening yourself physically—but by using a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet to do the work of digesting your food.

These tablets contain all the active elements of the natural stomach juices and will alone and unaided digest food just the same as the gastric juices. And nothing could be more harmless than these tablets. They do not effect the system in any way—do not cure any ailment except as they digest food. Use them freely.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists everywhere. Price, 50 cents per box. A trial package will be sent if you will write F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

TIME EXTENDED UNTIL APRIL 20

United Doctors Were Unable to Examine All the Patients Who Called.

On account of the unprecedented number of sick people who have called at the United Doctors' institute on the third floor of the Columbia building to take advantage of the free treatment offer, the offices have been crowded to such a degree that the staff of specialists were unable to treat all comers even though they worked long after the regular office hours. As a consequence of this enormous rush of patients, many who called to take advantage of this free offer were turned away disappointed at not being able to be examined by these specialists, or even to speak with them.

At a meeting of the board of managers of the United Doctors yesterday, it was decided that in order to treat all alike and give every sick person a chance to be cured, the offer of free examination and consultation to all, and free treatment, except the mere cost of medicines and incidental expenses, in all curable cases, would be extended until April 20th. This will positively be the last extension of this grand free offer to any one. After April 20th, full regular fees will be charged to all new patients.

The object of the United Doctors in making this grand free offer, is to secure a few supposedly incurable cases quickly, to demonstrate the tremendous curative powers of this wonderful new system of medicines as used by the United Doctors. These specialists solicit one or two of the most difficult cases from each locality in order to show what can be done by scientific treatment, even in the worst forms of disease.

The treatment used by the United Doctors is non-surgical. They never use the knife; never mutilate the body which God built in His image. Only the best and purest of drugs and chemicals are used by these specialists, their motto being that every sick person is entitled to the best medicines that are to be found in nature, regardless of cost. To obtain pure drugs, they prepare all of their medicines in their own laboratory and thus every patient is assured a pure medicine, the best possible regardless of cost.

The expensive and elaborate instruments used in diagnosis, and the extreme care used in securing pure drugs and preparing them especially for each case, makes the treatment used by the United Doctors more expensive than ordinary treatment, yet the large number of patients treated makes it possible to place the price of treatment within the reach of all.

This is really a very remarkable and generous offer made by these great specialists. It is an offer of free treatment until well, regardless of the length of time. This offer is good only in cases accepted for treatment before April 20th. After this date, full regular fees will be charged to all.

Consultation and examination are free to all, but only curable cases will be accepted for treatment. If your case is incurable you will be told so and not one penny of your money will be taken. However, many cases that are incurable by old methods can be quickly cured by this wonderful new treatment of the United Doctors.

The United Doctors' institute is located on the third floor of the Columbia building. Office hours are from 9 to 12 a. m., 1:30 to 5 and 7 to 8 p. m. week days; Sundays, 10 to 12 only.

LODGING HOUSE EXTERIORS NO BETTER THAN INTERIORS

EXTERIOR OF A LODGING HOUSE.

Exteriors of many lodging houses in the city give an approximate idea of what they are inside.

The conditions are not greatly different except that the dirt and filth is allowed to accumulate in greater heaps on the outside than would be possible within.

The house shown in the photograph is located in the heart of the city, on the lower side of First street near Sixth avenue west. On the top floor are eight double beds and on the one below are seven double beds. They are crowded together in small rooms, and accommodate about thirty men. The wash room is in the kitchen, the toilet is close to it and the so-called dining room is on the other side. The ventilation is no better than that of other places of its class, but the light from the back and the front is not bad.

BIG CUT IN THE TARIFF

Sweeping Reductions on Wool, Cotton and Necessities Planned.

Democrats in the House Will Come to Aid of Farmers.

Washington, March 31.—All rates of duty in the woolen schedule will be lowered more than 50 per cent. No article in that schedule will be permitted to retain half of the protection now afforded by the Payne-Aldrich act. A complete modification and lowering of the entire list will be made.

All the oppressive rates in the cotton schedule will be heavily cut. Only just and equitale protection will be allowed to remain. The most obnoxious features of the schedule will be treated with even more severity than the duties applied to woolen goods.

This is the prediction made by a leading member of the house ways and means committee, now engaged in arranging some scheme of tariff revision. He says it is a perfectly safe assumption that the high places in the cotton schedule will be hit hard and the woollen duties more than cut in twain.

Other prominent Democrats believe that rates on tools, farm machinery, paints and other necessaries for the producer will be materially reduced.

"The things that the farmer has to buy will be put on the free list," declared a member of the committee. "We are going to see that the reciprocity agreement does not hurt the tiller of the soil."

May Be Heavy Cuts.

It is realized by the more conservative element that this is probably going too far in the way of prediction. It is unlikely that all those things which the farmer buys will be placed on the free list. There may be heavy shaving of the rates now imposed, but all the great mass of articles comprising such a list of necessities must bear some taxation to meet the requirements of revenue.

The temper now manifested by a majority of the ways and means committee augurs well for the effective downward revision of the tariff. There is a general disposition to eliminate all the most objectionable duties. It is especially desired to lessen the cost of living. Rates imposed on wearing apparel, farming implements, foodstuffs and articles of daily use will be liberally lowered.

The ways and means committee is having serious trouble agreeing on a course of procedure. One faction would pass at least three tariff revision ills first and then take up reciprocity, while the other would reverse this order.

Over this point the caucus called for Saturday will split when a vigorous demand will be made for a complete revision of certain tariff schedules.

Some memers of the ways and means committee would pass a reapportionment bill and go as far as possible toward providing for the direct election of United States senators.

TWO CITIES IN INDIANA WANT THE SALOON AGAIN.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 31.—By a majority of two votes, Union City, in a local option election yesterday declared for the readmittance of saloons. The "wets" polled 376 votes and the "drys" 374. Martinsville, the seat of Morgan county, voted "wet" under the new city and township option law by 130. The county had been dry under the old county option law.

"BOSS" COX WILL NOT BE TRIED BY JUDGE GORMAN.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 31.—George B. Cox, the Republican leader of this section of Ohio, will not be tried on the charge of perjury by Frank H. Gorman of the common pleas court. This became almost certain when Judges T. A. Jones of Jackson, Ohio, and Judge Festus Walters of Circleville, Ohio, in a majority decision, sustained the mandamus proceeding against Judge Charles J. Hunt of the circuit court here, ordering him to rule on the affidavit filed by Cox's attorneys charging "bias and prejudice" against Judge Gorman.

AKELEY FAVORS ISSUING BONDS

People Decide By 2 to 1 to Vote Money to Enlarge High School.

Akeley, Minn., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the special election of the school district held for the purpose of voting on bonds to build an addition to the Akeley high school bonds carried by a vote of 2 to 1. At present two of the churches are leased by the board of education for use by the primary grade pupils. The schools have already introduced industrial training and domestic science and excellent results are being obtained in these departments.

The Red River Lumber company will enlarge their box factory to about double the size. About 250 men are employed in the box factory at present, there being two shifts of 125 each, night and day. There is almost an inexhaustible supply of timber in this vicinity suitable for box lumber and it is probable that this industry will mean permanent employment for about 500 men for years to come.

White Oak Votes Bonds.

The township of White Oak, next south of here, has voted $5,000 bonds for the improvement of the roads.

Mrs. M. L. Starkweather of St. Paul, assistant labor commissioner, delivered an address at the opera house in this city last Sunday. She appealed to the parents to keep their girls at home and away from the large cities until they were of age and able to withstand the temptations of life in a big city. "Our children are not free from temptation simply because they are our children," said Mrs. Starkweather.

The Akeley concert band will present the military drama, "Santiago," or "The Red, White and Blue," at the opera house March 24. The play will be staged under the direction of Editor Sheers of the Herald-Tribune.

The Commercial clubs of Hubbard county will co-operate in publishing a "Booster Book" of some sixty-four pages and cover. Ten thousand copies will be circulated throughout the Central states. The Park Rapids club took the initiative and will promote the work, which will be issued from the press of the Akeley Herald-Tribune.

The work of constructing the new Akeley creamery building will be commenced in a few days. The farmers of this vicinity are already buying up dairy cattle.

Mrs. M. Laflamme, aged 60, passed away Saturday after a lingering illness. Services were held at the Catholic church, conducted by Rev. Father Marsonnat. The remains were interred in Akeley cemetery.

Drops Dead in Chippewa Falls.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., March 31.—Mrs. Simon Cardinal, aged 52, dropped dead from apoplexy Wednesday night on a street here. She was the wife of the proprietor of the Cardinal hotel and has resided here forty-three years. She is survived by her husband, three sons and two daughters.

For the Thin and Bloodless!

The thin and bloodless, with pale cheeks, white lips and frail angular physique, of this community have been much interested in the reports of physicians and others concerning the effectiveness of the treatment for increasing the red and white corpuscles of the blood, thus adding color and weight with its accompanying vigor to the depleted system. A gain of from ten to thirty pounds is not at all unusual where the treatment is regularly used for several months, while the color improves almost from the beginning. Most good apothecaries supply it in the form of three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets, put up in sealed packets, with directions for home use. Its action aids assimilation and absorption of the food eaten very promptly.

FOREST FIRES ALL OUT.

Sleighing and Other Evidences of Winter Around Conderay, Wis.

Couderay, Wis., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—A few days ago the air was filled with smoke and settlers were fighting forest fires all though this section, but now there is good sleighing. Wood, lumber, and logs being hauled to town on sleighs. The cold weather and snow also put a stop to the maple sugar making by the Indians on the reservation here. Before the snow and cold weather the Indians were having a splendid run with sap and were looking for a good run, but the maple sugar making is now at a standstill. Mild weather with the thawing of the snow will start the sap again, but may shorten the season.

GET A VISION.

There recently appeared in the Minneapolis Journal a double-column article, printed in large type and with liberal margins, that is so sound in every way, so full of intelligent enthusiasm, and so pregnant with good advice, that The Herald takes the liberty of reproducing portions of it. The article was written by George D. Dayton, and its appeal is such as to reach every citizen. Following are some of the things it says:

"This morning I received a long letter telling about a wonderful gold mine and the great opportunity that is to be given to certain citizens of this city who can get in on a peculiarly favorable basis. The communication is signed by a reputable citizen, who undoubtedly believes all he says. All that is said about that particular venture may be absolutely true. I neither know nor care, but this I do know, that there is no gold mine or any other form of investment anywhere in this world that is more certain of paying large dividends than many investments that can be found right here in our own state of Minnesota.

"Why go to California or Florida, Alaska or Mexico, Canada or Bermuda, when all around us lie acres of virgin soil anxious to produce great harvests of all kinds of crops, with the very best of markets near by?"

Mr. Dayton points to the numerous local industries that would be glad to accept investments of local capital and would pay liberally on those investments, a condition that exists in Duluth just as truly as in Minneapolis. He continues:

"Why not start a corporation right here that will 'stand by' our home industries and strengthen many an honest man in an earnest effort to build up our city and state?"

No better, safer investments can be found, he points out, than choice real estate right in the home city and state. He closes with this appeal:

"Men—
"Study the situation from every conceivable angle. Get a vision of the tremendous possibilities of Minnesota. . . . Quit sending your money everywhere else. Invest it near by where you can see how it is handled—yes, where you can add your advice and energy, which may be of greater value even than the cash."

To Duluth people such advice as this should come with a thousand-fold greater force than to the people of almost any other city that could be named. Duluth has prospered in the past, but that prosperity is as nothing to that which is to come.

Duluth's situation, her facilities in the shape of water power and commerce, her close relations, necessarily growing stronger day by day, with the vast empire lying inland from this port, and in addition to these the coming of the mammoth steel industry which will supplement the working of the natural resources of the state's soil—all these can mean but one thing, and that is that here is the place for investments and now the time to make them.

This advice from a sister city is good. It is time for Duluthians to "get a vision" of the tremendous possibilities that belong to Duluth and Minnesota. It is time to stop striving for the distant pastures with their deceptive green. The short, dry grass that shows where drouth and other drawbacks have begun to work is not visible at a distance. Here all about you are fields that you know, investment possibilities that you can watch and aid, conditions regarding which you cannot be deceived.

Here is the place for your money and your effort. The past has gone, but the present is yours, and you may have the future if you will. "Get a vision," and act on the inspiration it is sure to bring.

MAINE PLATFORM PLEDGES.

When the party platforms in Maine were adopted last fall both the Republicans and the Democrats promised ratification of the federal income tax amendment to the Constitution as one of the things they would do if given control of the state legislature. Therefore that question became practically a dead issue during the campaign, as both parties were pledged to the same action and it was supposed that, whichever party won, the amendment would be ratified.

Finally the legislature met and went to work. There were the regular legislative proceedings, but the thing that caused the most surprise was the treatment of the resolution ratifying the income tax amendment. It was defeated in both houses. And as if to make the action more conclusive than it ordinarily would have been, the legislature voted for a state income tax.

What could the people do? They had voted for these legislators with the understanding that the sixteenth amendment would be ratified. The legislators had gone back on platform and pledge. The people could only make a mental note of that fact and wait in silence for the next time these same men might seek public office.

Also, what could the governor do? He had been elected on the same platform the legislators had, and accepted that platform in all good faith. His official duties are executive, not legislative. Therefore he could not pass the resolution. There was one course open to him, a not uncommon one. He might call an extra session of the legislature and express a hope that the party pledges would be redeemed at that session. And then, again, he might not. He might decide that there was no need of that, on the theory that since the income tax had been turned down once, it would be again.

But that wasn't what Governor Plaisted did. He didn't even wait to see if the legislators would have a change of heart before the end of the session. He called the senate leaders to his office, and talked to them. Then he called the house leaders in and talked to them. Then the house and senate leaders went back and told what he had said. And then the house and senate called up the amendment resolution once more and passed it. Also, they called up the state income tax bill and killed it. And they did it all in the same session in which they had taken the former action.

Maybe there is a moral in this for Minnesota. Who knows?

A VALUABLE REPORT.

There is matter of great value to the people of every part of the state in the thirteenth annual report of the state entomologist of Minnesota, just published at St. Paul. In a pamphlet of more than 180 pages the report deals not only with the work done in the state during the last year in the way of fighting pests that threaten or damage crops and trees, but it tells of methods that can be employed by farmers, gardeners, property owners in cities and householders to overcome the troubles and dangers that arise from the presence of flies and other insects.

In one chapter Entomologist Washburn takes up particularly the question of disease-carrying insects on the range, and tells of conditions found on a special trip to the cities there. He tells of the difficulties of work for the prevention of epidemics, and of some things that might be done to better conditions.

The report includes illustrations and colored plates of insects that have to be dealt with in Minnesota, and tells how to deal with them. Far from being the least valuable feature is a "Spraying Calendar," which shows the kind of spray to use, the proper times for spraying trees, vines and shrubs of various kinds, and gives directions for the treatment of each class of growth.

The matter contained in the report is interesting and valuable to residents of both the city and the country.

CRIPPLES.

There are men and women whom you meet in your occasional walks about town whose appearance arouses in you a feeling of pity, if you are of a sympathetic nature, or one of repulsion if you are exceedingly aesthetic in your tastes. Their bodies are not even ordinarily symmetrical. Their appearance is such as to repel your glance. And yet you feel compelled to look after them, to exercise that feeling that their presence arouses. You feel poignantly the seriousness of their misfortune. And you thank heaven, mentally or vocally, that you are not made to endure similar misfortune.

You would not be like that—God forbid! You would not willingly allow any part of your body or limbs to become warped or twisted out of shape, or to be maimed or cut off. You would not have it for all the wealth of the universe. And your estimate of the misfortune is correct. Nobody can quarrel with it.

But look at another phase of existence, another way of being crippled or maimed, and consider whether you are not, yourself, running a great risk, taking a great chance, becoming in danger of being an unpleasant spectacle to those about you.

Physical cripples are not the only ones in the world. There are mental and moral cripples, too; loathsome creatures whose very existence is a curse to everybody with whom they come in contact. What makes them so? Not necessarily an accident of birth, not necessarily a misadventure into which they are unwillingly drawn. Some people suffer physical deformity from their own rash or foolish acts. And in the same way some people suffer mental and moral deformity from practices in which they indulge in spite of a knowledge of the possible result.

When you let anger or jealousy or any other passion sweep away your self-control, when you yield to the desire for personal gain at no matter what cost to others or to the principles of honor and justice, you take a step nearer the goal of mental or moral deformity. You do not know—nobody knows—just how often you can indulge in such things without becoming an irredeemable victim to those practices, without becoming a confirmed mental or moral cripple. Perhaps you are near the verge already. Perhaps a half dozen more such indulgences and you will find the thing so deeply rooted in your character that you cannot get it out, try as you will. There is a law of nature that demands retribution for such acts. When you practice them you are defying nature, and nature cannot be successfully defied by any man.

There is only one safe course, and that lies in self-control, in uprightness of thought and action, in careful weighing of conduct and of thought. That is the course you should follow. That is the only way to insure that you will not yourself become a creature more unpleasant a thousand times than any sufferer from physical deformity. That is the only way to become what you were intended to be—an example of the noblest being of creation, a perfect woman or a perfect man. Turn from that course or you may be a cripple yourself. It is a risk not worth running.

It is reported that they raise exceptionally good mules in North China. Which may account for the tendency of that country toward a democratic form of government.

There will be a tendency in some quarters to regard that student raid on a dormitory out in Spokane as an evidence of the value of higher education.

Last year the United States exported 9,196,949 bushels of corn to Canada, every bushel of which had to pay a duty. With reciprocity in force it is estimated that we could sell the Canadians 25,000,000 bushels. Would it be worth while?

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

MAKE PUMPING STATION AT LAKEWOOD FIREPROOF.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I note in Saturday's issue that there is some question in the minds of your city authorities as to whether the pumping station at Lakewood should be or should not be made fireproof. It is somewhat amazing to me that in this day of horrible fire lessons there should even be the suggestion of such a question. It would be but sane to make every building fireproof, but it is criminal to make some other than fireproof, and a pumping station is in the latter class.

Imagine even a slight fire in that station, and it takes mightly little to incapacitate machinery, and coincident with that fire let there be one or perhaps two somewhere else in the city; No water to fight them; what would be the result? Perhaps a conflagration second only to that of San Francisco.

Does his honor, the mayor, dare assume such a responsibility as to jeopardize so many lives and so much property for the sake of an imaginary saving of a few dollars on that pumping station? The owners of that shirt waist factory in New York "saved" a few hundred dollars by not installing a sufficient number of strong enough fire escapes; they also "saved" a little money by making the building fire-resisting enough that the actual structure wouldn't burn, but the floors were cut off one from another by closed stairs and elevators, and mighty little else was done for the protection of life or property in the fireproof structure. Does that saving compensate for the 140 odd lives lost?

Mr. Editor, if you ever did any clamoring in your life do it now for a really fireproof pumping station, not a half-way one nor a quarter-way one, but a building absolutely without inflammable material in it and with good and sufficient protection to the materials of construction that can be damaged though not burned by fire. And while your are at it, it might be a good idea to do a bit of clamoring for duplicate pumps, a special high pressure system and a few little things like that, that it is only a question of time you will need—and need badly.

Very truly yours,
F. W. FITZPATRICK,
Executive Officer of International Society of State and Municipal Building Commissioners and Inspectors.

THE PAINTERS AND THE OPEN SHOP.

To the Editor of The Herald:

After reading an article in The Open Court, in your paper of March 24, I feel I cannot let such a misrepresentation of actual facts pass unnoticed. I doubt very much if the writer of the article is a painter—perhaps by name. If he was a mechanic, I know he would find conditions altogether different from what he states them to be.

Now, in the first place, Mr. Knocker and Union Man, why didn't you sign your name? I will mine. And here are a few facts to the public.

Some of those self-styled painters and union men, that I guess the Duluth public has had some experience with, are aware that those who do the most bellyaching generally know the least about the work. Now, in the first place, the shops in Duluth are paying mechanics 45 cents and 50 cents per hour. I know all competent men, that can work in it, and that includes most of the hands employed. And I also know that if you are fair, though not a first-class workman, you can get in almost any shop in town. The writer states that some are paid as low as $1 a day. I have worked at the painters' trade in Duluth since 1889, and have found that if a man can deliver the goods he can always get a good day's wages. Now the "Painter" tries to blind the public that the open shop is the cause of his hollering. I have been a member of the Painters' Union No. 106 in Duluth, and I will say to the public, "Stay by your open shop forever if you can. It is for your own good."

The "Painter" says the open shop bosses hire common laborers and send them out to do painting. Never have I seen so many common laborers, and not only laborers, but bums, in the shops since the open shop has been in existence, as when they were closed, because they would apply for membership in the union, and be taken, and if they had not money to pay the fee, the union would back them in getting work, and collect on installments. And who were the victims? The public, and the shop that was unfortunate enough to hire them, and the mechanics that had to work and make up for what the good-for-nothing spoiled.

The "Painter" suggests a remedy to the public, to ask the painters who come on the job, if they are union men, and receive the wages the union recognizes as scale, and to demand their card. If not, you are wanted to demand a first-class union man, and you will get one. A word to you. You might get a first-class union man, but what you want is a first-class mechanic. And you will find a competent workman belongs to the union more for the sake of being left alone by agitators than from the benefit he receives from it. He can always get good good wages as his skill is in demand.

But the poor workman is the one who derives the benefit from the union. They are in the majority and they set the scale and the better man has to stand by them, and the public has to pay. Every painter that I know in Duluth, that is worth it, gets fully as much as when the union was in power, and a good many get more. The boss can better afford to pay a good man what he is worth, when there is no union to compel high wages for poor workmanship.

The "Painter" further raises the cry, "Awake Duluthians, and help the local union this year, and they will help you." Yes, Duluthians, help the local, and make the master painters pay some union men more money than they are worth. The union will compel them to do it, and if they refuse, the union will do to them the same as the butchers did to Frink.

JOHN JACKSON,
Painter and Paperhanger.

Tribute to Dead Camp Cook.

Jefferson City Correspondence Kansas City Journal: State officers, bankers, professional men and a large concourse of white and black people attended the burial here this afternoon of William Tillie, a negro, 75 years of age.

The Painted Rock Hunting and Fishing club, of which Gov. Hadley is a member, as well as several other state officers, attended in a body.

Tillie for years has enjoyed a state-wide reputation as one of the best camp cooks to be found anywhere and the most skilful master of the art of barbecuing meat in Missouri. There has not been a barbecue of any kind, great or small, in central Missouri during the last forty years without Tillie as the chief master of ceremonies.

Gov. Hadley, on behalf of the Painted Rock club, made a brief but feeling address at the grave, in which he told the simple virtues of the black man who gave himself and others so many pleasant hours in camp on the Osage and the Gasconade.

Kansas Ruminants.

Kansas City Journal: Lee Dillon of Doniphan county solemnly avers that his horses, cattle, hogs, dogs and cats all chew natural leaf tobacco, which he produces himself.

Creditor Happy.

Toledo Blade: The Doctor—Well, old man, I'm going to marry a rich widow next week.

The Creditor—Indeed? Well—oh—congratulate me, old chap.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Betrayed Party and Constitution.

Middle River Pioneer: Mutterings not loud but deep are heard all over the state over the summary manner in which the state senate vetoed reapportionment. It was the senators from the Southern part of the state who did the business. Senators of both parties are guilty, though the Republicans will suffer most as a party because they are in so large a majority that had they stood together the bill could very easily have been passed. The senators who voted down the bill have sown the wind and will reap the whirlwind unless we mistake the temper of the people of this great state. Pledged by their party and a constitutional provision to give the people just representation, they have boldly betrayed party, Constitution and the governor.

Should Be Passed.

Winona Republican-Herald: One bill that ought to be passed by the present session of the legislature is for better fire protection in the forests of this state. There has been a crying need for legislation of this sort for several years and the disastrous fires of last fall made a deeper impression upon the people for such protection as will not soon be forgotten.

Placed Too High.

Chisholm Tribune-Herald: The Minnesota house of representatives has passed the Pfaender initiative and referendum bill but the percentage of voters required to initiate or invoke the referendum feature is placed too high to make the measure of any practical benefit.

A Southern Minnesota View.

Rock County Herald: By a vote of thirty-six to twenty-seven the state senate killed the Congdon reapportionment bill, which was passed by the house a few weeks ago. This action of the senate is seriously to be regretted, not only because by such action the senators voting against the bill denied a large part of the state just representation in our legislative bodies, but also because they thus repudiated the pledges of the platform of their party. This is true of the Democrats as well as of the Republicans, as the platforms of both parties in the last campaign unequivocally declared for reapportionment.

The refusal of the senate to give the people of Northern Minnesota just representation is by far the more serious, because such unjust acts have a baneful effect upon the whole state and will operate to injure all parts of the state. If our law makers refuse to be governed by the justice of conditions with which they deal they cannot expect that the people will have respect for any of their official acts.

But the utter disregard shown for party pledges is of no small matter. If the successful candidates for office have no regard for the pledges of their party's platform, they cannot expect the people to have any faith in such pledges. Unless a candidate expressly disclaims adherence to his party's platform the public expects him to endorse said platform and to abide thereby. If he fails to do so he is just as guilty of a breach of promise as if he had given his personal word in the matter, because tacitly, at least, he asks the suffrage of the people upon the pledges of the platform promulgated by his party.

When all things are taken into consideration there seems to be very good ground for the charge that the underlying motive in the vote against the bill is the unwillingness of the senators to vote themselves out of office, and that they hold their personal interests above those of the people and that of their party.

Will Get Our Rights.

Greenbush Tirbune: Reapportionment was defeated in the senate last week by a vote of 27 to 36. Whether the governor would accomplish anything by calling an extra session is a question in our minds, but it will at least relieve the governor from any blame and at the same time hold up to the public gaze the utter selfishness of a group of men who care for nothing but their own political fortunes and disregard the rights and privileges of others. Northern Minnesota will have its just representation sooner or later. We will fight until we get our rights.

Few Bonuses in Prospect.

New Ulm Review: In the past employes of congress, who as a rule have to work only a few months in the year but whose salaries go on forever, have received at least one month's extra pay from a grateful congress, and whenever any excuse could be found for it they received large sums as additional compensation. Sums of $1,000 and even $5,000, $7,500 or $10,000 have been voted for services to some employes, while others did their work without asking for additional pay. Asher Hinds was urged to take $25,000 for valuable work he did in compiling the precedents of procedure, and finally consented with reluctance to take a smaller sum. The paying of bonuses had come to be almost a disease and congress, as in this case, sometimes forced them on unwilling beneficiaries. The last urgent deficiency bill is full of sums allowed for "extra services." If Democratic promises are to be believed, there will be fewer bonuses in the future.

Chilean Rail Railway.

Chicago Tribune: A remarkable railway is that between Antofagasta and Orouro in Chile. An engineer in charge of some important government coast improvements took advantage of the trade winds which prevail in these regions. Finding that during several hours in the morning and evening there was a stiff breeze blowing he had a large number of fair sized box cars built which not only accommodated the men coming and going from work, but also proved amply sufficient to transport the material needed for construction of the works. Each car is provided with a good sized sail—there is no other propelling force. The speed is regulated by the manipulation of brakes, and to prevent accidents large buffers are provided.

On account of its cheapness and practical worth the idea of sail railways has become popular and a number are now being installed between many small towns along the coast where the trade winds blow with clock-like regularity. The average speed attained by these strange craft is about thirty to forty miles an hour.

Comfort is what a man thinks he's going to have at home in the evening till the telephone begins to ring, callers come, the furnace goes wrong, and the baby gets the colic.

Fooling the Farmers.

Omaha World-Herald: The adoption of the Canadian agreement will sound the death knell of extortionate tariff taxation and of tariff privilege. Without the vote of the farmers, year in and year out, the protection citadel could never have been built up to its present towering proportions. And the farmers' votes have been won by a confidence game—by making the farmers think they were "in on the divvy." They can be made to think that no longer when the Canadian agreement is adopted. Neither can they be made to think any longer that the Republican party is their warm and special friend, since it is the Republican party that has negotiated and sponsored a tariff arrangement that leaves trusts and monopolies undisturbed in the pilfering while it shoves the farmers rudely out in the cold.

An' Fame's a-trudgin' down the road
A-beggin' me to foller.
But somehow I can't seem t' hear

An' Fancy shoutin' in my ear
"Come on an' go a-fishin'!"

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1891.

Last evening about thirty representative Scandinavian people of Duluth met at Hunter's hall and perfected an organization known as the Scandinavian Aid society. The officers elected are: President, J. Hector; vice president, F. Gabrielson; treasurer, N. Pederson; recording secretary, O. I. Olson; financial secretary, N. V. Eller; vice secretary, C. G. Nilsson; chaplain, C. M. Lund; vice chaplain, E. O. Wohlin; marshal, Olof Dahl; assistant marshal, V. Carlson; guards, J. Lund and Frank Ilson; trustees, Iver Wisted, P. Johnson and I. Wilander.

The city of Duluth will sell $200,000 of temporary bonds for current expenses to cover deficit and improvement expenses. It has received an offer from the East for this loan at par. It has a balance now of something like $52,000, and of the $80,000 or more in the Bell bank, about $20,000 will be available within ten days. Thus the city finances do not appear to be in bad shape.

The board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. held a meeting last evening to discuss the question of securing larger quarters. The matter was brought before the board in the shape of an informal proposition from J. J. Costello, who offers to erect a three-story brick building on the lot now occupied by the association building and the adjoining one on the east, Mr. Costello proposes, in lieu of the Y. M. C. A. property, to lease the association for a term of years the second floor of both the old and new buildings. No action was taken, but it is believed the offer will be rejected.

At the annual meeting of St. Paul's church the following were elected: Wardens, F. W. Paine and D. B. Smith; vestrymen, H. M. Peyton, W. C. Sargent, C. H. Graves, S. F. Snively, A. H. Viele, Thomas Cullyford, Page Morris and W. M. Prindle.

Daniel De Leon, the New York lecturer for the Social-Labor party, addressed twenty-one people in Ingalls' hall last night.

J. A. Butchart of the Merchants' hotel has returned from Quebec, where he went to attend the funeral of his brother-in-law, James Carroll. The esteem in which Mr. Carroll was held was shown by the fact that 2,000 people attended the funeral.

The Mesaba Land company, capitalized at $50,000, has filed articles of incorporation. The incorporators are William McKinley, John McKinley, Horace Williston, A. G. McKinley and Charles E. Marsden.

Lewis & Bill, grain merchants, have dissolved partnership, Mr. Bill retiring from the business.

Mrs. M. Fillatrault and Miss Annie G. Killeen of Two Harbors are visiting Mrs. J. A. Sutton at West Duluth.

At the meeting of the West Duluth council last evening C. L. Lamb was elected village attorney; Mr. Doe, village engineer; A. J. Briggs, chief of police; Robert Grant, sergeant of police; Hans Engelson and B. C. Dent, members of the board of health; George Peterson, street commissioner; Julius Peterson, scavenger.

A DANGER OF MOVING.

St. Joseph News-Press: A sign of spring, quite as infallible as the robin or the dandelion, is the furniture van, piled high with household goods. This is the season when restless humanity craves a change of scene, if only to the house in the next block. During the next six weeks hundreds of families will move. Some of them will enter houses or apartments never before occupied. The greater number will take quarters just vacated by other restless ones.

The new tenant usually gets some concessions in the way of redecoration at the expense of the landlord. But this often must be delayed for a time, owing to the rush which always attends the moving day. The van men work from early morning till late at night, and, at that, have difficulty in meeting the insistent demands made upon them. The last load of the departing tenant hardly leaves the house until the goods of the incoming one appear. Discomforts have to be endured for the time being, until cleaners and decorators have a chance to do their work.

In some cities the health officers take a hand in the moving operations by insisting that every house, vacated by one tenant, shall be thoroughly fumigated before it is occupied by another. They urge that the new tenant insist on a thorough disinfection as a preliminary to occupancy. Such a process is inexpensive. It does not take much time, but it is a safeguard for health which ought not be neglected. A city ordinance requiring it might not be amiss. But without any ordinance, it should become a detail demanded by popular opinion. The wide-awake landlord will be quick to heed a suggestion which means so much to the health of his tenants.

The discomforts of moving are severe enough at best. Where the seeds of disease have been planted by a previous tenant, the pleasures of the new home often are marred by illness that might have been avoided at small expense had sanitation been attended to. The attention of the health department is respectfully directed to this matter.

English Clergyman a Detective.

Tit Bits: Dr. John Donne, the famous English divine and poet, who lived in the reign of James I, was a veritable Sherlock Holmes. One of his famous exploits is as follows: He was walking in the churchyard while a grave was being dug, when the sexton cast up a mouldering skull. The doctor idly took it up and, in handling it, found a headless nail driven into it.

This he managed to take out and conceal in his handkerchief. It was evident to him that murder had been done. He questioned the sexton and learned that the skull was probably that of a certain man who was the proprietor of a brandy shop and was a drunkard, being found dead in bed one morning after a night in which he had drunk two quarts of brandy.

"Had he a wife?" asked the doctor.

"Yes." "What character does she bear?" "She bore a very good character, only the neighbors gossiped because she married the day after her husband's funeral. She still lives here." The doctor soon called on the woman.

He asked for and received the particulars of the death of her husband. Suddenly opening his handkerchief he showed her the telltale nail, asking in a loud voice, "Madame, do you know this nail?" The woman was so surprised that she confessed, was tried and executed.

Equal to the Emergency.

Youth's Companion: An old lawyer had instructed his client, accused of theft, to weep whenever he struck the desk with his hand. In the ardor of his plea he forgot and struck the desk at an inauspicious moment.

His client promptly fell to sobbing with much energy, and the judge turned upon her.

"What is the matter with you?" he asked.

"He told me to cry as often as he struck the table," said the woman, lifting a pair of large dry eyes to the judge's face as she put down her handkerchief.

A laugh ran around the room, but the unabashed lawyer saw his opportunity.

"It is not possible," he said, when the laughter had subsided, "that any one here can reconcile the idea of crime with such candor and simplicity as this."

The Moose in Maine.

Waterville Sentinel: L. T. Carleton, formerly chairman of the fish and game commission, said that he had been able to note some great changes in the game conditions in Maine.

When he was a boy the greatest number of moose had been found in the Rangeley region, where they had been hunted on the crust with dogs and driven out of that section. There were plenty a few years ago in the Spencer Pond and East Branch regions.

The conditions in Maine are changing to a vast extent and vast solitudes of former years are solitudes no longer, but are ringing with the cries of lumbermen and the whistle of the locomotive. The moose is a lover of solitude and is ever on the search for the quiet places of the big woods.

New railroads that are planned are bound to drive them from their haunts and it will be next to impossible to save them to the state. The animal is all but doomed by modern conditions, no matter how tragic his fate may be.

A Chicago Situation.

Collier's: Our second city is always interesting. The country is wondering just now whether she will on April 4 choose a mayor who will give an added interest to her affairs. Merriam has against him the Democratic tidal wave of last fall, many sharpened knives of various machines, and those among the money powers who prefer government by themselves to government by the people. If, in spite of these obstacles, he is elected, at 37 years of age, he presumably has a long and important future. A mayor of a great city nowadays faces human problems that come near to every inhabitant—problems of efficiency and economy and honesty that affect his purse, and these and other problems of administration that affect the morals, health and happiness of his children.

Washington Star: "But that nation to whom you attribute hostile intentions is utterly unprepared for war," said one military expert.

"Of course," replied the other without hesitation. "But I regard that unpreparedness for war as a most acute and misleading stratagem."

Philadelphia Record: "But why does your father object to me?" demanded the humble suitor.

"Because," explained the haughty beauty of proud lineage, "papa says his ancestors have always been gentlemen of leisure, and you have to work for a living."

"Well, tell him I don't expect to after we are married," replied the humble suitor.

TAPPING MINE TO DRAW OFF THE FLOOD OF WATER.

Shamokin, Pa., March 31.—A gigantic piece of water-tapping work at the Cameron colliery, operated by the Mineral Railroad & Mining company, is arousing much interest in the anthracite region. When the work is completed, a rich section of the famous Lykens Valley vein will be worked to a finish.

The old No. 2 slope, containing 90,000,000 gallons of water, is being emptied. In order to reach the slope it was necessary to tunnel from the top of No. 3 slope level, 700 feet, to the No. 2 slope. As soon as the latter is depleted of water a tunnel will be driven through 190 feet of coal to the remaining portion of the slope.

As the water flows to the No. 3 slope from the No. 2 it is pumped to the surface, and by next April it is expected all the water will have been removed.

Cure for Constipation--Trial Free!

MRS. ALFRED MORGAN.

The following are some extracts from letters Dr. Caldwell has received:

"I took the sample bottle which you sent me, then bought a 50-cent bottle and it cured, but nevertheless I keep a dollar bottle in the house all the time. I consider Syrup Pepsin the best medicine for constipation I have ever tried. I am telling everybody about it."—Mrs. Alfred Morgan, Jerseyville, Ill.

"I gave your sample bottle of Syrup Pepsin a thorough trial and must say, that for stomach trouble and constipation, it has no equal. I am on my second bottle and shall continue its use so long as it gives such good results."—Mrs. S. E. Snyder, Canton, Ill.

"I have given your Syrup Pepsin a good trial and it is the best that I have ever taken for constipation and stomach trouble. A sample bottle will convince anybody that it is the best."—John Graveline, No. 98 Milwaukee Ave., Detroit, Mich.

"I am well pleased with your Syrup Pepsin. The first bottle produced the desired result and I got a large size bottle at once which is giving entire satisfaction. It is the best remedy in existence for constipation and any kind of stomach trouble. Anyone so afflicted should use it."—J. J. Petty, Unionville, Mo.

Constipation is not an imaginary ailment. You know whether you have it or not. No one can argue you into it or out of it. By the same token, if you take a remedy and it cures you, you must be convinced that it was the remedy that did it. Here are some people who give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin the credit of curing their constipation—a credit that is important when you consider how many previous attempts they had made with other remedies. Syrup Pepsin is the recognized peer of all laxatives. It is not only a substitute for salts and purgatives, but, by its milder, more scientific action, has done much to lessen their use. It is the best remedy you can buy for yourself and family for any stomach, liver or bowel trouble. All druggists sell it and it can be obtained of them at fifty cents and one dollar a large bottle. If you want to test it first sent your address to Dr. Caldwell and he will furnish you a free sample bottle for home trial. Between these testimonials and the offer of a free sample bottle you ought to begin the use of Syrup Pepsin without delay.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample address him. Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 541 Caldwell Building, Monticello, Ill.

MR. JOE W. KING.

"Your sample bottle removed my headache, and I then bought a $1 bottle, since which time I have had no headache or dizziness. I used to get so dizzy that I reeled like a drunken man, but not since I have been taking Syrup Pepsin."—Joe W. King, 616 G St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

"For some time I have been troubled a great deal with constipation and have never been able to get anything that helped me much. After taking the sample bottle of your Syrup Pepsin I bought a 50c size and after taking half of it I find it is doing me more good than anything I have ever taken."—J. A. Vernon, Oklahoma City, Okla.

"I purchased a $1.00 bottle of your Syrup Pepsin at my drug store and the results of the medicine have been very good. I am very glad and happy to say that your Syrup Pepsin has done me a lot of good in the short time I have been using it. My constipation has left me and I am thankful to my God above that I have found a remedy that has done me so much good in so little time."—Geo. W. Zimmerman, 1617 No. 6th St., Harrisburg, Pa.

"I thank you for the sample bottle of Syrup Pepsin. My daughter bought a bottle of it and says it is all right. I think every one ought to try it as it is the best and surest laxative that can be bought and the safest to have in your house."—Rob't Atkinson, St., Cuba, Ill.

HOME-GROWN SEED BEST

Corn Can't Be Moved More Than Fifty Miles, Says Agriculturist.

Most Amateurs Fail First Year Because of Poor Seed.

The agriculturist was sitting at his desk with a look of disdain on his face when his sanctum was invaded.

Before him was a seed catalogue—one of those highly lithographed harbingers of spring over which prospective agriculturists pore in street cars, in offices and in any other place when they have a few minutes to spare. Be it said the agriculturalist was not poring over the catalogue. He was merely glancing through it and the look of disdain on his countenance was caused by the reflection with which the glancing was accompanied.

"Seed catalogues are a joke in this country," was his first remark. He closed the book, pushed it away from him, picked up his pipe, refilled it leisurely, applied a match and blew out a cloud before he amplified the statement in elucidation.

"Do you know why so many people fail the first year they attempt gardening or farming in this country?" he asked. "If you don't, I'll tell you. It's because they think they know more than anybody else about farming and they think the farming notions they had in their former homes miles and miles from here will work when applied to the cultivation of the soil in St. Louis county. Well, they will not, that's all.

"I was an agricultural fiend before I ever struck little old Duluth. I was raised in a farming country and I knew something about farming, if I do say so. I determined to have a garden the first year I was here and, instead of buying seed here, I sent to my old home and had some sent to me. It was suitable there—successful in fact—and I intended to show my neighbors a few things about gardening. It didn't snow them anything. My crop was a complete failure and my neighbors had the laugh on me.

"That taught me something. The most successful seed in this country is the seed that is grown right here. Imported seed isn't acclimated and the effect can be seen. One can't move corn any more than fifty miles in any direction if he is to obtain good results. Other kinds of seed are not so sensitive as that, but the climate has an effect on any kind of seed. The man who would make a success at gardening had better get the advice of a local expert as to his seed or the high cost of living will not be reduced for him this year."

LONG TERMS IN STATE PRISON

Doyle Must Serve Fifteen and Appleby Eight Years for Burglary.

Patrick H. Doyle, alias George Howard, was given a sentence of fifteen years in state prison, and John Appleby, his accomplice, was given eight years at the same institution by Judge Dibell of the district court yesterday.

The two men pleaded guilty to breaking into the tailor shop owned by Charles Erickson, Eighteenth avenue west and Superior street, some weeks ago, and stealing a quantity of cloth.

Appleby admitted his guilt from the first, but Doyle, knowing that he would get a long team, as his record is bad, maintained his innocence until yesterday, when he consented to plead guilty to the charge against him.

They both claimed to have been drinking heavily and declared that they did not know what they were doing. Both men were found to have served time before.

Grand larceny in the first degree was the charge against both men. It was Doyle's second conviction on the same charge and the law provides that in such cases the sentence be not under ten, while the limit is twenty years.

GOVERNMENT OWNS BLOCK

Options on Three Remaining Pieces of Property Are Exercised.

Options on the Mork property on the northeast corner of First street and Sixth avenue west and on two other lots on the lower side of Second street in the same block were exercised yesterday by Collector of Customs L. M. Willcuts, acting for the United States government, thus giving the government title to the entire block except a small tract on the southwest corner of Second street and Fifth avenue west, which is owned by St. Louis county.

The terms upon which the three pieces of property were purchased were agreed upon some time ago and the appropriation bill passed by congress at the recent session carried an appropriation of $95,000 to make the purchase. The money was available after congress adjourned and the deeds were signed and the money paid over yesterday. The total purchase price for the three pieces of property was $96,764.

No changes will be made in the property on the block until money is available for the beginning of work on the proposed new federal building; in the meantime, the government will draw rental from the property. It is expected that the first appropriation for the new building will be made at the next regular session of congress.

Maine Favors Income Tax.

Augusta, Me., March 31.—Following a conference between Governor Plaisted and the Democratic leaders of the house and senate, the legislature voted late yesterday to ratify the proposed amendment to the Federal Constitution, providing for an income tax.

Ruef Petition Denied.

San Francisco, Cal., March 31.—The state supreme court late yesterday denied the petition of Abraham Ruef for a rehearing on the motion vacating its original order to rehear his appeal against the judgment and sentence of the trial court sentencing him to fourteen years imprisonment on a charge of bribery.

SHORTAGE IN LILY CROP

Eastern Cities Will Have Difficulty in Securing Supply Needed.

Price in Duluth Remains Unchanged From Last Year.

There will be plenty of Easter lilies for Duluthians this year and the price will be about the same as last year, 25 cents a blossom, with plants costing from 50 cents up to $2, according to the number of blossoms. This price has ruled for several years.

The demand is not heavy yet, according to local florists, who claim that there is never a rush until a few days before Easter. Then the orders come with a rush.

At other points in the country there is said to be a shortage of Easter lilies. The crop is said to be only about one-third as large as usual. This is said to apply to the production on American soil.

Heretofore many flowers have been brought to this country from the Bermudas. The crop there is said to be light this year because of a blight the plants have suffered. It is estimated that only about 10,000 plants will be received from the islands this year.

In New York city last year 5,000,000 blossoms are said to have been sold. There is a shortage in New York more than any other place in the country, it is said.

MISSING OHIO GIRL,

Who Fled From Unwelcome Lover, Marries Old Flame in Hungary.

Steubenville, Ohio, March 31.—The mystery of the disappearance of Minnie Deincoe from Warrenton on Nov. 15, the night she was to marry Edward Schulte of Pittsburg, her parents' choice, has been cleared up.

Miss Demcoe wanted to marry George Johnston, who has since given up work and has been searching for her in Western Pennsylvania. Yesterday a letter, apparently written by Minnie in Hungary, was received.

To Hungary she went after she disappeared and was married hurriedly to a childhood lover, the letter says. She left because she could not agree with her parents whom to marry, the letter concludes.

DOCUMENT IS FOUND.

Showing That Grant Freed Slave Two Years Before the War.

St. Louis, Mo., March 31.—A document showing that Ulysses S. Grant liberated a negro slave only two years before the Civil war has been unearthed by Lawrence Moskop, a clerk in the courthouse.

The document, signed by Grant, reads:

"Know all men by these presents, That I, Ulysses S. Grant of the city and county of St. Louis, in the state of Missouri, for divers good and valuable considerations hereunto moving me, do hereby emancipate and set free from slavery my negro man, William, sometimes called William Jones, of mulatto complexion, aged about 35 years and about 5 feet 7 inches in height, and being the same slave purchased by me of Frederick Dent.

"I do hereby emancipate and set free said William from slavery forever."

The document is dated March 29, 1858, and the witnesses are S. G. McClellan and W. S. Hillyer.

Mr. White expressed most optimistic views of the business situation throughout the Northwest.

"THANKS! BUT WE DON'T NEED HELP," SAY DAKOTAS

Appreciate Duluth's Offer But Can Finance Crop Seeding Themselves.

100 Dakota Banks Say Only Seed Needed Is Flax.

Under the impression that a considerable number of the farmers in North Dakota would experience difficulty in procuring seed this spring, and fearing that a large area of the state might go unseeded, the banking, jobbing and grain interests of Duluth investigated the situation through banks covering almost the entire state.

It is evident from the replies received that North Dakota is not in need of outside assistance in the procurement of seed. While many banks are experiencing a shortage of cash, still they will have no difficulty in furnishing to those farmers worthy of credit all the financial assistance required in their respective localities. Their credit is sufficiently good and their financial connections sufficiently strong to enable them to extend banking facilities to those in need of seed or money.

Bankers are almost unanimous in saying that farmers are generally supplied with wheat for seeding purposes. There appears to be sufficient barley, oats, corn and rye, but in many communities there is a shortage of flaxseed. When farmers are not in a position to pay cash for their seed they are experiencing no difficulty in obtaining credit or seed from nearby banks. There is a shortage of feed and a considerable supply will be imported, but there will be no difficulty in financing its transportation and distribution.

Bankers and commercial interests in North Dakota express their appreciation of the friendly attitude of the banking, jobbing and grain interests of this city, but profess their ability to handle the situation without other aid than that which naturally reaches them through the regular methods of banking. Many farmers lack cash, but their real estate, as a rule, is either unencumbered or not heavily involved. Such men will have no trouble in securing sufficient funds to carry them until the period of harvest. The natural optimism of the citizens of North Dakota is enhanced by the favorable conditions existing as the seeding period approaches. Throughout the entire state there has been general precipitation within the last fifty-six hours and the soil is in good condition for seeding.

A banker of Fargo, alluding to the adage that it is an ill wind that blows nobody any good, is of the opinion that bank deposits in North Dakota will show a healthy increase in the next few years. He believes that the partial failure of crops last year will cause farmers to become more conservative and will deter them from investing in land in Texas, Old Mexico and the Florida Everglades. He thinks they will conserve their capital and guard their resources and that they will pay greater attention to the production of diversified crops and intensive and scientific cultivation of the soil.

Condesations of some of the reports received follow:

Wimbledon, First National bank—Farmers deserving of credit can get seed if they need it. Most farmers are well supplied with seed.

Dawson, First National bank—Seed is scarce but the bank is in a position to take care of all farmers needing seed.

Lisbon, First National bank—Ransom county is not in need of assistance in obtaining grain for seeding purposes.

New Rockford, Bank of New Rockford—Farmers generally are well fixed as to seed. Those without seed will have no difficulty in getting it.

Sykeston, Sykeston State bank—The county has refused to bond itself. Many farmers lack feed, but most of them have enough seed. The county will be compelled to import seed and feed. Financial assistance will be needed, but the bank expresses no doubt that it will be afforded through the regular channels of banking.

Leeds, Farmers & Merchants' bank—People with banking connections will have no trouble in securing seed or credit.

Turtle Lake, National Bank of Turtle Lake—The county has bonded itself for $50,000 for the purpose of supplying seed to farmers. This sum is greatly in excess of the amount that will be needed.

Edgeley, Citizens' State bank—La Moure county is furnishing seed grain in limited quantities. Banks are extending credit and loaning money for the purchase of feed.

Jamestown, Citizens' National bank—The county has appropriated $2,000 for the purchase of seed for needy farmers. Farmers with banking relations, however, will have no trouble in securing seed or credit.

Stanley, First National bank—The county has bonded itself for $25,000 and is furnishing seed to farmers. There will be sufficient seed for sowing purposes.

Steele, First National bank—Outside assistance will not be needed in providing farmers with seed.

Towner, First National bank—Farmers will not need assistance other than that which will be extended to them from their local banking institutions.

Rugby, Merchants' bank—There is a slight shortage in flaxseed, but sufficient supplies of other grain for seeding purposes. The financial situation is not such as to require aid from the outside.

Finral, First National—There will be no difficulty in supplying seed to farmers in Barnes county who lack enough to meet their requirements.

Bismarck, City National bank—The county is bonding to furnish seed. No distress has been reported to this bank which says farmers worthy of assistance are getting it from local banking institutions.

Finley, First National bank—Farmers generally are in fair shape.

Carrington, First National bank—Nearly all farmers near Carrington have enough seed, but are short of feed. The local banks are experiencing no difficulty in handling the situation.

Devils Lake, Ramsey County National bank—Farmers have plenty of seed. Banks are making small loans to farmers to enable them to purchase feed. There has been no distress in this county because of the short crop last year.

Valley City, First National bank—There has been no call for wheat or flaxseed that could not be supplied.

Carrington, Foster County State bank—Most farmers have enough seed and those without feed are managing to get it. Flaxseed acreage will be increased. A little seed may be imported to meet seeding requirements for this crop.

Harvey, Farmers' State bank—Farmers have plenty of seed except flax. There is a demand for feed. Financial condition, however, is good.

Cando, First National Bank—There is no distress for seed or feed. The county will bond itself for $20,000 to help some of the farmers in the northern part of the county. The financial situation is good and the banks are able to handle their problems without assistance.

McVille, First State Bank—Farmers are well supplied with seed. The acreage will be increased and crops will be more diversified.

Cooperstown, State Bank of Cooperstown—Farmers have ample supplies of all kinds of seed. There is a scarcity of barley but farmers will be able to get sufficient for their needs if they desire to pay the price.

Dazey, Dazey State Bank—There is a shortage of flaxseed but plenty of other grain. Banks are handling the situation satisfactorily.

Heaton, Farmers' State Bank—There is a shortage of feed but plenty of seed. Some have grain to exchange for clean seed. Financial aid from the outside is apparently not needed.

McClusky, First National Bank—The county bonded itself for $50,000 and there will be plenty of feed and seed for all requirements, except flaxseed, of which there is a shortage. The acreage of flaxseed probably will be reduced in this county. The writer thinks the East is taking the Northwestern situation too seriously.

Columbus, Farmers' State Bank—The county will probably bond itself. Local people are caring for the local situation satisfactorily.

Sawyer, First State Bank—Farmers have all of the feed and seed that they need.

Kenmare, First National bank—Farmers will get all the seed they will require. The county bonded itself. Very few farmers have made application for seed.

Bowbells, First National bank—The county bonded itself for $25,000 and farmers in Burke will get all of the seed and feed required by them. There is no shortage of seed in this county. There is a surplus of 1,000 bushels of clean flaxseed which has not been taken out of a local elevator for seeding purposes. The bank held 30,000 bushels of clean wheat seed and not half of it has been required.

Minot, Second National bank—The county has sold seed and grain bonds for $50,000. Farmers are being taken care of when necessary.

Sherwood, Farmers & Merchants State bank—Farmers have seed and feed and all are well taken care of.

Ross, Citizens State bank—Farmers have plenty of seed. There is no distress.

Valley City, Bank of Valley City—No special assistance will be necessary. Feed has been shipped in. There is on great pressure on the banks.

Lansford, First National bank—Every farmer has made arrangements to secure seed if he did not have it. Bonding by the county was not deemed necessary.

Antler, State Bank of Antler—There is enough wheat for seed but some flaxseed may be required. Banks can handle the situation satisfactorily.

Westhope, Peoples State bank—There is a demand for money and the sinking fund of the county may be placed in the county banks to be loaned to farmers. There is enough seed.

Sharon, First National bank—Farmers have enough seed and the banks are able to take care of the demand for feed.

Mandan, First National bank—About 80 per cent of the farmers have their grain seed. The situation is being well taken care of. Some new settlers need help and arrangements will be made to assist them.

Anamoose, First National bank—Farmers are well supplied with wheat and oats. Flaxseed is scarce. Farmers in need are being cared for.

Bottineau, First National bank—Most farmers have seed and those with credit will be able to get it if they need it.

New Salem, State Bank of New Salem—Aid in procuring seed will not be needed. Flaxseed must be purchased, but financial aid will be given farmers who are not able to buy it.

Marion, First National bank—Arrangements have been made to take care of farmers needing grain or feed. Bank deposits in La Moure county are $1,250,000, according to the last statement.

Underwood, First State bank—The county bonded for $50,000. Only a few applications for help have been received, however. Two auctions were recently held near Underwood and at one auction where sales amounted to $4,500 one-half cash was received. More than one-third cash was received at another sale which amounted to $1,200. Farmers generally are in good shape.

Balfour, German American State bank—Farmers have enough seed, but feed is scarce. Financial conditions are satisfactory.

Gackle, Logan County bank—A majority of the farmers have seed. Banks are in shape to help those who may not have sufficient funds to buy seed.

Pekin, Bank of Pekin — Financial conditions are good. There is plenty of seed, although farmers are buying feed.

SAYS TICKET COLLECTOR BROKE HIS NOSE.

Claiming that because he refused to pay a second fare on the ferry boat Ideal, which was running last summer between Duluth and Superior, he was assaulted by the collector on the boat, Andrew Johnson has brought suit against A. C. Majo and George R. King, the owners of the boat, for $1,050.

He claims that because he refused to pay his fare twice the collector assaulted him, breaking his nose. The defendants claim that no more violence was used than was necessary to put him on the dock at one of the elevators.

WEBB GIVEN PROMOTION

Gilbert Man in General Charge of Republic Company's Mines.

Will Move to Duluth and Take Charge Here May 1.

The headquarters of the Rpublic Iron & Steel company for the Minnesota and Michigan district will be located in Duluth.

This was decided at the meeting of the directors of the company held recently at Pittsburg, Pa.

Francis J. Webb, who has been superintendent for the company at Gilbert, has been appointed general manager for the company's mines in Michigan and Minnesota with headquarters in Duluth. The company has offices in the Providence building.

The Republic Iron & Steel company is among the largest of the independent companies.

C. T. Fairbairn was for some time in charge of the Duluth office. He was sent from there to Pittsburg and was from there ordered back to Duluth. At that time the centering of the company's offices in Duluth was considered and Mr. Fairbairn was to have been general manager. He was ordered to Birmingham, Ala., however, where he was put in charge of the general offices for the Southern district.

The transfer of the offices from Gilbert to Duluth will take place May 1. Mr. Webb will make his home in Duluth.

Charge Withdrawn.

Chicago, March 31.—The police today withdrew their charge of murder against Maurice Enright, the labor leader, who was arrested following the killing of Vincent Altman recently.

NEW "PREXY" IS COMING

George E. Vincent Will Be Given Public Reception in Duluth.

Alumni Will Work With Commercial Club on Entertainment Plans.

George E. Vincent, the new president of the University of Minnesota, will be the guest of Duluth April 19. At the time of his selection to head the University, the invitation to visit Duluth was extended to him by the Commercial club and he has accepted, setting the date on which he will be in the city.

No plans for his entertainment have yet been made, but Mr. Vincent will be given every opportunity to become acquainted with the city and its needs and the needs of Northern Minnesota. A public reception will probably be held at the Commercial club to give the people of Duluth an opportunity to meet the new head of the university and to assure him of Duluth's interest in and support of the institution.

Arrangements will probably be made for the alumni of the university joining with the Commercial club in entertaining Mr. Vincent. Many of the alumni will have their first opportunity of meeting him on that occasion and it is expected that they will be anxious to co-operate with the Commercial club in properly entertaining him.

In his expressions since he has taken the presidency of the university, Mr. Vincent has shown that he regards the university as a state institution in which the whole state is vitally interested and his prompt acceptance of Duluth's invitation to visit the city is taken as an indication of his desire to become acquainted with every part of the state and its requirements.

POOR MEN AS MAYORS

British Towns Ruled By Workingmen Are Not Uncommon.

King Edward Became Much Interested in Stonemason Mayor.

London, March 31.—The inability of the aldermen of Dublin to make up their minds concerning the salary to be paid the city's lord mayor, who is a news vendor, resulting in remarkable fluctuation first from $18,000 a year to $8,000, then up to $18,000 again, and finally back to the lower figure, draws attention to the fact that the Irish metropolis is not the only city in the United Kingdom that can boast of a workingman mayor. It is a question whether Great Britain cannot show a more democratic record in this respect than the United States, popularly supposed to be the land par excellence of unrestricted opportunity.

It has happened, in two cases at least, that mayors of English communities have actually risen from the workhouse. Will Crooks, one of the most interesting representatives of the other half, was born in the workhouse, and it is impossible to imagine a more humble beginning than that. Yet he was elected mayor of Poplar and a member of parliament. One of the most respected citizens of the city of Devonport, Alderman Hornbrook, who served as mayor with distinction, was born in the workhouse of the same town.

A former mayor of Leeds, the greatest of Yorkshire cities, Alderman Scarr by name, was the industrious dispenser of penny sweets from behind the counter of his modest store, when he was not maintaining the dignity of the highest office in the gift of his fellow townsmen. The contrast seems even greater when it is said that he put off his apron to don his robes of office to welcome the late King Edward and Queen Alexandra in the name of Leeds when they opened an extension to Leeds university.

Knighted by King.

Another workingman mayor can boast of a similar royal association. The Welsh city of Cardiff chose William Grossman, a working stonemason, to be its lord mayor during a year in which King Edward had promised to pay a visit to the city. The late king became so interested in this man of the people that he determined to show it in an unprecedented manner, and, much to Grossman's surprise, tapped him on the shoulder with a sword and said, "Rise, Sir William."

Alderman Bond has several times been mayor of Plymouth, but those who knew him years ago, when he began his career as a boy in a local solicitor's office, would not have prognosticated that he would one day be the city's chief personage.

The police force in England would hardly commend itself to the casual observer as a stepping stone to the mayoralty, yet two chief executives have reached their high position by that route. Kingston-on-Thames several years ago elected Councillar Clarke mayor. His admirers made two unsuccessful attempts before they succeeded in landing him in the mayor's chair, largely because the proud residents of the town found it impossible to resign themselves to the rule of their former policeman.

Blackpool, the Coney Island of England, once elected Alderman Brodie to the mayoralty, despite the fact that he was particularly fond of telling of his experiences as a member of the force in Manchester.

Timothy Owen, one of the most popular residents of Aberaven, Glamorganshire, was a signalman on a railroad when his neighbors expressed their desire to invest him with the office of mayor. On the occasion of his first visit to church after assuming the high office he had a curious bodyguard of 800 railway men, headed by the general secretary of the labor union to which he belonged.

AMERICAN WIDOWS FLOCK TO LONDON

Coronation of King George Attracts Many Rich Women.

London, March 31.—Several American millionaires have already leased West end houses or apartments in leading hotels for the coronation season. The prices they are contracting to pay indicate that a profitable financial harvest will be reaped from visitors from across the Atlantic.

Mrs. William B. Leeds, Mrs. Potter Palmer and Mrs. Ogden Goelet, American widows possessing vast wealth, will be among the important hostesses of the year. Each of them has at one time or another entertained a royal personage, either the late King Edward or Emperor William, when yachting in Southern seas. Mrs. Leeds has leased Mrs. George Keppel's fine house in Grosvenor street.

Mrs. J. J. Astor is in search of a new London house, as her occupancy of 17 Portman square is to terminate soon. Lady Cunard, formerly Maud Burke of New York, has obtained the private residence of the prime minister at 20 Cavendish square for the season. This house is always greatly coveted because of the splendid reception rooms, old mahogany staircase and walls painted by Sir John Thornbill two centuries ago.

While in London as special representative of the United States at the coronation John Hays Hammond will occupy the house at 1 Stratton street, the old Piccadilly home of the late Baroness Burdett Coutts, where the present queen frequently stayed as a child, the baroness having been a personal friend of her mother, the late duchess of Teck.

Besides a marvelous collection of Queen Anne and early Georgian silver the house contains a vast quantity of very valuable china. If Mr. Hammond chooses to entertain on a large scale he will be able to cover the huge dinner table with Flaxman silver, or he can make use of a service of gold with broakers and gobles of exquisite workmanship. In the gallery is Sir Joshua Reynolds' favorite chair and on the walls hang many pictures by this famous painter.

The precious "Winged Victory" from Yanina, showing the wonderful gold work of the Greeks with the chisel 2,000 years ago, first folio Shakespeare, Raeburn pictures of Scott and the Muigrave picture of Pitt, painted in the year of his death by Hoppner, are a few of the other treasures of which Mr. Hammond will be the temporary guardian. It is reported that he will pay $10,000 a week for the use of the house and its furnishings during the six weeks of its occupancy.

TORONTO IS IN TROUBLE

Break in Intake Pipe Doing Injury to the Water Supply.

Now Proposed to Bring Water All the Way From Simcoe.

Toronto, Ont., March 31.—This city is threatened with an epidemic of typhoid. So great is the menace that the people of the city are becoming mightily alarmed and there is a growing sentiment in favor of the dismissal of a large number of civic officials. Some of these officials, it is thought, may have been more or less to blame for the presence of active and energetic typhoid germs in the water which comes through the taps of Toronto, and the proposed dismissal is intended to prevent a repetition of the existing situation. Other people are expressing the opinion that the remedy suggested is insufficient, and a strenuous effort is being made to get clean water before the work of dismissing officials is attempted.

The discovery has been made that a section of the intake pipe on the island shore has severed its connection with the rest of the pipe and gone into business for itself, the result being that much bad water finds its way into the homes and systems of Toronto people. Furthermore, the best efforts of the local engineers to coax the wayward section of pipe back into line, have proved abortive, and the typhoid germs continue to journey cityward in great numbers. Toronto householders are investing their saving in bottled spring water, venders of which are becoming immensely wealthy and are under a debt of gratitude to the burst pipe. In the west end of the city typhoid cases are multiplying, and the absent section of intake is blamed.

The situation is really so grave as to result in an extraordinary agitation for a new water supply, and Toronto is likely to have to deal with one of the most difficult problems with which a big municipality can be confronted, that of providing the citizens with an entirely new water supply. The proposal involves an enormous expenditure. Instead of extending the intake in the direction of New York state, or of bleaching the water with chemicals, it is proposed to bring fresh water down from Lake Simcoe, or to establish a pumping plant and reservoir on Scarboro Heights, east of the city. Either scheme could cost much money.

A Dream Come True.

Joseph Phillips, emerging from the Kingston penitentiary—called by jury lawyers, The City of Death—finds his dream come true and his millions gone. Phillips was the manager and guiding genius of the York County Loan & Savings company, a concern which, after years of more or less successful financing, collapsed, and great was the fall thereof. The York Loan took the savings of the people in moderate circumstances from all over Canada, even from far Japan, and promised goodly returns. Some got the big profits promised by the company. Men in Toronto today have reason to shake hands with themselves for their wisdom in doing business with the York Loan. But hundreds of people who bet on the York Loan, lost their money. For years before the smash came there were periodical reports that the York Loan was on the edge. Nothing came of these rumors. Manager Phillips denied their accuracy. But the smash came.

Phillips, as manager of the concern, had invested heavily in the unbuilt district of North Parkdale, just east of High Park. His belief was that as the city spread, and nothing could prevent its spreading, this section of the city would vastly increase in real estate value. There were about 140,000 shareholders on record when the York Loan collapsed in 1905, owning 150,000 square feet of North Parkdale property. They didn't know much about the land. They wanted their money, and their money wasn't forthcoming. Phillips was put under lock and key, convicted of high financing and sent to the penitentiary.

A week ago he was released. Since then he has been going over the district which, when he left it, was a great area of vacant building lots. He has found it one of the most flourishing parts of Toronto, with broad and beautiful streets, street cars and handsome dwellings. When he went to prison the land held by his company in this district averaged in value $18 a foot. The whole thing was worth less than $1,000,000. Now the values have more than doubled, and the York Loan lands are worth $2,500,000. All liquidations cost money. The liquidation of the York Loan cost money, and isn't over yet, but the people whose money was deemed to be lost in the wreck are getting 50 per cent and more. Phillips, the man who thought out the big North Parkdale investment, walked like a wakened Rip Van Winkle through the place where the money lies. He has seen that, had this concern not been weakened in other directions, there would have been big profits for the York Loan, and one of the most sensational and far-reaching financial disasters in Canadian history would not have happened.

BREEDING FOR ALASKA FARMS

Fertile Acres Waiting for the Right Kind of Grain.

Washington, March 31.—An odd plan is on foot to make the Colorado mountains a sort of proving ground for agriculture in Alaska. Of course, there are a good many kinds of agriculture in Alaska that do not need proving. They are already an established success, both scientifically and commercially. Hundreds of tons of potatoes, oats and cabbage are grown and sold in the territory each year and there are a dozen other successful crops.

But Alaska nights are too cool to mature string beans and corn, for instance, and the question is whether hard, cold-resistant varieties could not be produced by selective breeding that would give Alaska all the fresh luxuries from their garden that the states have.

There are farms in the Colorado mountains near Denver that have an elevation of nearly 10,000 feet and the conditions at this altitude in Colorado are almost identical with conditions at 1,000 feet elevation near the Arctic circle. That is, the days are warm and sunshiny, but the nights are almost cold even in summer, while the severe winters are apt to kill all but the hardiest perennials—plants that have been brought up to that sort of thing.

A bill was recently introduced into congress for the establishment of just such work in Colorado and also for experiments that would breed drought-resistant vegetables for the desert.

The methods employed in this experimental work are exceedingly interesting. If, for instance, it was decided to find a wheat that would mature in a very cold climate like that in the hill country north of the Arctic circle, this is how it would be done: First, the hardiest seed of all the hardiest varieties would be obtainable from Russia, Scandinavia, Canada and Alaska. Then it would be planted in a place where it would be unlikely to mature. There might be just one stalk that, from some mysterious strain of breeding or force of circumstances, would stand unharmed by the autumn frosts. Its seed would be treasured and the next year each grain would be carefully planted and guarded so that the strain would be increased, and still further and severer tests made on it until it was so hardened that a full annual crop was assured.

HOUSE RAN ACROSS THE ICE ON LAKE CHAMPLAIN.

Westport, N. Y., March 31.—Persons living along the shore of Lake Champlain were astonished the other day to see a house running away across the ice.

The owner of Willsboro Point, a peninsula opposite Burlington, wished to move a house to a site about half a mile further along the point. To move it over the land meant the destruction of many shade trees. To disengage it from the foundation and push it down on the icy surface of the lake and slide it along to its new position was much easier.

This was done, but while the workmen were arranging the skids to push the house back on land a great gust of wind struck the house, and it started at a lively gait up the lake. It took a southeasterly course for the Vermont shore and was soon traveling at a 40-foot clip over the frozen surface of the lake. The sight of this 40-foot two-story building as it twisted, tumbled, twirled and turned over cracks and broken ice terrified the fish colony, which lay directly in the path of the runaway.

The house finally banged diagonally on a ridge of ice and came to a standstill after a twelve-mile run almost to Split Rock, without any damage except to one side and part of the piazza.

When the wind subsided a team of horses towed the building back to its site, where it was secured tethered to trees.

BLIND GIRL RECOGNIZES THROUGH SENSE OF TOUCH.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 31.—Continued evidences of a remarkable mentality are being displayed by Kathryne Frick, the deaf, dumb and blind girl, who is being educated at the Pennsylvania Institute for the Deaf and Dumb, and for whose training the state has made an appropriation of $2,000.

Speaking of the girl's wonderful development, Dr. A. L. E. Croter, superintendent of the institution, said:

"Within the last few days she recognized, through her sense of touch, one of the members of the institution whom she had met only once, six months previously."

The blind girl fixed the identity of the visitor by touching his watch and chain. The identificaton was not only a proof of her remarkably developed sense of touch, but her no less remarkable memory.

On recognizing the visitor, her face brightened, and she spelled out his name correctly to her teacher. Previous to this the girl had shown that, with her keen sense of smell and her unusual strength of memory, she was able to recognize the senders of postal cards through the mail, easily picking out those from members of her own family and various other persons.

BACK ALIMONY ASKED

Atlanta, Ga., March 31.—Divorced by Louisville courts twenty-three years ago, Mrs. Cordelia F. Underwood is for the first time seeking alimony from her former husband, S. H. C. Underwood, who is a prominent railroad man of this city.

In the twenty-three years that have elapsed the husband has married again and has several children.

Now she not only wants a stated allimony per month, but thinks she also should have back pay, and asks the court to compute the amount due for the years she has lost.

LOCATING NEAR CANYON.

That Section of St. Louis County Is Getting Settlers.

Canyon, Minn., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although this section of St. Louis county is not frequently exploited in the press it is nevertheless coming to the front and new settlers are coming from all directions. A well known citizen of Canyon yesterday in discussing this section's possibilities said:

"The country might be a little stoney in places, but there is also much land without stones. We are ten miles to the nearest railroad station yet, but hope that the county commissioners will give us a road along the township line between 52 and 53 from the Miller Trunk road east to the Canadian Northern, that will give us a much shorter road to the railroad."

The young people of Canyon had a meeting last Thursday and organized a social club, and the association decided to build a hall across the road from the postoffice.

Peter Petersson, John Ejerem, Olaf Stenstad and others are busy getting logs to the mill for lumber.

Karl Haugan is also erecting a house in this neighborhood, he having sold his former farm and is now building on the forty acres that the new hall is to be built on.

There are quite a number of young men out here who are holding their forty acres or more.

HEARING BOAT CASE.

Action Over Boat Being Tried at Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—District court is trying the case of Zanon Sirkski against J. W. Snyder and Ingalls Boat company involving the possession of a boat and some launches the plaintiff stored at the defendant's house.

The grand jury has reported these indictments:

Against Eli Marian of Nashwauk, having carnal knowledge of a girl under 14 years of age.

Against Antone Marica, assault in the first degree. Marica is alleged to have assaulted Thomas A. Sullivan with a knife at Ball Club on Jan. 25 last.

Three indictments were found against B. A. Hunter, an alleged burglar, who was caught by Marshal Stapleton at Cohasset on Jan. 7 last. The indictments charge carrying concealed weapons, including guns, explosives, etc.; carrying burglars' tools and resisting an officer.

SPLITHAND FARMER SUSTAINS BAD LOSS.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alex Cook, a well-known farmer of the Splithand district, suffered the loss of his home, barn and other buildings on the premises a few days ago by fire. In addition to the loss of buildings and contents three calves and a dog were burned to death. The cause of the fire is supposed to have been from a backfire started the day before by Mr. Cook about his premises, and which he thought had been entirely extinguished. Mrs. Cook was home alone and succeeded in getting the horses out of the barn. Her husband was that day at a neighbor's.

Every Man Read This

This treatment is said to have acquired a wonderful reputation throughout the East, owing to its peculiar propensity to fortify the nerve force and generate health and a consequent personal magnetism, so essential to the happiness of every normal human being. It is claimed to be a blessing to those who are physically impaired, gloomy, despondent, nervous and who have trembling of the limbs, dizziness, heart palpitation, cold hands and feet, insomnia, fear without cause, timidity in venturing and general inability to act rationally as others do. Also of vast benefit to writers, professional men, office workers and the victims of society's late hours and over-indulgence in wines, liquors, etc.

By preparing the treatment at home secretly, no one need know of another's trouble, while the ingredients are much used in filling various prescriptions, so that even the purchase of them separately need occasion no timidity.

If the reader decides to try it, get three ounces of ordinary syrup sarsaparilla compound, and one ounce compound fluid balmwort; mix and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom); mix all together, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one at night.

This contains no opiates whatever and may also be used by women who suffer with their nerves with absolute certainty of prompt and lasting benefits.

NEW POSTMASTER IS TAKING HOLD

Free Delivery for People of Eveleth Will Be Started Saturday Morning.

Eveleth, Minn., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Edward H. Hatch, the new postmaster, has qualified and today is familiarizing himself with the duties of his office preparatory to taking hold tomorrow succeeding J. C. Poole. The most notable event of the change will be the beginning tomorrow of free delivery, something for which the people of Eveleth have hoped for years. The new postmaster's salary is $2,400 per year, and he will be assisted by Assistant Postmaster Fergus R. Ellsworth, Cass U. Jenkins and Miss Ruby Noel. Cashier Albert E. Bawden has been appointed assistant chief clerk, while he in turn has been succeeded by Harry Olson. Free delivery routes have been selected, and the three regular carriers, Louis J. Andrews, Harry Anderson and Edwin Anderson, supplied with the necessary equipment. The city has been divided into three divisions, the Fayal location to be looked after by Edwin Anderson, streets east of Jones street by Louis Andrews and streets west of Jones street by Harry Anderson. Many of the residents have secured mail boxes, while at other places slits in the door will act as receptacles. The postoffice patrons have been notified of the change, and their residence numbers registered at the postoffice.

Two Residence Section Deliveries.

Two deliveries will be made to the residence sections, the evening mail being distributed at 8 a. m. the following day, and the 10:32 a. m. mail in the afternoon. It is planned to make three deliveries to the business houses. A few of the residents plan on keeping their boxes at the postoffice, as it will now be impossible to use the two outgoing mails in answering correspondence as at present, because the evening mail will not be distributed until the following morning.

Twelve mail boxes will be stationed on corners throughout the city, and regular collections will be made by the carriers. The local papers plan on appearing in the morning, so that they can be carried to the residences and business houses in the afternoon. The regular carriers will be paid $50 a month, with an increase each year, while the two substitutes will receive $1 a year as a bonus, with 30 cents for each hour employed.

An interesting meeting is planned. The subject of the address of Watson S. Moore of Duluth is "Men Wanted." Bert N. Wheeler will speak on "Bargains, or the Economic Side of the Liquor Problem." Special music will be given for the occasion by Louis Dworshak of Duluth and a local quartet composed of Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Schulze, Mrs. R. M. Cornwell and Fergus Ellsworth. ## TWO HARBORS TRIO AGAIN WIN HONORS

Successfully Uphold Negative Side of Debate With the Moorhead Team.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Two Harbors high school debating team defeated the trio from the Moorhead high school in the debate last evening in the local assembly hall. The decision was unanimous for the local team. This was the last debate before the final contest for the state championship, which will be held at Minneapolis or St. Paul some time in the latter part of April.

The Moorhead team consisted of Isabel Casey, Irene Thompson and Louis Wheeler, and came with the reputation of being one of the strongest teams in the state, having won the state championship last year.

This is the first year of the local team in the debating league, and it has defeated up to this time the Duluth Central high, Duluth Irving high, Pine City, Staples and Moorhead. Of all the schools which entered the league last fall, before this debate, there were only four which had not yet been defeated, Humboldt high of St. Paul, Houston, Moorhead and Two Harbors. Two Harbors will now debate with the winner of the Humboldt-Houston debate for the state championship.

The program last night opened about 8:30. Dr. M. K. Knauff was chairman. The first number was music by the Boys' quartet, which sang "Amice" and "Johnny Schmoker," making a decided hit.

Two Harbors Had Negative.

Moorhead upheld the affirmative side on the subject: "Resolved, That the cities of the state of Minnesota shall adopt the commission form of government." Two Harbors defended the negative. The local team excelled their opponents in both constructive arguments and rebuttals. Because probably of their long journey, the Moorhead debaters seemed a trifle listless and lacked the vim that characterized the local debaters. The local team also excelled in delivery, speaking with great force and vehemence. While awaiting the decision of the judges, the high school orchestra played "Light Cavalry Two-Step," introducing excerpts from "Maritana," "Martha" and the "Huguenots." The judges were all Duluth men, C. E. Wallace of the normal school, G. H. Mehne and Andrew Nelson.

The local team, consisting of Edwin Strand, Leroy Pegelow and Carl Olson, are now in line for the state championship, which it is hoped they will win. The great interest of the people was manifested by the crowded house which greeted the debaters.

"DEAD" BLAST WENT OFF.

Employe of Hobart Mining Company Claims He Was Thereby Injured.

Virginia, Minn., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alleging blame on the part of the defendant in an injury he sustained Dec. 27 last, when a "dead" blast went off in the Minorca mine of the Hobart Mining company and he was injured, Andrew Kuowicz has filed suit in the district court against the company to recover $5,000.

The plaintiff alleges he was sent by the foreman to a part of the mine where blasting had been going on and that when he reached a certain point a "dead" blast went off, injuring him internally besides taking off three of his fingers.

He alleges three charges of powder had been placed in the pit, only two of these had been discharged, the third one being what is called a "dead one," which was supposed to have gone off at the same time as did the others.

TWO HARBORS SURPRISED.

Appointment of N. C. Nelson as Postmaster Not Expected.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Washington special in Thursday's Herald telling of the appointment of N. C. Nelson as local postmaster created considerable comment about town, as it was a complete surprise. A letter has been received from C. P. Grandfield, first assistant postmaster general, confirming the dispatch. Few people knew a change was contemplated, as it was expected Postmaster Frank Woodfill would obtain a full term appointment from President Taft, having been appointed to fill out the unexpired term of the late Postmaster Bury.

Mr. Nelson was one of the very first settlers of Two Harbors, coming here twenty-eight years ago. In 1900 Mr. Nelson was appointed postmaster and served for five years. Mr. Nelson's commission will be issued just as soon as his bond and oath of office have been filed in Washington, which will probably be within ten days.

tory for the federals was a victory for the rebels. Regardless of an official dispatch from Gen. Torres that the rebels had been annihilated the Herald's correspondent says the dispatch only caused derision there, where the facts are known.

He says the rebels ambushed the federals at San Rafael instead of the rebels being ambushed, or taken unaware as officially reported, and that the federals were driven to take refuge in a mill at Santa Rosa where the rebels surrounded them. Then reinforcements came out from Hermosillo and the battle was raging on Wednesday when the letter was written.

A telegram sent by mail from Hermosillo by the Herald correspondent to Nogales and from there forwarded this morning by wire says:

"The battle that is being fought at San Rafael is the most important engagement of the revolution in this state.

"There are 700 revolutionists and some 1,000 federals. It is a stand-up fight. The revolters knew that the federals were coming to the attack and stood their ground. Last night the government here issued a bulletin claiming 78 revolutionists had been killed and that the government had lost 16 killed and 22 wounded.

"This morning fifty-six badly wounded federals arrived here from the front. After three days of fighting the government has issued no new bulletin or claimed the victory. The city is waiting. All know that the news is bad from the government.

"There is a rumor that 200 Yaquis who were alarmed by the government have gone over in a body to the revolutionists. Word comes that the Yaqui chief Bull is the only Yaqui remaining faithful to the government.

"It is hard to realize that in this age 1,500 men with modern rifles are killing each other with no doctors and no trained help of any kind; as they fall, they lie, or crawl away.

"The carriages that left with ammunition two days ago, returned today loaded with wounded and dying men."

SPECIAL IS AT HIBBING

Agricultural Experts Hold Three Meetings in the Range Town.

Special Effort Made to Reach School Children With Instruction.

Hibbing, Minn., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The potato special of the Duluth Commercial club and the state farmers' institute is here today for an all-day session. Scores of farmers from the surrounding country are in town for the meetings and the people of Hibbing are also taking a keen interest in the special and the message it brings in regard to home gardening and poultry-raising.

As in other towns on the range a special effort was made here to get the school children interested. A. B. Hostetter talked to about 600 grade children on "Home Gardening." C. E. Chapman and Mr. Olson addressed the school students at the school and many of them visited the special.

The big meeting here will be in the Armory tonight. The business men of Hibbing have interested themselves in getting a good crowd out for the meeting and have impressed on the citizens of Hibbing that the speakers discuss matters not only of interest to farmers but to everybody.

The special will get out among the farmers again tomorrow. In the morning, an institute will be held at Forbest from 8:30 to 11 o'clock. In the afternoon from 12:30 to 3, the farmers at Zim will have an opportunity to hear the speakers and from 3:30 to 6 o'clock an institute will be held at Kelsey. The train will then go to Meadowlands where it will remain over Sunday.

George C. Smith brought some fine specimens of potatoes to the train at Virginia and seven baskets were added to the exhibit at Cook. The number of farmers bringing potatoes to the train is not as great as expected, however, many of them having overlooked that feature.

Meeting at Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The potato special arrived in Virginia last night and a meeting was held at the city hall. A large crowd greeted the speakers, although there were few farmers present. A. B. Hostetter acted as chairman of the meeting. O. M. Olson explained the object of agricultural schools. H. A. Hopkins spoke on the formation of farmers' clubs throughout the country and told how the farmers were benefited by these organizations. N. E. Chapman told his hearers how to raise chickens.

Minneapolis and St. Paul affairs, and that when they were out of the way those interested in them would cease to care whether the house got its work done or not. It was explained by Representative Knapp and others that this is the usual custom, and that it works largely a saving in time and expense.

Representative Ole Peterson moved that his bill appropriating $25,000 for a monument at St. Peter to the late Governor John A. Johnson be recalled from the appropriation committee and put on general orders.

J. T. Johnson of Ottertail county opposed the proposition, saying that the appropriations committee had voted unanimously to kill the bill.

Representative J. E. Peterson moved that the motion lie on the table, which was carried, 36 to 35. When the committee reports, Mr. Peterson will make a fight to save the bill.

Representative Kelly this morning gave notice of a motion to reconsider the passage of the telephone bill, but Representative Edwards got in ahead of him by moving that the vote be reconsidered and asking that it be voted down, which was done, thus preventing further delay.

The house printing committee killed the bill requiring the publication of names of owners and editors of newspapers.

Senator Fossen's drastic bill regulating cold storage warehouses was killed in the house by the adoption of an adverse report from the committee on public health and pure food.

The bill legalizing practitioners of drugless systems of healing, which is the well known chiropractice bill in a new form, was put on general orders in the house on motion of the public health committee.

The Moriarity bill requiring railroads to publish time tables met defeat by the adoption of a report against it by the railroad committee of the house.

A similar fate befell Representative Palmer's bill proposing a constitutional amendment making railroads pay assessments for local improvements, from which they are now held to be exempt under the gross earnings tax law.

Senator Weis this morning gave notice that on Monday he will move to make a special order on the bill proposing a constitutional amendment limiting the number of senators in any one county to four. The authors of the bill will propose an amendment raising the limit to six or seven—which number has not yet been decided.

The senate passed the following bills:

By Senator Rockne—Regulating barbering.

By Senator Sageng—Defining the value of diplomas issued by normal schools.

By Representative J. T. Johnson—Providing for the revocation of teachers' licenses for immorality or incompetency, and for their suspension when the teachers have tuberculosis.

By Representative Kunze—Authorizing the state superintendent of public instruction to set apart a day to be known as Minnesota day on which the schools are to hold exercises appropriate to the occasion.

The senate voted to adjourn over tomorrow, but the house will be in session.

PAL BROWN AFTER MORAN

Range Fighter Seeking Meeting With Great Little English Pugilist.

Chicago Jack White Will Fight the Little Range Wonder.

Pal Brown, the wonderful little fighter of Hibbing who has yet to experience the mental sting of defeat, is going after Owen Moran.

Dr. Plapper, who has managed Pal in his climb upward on the pugilistic path, has been in Duluth the past few days arranging some business matters. While here he received advice that the fight with Jack White of Chicago, one of the best of the 130-pound brigade, was cinched, and then it was that the "doc" came through with his information regarding his ambitions in regard to Pal.

"Brown is one of the best boys of his weight in the world," said Plapper. "He has done everything we have asked him, and even more. His decisive defeat of Greenwald, one of the toughest boys of his weight in the country today, shows decisively that Pal has not very much to fear from any of the boys of his weight.

"He has the assentials that go to make a world's champion. He is as game as a pebble, has wonderful endurance and also remarkable recuperative powers. He can take all kinds of a beating and come up for the next round fresh as a daisy. That old punch of his, the one that has beaten every boy he has met to date, is always on tap, and it doesn't make any difference with Pal which hand it is.

"If the youngster beats Jack White we will probably send him after Owen Moran. The little Briton is one of the best in the world, and some of the critics class him over the present champion, Al Wolgast. We realize how good Moran is, believing him possibly the very best boy in the world of his weight, and yet if he will weigh in at 130 pounds, there are a lot of people who think Pal will have a chance.

"Brownie has been beating all the second class boys that have been sent to him, and beating them fast. He has outclassed them so much in his latter fights that the battles were somewhat one-sided. He has earned the right to go after big game. He will learn more and get better, and the best way to have him learn the fine points of the game is to have him meet the best in the game."

The opinion of Dr. Plapper's is coincided in by one of the best informed sporting men in this city. This man witnessed the fight between Brown and Greenwald and stated to the writer after he returned to Duluth that, in his opinion, there was no 130-pound boy in America who could lower the colors of Brown.

If young Brown gets by in his fight with Jack White, one of the classy boys of the country today, he will establish his class in one bound throughout the country. Once the managers throughout the country are convinced that a youth is coming, they are after his services. In the event of Brown beating White it is a surety that his services will be in demand in the best fight clubs of the country, and herein will come the opportunity to clash with Moran, Harlem Tommy Murphy, or any of the best boys of the country.

Those who have seen Brown fight are certain that Northern Minnesota has produced a coming champion. His lack of boxing knowledge is the greatest weakness the youngster has shown. His foot work is not what it should be, nor does he counter or take advantage of openings as he should. But he is coming, is improving with every bout, and if he continues to improve in the next six months there is every reason to believe he will be at least somewhere near the top of the lightweight division.

GIANTS IN FIGHT WITH ROOTER

Bats Brought Out to Quell Row in Atlanta Park.

Atlanta, Ga., March 31—Erskine Brewster, "the man with the 'fog horn' voice" distinguished himself at Ponce De Leon ball park yesterday afternoon by giving several of the New York Nationals a near-licking. Involved in the row were Muggsy McGraw, Christy Mathewson, "Chief" Meyers, Bridwell and others.

The squabble grew out of remarks hurled at the players the day before by Brewster. The latter was practicing with the Atlanta team yesterday when McGraw attempted to remonstrate with the rooter. While they were talking Mathewson, it is claimed, grabbed Brewster from behind and the latter, by a quick twist, sent the pitcher sprawling full length on the ground. Meyers came running up in time to get a stiff blow in the face.

Other members of the New York squad broke into the fray and Brewster was getting a good drubbing when some of the Atlanta players made their appearance with bats in their hands. The bats did not look good and the trouble quickly subsided.

INDIANS SIGN JOHNSON.

Cook Grabs Hard-Hitting Gardener and Is After Two More.

Red Wing, Minn., March 31.—Manager Fred Cook has secured the signed contract of Charles Johnson, one of the fastest base runners and hardest hitters playing independent ball last year. He will make a strong addition to the list of outfield candidates.

Dick Walker, a shortston of the Blue Grass league last season, who was forced to retire from the diamond on account of illness, has also been lassoed. He played with the Frankfort team and finished with a semi-pro outfit at Toledo. He is coming at his own expense to fight for a position.

Cook is hot on the trail of two star outfielders, one of whom was in the Northwestern league in 1910. He is said to be a hard clouter. His signed contract is expected on Thursday. The outfield looks better every day, says Cook, and he believes the gardens will be inhabited by fully as strong men as looked after the territory the past season.

COMMENTS AND OPINIONS ON THE SPORTING PARADE

Brains in Present Day Baseball—Is Al Kaufmann Coming or Will He Never Arrive?—A Jack Johnson Story — Another White Hope Appears and an Elimination Contest Proposed.

(BY BRUCE.)

JOHN J. McGRAW, sometimes called the little Napoleon of baseball, has a very interesting article on the game in one of the current magazines. The article is interesting from the fact that it suggests to the reader the endless stratagey of baseball and illustrates in a small way the brains that go to make up a successful first division team.

In his article McGraw points out that it is necessary that a team finishing in the first division must have at least two "thinking heads" on its pay roll. There are hard hitting teams and there are aggregations that have speedy base runners, and yet without the brains that mean brilliant plays, plays that are pulled off at critical moments, when a player must think and act at the same time, no team can hope for high honors in baseball.

Further McGraw shows a continual battle of brains between the offense and the defense. Some brilliant play is planned and is later abandoned because the defensive opponents have solved the strategy of it.

Right here "Muggsy" McGraw has put his finger on the vital greatness of the game. Why is baseball? The answer is, because it is always interesting. There is, first of all, the element of luck that ever makes the game uncertain. But, even more than this, something new, the result of brainy study, is always coming up to make baseball a sort of battle, where strategy and clever ruse gain the upper hand.

One of the reasons for the prominence of the college player on the diamond, as given by McGraw, is because there is need for brainy men to play the game the way it is being played in the present generation.

"Time was, and not so very long ago, when men like big John Anderson, who made one of the funniest plays in baseball, that of stealing second with the bases full, could hold down jobs with the big league teams, if they could hit and field tolerably well. Under the present regime, those players have passed from baseball.

"They are saying already, before the season has even started, that Joe Jackson, the Cleveland outfielder, who set the league on fire the fag end of last season, will not make good. Some of the sharps figure that he hasn't the brains that are needed up in fast company. They say he is illiterate and can't think and act at the same time.

"Shades of Pete Browning and some of the famed old sluggers of the past! Who ever thought of brains in those days? It was the guy who could hit them on the nose. They didn't think of the hit-and-run, or the placing of hits; or the sign defense, that is employed by all the teams in the big league; in fact, in the old days to clout the ball to the far corners of the lot was the prime requisite.

"People throughout the country are slowly awaking to the fact that baseball is a profession. The men in it have at last awakened to that fact and hence you are finding the cleverer, intelligent, gentlemanly fellows up in the big leagues, and the headless wonders, sometimes possessing natural mechanical ability of a high order, strolling around the bushes. Some of them, sad to relate, may be found hanging around the bar room of an evening.

"Baseball is popular because the more the intelligent business man learns of it the more he becomes interested. An intelligent man has a fine sense of appreciation for the fine points of play. It is a sport that has made wonderful strides, that has for its essential success science, based upon solid thought, and is a game that is as full of concentration for the intelligent man, if he would get the finer plays, as a game of bridge whist.

John J. McGraw points out some very clever details of the much mistaken "inside" baseball theory, which is after all, as he explains, nothing more than baseball based upon brains; the right play made at the right time.

The article is very interesting as showing the great possibilities of any game of baseball, when men with intelligence are engaged in it, and also as giving a very clear explanation of the great popularity of the sport.

How Long is a Man a Comer?

HOW long can a rose bloom, a lily hold its charming fragrance, or a demure damsel hug the sweet sixteen mark, apparently has nothing whatever to do with the length of time Mister Al Kaufmann can be considered a "coming heavyweight champion."

Sweet Al of old Frisco has been coming, if we are willing to sit behind the stove and waive arguments with press agents, ever since the night he put the blankets on Sam Berger. Just how far has he advanced at the present writing?

He says there is just one man he wants to meet, and that pinnacle of his heart's desire is the jailed Jack Johnson. What's the matter with Sam Langford, Al? That's it. There is nothing at all the matter with the stubby coon; he is too all-fired healthy for the other heavies, and they are generally overlooking him.

No one with any big league ideas in his bean imagines for one moment that Samuel Adams Langford is the least bit afraid of Kaufmann. Far be it from such. It's a joke. Let Kaufmann beat Langford and someone might listen with real seriousness to his weary tale of wanting to fight Jack Johnson.

Kaufmann has been before the public for quite a few years. What first class man has he ever beaten? Mike Schreck and Jim Barry are about the best and it required him forty-nine rounds to beat Barry, who at his best has never been anything but a second class heavyweight.

This "coming heavyweight champion" stuff may go in some quarters, but for ours we would like to see this lumbering gent from the sunny climes of California either fight some first class man of the stripe of Langford, or suddenly stop making so much noise.

Everybody says Al is a nice, gentlemanly fellow. Granted, old chap, and yet he is in the prize fight game and it would be the most pleasing thing he could possibly do, were he to announce that he stands ready to fight Langford, who weighs pounds less than Kaufmann, any old distance that the grinning little coon desires.

A New Story on Lil' Artha.

ALEX SLOAN, writing in the Los Angeles Times, tells a story that shows some sort of rude humanity in the character of John Artha Johnson, the incarcerated cinder and perhaps the greatest fighter of the world has seen since the palmy days of red Robert Fitzsimmons.

Jack was boxing little Joe Wolcott in his day perhaps the most wonderful little man in the ring, forgetting for the moment that demon from Saginaw, Mich., George Kid Lavigne. Wolcott stands a fraction of an inch over five feet. Imagine the contrast between him and the towering physique of Johnson.

Johnson noticed that the little old black was getting kind of tired. He whispered to the Barbadoes wonder to slam a couple to his face. Joe did as he was instructed, big Jack making no effort to block the blows and backing away and acting as if he were hit.

Someone in the audience yelled to little Joe: "Give him h—, Joey, remember you are the 'white hope.'"

He Should Prove Quite a Help.

OSCAR W. STUCKEY is the "Florida Hercules." Like all the others, he says he devoutly desires to meet Jack Johnson. Does he? Like the mystery surrounding the age of Ann and other of our great American questions, to date this will have to remain unanswered.

The man from Florida stands only 6 feet 9 inches and weighs only 230 pounds. Why should he want to fight? Think of what a fine bill poster, or plasterer or paper hanger he would make. But then the "white hopeism" is a fantastic fad and the boys must have their fling.

Stuckey has a reach of eight-two inches and should make a first class handy man behind a lunch counter on a busy day. My, but what a help he would prove to the girls when it came to reaching things. But again in thinking of useful vocations for Oscar, vocations where he could preserve the contour of his countenance, we are again confronted by the wild desire on the part of the big boys to become some sort of a "hope."

Probably the mad career of the hopeless "hope" idea will have to run its end. Let's see, there is Miles McLeod, Con O'Kelly, Tom Lester, Carl Morris, this Stuckey chap and several others who have not as yet secured good press agents. Why not let them get together and hold an elimination meet of the "hopes." The tournament could be staged during a week of rest and could be called the "survival of the hopes," or "white hope" week.

It would be great sport. All of these boys move so slowly that it would hardly be necessary to take moving pictures of the fun. But at least it would tame down the "hope" desire, which is getting plum pestering.

If it is all the same to the boys, the public would be awful thankful if this little from Missouri act could be staged.

JOHNSON TRIES WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS.

San Francisco, Cal., March 31.—A petition for a writ of habeas corpus on the part of Jack Johnson was filed late yesterday with the supreme court. A similar petition was denied by the appellate court Wednesday. Johnson is in the county jail serving a 25-day sentence on his plea of guilty of having violated the automobile speed ordinance.

WHEN DARBY TRIED TO TALK BASEBALL WITH A SINGER

The Cleveland Plain Dealer tells the following on Darby O'Brien:

Darby O'Brien, the Cleveland manager of the Duluth team in the Wisconsin-Minnesota league, has had many unusual experiences as a bush league leader, but he bumped into one in his own fair city yesterday that he considers the best ever.

Darby had an engagement to meet Alexander Heineman, the singer, Tuesday at noon, but Darby failed to keep the date, and thereby hangs a tale. Mr. Heineman gave his song recital at Gray's armory Tuesday evening and departed from our midst. No doubt he is still wondering what Darby O'Brien, manager of the Duluth club, wanted with him.

On O'Brien's team at Duluth last year was a Cleveland boy by the name of Anderson. This youngster looked good enough to the Boston Americans to draft him. For some reason, however, the Boston club failed to send Anderson a contract. Naturally, the player is anxious to know where he stands, as he would like to look elsewhere for a berth if Boston has no intention of retaining him.

Reading in the paper that many of the prominent baseball men were expected in the city to attend the funeral of the late Stanley Robison, the recruit surmised it would be just the time for him to learn his baseball status. He unfolded his opinion to Manager O'Brien, who with Anderson in tow, started for the Hollenden to talk it over with the big moguls.

O'Brien made his way to the desk and inquired if Mr. Herrmann was registered there. The clerk informed him that he was, and told the telephone girl to connect O'Brien with room No. such-and-such. When the call of the operator was finally answered, O'Brien inquired if this was Mr. Herrmann talking.

Valet Answers 'Phone.

"No, id iss his valet," was the response. It almost floored O'Brien, as he could not figure what Herrmann wanted with a valet, but he decided to see the game to a finish.

"Where is Mr. Herrmann?" asked O'Brien.

"He iss sleepin' to make for his voice a rest," was the answer. O'Brien was undecided whether to get sore or not, as he thought some fresh big leaguer was trying to kid him.

"Vot it iss you want?" said the man at the other end of the 'phone.

"Oh, nothing much," said Darby, "I just wanted to have a little talk with him about a young fellow named Anderson."

"Vot iss de name, pleese?" was the answer.

"Just tell him that Darby O'Brien, manager of the Duluth baseball team, called him up and that I will be around to see him about noon. I hope his voice is in good shape then, for I have a long story to tell him."

Darby chuckled as he hung up the receiver, at the idea of Herrmann having a valet, and taking a nap to give his voice a rest. Of course Darby had his own opinion about the red tape stuff he was forced to go through in order to get an interview. The clerk noticed that O'Brien wore a peculiar grin as he hung up the receiver.

"Did you get him?" he ventured as O'Brien started to walk away.

"Well, to tell the truth, I don't know whether I did or not," said O'Brien. "I had a talk with some guy who answered the 'phone, and who spoke a very bum brand of English. I took a chance, however, and made an engagement for noon."

"Let me see, who was it you wanted?" said the clerk.

"Why, Garry Herrmann," answered Darby, "owner of the Cincinnati club, chairman of the national commission, grand exalted ruler of the Elks, and—"

"That is plenty," said the clerk, as he wiped off a foolish grin that spread over his countenance, "you got the wrong man, you've made an engagement with Mr. Heineman, the great singer."

"Well, you can just cancel the date," said Darby, as he strode majestically out of the hotel.

FAMOUS JAPANESE NINE MAY PLAY LOCAL PLAYERS

The famous Keio University team of Japanese ball players, the nine that has met some of the best American college teams and has made a wonderful record, all things considered, may be seen in Duluth this summer.

Douglas Knight of Bayfield, Wis., has been chosen manager of the team for the American tour. He has already booked two games for Ashland and has written here inquiring whether a game or series of games can be arranged.

Magnate Jawn Desmond will give the proposition his attention and it is very probable that some games between the little brown men, said to be wonderful ball players, and a local team, can be arranged. It would prove a treat to local fans, for this is the first tour of a Japanese team.

Knight was former captain of the University of Wisconsin team, which made the first trip to Japan and played a series of games with the famous Keio team. It is said that the Japs want to see Lake Superior and also want to do some fishing around the big lake, hence the trip to this part of the country.

PHILADELPHIA TEAMS TO MEET

Philadelphia, March 31.—The professional baseball season in this city will be opened this afternoon when the two major league clubs of this city will begin their annual series of games for the local championship. Today's game will be played on the American league grounds and tomorrow's will be on the grounds of the National club.

The series will consist of nine games. The Americans will start the game with the same men that won the world's championship last fall, while several of the players who figured in the famous Cincinnati deal will be in the batting order of the Nationals. Coombs for the Americans and Moore for the Nationals are scheduled to do the pitching.

NOTRE DAME AND STANFORD TIED

Points Made By Philbrook and Dimick Last Year Thrown Out.

Chicago, March 31.—Directors of the intercollegiate conference athletic association announced yesterday that the conference meet of June 3, 1910, resulted in a tie, Leland Stanford university and Notre Dame each having seventeen points to its credit.

A final decision also was announced in the cases of George W. Philbrook and Ralph Dimick of Notre Dame and J. W. Nelson of Washington state college, all of whom were declared to have been ineligible to compete in the 1910 meet and their credits were cancelled.

Illinois and Chicago ran a close race for third and fourth places, Illinois getting 14½ and Chicago 14¾ in the final decision. California is fifth with 12, Wisconsin sixth with 11, Minnesota and Oberlin are tied with 10 points; South Dakota has 8 and Purdue and Western Reserve have 4 each. Colorado and Miami university have 3 points each.

DULUTH HAS LOST ANDERSON

Star Outfielder Goes to Providence, R. I., at a Fancy Salary.

A letter to the sporting editor of The Herald from Darby O'Brien, contains the information that George Anderson, the speed merchant, goes to Providence, R. I., at one of the biggest salaries ever offered a class D player.

"George Anderson goes to Providence, R. I., at a salary of a big leaguer, which is a big jump for one year in baseball," says O'Brien.

Last season was the first season out for the youngster. During the first month of the season he didn't show much but speed. Then he began to get his bearings and some great baseball playing was the result. His fielding was the best seen in the league, not forgetting Callahan of Eau Claire, and if the improvement of the youngster is consistent in the future, he should climb into a big league berth.

While the fans of this section of the wilderness will be very loath to lose Anderson, for he would have looked awfully nice out in the garden this season, his many friends here will at the same time be very pleased to learn that he has secured so good a baseball berth.

Darby adds that he has got things ready for the opening of the spring training season. He further states that it looks as if he would have a very strong team.

"SCHOONY" BACK WITH EAU CLAIRE

Eau Claire, Wis., March 31.—With "Tommy" Schoonhoven back in his managerial capacity as the head of the Eau Claire baseball club, business will soon be picking up locally and the principal subject of discussion will be the prospects of the Eau Claire team, champions of the Wisconsin-Minnesota league for the 1910 season.

Henry D. Davis, president of the Eau Claire baseball club, has returned from West Baden, where he has been taking the baths, and incidentally attending to a few baseball matters on the side. The most important matter in a baseball way that "Hank" attended to while away was to hold a conference with our peerless "Tommy" and engage him as manager for the team for the season of 1911.

"Tommy" has been busy spotting a player here and another there, and thinks he has some very likely material to select a winning team from. President Davis is quite well pleased with the outlook.

Mr. Davis says that several promising men have been signed up by "Tommy" for the spring try-out and he also looks to see all the veterans of last year back in the line-up with the exception of the three disposed of by sale and draft. At present the names of the new recruits signed up will not be given.

Among those signed by "Tommy" is Barney Walbaum, the hard hitting and speedy outfielder of the Gary, Ind., and Aurora clubs. Walbaum formerly played with the crack Downers Grove, Ill., and Burlington, Wis., team. Walbaum was given a try-out with the team last spring and he was earning a berth on the team by his hitting and all-around good work when he broke his ankle sliding into a base and so did not get a chance to show his caliber with the team.

The finance committee of the Eau Claire baseball club has been getting along nicely in its collection of baseball funds and has the amount necessary almost cinched.

HARD TO PICK THE WINNER

Oxford and Cambridge Crews Evenly Matched for Big Race.

Cambridge Has Several Veterans But Oxford's Crew Is Strong.

London, March 31.—The Oxford and Cambridge crews, which will row over the Putney course in the annual university race tomorrow, are about as evenly matched, judging from appearances, as any two eights that have met for some years.

Cambridge had the better material to choose from, a number of her men having had several seasons' experience in the boat. Oxford, on the other hand, was obliged to build up a new crew. Nevertheless, when they came down to the tidewater to conclude their training, the dark blues were slight favorites. Since then Cambridge has improved the more rapidly and rowing men have found it difficult to pick the winner.

The crews and the weights follow:

Oxford—C. E. Tinne, (University), bow, 170 pounds; (2) L. G. Wormald, (Magdalen), 177 pounds; (3) R. E. Burgess, (Magdalen), 168½; (4) E. Millington Drake, (Magdalen), 175½; (5) C. W. Littlejohn, (New College), 182; (6) A. S. Garton, (Magdalen), 190¾; (7) D. Mackinnon, (Magdalen), 185¾; R. C. Bourne, (New College), stroke, 152½; H. B. Wells (Magdalen), coxswain, 118.

Cambridge—S. E. Swan (Trinity), bow, 162 pounds; (2) P. V. G. Vanderbyl, (Pembroke), 172 pounds; (3) F. B. Hellyer, (First Trinity), 172 pounds; (4) C. F. Burnan, (First Trinity, 174; (5) R. Lebmae Smith, (Third Trinity), 187¾; (6) J. G. Rosher, (First Trinity), 207½; (7) G. E. Fairburn, (Jesus), 171½; R. M. Arbuthnot, (Third Trinity), stroke, 149½; C. A. Skinner, (Jesus), coxswain, 118.

TWO NEW WORLD'S RECORDS ARE MADE

Jacksonville, Fla., March 31.—Two new world's records were made at the Atlantic-Pablo beach automobile race meeting yesterday. Driving his Buick "Bug" in the twenty-mile free-for-all Burman drove the twenty miles in 13 minutes, 11.92 seconds, or at the rate of 91.08 miles per hour. The previous record for more than ten miles was made at Daytona by Lancia in a Fiat when he covered fifteen miles at the rate of ninety miles per hour on a straightaway. Burman's course included two turns which lowered his average greatly.

Howard Wilcox sent the big blue National stock car across the mile distance in 40.32 seconds, establishing a new world's record fo rstock cars and lowering the mark of 40.35 seconds made by Barney Oldfield at Daytona last year.

The five-mile stock car event for cars from 301 to 450 cubic inches piston displacement was another victory that Wilcox added to his list of laurels. His time of 3:56.32 is faster than was ever driven by a car of that class.

Bob Burman, driving the "Blitzen" Benz, captured the $1,000 cash prize offered for the fastest mile, going the distance in 30.25 seconds over a very rough beach.

A ten-mile race for cars under 600 cubic inches piston displacement kept the spectators on their feet the last two miles of the event. Disbrow, in the Hope-Hartford, was the winner, with Wilcox, in a National a close second.

Augusta Errors Costly.

Augusta, Ga., March 31.—In a game featured by the costly errors of the locals and the slugging of the visitors, the second division of the New York Americans won yesterday by the score of 12 to 7.

LAST STAND OF BOOKIES ON PENSACOLA TRACK.

Pensacola, Fla., March 31.—The threatened legal interference with the Pensacola race meet by the Commercial association did not materialize today, the county solicitor having declared that bookmaking in this state is not prohibited by law. The anti-betting statute will not go into effect until May 1, and as the track meet scheduled to begin today is for fifteen days only, no interference is expected. Owners of racing stables re-entered their horses in today's card.

MAIL CLERKS START FIGHT

Progressive Element Among Mail Handlers Has National Ticket in Field.

Working for Steel Cars, Maximum Time for Work and Other Things.

St. Paul, Minn., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The progressive element of the Railway Mail association, which in reality constitutes the new brotherhood formed recently, has put into the field a national ticket and campaign literature is being issued from the local offiice of the railway mail clerks. The clerks believe if they can capture the offices of the association there will be no need further to push the work of secession.

Two St. Paul men are on the ticket, C. C. Van Dyke for president and Harry H. Stafford for secretary and treasurer. William Collins of Watertown, Wis., is the candidate for vice president. The progressive offering for delegates comprises L. H. Phillips of Chicago, W. V. O'Brien of Grand Forks and Boone Talbot of Minneapolis. The convention will be in Syracuse, N. Y., next June.

What the Progressives Want.

The progressive platform is pledged to work for steel cars, initiative and referendum and recall, for a maximum time for work and for the appointment of a grievance committee which will handle all the troubles of the clerks in spite of the gag law of the department.

The publication of the orders of Postmaster General Hitchcock requesting the men to cease their efforts at organization, will have no effect, says John L. Thornton.

DELEGATES ARE BEING SELECTED

County Convention Choosing Representatives to Big Anti-Reciprocity Meet.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—County anti-reciprocity conventions to elect delegates to the state convention to be held here Tuesday next, are being held this afternoon in Grand Forks, Carrington, Oberon, Hamilton, La Moure, Park River, Fargo, Lakota and Langdon. Each county will elect from eight to twenty delegates to the state convention when representatives will be elected to go to Washington to lobby against its adoption.

McHenry county held its convention at Velva and elected ten delegates J. M. Devine of Minot being the speaker. Stustman county farmers and business men met at Jamestown, elected delegates and heard the question discussed by seven speakers including H. B. Wood of Minneapolis.

WOMAN PASTOR TO QUIT.

Inability to Get Along With Congregation at Cable, Wis.

Cable, Wis., March 31.—Trouble in the Congregational church over the woman pastor, due to alleged incompatibility of temperament with some members of the congregation, has been smoothed over by mediation of an out-of-town missionary and resulted in the resignation of Mrs. Healy, the pastor, to take effect in June. The pastor maintains she will collect her salary for the year, having a contract for that period, but this influential members deny and say no contract was signed. The matter may yet cause legal complications.

Convicted of Cattle Poisoning.

Eau Claire, Wis., March 31.—Tried in the circuit court here on a charge of poisoning cattle belonging to a neighbor, Edgar Jacot, John Gamouf, a town of Pleasant Valley farmer, was found guilty, but his attorney, Judge Joseph W. Singleton, has asked the court to certify a question as to the sufficiency of the evidence to the supreme court, Judge James Wickham now having that motion under advisement.

CELEBRATIONS IN COPPER COUNTRY

There Will Be Plenty Doing in Upper Peninsula This Year.

Calumet, Mich., March 31.—This will be a year of carnivals, homecomings and anniversary celebrations in the copper country, and thousands of visitors and former residents are expected to come to the several big affairs. The first event is the Laurium midsummer carnival, which is to be held during the week of July 3. Big amusement companies will bring their shows here for that week, in addition to which an athletic carnival is being arranged. The athletic shows will include wrestling, in which some of the world's best-known grapplers will take part, including Young Miller of St. Paul, welterweight champion, and probably Henry Ordemann, Fred Beel and others. Local promoters are endeavoring, too, to arrange the proposed marathon or twenty-six-mile race between Young Miller and Jussi Stoltz, one of the foremost long distance runners in the country. Miller is the challenger. There will also be horseracing events and a big Fourth of July celebration during the week. The Keweenaw county "old settlers'" homecoming is to be celebrated during the week of the Laurium carnival.

The Hancock City homecoming and fiftieth anniversary celebration will be held about the middle of July. Among the big events being arranged is a big military and naval display, the latter to be held on Portage lake.

The Michigan College of Mines, the foremost school of its kind in the world, located at Houghton, will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary in August. President Taft, Gov. Chase S. Osborn of Michigan, perhaps Governor Eberhart of Minnesota, and other notables, will attend this affair.

PROTESTING AGAINST CREATING NEW JOB

Grand Forks County Taxpayers Don't Want Any County Superintendent of Roads.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Township petitions from all parts of Grand Forks county are pouring into the county auditor's office protesting against the appointment of a county superintendent of public highways, an office created by the late legislature. The option of the appointment lies with the county commissioners and they will decide one way or another at their April meeting. The remonstrances state that the appointment would incur a useless expense, create an office that is not needed and that the voters are well satisfied with the present system of township supervisors.

The new laws does not carry with it a special levy with which to pay the superintendent's salary, which is to be taken from the general fund.

WOULD TEACH FARMING.

Ramsey County, N. D., Educators Consider Matter at Meeting.

Devils Lake, N. D., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual school directors' meeting of Ramsey county began at the courthouse yesterday afternoon and will continue until this evening. Prof. C. B. Waldron of the agricultural college was the principal speaker last evening and this morning, urging the teaching of agriculture in the rural schools. This afternoon Henry Hale, president of the Ramsey County Agricultural society, will deliver an address on the formation of neighborhood clubs in the rural districts and villages.

Dean Joseph Kennedy of the university and Prof. Godward of the city schools were also among the speakers.

MONTANA MILLIONAIRE'S DAUGHTER SEEKS DIVORCE.

Helena, Mont., March 31.—Married in St. Paul two years ago, Mrs. Alvah H. O'Brien, only daughter of Thomas Cruse, millionaire mining man and banker of this city, has filed a motion in the district court seeking absolute divorce. Her husband is the son of a New York banker. The couple has been prominent socially in New York and Helana. Cruse forbade O'Brien again entering his home, it is said, and when Mrs. O'Brien recently returned here he stopped in Chicago. The grounds for the action have not been made public.

DIES CHOPPING WOOD.

Park River, N. D., Man Gets Very Sudden Summons.

Park River, N. D., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. R. C. Cliff of this place, who last year was assistant to Dr. Van Es of the department of veterinary science at the state agricultural college here, died very suddenly yesterday. He was chopping wood at his home. His wife was standing in the door watching him. Suddenly he called to her, but before she could reach his side he had fallen and death was instantaneous. Heart trouble was the cause.

LATE JUSTICE'S ESTATE.

Mrs. Jaggard Gets One-Third and Balance Goes to a Niece.

St. Paul, Minn., March 31.—The will of Justice Edwin A. Jaggard of the state supreme court, who died in the Bermudas Feb. 13, has been filed in probate court. The estate is scheduled at $57,000, of which $22,000 is in personal and $35,000 in real property.

Under the terms of the will Mrs. Jaggard takes one-third of the estate, after $1,000 is paid to Arthur W. Jaggard, a nephew, living in Altoona, Pa., who has lived with the Jaggards since infancy. It is understood that in addition to her one-third interest in the estate, Mrs. Jaggard is named as the beneficiary in Justice Jaggard's life insurance policies, which are said to aggregate a substantial sum.

BICKFORD'S TRIAL.

Former North Dakota Treasurer to Face Jury in May.

Bismarck, N. D., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—important among the case to be tried at the Bureligh county term of district court beginning here May 16 will be the case against Former State Treasurer G. L. Bickford, charged with embezzling state money.

It is expected the attorneys for the defense will strive for a change of venue alleging prejudice exists here against the accused.

Since the arrest of Bickford the action of the state legislative assembly in causing an inquiry into the condition of the state treasury has brought forth a large number of new facts. The report of the investigating committee was turned over to the state's attorney of this county, to be used in the prosecution of such actions as might arise out of the affairs that were covered by the report.

Bickford is at his home in Bowbells, where he has engaged in the real estate business. He still is confident that he will be acquitted. D. C. Greenleaf is his attorney and he will be in Bismarck this week in connection with the Cowan case as a witness.

Another probability in connection with the prosecution of the defendant when the time comes for the trial is that of the filing of an amended complaint in which misappropriation of public funds instead of embezzlement will be charged. The fact that the amount alleged to have been embezzled has all been paid to the state, the certificates of deposit on Bickford's bank being redeemed, would be responsible for such a change in the case should it be decided upon.

LONE LICENSE $2,500.

It Costs Money to Run Saloon in Isanti Village.

Isanti, Minn., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council for a third time has awarded the sole village saloon license to Carlson & Olson at $2,500.

The proposition of allowing the saloon to remain open during the summer months until 11 o'clock p. m., instead of closing at 10 p. m., as has been done the past two years, was brought before the council, and while a majority of the members appeared to favor the change, the matter was laid over to the April meeting.

MONTANA GIRL HAS LONG BEEN UNCONSCIOUS.

Great Falls, Mont., March 31.—Miss Gussie Zappa, 25 years old, has been four weeks in a state of coma at a local hospital, and though more than thirty physicians and specialists have been called to examine the patient, none of them has been able to diagnose the case and substantiate the diagnosis. She was stricken on March 2, and since then has eaten but little and talked only at short intervals, and then but semi-rationally. Physicians believe it is a case of acute hysteria, but say the books show no parallel. At times her temperature runs to 106.

HORSE HANGS ITSELF IN REMER LIVERY BARN.

Remer, Minn., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—D. H. Slater had a horse killed Tuesday while stabled in Sneil's livery. The horse got its head caught in the hay spout and started to pull backwards. In one of its lurches its feet slipped from under it and it fell with its neck across the manger. Before it could be released it had strangled to death.

College Buys Land.

Fargo, N. D., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of the board of trustees of the North Dakota Agricultural college found the college had an insufficient quantity of land to carry on needed experiments and purchased an adjoining half section for $16,000.

COLDER

The lion and lamb boys may have some trouble agreeing on which animal today resembles. The snow on the ground and the chilling wind are certainly lionlike, while the sunshine and bright blue sky give the day some of the qualities of the gentle lamb. Perhaps when the day is over, they may be able to decide. Last night was clear and cold and today is bright, with a true March wind giving some discomfort. Cloudy and colder weather is predicted for tonight and tomorrow.

March went out like a lamb a year ago.

The sun rose this morning at 5:49 and it will set at 6:35 this evening, giving 12 hours and 46 minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions: "Somewhat colder weather prevails throughout the Northwest in connection with the high pressure condition central over Manitoba. Zero temperature occurred in that province this morning. During the last twenty-four hours snow or rain fell over most northern districts, principally due to the influence of low pressure areas overlying Quebec and New Mexico. At the Head of the Lakes the temperature will doubtless become colder tonight, but the weather between now and Tuesday night will be rather unsettled."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 31.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Saturday:

Wisconsin—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; colder in north and west portions tonight.

Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; colder in east portion tonight.

North Dakota—Fair tonight and Saturday; not much change in temperature.

Iowa, South Dakota and Montana—Probably cloudy tonight and Saturday.

STOCK COMPANY IN COHAN PLAY

Musical Farce Is Well Presented By Mack-Leone Players.

"Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway" is the best thing, in many respects that the Mack-Leones have ever done in this city. The stock company put on the musical show with all the dash, with all the effects and with the chorus ensembles that might be expected from a company organized especially for musical comedy, though the Cohan play is rather a show with music.

Miss Maude Leone was the pronounced hit of the evening. The work of this popular actress surprised her many followers and drew forth repeated encores when she did her two songs. As Mary Jane Jenkins, the part that Fay Templeton made famous, Miss Leone has the opportunity for comedy, some serious work and just a touch of pathos. She took advantage of every opportunity, and it may be said that Mary is one of the very best pieces of work Miss Leone has done on the local stage.

Her two songs, "Mary is a Grand Old Name," and "So Long, Mary," were a distinct surprise. She sang them in the manner of a musical comedy star, and a packed house refused to let the actress leave the stage until she had responded to a number of encores.

With but twenty-four hours' notice, Justin Cooper stepped into the role of Kid Burns, the part that was originally played by Victor Moore. The hit made by Mr. Cooper, who understudied Victor Moore some time ago in the part, was second only to that scored by Miss Leone.

Mr. Cooper scored a big hit with his song, "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway," and the Cohan slang created many laughs during the evening.

Mrs. Annie Adams as the weeping widow Purdy, was a shout, and Miss Cora Morris as Flora Dora Dean, a sprightly footlight favorite, as well as Miss Helen Aubrey, as her mother, the tyranical Mrs. Dean, typical of our worst imaginings of a mother-in-law, were very good and did a big part in making the show a big success.

James Rennie as Tom Bennet, the heir to millions, surprised those theater-goers who have seen this young man in straight parts. He has an entirely new line of work in the present production, and his song, "Popular Millionaire," was so well received that he was obliged to respond to an encore.

James Nelson, as villainous Dan Cronin, was such a villain as Cohan can draw; Jack Montgomery as the police sergeant, and G. R. Walling as the butler, a servile tool in the stronger hands of Cronin, carried the show along and did some of the best work that they have done in any play given by the company.

There was a real singing and dancing chorus, and this too was a big surprise to the audience. The chorus really sang and really danced, and its ensemble work gave the play the real flavor of musical comedy and made the audience wonder at times that a stock company could put on such a production.

Original scenery was painted for the production and it compares favorably with big musical comedy productions brought here by road companies.

Willard Mack is ill and Mr. Cooper had to be substituted. It is expected that he will play the part of Kid Burns at the matinee tomorrow afternoon and will finish the local engagement.

There will be a matinee tomorrow and Sunday. There will also be a matinee next Wednesday. The engagement of "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway" will close next Wednesday evening.

Green Room Gossip.

From a lawyer to an actor is the step taken by Frederick Allen, who is presenting the clever little sketch, "His Phantom Sweetheart," at the Orpheum this week.

Mr. Allen was formerly an attorney at Saginaw, Mich., where he was a partner of Ferdinand Brucker, the present congressman from that district.

He is a graduate of the University of Michigan and since his arrival in Duluth he has been busy looking up former classmates. There are a number of Michigan graduates in Duluth and he has succeeded in finding several former acquaintances as well as many old friends from Saginaw, where he was very well known owing to his long residence in that city.

Mr. Allen began his career as an actor in 1889, finding the financial returns of the legal profession rather slow and uncertain. He has been in the theatrical profession constantly since that time and has appeared with some of the strongest stock companies in America.

"I'm an actor now and glad of it," said Mr. Allen, "and I wouldn't go back to the law under any consideration." Mr. Allen is the author of the sketch in which he is appearing.

An interesting story of the German college duels is told in the feature photoplay at the Lyric theater this week. "The Code of Honor" is the name of the film, and it shows in a realistic manner the unique duelling custom that is rapidly dying out in the German universities. At the Odeum "The Wedding Bell" holds over as the feature photoplay.

Special matinees will be given tomorrow for women and children, at both theaters.

BOND NOT INCREASED.

Accused Langdon, N. D., Physician Wins His Point.

Langdon, N. D., March 31. — (Special to The Herald.) — The effort of State's Attorney Grimson to have the bond of Dr. J. J. O'Reilly, held on a charge of murder in the second degree, increased from $6,500 to $15,000 was futile, Justice Burke denying the motion. It was when Dr. O'Reilly secured the necessary bail that the attorney made motion for an increase on the grounds of insufficiency. O'Reilly has been released from custody, but Miss Nell Gande, arrested as an accomplice and held to the district court, has not yet secured her bond.

To Make a Dry Shampoo.

Dry shampoos are all the rage now amongst society ladies and the more prominent stage beauties. Here is a formula much used in the East. It cleans, invigorates and stimulates the hair and scalp, while removing surplus oil, dust, dandruff, etc. Obtain of any well stocked druggist six ounces of pulverized orris root, also obtain two ounces of vilane powder. Mix thoroughly and keep in a tight box or jar. Sprinkle a heaping tablespoonful over and through the hair, distributing with the fingers. Do this at night. Next morning comb and brush thoroughly until all trace of powder is removed. The results are a wonderful glossy, clean, soft and fluffy head of hair.

Men use it daily. Women one to three times a week.

The Nursery

The Singing Child.

One does not need to be told that this is the child who has a happy home. To hear little snatches of some simple melody not only denotes a light heart and freedom from the fears of "making noise," but it carries a feeling of joyousness to the hearer, and brings the conviction that the sun is still shining above, although it may not be actually visible.

The child who is not purely happy never sings—no matter how rich its clothing and its home may be. I have stood and listened to a group of little ragged children singing with the intense abandon and zest which plainly showed that they were happy—at least for the time.

There is no better exercise for the lungs than that of singing, especially in the open air, and parents should do all they can to encourage it. But please understand that it is singing—not shrieking—which is so beneficial. There is too much of the latter among our growing boys and girls, and this, to a very great extent, is the cause of the harsh and roughened voices which so many young men and girls possess. There is a great charm in the soft, clear tones of cultured people, who as children were never allowed to indulge in ear-splitting shrieks and yells while at play, but were encouraged to speak, laugh and sing in a reasonable manner.

Baby's Bedtime.

A 2-year-old baby should be put to bed certainly not later than 7, and better still at 6 o'clock. It is a most serious mistake to allow little children to become accustomed to late hours and the excitement sure to attend them. The normal healthy child should sleep from 7 to 6 without interruption.

To Get Rid of Dandruff.

"Would you tell me what to use to rid baby's hair of dandruff? I have tried so many things, and they have all failed. She is only three months old, and has such a lot of hair.—K. C."

I think if you will try the following recipe you will soon get rid of the trouble. It has been tried very successfully. Get an ounce of flower of sulphur and add a quart of warm water. To this add a teaspoonful of borax, and bottle. Every morning and evening part baby's hair carefully with a comb, and with a small piece of sponge rub in the lotion. You will soon find the scurf disappear. Then brush the child's hair with a very soft brush. Many babies get dandruff because their mothers use a brush with hard bristles, and the rough treatment is exceedingly bad for the children's tender heads.

THE EVENING STORY

"The Real Difficulty"

By Joseph Blecker.

"A parliament of women," said Gladiola, laying down the newspaper. "A house of ladies! That is rather a fine idea, and quite original. I wonder how it would work?"

"Rot!"

"Really Nettie, I do wish—"

"That I would not be so hopelessly unladylike," I burst in. "Well, I allow that 'rot' is an inelegant word. I retract it. But what an extraordinary contradiction you are. Indifferent to your vote, opposed to female legislators. Indignant with our militant sisters in England. I thought you were dead against everything of the kind!"

Gladiola is as imperial and dazzling as her namesake. Her glowing beauty attracts; her dignified aloofness repels. Men's admiration for her is somewhat grudging. She holds advanced views which differ from the vanced views which differ from the of the brawler in petticoats are to her anathema.

"If you mean that I object to women behaving like underbred men, of course I am against it," answered Gladiola loftily. "It is revolting."

"That is what they usually aim at—revolting!"

"Don't be tiresome, Nettie; you know what I mean. Women ought, under all circumstances, to be womanly. Now this is quite another thing. A house of ladies! It gives us our proper position at once. It means influence without interference. Occupation without obtrusiveness. The right of speech without speechifying about our rights. Oh, it is most original!"

"You said that before, and I answered 'rot.' Because it isn't original at all. It's imitative."

"Why, Nettie?"

"Why, certainly. If I could whisk you off to Samoa—"

"Oh, my dear, please!"

My friends are rather sick of the Samoan subject. I fear I have worn it threadbare.

"Sorry, but I cannot help it this time. Samoa is necessary as an illustration. The parliament of women has existed there from time immemorial."

"You expect me to believe that, in a land of savages—"

"They are not savages. Shall I never make you people understand that their civilization is older than ours?"

"At any rate, it is not a progressive civilization, and yet you suggest that what seems to us an extremely advanced idea is with them a rooted custom. Nettie, that is a traveler's tale!"

"Is it? Ask Sautanga."

"Who or what is Sautanga?"

"She is—well—an experiment. Oh, not mine," I added hastily. "As an experiment I disapprove of her. Personally, she is a very great favorite of mine."

"Nettie, you are very perplexing today."

"It is quite simple. A white man, who proposes to marry her, wants to whiten his dark bride. He has sent her to Sydney for a couple of years' schooling, and she will go back to him utterly spoilt, neither indifferent white nor good brown. I am supposed to supervise the process of deterioration, and this happens to be my day for taking her out. If you can give us a ride in your motor it will be a joy to her and you can hear about the female parliament."

Gladiola agreed. When we throbbed up to the school and Sautanga emerged, I regretted my suggestion. Sautanga, in her native undress, would have looked a lovely impropriety. In the fine feathers of modern civilization she looked an unlovely vulgarity. I saw her with Gladiola's eyes and shuddered.

Sautanga's shudders were of delight. The motor was to her a bewildering excitement, the crowded way fascinating, the gleaming shop front bewitching. When we passed along Macquard street I directed her curious gaze to our legislative house.

"Tell the chieftainess about your fences, Sautanga."

Interest suddenly scattered Gladiola's prejudices.

"Is it true that in your country the women meet and make laws?" she asked.

The girl's antelope eyes widened.

"But, of course," she answered, in her hesitating liquid tones, "the women have not their fono with the men.

The Overworked Housewife

By HARRIET PRESCOTT SPOFFORD.

It is the strong-box, after all, that is at the root of a good deal of the household difficulty; it is the perpetual grasping for the coin that eludes the fingers, the endeavor to make bricks without straw.

Women have a natural pride in their homes, poor or rich, and in their administration of the provision made by their husbands. They think themselves culpable if they miss a point in the possibilities of that administration, in the wasting of a crust by oversight, in the breaking of a dish by carelessness, in the soiling of wall or carpet or garment by neglect, in the absence of the stitch in time that saves nine in the matter of clothes, in the use of the ounce of prevention worth a pound of cure in the matter of health and doctors.

Perhaps their husbands think them culpable, too, in such cases; certainly the neighbors do; and quite as often as because it is right, or as for the applause of the neighbors, is the work done from fear of the husband's reproaches. Yet it is to be owned that the applause of the neighbors has a world of influence upon these household cares that turn one from a blackbird to a gray.

If this wealthier acquaintance has a "second girl" to aid her in keeping up an "apple pie order" one must wear one's self out to get in one's own house with one's own hands the same apple pie arrangements; if that too industrious neighbor has her house cleaning over in March, one dares not be behind lest one be found a laggard, and accused of want of system, or ambition, or right feeling, even although it has been better to defer the cleansing process till the mouldy season were gone, or till the dust of furnace fires, together with the old jollity of the open ones,

"Down that dark hole in the floor
Staggers and is seen no more."

And if a third equally forehanded one has made her currant jelly "before the Fourth," one must follow suit, although headaches hang in the air like trip-hammers ready to fall in one's brain, and although one has to run in debt for the sugar and be harrassed about the increased grocer's bill, till one is half sick from that also, and from all the kindred apprehensions, when that half-sickness is felt, of dying prematurely and leaving the children to the care of some necessary stepmother, or of leaving them without a house over their heads anyway, to wait by-and-by on those who have been wont to regard them as their betters.

And if yet another friend has her woolen carpets rolled away in summer and straw matting laid in their place, and double windows put in in the winter weather, and fires kept everywhere and numberless other luxuries that could be dispensed with, one trembles lest one's husband should be suspected of penury, or of inability to provide, or of indifference to the home comfort, and one goes without something necessary, and has the luxury out of hand, or so much of it as possible. The person who said, "Give me the luxuries and I care not who has the necessaries of life," unconsciously struck the keynote of some of the bitterness of household cares.

Yet none of these, literally speaking, are the genuine household cares. One need feel little interest in those which proceed from pride and vanity and pique. Those only with which we have a right to concern ourselves are the cares which are inherent to the average house, and have to be encountered whether or no.

Perhaps even those cares are taken too seriously, and the household caretaker does not rely implicity enough on the sense of justice that, seeing she does her best, will not expect of her the impossible. What if it is sweeping day or baking day, or preserving day, if she rises in the morning with a headache, it is headache day, and unless she wants another and a worse one in a hurry, she must give up everything to that headache, otherwise she is wasting health and strength, and her husband's and her family's substance, as well as her own, for the sake of a habit or a petty pride of routine.

If sometimes she could bring herself, on seeing a spider's web, let us say, to suffer it to remain a while longer, against the next time the children cut their fingers, perhaps it would not be held so very heinous an act as to deserve punishment in the final settlement. But the fact is, it would annoy her more to know that the cobweb was hanging there than it would be to make the effort of taking it away.

It would not be so very nice, you know. And they talk—yes, that is, if they are big, big chieftainesses they do not talk, they have one—how you say—one talk-woman. She speak their thought. It is more correct."

"But it is marvelous," murmured Gladiola; "magnificent. Such a dignified attitude! And your women decide things for the people, and the men are told?"

"We decide what we want about what does matter to women. Yes. And the chiefs are told. Yes. It is good."

"Good!" echoed Gladiola. "It is positively ideal. Your women must be very happy?" I had never seen her so excited.

Sautanga watched the harbor ships and considered.

"I suppose so. Of course, Samoa is lelei. But we have not all your fine things."

"Yes, yes, I know that. But you have not our bad things. You have what you wish. What does a Samoan woman most wish for?"

Again the antelope eyes widened. "If she is the old chieftainess, she wish men to obey her. If she is young, like me, she wish for big chief or white man husband."

"Oh!" Gladiola was greatly annoyed.

"But I suppose you make laws that are good for women? For instance, divorce—do you know what divorce means?"

"Talofa!" exclaimed Sautanga. "My father, he have four wives. My mother, she have three husbands—not at one time, you see. It was divorce."

Gladiola was aghast. "Don you mean to say that Samoan women, who have power to make laws, think only of making love?"

Contempt indescribably lurked in the chilled tones.

"When you are old," quoth the Samoan maid, her eyes dilating softly, "laws are good—perhaps. When you are young, love is much better. My husband—who will be, he say white woman make love, too."

"But love is not everything," protested the white woman.

"No?" The brown one's face grew thoughtful.

"No, indeed! We have to influence men. To improve them."

"We have to please them," corrected the girl.

"We have to love and be loved. Laws are good, but see—my mother—"

"Yes?"

"Well she have one sister, fa's Samoa, very big woman in the fono, her talk-woman speak very tall for her, and one chief she love he not big enough for her. She may not marry him. One day he catch her and run away, carry her into the bush."

"How disgraceful! What did she do? How did she punish him?"

"She scream very loud, it is correct. But she like him so much. So she keep him."

Gladiola is seldom talkative. But I though her silence specially marked as we drove hame.

Two Leaders in the Steel Range World

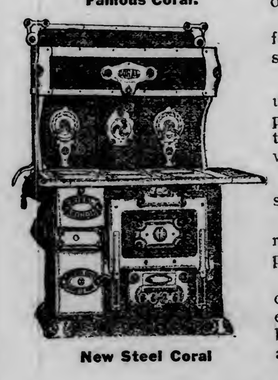
When you buy your new range, buy one that is guaranteed to give you satisfaction! We offer here two splendid types—the Famous and the New Steel Coral. Each the best of its kind.

Famous Coral.



New Steel Coral

Facts You Want to Know About Steel Coral Ranges:

BODY is made of Cold rolled charcoal iron which is the most durable material obtainable of Steel Range construction. This material will not become pitted or corroded like Steel—neither will it chip, peel, rust, burn off or turn white when heated. All bodies for the Steel Coral have double steel walls interlined with 1/8-inch asbestos mill board, thus keeping the heat in the Range and economizing in fuel.

RIVETS have cone heads and are driven with compressed air hammers same as in boiler construction, producing great strength and durability.

BOTTOM Oven Plate is made of 12 gauge wrought Steel, securely braced with cast iron plates. Oven top and sides are made of 14-gauge wrought Steel.

Our Oven Tops are made of such heavy stock that we do not find it necessary to protect them with asbestos as is found necessary in cheap ranges.

OVEN DOOR has non-breakable sliding brackets which move up and down in a groved slide. The door drops to a horizontal position level with oven bottom, has a smooth inner surface, easy to keep clean and forms a convenient shelf which will sustain any weight up to 300 lbs.

OVEN RACK is made of 8 gauge wire and combines great strength with light weight.

LININGS of Fire Box are the heaviest and most durable of any range ever made. There is ample ventilation behind the linings to prevent them from burning out.

SMOOTH NICKEL TRIMMINGS are the key note of the success of this Range and will be fully appreciated and understood by every House-wife who sees this Stove. There will be no question but that the prospective purchaser will see at a glance and fully appreciate the many good points found exclusively on this Range.

NO POSTS IN THE STREET

Only One Objection Raised to Change in Railroad's Route.

West Duluthians Much Interested in the Depot Plans.

Providing that the proposed changes in the ordinance introduced by Alderman Hogan in the council Monday evening, allowing the Canadian Northern railway to change its route slightly through West Duluth, are amended so that the overhead crossing at Fifty-ninth avenue west will have a clear span, West Duluthians will favor the new route.

At the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club this evening, the matter will be discussed. President Barnes of the club has arranged to have a copy of the original franchise read and a copy of the ordinance which has been introduced. The club has gone on record as being opposed to having posts in the street to support any of the overhead bridges and will make a strong protest to the council when the matter comes up.

With the adoption of the new route, whereby the Canadian Northern will enter the union depot over the tracks of the Northern Pacific, West Duluthians are much interested in the depot proposition at West Duluth. Although the Canadian Northern will probably have traffic arrangements with the Northern Pacific for the use of the latter's tracks in getting down town, no intimation of the company's intentions with regard to the building of the West Duluth station have been given out.

If a station is built west of Forty-ninth avenue west as provided in the franchise, and is centrally located, it will have to be elevated about twenty-six feet. The only other solution that has yet presented itself, is to have the Canadian Northern trains run to their junction with the Northern Pacific tracks at grade, at about Forty-fifth avenues as provided in the new ordinance, and back up on surface tracks to the depot location, which must be west of Forty-ninth avenue.

If this plan is followed out, as has been suggested, the joint depot arrangement between the Northern Pacific and the Canadian Northern could be easily worked out. The Northern Pacific has practically promised the West Duluth Commercial club that a new station would be built, but as no move as yet been made, it is taken by some that the company is holding back for the union station proposition.

Cloquet High School Girls Will Meet Industrial School Team.

Cloquet high school girls and West Duluth high school boys will be matched against each other in a debate tomorrow evening at the Duluth Industrial high school. The Cloquet-West Duluth debate is an annual affair and has aroused much interest and rivalry among the schools.

The question which will be discussed is: "Resolved, That the United States government should adopt a parcels post." The West Duluthians will uphold the affirmative. The representatives of the local school are Clifford Stowell, Fred Johnson and John Davis.

The Cloquet girls will attempt to show why the parcels post should not be adopted. On the visiting team are the Misses Anna Michaelsen, Beatrice Baupre and Lottie Wilson. A small admission will be charged at the affair to defray the expenses of the visiting debaters.

TRACK WILL BE RELAID

Heavier Rails Will Be Placed on West Duluth Lines.

Other Improvements Planned to West Duluth Service.

Heavy rails will replace those now in use on several stretches of the West Duluth lines of the Duluth Street Railway company, which is now making preparations for the work. The company will make a number of improvements on its West Duluth lines this summer in connection with other work on the Woodland and Lakeside lines.

The rails between Twenty-fifth and Thirty-second avenues on Superior street, between Thirty-seventh and Forty-sixth avenues on Oneota street, and between Fifty-sixth and Sixty-second avenues on Raleigh street will be relaid this spring. In every instance 80-pound rails will be laid, replacing the 60-pound steel.

On the Grand avenue line, preparatory to the paving of that thoroughfare, heavier rails will be laid between Fifty-fourth and Fifty-ninth avenues west. At the present time there is a double track on Grand avenue as far as Fifty-seventh avenue west. The double track will be extended two blocks further, so that the improvement will be in before the pavement.

When the company replaces several of the "dinkies" now used as extras during rush hours, about the first of July, a "Y" will be built at Fifty-seventh avenue west and the cars will not be switched at Thirty-ninth avenue, but will run to the Fifty-seventh avenue west "Y." This will give West Duluth people a more adequate service at a time when they need it.

FIFTY-NINTH MAY BE PARKED

Property Owners Plan to Beautify West Duluth's Widest Street.

Fifty-ninth avenue west, one of the widest streets in the city, may be parked from Main to Eighth streets. This idea has been suggested by the property owners and is meeting with much favorable comment among West Duluthians.

Grass plots placed in the center of the street would be twenty feet wide and 100 feet long, with trees planted about twenty-five feet apart. If the plans are carried out, the avenue would be one of the prettiest in the city.

In the early days of West Duluth, Fifty-ninth avenue was intended for a business street, but trade never left Central and Grand avenues. It is thought that the avenue will be paved within the next two or three years.

Bishop Will Preach.

Bishop J. D. Morrison of the Duluth diocese of Episcopal churches will administer confirmation and preach Sunday morning at Holy Apostle's Episcopal church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Elinor street. There will be special music by the choir.

This evening at Holy Apostle's church, there will be the usual lenten service commencing at 7:30 o'clock. After the service, the choir will hold a rehearsal.

Republicans Will Meet.

A meeting of the West Duluthh Republican club will be held tomorrow evening at the West Duluth Commercial club rooms. Little of importance is expected to transpire at the gathering and so far as is known now only routine business will be transacted. A short program of speeches may be given.

SUPERIOR

Case Continued.

Ben Stilson was arraigned yesterday afternoon in municipal court, charged with the murder of Thomas Cain in the rear of a Tower avenue saloon, Tuesday afternoon. Stilson appeared without counsel and did not plead. His case was continued until Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Bringing Body Home.

The body of Louis E. Rasmussen, the Superior marine who was murdered at Kittery, Me., will arrive in Superior this evening, and although no definite funeral arrangements have been made it is expected that the services will be held at the South end M. E. church, Sunday afternoon.

Free Lunch May Go.

Superior saloon men say that the free lunch must go. A resolution has been drafted and will be put through the council if possible, with the view of abolishing free lunches in the local thirst parlors. The Retail Liquor Dealers' association will probably ask the council to take this action.

Suing on Policy.

At the April term of the superior court, which will probably open next week, the case of Emma Aker, who seeks to recover $1,000 from the Prudential Life Insurance company on a policy held by her, will be taken up. The case of Pearl Hume, who is suing the Duluth Street Railway company for $5,000 alleged damages, will also be taken up.

Faculty Dinner.

Members of the faculty of the Superior normal school and their families sat down to the annual faculty dinner, which was served at the normal last evening. Covers were laid for about fifty. The dinner was served under the direction of Miss Anna Gunn, domestic science instructor. President Y. E. McCaskill presided and several toasts were given. Miss Madge Snyder sang.

Inspect Terminals.

General Manager J. M. Gruber and Assistant General Manager George H. Emerson of the Great Northern railway made their spring inspection of the road's terminals yesterday. A visit was paid to the docks and other properties of the Hill line in Superior. They left last evening for an inspection tour of the ranges.

Patrolman Recovering.

Patrolman R. W. Jackson, who was shot ten days ago at Allouez by two highwaymen and who has been confined to the St. Frances hospital, suffering from a bad bullet wound, is said to be out of danger and will recover. The police have found no clues which may lead to the capture of his assailants.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

FIGHTERS REFUSE TO MEET DURING HOLY WEEK.

New York, March 31.—A telegram from Packey McFarland of Chicago was received here today informing the management of the Fairmont Athletic club that he could not get into condition in season for his fight with Tommy Murphy, scheduled for Tuesday, April 4. As both boxers refused to go on during holy week, the bout accordingly was postponed until April 18.

PHILADELPHIA BASEBALL OPENING IS POSTPONED.

Philadelphia, March 31—The weather turned cold and raw, causing a postponement of the opening of the professional baseball season in Philadelphia until tomorrow, when the major league clubs of this city will begin their annual series of games for the local championship. Tomorrow's game will be played on the National league grounds.

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., GETS A SHAKING

Earthquake Jars Buildings, Breaks Mirrors and Rolls Chairs.

Little Rock, Ark., March 31.—Little Rock was jarred by an earthquake this morning at 10:50 o'clock. Mirros were shaken from walls, desks and chairs in offices rolled about and windows clattered.

The tremor caused a near-panic in the Southwestern Telegraph & Telephone company's building.

H. E. Alciator, director of the weather bureau, whose offices are on the tenth floor of the Southern Trust building, reported considerable swaying in that building. The union railroad station, built of heavy concrete and stone, rocked perceptibly. Pine Bluff, Dumas and Willmar also sustained shocks. No serious damage has so far been reported.

BUY PAPER IN TEXAS.

Col. Diehl has been connected with the Associated Press for the last twenty-eight years, during eighteen years of which he has been assistant general manager. Mr. Beach came to the Associated Press twenty years ago, and for the past two years he has been superintendent of the central division. Both gentlemen are highly trained journalists, distinctly efficient in their work, and have contributed materially to the high position attained by the Associated Press.

PROBLEMS OF IMPORTANCE

Public Affairs Committee Will Discuss Teachers' Salaries and Workhouse.

All Members of Commercial Club Are Invited to Attend.

The meeting of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club tonight will be an important one. The meeting is called primarily for the reception of the report of the special committee on school affairs, but several other reports will be received and different matters of interest will be discussed.

The problem of dealing with petty offenders, which is now being faced by the city and county, will undoubtedly come in for some little discussion. The matter was referred some time ago to the consideration of the sub-committee on municipal affairs and the state and county sub-committee and they are expected to make a report tonight.

The proposition as submitted to the committees included both the workhouse for vags and others of their kind and the farm for drunkards and other offenders not having criminal tendencies. The workhouse matter has been discussed by the city council and county board and the latter body now seems to be swinging toward the opinion that the workhouse project is impractical and that a new jail should be built. After the report of the sub-committee, the public affairs committee is expected to take a definite stand.

The report of the special committee on school affairs is expected to recommend that the general committee declare in favor of increases in teachers' salaries and also to recommend legislative measures for arranging the finances of the school district, with a view to devising means for granting the relief asked by the teachers without further increasing the burden of taxation under which property owners have been complaining.

The committee report is expected to explain the unusually heavy expenditures of the school board in the last few years and also to show that the teachers' salaries may be increased without any burden being imposed on the taxpayers.

The committee will meet at 6:15 and in calling the meeting, Chairman McGonagle issued a special invitation to other members of the club to attend.

TO PREVENT FIRE HORROR OF NEW YORK TYPE HERE

Building Inspector's Activity Will Reach All Parts of City.

Survey Decided on Before New York Tragedy, Says Mayor.

The present activities of the building inspector's office, which is making an examination with a view to enforcing the building regulations relative to fire escape appliances, will extend to all parts of the city and all classes of buildings in which loss of life might occur in case of fire.

Not only will the hotels and lodging houses be included, but factory buildings, tenement houses, flats and boarding houses will be examined by the inspectors. In short, every structure three stories or more in height, in which any considerable number of people are employed or housed, will hav to comply with the requirements of the ordinances, which are considerd among the best in the country, having been compiled after those of many cities had been reviewed.

The administration is acting on the policy that it is poor business to lock the stable after the horse has been stolen. Other examinations of a similiar nature have been made in the past, and a great improvement has been noticeable. Since the last inspection of the hotels and lodging houses, many of them have done everything in their power to comply with the regulations and others have safety appliances on the way.

Some of them, however, have done nothing. They have completely ignored the notices served upon them by the office of the building inspector. In these cases arrests will be made. The others which have not been examined will get notices such as were served on the hotels and lodging houses, and if they do not comply, more arrests will follow.

Speaking of the matter this morning Mayor Cullum said that he believes Duluth is better equipped in this respect than many other cities as large or larger than Duluth. He said that he and the building inspector had discussed the matter about a week before the terrible fire disaster in New York city, in which over 140 lives had been lost. At that time it had been decided to make a complete survey of conditions in Duluth. Before the plans of any new buildings are approved by the building inspector, they have to comply with all provisions relating to fire escape, appliances. But there are many others which were erected before such close attention was given to this feature, and they will be examined much more closely than the others.

COPPERS DECLINE IN WEAK MARKET

Values Slump When Traders Liquidate—Stop-Loss Orders Hit.

The copper market was weak and demoralized today. In expectation of decisions by the supreme court on Monday that may have considerable bearing on the future course of the market there was a rush to even up contracts. The longs dumped stocks overboard, the selling in Amalgamated being particularly conspicuous.

While trading was relatively light, yet the volume of transactions showed an increase over recent days. There is a hopeful attitude on the part of the large banking interests, say reports, but there is a feeling that the market may be compelled to undergo another readjustment if decisions are against the Standard Oil and American Tobacco cases and the American congress passes reciprocity legislation. Just what trend and what form this readjustment will take is problematical. It is this uncertainty that is deterring traders from entering the market.

Denn sold at $6, Carman at 70c, North American at $2.31½. Trading in was heavy, about 1,500 shares changing hands.

Amalgamated sold at $63.62½ to $62.50 to $62.62½, Butte-Ballaklava at $5, Calumet & Arizona at $51, Greene at $6.42½, $6.50 to $6.43¾, Giroux was $6.12½ bid, Superior & Pittsburg sold at $15.50, $15.37½ to $14.50. North Butte was $28 bid and Ojibway sold at $6.

Boston wired: "The last few outstanding shares of minority Butte & Boston stock of the total 200,000 shares have recently been purchased for $150 per share, although it is understood as high as $300 per share was paid for some of the minority stock. Every share is now in the treasury of the Amalgamated and Butte & Boston now enjoys the enviable record of the lowest cost production in the Butte camp, its copper having been produced within recent months as low as 6½ cents per pound, including every charge and its properties have been developing into some of the important producers among the Amalgamated group."

A Butte wire to Paine, Webber & Co. says: "The copper output of the Butte camp for the month of March was greater than during February only, because of the fact that there were three more operating days. While no further effect appears to have been made in curtailing production no effort was made to increase it and the same restrictions are being observed at the various mines as to holding down production as has been the policy for the past year. The mines of the Anaconda and subsidiary companies are now all in excellent condition and ready to increase production as soon as the market may warrant it.

"Outputs: Boston & Montana, 6,170,240 pounds; Anaconda, 6,618,500 pounds; Butte & Boston, 807,240 pounds; Washoe, 567,500 pounds; Parrot, 605,200 pounds; Trenton, 719,200 pounds; North Butte, 1,607,350 pounds; Butte Coalition, 1,897,200 pounds; Tuolumne, 279,000 pounds; East Butte, 1,001,300 pounds; Original, 1,249,300 pounds.

For the year ending Sept. 30 the Arizona Copper company reports gross earnings of $1,272,355, comprising profits of $843,240 from copper production and $429,115 from the Arizona & New Mexico railroad. A year ago gross earnings were $1,667,395. After charges and dividends, the report shows a deficit of $54,355. Last year a surplus of $39,585 was shown.

FOUR WOMEN ARE ARRESTED

Police Continue Crusade Against Alleged Houses of Immoral Character.

Four more alleged women of illrepute were arrested by the police last night in the campaign which is being waged to give Duluth a moral house cleaning.

Ethel Clark, 21 years old, and Mrs. Florence Brown, 22 years old, were taken from the Alvarado hotel on West Superior street between Second and Third avenues, and booked on statutory charges. They were released on $50 bail each, and through an attorney entered pleas of not guilty when their names were called in police court this morning.

Mrs. Katherine Clark was arrested on a charge of conducting a house of ill-repute upstairs over a saloon known as Jim and Charley's at Seventh avenue west and Superior street. She entered a plea of not guilty in police court and bail was fixed at $100. Grace Covier, arrested on a charge of residing in a house of ill-fame, denied the charge and her bail was placed at $50. William Curson, a bartender, was brought in on a charge of visiting a house of ill-fame. He also entered a plea of not guilty.

The cases of all those arrested last night were set for trial this afternoon.

WILL NOT BE TRIED IN HAMILTON COUNTY.

Cincinnati Ohio, March 31.—George R. Cox probably will not be tried in this county on the charge of perjury. Prosecuting Attorney Henry L. Hunt and Arthur Espy, a former state senator, today filed an affidavit of prejudice against all common pleas judges of Hamilton county except Judge Gorman and applied for a change of venue. Judge Gorman thereupon assigned the case to Judge Frank Davis of Batavia, Clearmont county.

NEW BRANCH MAY BE BUILT THIS SEASON.

It is intimated here that construction work will be begun the present season on the Northern Pacific extension from Mott, which is south of Bismarck, N. D., on the Cannon Ball division, to Miles City, Mont.

The division would connect with the main line at Miles City, and the main importance to Duluth jobbers in the starting of construction, is that it will open up a new territory to Duluth trade.

Over 100 miles of new territory was opened up by the construction of the line from Mandan to Mott, and Duluth jobbers have secured much of the business in the new district. It is practically new territory and the Duluth jobbers were the first in the field.

The construction of the rest of the division would mean added territory thrown open to competition, and the intimation that this work will be taken up by the present season, is an interesting one to Duluth wholesale and jobbing houses.

With the improvement in the crop outlook through the two Dakotas comes the belief that within a few days there may be some official announcement from the general office of the Northern Pacific at St. Paul regarding the completing of some of the road ballasting which was not finished last season.

Printing and Bookbinding
Thwing-Stewart Co. Both 'phones, 114.

Directed Verdict.
Judge Ensign of the district court directed a verdict in favor of the Adriatic Mining company in district court yesterday. The case was one brought by Louis Nasse, who asked $10,000 for injuries alleged to have been received while in the employ of the company. He claimed that a skip was lowered upon his hand. He claimed negligence on the part of the company in that the lighting was not sufficient.

Slept in Railroad Coach.
Victor Olson and Walter Gravelle were arrested about 5 o'clock this morning sleeping in a railroad coach in the Northern Pacific yards near the foot of Eleventh avenue west. They said in police court this morning that during the night, when they had searched for a warm place in which to drink a cold bottle of beer which they had with them, they sought the railroad coach. They were found there this morning by the watchman, who called Patrolman Fred Grandmaison to put them under arrest on charges of trespass. They pleaded guilty in police court this morning and were fined $3 or three days.

Commission Government.
The commission form of government will be discussed tomorrow evening at a meeting which will be held at the Emerson school under the auspices of the Fifth Ward Hillside Improvement club. The club has taken this question up at several previous gatherings, and several of the members have been devoting considerable time to the study of it. The interest is great and it is expected that the attendance will be large. The principal speakers will be Mayor M. B. Cullum and T. T. Hudson, chairman of the charter commission.

Moore Is Promoted.
George W. Moore, formerly assistant immigration officer in Duluth and later going to Port Huron, has been appointed to a responsible position in the immigration service at Ellis Island.

Fancy Work Sale.
A sale of fancy work, aprons and children's rompers, will be held tomorrow at Seeklin's store by the different circles of St. Paul's Episcopal church. The women have been working busily all during the Lenten season and have a good supply of articles which ought to be easily sold.

Temple Services.
"Gold vs. God" will be the subject of the sermon by Rabbi Lefkovits at Temple Emanuel, Seventh avenue east and Second street, this evening.

Demurrer and Answer.
A demurrer on behalf of Joseph Peaclla and Charley Watkins and an answer of the Northern Lumber company were filed in United States court today in a personal injury action brought against the company and the two individuals by Frank E. Rabideau. In its answer, the company denies any responsibility for the accident and denies that Rabideau has a claim for damages against it.

CHARGES HUSBAND WITH CRUEL TREATMENT.

Charging cruel and inhuman treatment, Mrs. Ida McDermid today filed with the clerk of the district court a sult for divorce from her husband, Albert. They were married in November, 1897, at Lester, Minn. She is 30 years old and he 36. They have four children.

In her bill of complaint, she alleges that McDermid subjected her to many cruelties. She asserts that he threw shoes, dishes, cooking utensils and other things at her. She wants a legal separation and the custody of the children.

McDermid is a stationary engineer, she claims, and earns $100 a month.

Appropriation Will Be Made to Boom Water Carnival.

Publicity Committee Asked to Make Estimate of Expense.

The Commercial club has set about doing its part to make the water carnival at the Duluth Boat club this year a big success. It will spend a large amount of money in advertising the carnival and will co-operate with the boat club committee in arranging features for the week of carnival activity.

At the meeting of the publicity committee of the club today, the committee was requested to prepare for the executive committee an estimate of the amount of money that will be required to properly advertise the carnival. The executive committee has already put its stamp of approval on the carnival and as soon as the money is available to finance it, an advertising campaign will be inaugurated.

PROCLAMATION BY GOVERNOR

Names May 18 as Peace Day in Minnesota Public Schools.

St. Paul, Minn., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Following the recent organization of a peace society in Minnesota, the governor has designated May 18 for observance in the schools of the state in the interest of universal peace. The governor's proclamation follows:

"In response to the growing interest in universal peace and in conformity with the suggestions of the recently organized peace society in the state of Minnesota, I hereby designate Thursday, May 18, 1911, as a day to be set apart for a general observance of ceremonies by schools and other civic organizations in furtherance of popular sentiment on this all-important subject."

May 18 is the anniversary of the first peace conference at the Hague. The superintendent of public instruction has a bulletin on the press, with a program and exercises for schools on that day.

SAY VICTORY IS A "VACANT ONE"

Attorneys Claim Bucketshop Decision Will Be of No Avail.

Washington, March 31.—Justice Ashley M. Gould of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, announced today his determination to adopt the opinion of Justice Wright, declaring unconstitutional the attempt of congress to press special "anti-bucketing" legislation.

Justice Gould is in full accord with the finding of Justice Wright that the statute violates the libery of contract protected by the Constitution and that it attempts to penalize an innocent customer, if the broker intends that the transaction shall be "bucketed."

Justice Gould has had under consideration the demurrers filed by Price & Co. of Baltimore to an indictment charging William B. Price and eight others with conspiracy, and another indictment with conducting a bucketshop.

That the victory gained by the decision of Justice Wright and the concurrency of Justice Gould will be a "vacant one," even if the court of appeals should sustain the invalidity of the law is an opinion expressed today by members of the local bar.

Since the court of appeals, they point out, has decided in the Wade case that a bucketshop is against gambling placed under the code which prohibits setting up a gaming table, it will only be necessary for the government to secure new indictments charging conspiracy to commit the crime of gaming.

The belief is expressed that such indictments would hold, in view of the fact that the court of appeals, the court of last resort in criminal cases in the District, has decided against the bucketshops.

Rev. N. Frykman, 68 years old, for many years a pastor in the Swedish Evangelical Covenant, died at Minneapolis, Minn., March 30, after two months' illness. After coming from Sweden in 1888 he was actively engaged in the ministry as pastor of the Swedish Mission Tabernacle in Chicago, and later as pastor of a large parish in Kandiyohi and Swift counties, Minnesota. In 1907 he retired from the active ministry, removing to Minneapolis with his family. He was born in Sunne, Waermland, Sweden, Oct. 20, 1842. He was graduated at a teachers' seminary at Karlstad, beginning his career as a teacher in the public schools, first at Grums, then at Norrkoping and subsequently at Sunne. ARTIFICIAL LACE.

Daily Consul and Trade Reports: Mechanism and chemistry combined have furnished France with a new product—artificial lace. The general public has heard little about it, but the lace manufacturers of Lyons, Calais and Caudry have for some time past been much perturbed over this unexpected competition to which they will have to submit.

Artificial lace is in effect a manufacture of a very simple nature. There is no weaving employed in its production. The machine consists in its essential parts of a receptacle containing a cupro-ammoniacal solution of cellulose, a metallic cylinder upon which is engraved the negative of the design, and a coagulation vat.

A rotary motion is given to the cylinder, over which flows the solution, which, entering the interstices of the engraved pattern, fixes itself immediately in the coagulative liquid, out of which emerges the texture ready to be dyed and dressed.

Artificial lace has a beautiful appearance. It is homogeneous and unalterable; will wear better, and is less combustible than ordinary lace. Water does not affect it. Any desired pattern can be obtained by engraving a new cylinder.

A WATCHMAKER'S INGENUITY.

London Globe: A dispatch in a French newspaper from Berlin recounts the remarkable achievements of a watchmaker, one Carron, a Pole. The fame of Carron had reached the ears of the czar. His majesty ordered that some brass palls, some wood splinters, a piece of glass and a broken cup and lengths of iron wire should be sent to the craftsman with the command that he should turn this material into a watch.

The porcelain cup served as the case and the works were made of the other material. The czar was surprised to receive the completed work in an incredibly short space of time.

GUARANTEE ON ONE-THIRD

West End Residents Must Agree to Pay $722 Annually for Water.

Board Declines to Set Precedent By Violating Guarantee Policy.

Although the extension of the water and gas mains from Fifth street and Thirteenth avenue west to the Ensign school at Tenth street and Twenty-fourth avenue west will cost $28,471.71, as estimated by the manager of the water and light department, the property owners in the West end hillside district will be required to give a guarantee on only $9,023.71. The guarantee will amount to $722 annually and there are about 125 families in the district to be supplied by the extension.

The figures were submitted to the board of water and light commissioners yesterday and approved. The guarantee is to be required on that portion of the work extending from a point 100 feet east of Twentieth avenue west on Seventh street to the Ensign school, an eight-inch pipe being provided for in that district.

In anticipation of future growth of population in the district above the boulevard back of Central park, the water mains from Fifth street and Thirteenth avenue west, the present terminus of the main, to Eighteenth avenue west and Seventh street will be ten inches in diameter and from that point an eight-inch pipe will be extended to the school.

It is expected that no objection will be made by the hillside residents to giving the guarantee required on less than one-third of the entire cost of the extension. The point is one for which they have held out through all of the negotiations for the extension and it is believed the attitude of the board will meet their approval. Work on the extension is expected to be begun as soon as possible this spring.

The board yesterday declined to swerve from its policy of requiring a guarantee on every extension made when the board of public works requested that an extension of 200 feet be made in Fifth street between Fifteenth and Sixteenth avnue east in order that street improvements may be made. No petition has ever been made for the short extension, but the board of public works wanted it made in order that the street might not be torn up after being improved. The board declined to make the extension without a guarantee, holding that a precedent that might afterwards be embarrassing would be established.

C. O. White was yesterday granted the contract for hauling pipe for the department, his bid of $3,065.53 being the lowest of several submitted. The Crown Iron works of Minneapolis was given the contract for supplying special castings for the department.

NORTHROP RETIRES FROM PRESIDENCY

Touching Scenes as He Delivers His Farewell Address to Students.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 31.—(Special to The Herald.)—Concluding his valedictory to the students with prayer and in tones that faltered from deep emotion, Dr. Cyrus Northrop laid down the mantle of president of the University of Minnesota this morning and became president emeritus.

More than 1,500 persons crowded into the chapel to hear the retiring president say farewell. Hundreds of co-eds during his address sobbed aloud, and even men felt tugs at their heartstrings.

Dr. Northrop's remarks abounded with expressions of love and gratitude to both students and faculty.

At the conclusion of the exercises Dr. Northrop was presented by the students with a silver service as a token of their loyalty and esteem.

Dr. George Edgar Vincent, the new president, will arrive here tomorrow accompanied by Mrs. Vincent.

He will go to the university at 10 o'clock and will be met by Dean J. F. Downey, who will escort him to chapel, where he will make his first public appearance before the students as their president.

The chapel exercises will not partake of the nature of an inauguration, which ceremony will occur next fall.

Dr. Northrop, the retiring president, will remain in his office until his successor arrives there.

PARTICIPANTS IN COURT TROUBLES

FRANZ FERDINAND AND WIFE.

The relations between Austria and the other great nations may be strained by the complications over the Countess Chotek, otherwise the Princess Hohenburg, in which the Archduchess Marie Valerie plays a prominent part. When the heir to the throne of Austria married the Countess Chotek, he agreed to renounce the succession for his children. His wife never held at court the rank which she would have held if she had been of royal blood; but she seemed quite contented. Then came Emperor William and insisted that the wife of Franz Ferdinand should have a prominent part in the ceremonies attending his visit. After that, the former countess was no longer willing to walk behind all the members of the royal family on state occasions, and her husband supported her position. Franz Ferdinand went to the emperor and demanded that more consideration be shown his wife. Franz Josef reminded him of his marriage contract and Franz Ferdinand flung out of the palace and refused to attend the court ball. Moreover, the heir to the throne will not go to Great Britain to attend the coronation in June and, as the emperor is too old to go, Austria will be represented by Archduke Carl Franz. In all the court complications growing out of the dispute over the position of Franz Ferdinand's wife, Archduchess Marie Valerie is credited with leading the court party in opposition to the Intruder.

New Mexico Man Recovers Child Who Was Kidnaped.

Las Vegas, N. M., March 31.—The baby of A. T. Rogers, a prominent lawyer of this city, was kidnaped a few days ago and held for ransom of $17,000. The money was paid over by Rogers at midnight last night at a remote spot in the mountains surrounding this city and the child was returned to him.

WELCOME CALL.

Chicago News: "I have come," said the large man who had entered the law office and bolted the door after him, "to give you the worst whipping you ever had in your life. I've just served three months in jail and you sent me there, and I'm going to make soup-bones of you if I swing for it."

"Have you considered the consequences, my friend?" asked the small, pallid lawyer, as he put down the large book he had been reading. "You shouldn't undertake a contract of such a character without being familiar with all the legal phases of the matter. In an action for assault and battery, such as would certainly be brought against you, malice aforethought would be easily shown. Where an assault occurs under stress of great excitement or provocation, judges and juries regard the defendant leniently, but where the attack has been deliberately planned, as in this case, and where threats of extreme bodily violence have been uttered, the verdict is bound to be severe. I am trying to present the case to you in nontechnical terms, purely for your own good."

"Lots you care about my own good," grumbled the belligerent visitor. "I don't want any of your advice. I'm going to smash you the best I know how, so come from behind that desk."

"Have you considered," ask the lawyer, "that when inflicting punishment upon me you are liable to sustain severe injuries yourself? Not that I would resist, for that would be hopeless. But the human head is largely composed of bone and the fist that hits it is apt to be broken. You surely have read of the numerous prize fighters who have broken their arms in the ring? If a prize fighter sustains such injuries, what can an ordinary citizen hope for?

"Moreover, my head is unusually bony and many of the bones are angular, and I feel sure that you would break your wrist or some of your fingers, at least. There was an interesting case chronicled in the Southeastern Law Reporter a few weeks ago. A citizen whose name I have forgotten, assaulted his family attorney and broke his arm. He was sent to the penitentiary for the assault and his arm had to be amputated. Think of spending years in the penitentiary minus an arm!"

"I'm willing to take the chances. Here goes——"

When the visitor recovered his faculties he was curled up on the floor and the lawyer was seated upon his bosom, holding a piece of lead pipe in one hand.

"The next time you contemplate an attack upon a learned and eloquent attorney," said the lawyer, "be sure to commit the assault first and discuss your grievances afterward. I knew I had this length of lead pipe somewhere in my desk, but I couldn't remember in which drawer I had placed it. However, you gave me plenty of time to find it, and here we are, having an excellent, comfortable time, and merry men are we. I can't tell you how glad I am that you came up to see me. The chief drawback of a lawyer's life is the intolerable monotony. Think, my dear sir, of the dreary round of duties which make up his existence!"

"Let me up," begged the formerly belligerent visitor. "I've had enough."

"All in good season, my friend. So many hours a day in his dingy office! So many hours in the sepulchral courtroom! That is the story of the lawyer's day. He loses track of human emotions, save as he encounters them in dreary books. None but a lawyer can understand what a blessing it is to see a man come in, as you came in, looking for trouble! You have renewed my youth! You have made me a man again, when I was becoming a machine! Rise up, William Riley, or whatever your name is, and kindly permit me to kick you all the way down stairs!"

WHAT HOUSEKEEPERS WANT.

Need of Women Designers in Architects' Offices.

A housekeeper who had been spending the best part of a week in examining cottages in a suburban development without finding what she was looking for was finally turned over by the salesman to the manager, who solicitously inquired as to her wants, says the New York Sun. To him she poured out this tale of woe:

"I have been inspecting so many modern houses and not one of them even approaches even remotely my ideal of a really comfortable residence. If architects and builders would attach their staff women technically trained and at the same time familiar with the workings of the modern home it is safe to say that many conveniences would be found in houses and apartments which are at present generally missing, while some of the absurdities in the way of misplaced kitchen and laundry paraphernalia would be conspicuous by their absence.

"For instance," continued the prospective buyer, "what woman would put laundry tubs so deep that the luckless worker who is of short or medium stature is in constant danger of pitching forward upon her head, while if the tall woman can at least reckon upon a headache or backache as the result of a few hours' work. Or who but a mere man would make the ledge between the tubs so wide that no ordinary wringer can be fitted to it. Would any woman dream of jamming a kitchen range so close to the wall on the side where the match has to be applied and the stopcocks regulated that it is only by difficult maneuvering with the left hand that the range can be managed at all?

"Nor is there any plausible reason for so arranging the wall that the refrigerator must perforce stand next to the stove, while the closet is as far away from the self-same stove as it is possible to place it—presumably to give the cook some needed exercise in getting up a meal?

"Another idea which would suggest itself to the woman architect is the fact that the toilet room—if there is but one—should be separate from the bathroom as a matter of family confidence. There is no good reason either for setting a bathtub a few inches above the floor, thus leaving a space underneath which is almost inaccessible and yet must be kept clean for sanitary reasons. Then, too, if the demand were insistent enough, manufacturers might see fit to market a washstand so made that a woman's hair would not inevitably catch upon the faucets every time she washes her face. An extra toilet or lavatory for the convenience of guests and children—built into the first floor where possible—is another comfort the male architect often overlooks even in homes where extra expense is not spared.

"A clever woman assisting in planning houses or apartments would readily see the advantage of covered ceilings and floors; plain mouldings and woodwork, tiled kitchen and bathroom floors and walls. Another feature that might be easily introduced in the kitchen, laundry and bathroom floors is a drain so that they could be flooded with water that would run off through connections with pipes.

"In the more luxurious homes dish and clothes washers run by electricity would help materially to render the work less disagreeable and so induce the servant problem to settle itself. Fireless cookers, now used by not a few up to date housekeepers, might also be built in. Outdoor racks for garbage cans with openings into the kitchen have at last found their way into a few of the better class apartment houses, but these as well as solid bottom chutes from the upper floors to the laundry should be installed in every well appointed private house.

"Indoor drying rooms for use on snowy or rainy wash days are another convenience that might easily be provided for in the cellar, but are very generally lacking. These are but a few of the things that a woman assistant could keep before the eyes of an architect in the domestic branch of the work. In buildings that are to be rented it should be made an invariable rule to put in as many permanent features as possible, such as towel and soap racks and medicine chests in bathrooms, utensil shelves and hooks in kitchen and pantry, etc., as well as curtain hooks and portiere poles, inaddition to shades and screens for windows and doors, for where this is not done each succeeding tenant adds his mite to the disfigurement of walls and woodwork.

"This is all I can think of at present," she concluded, "but there are so many more improvements any woman could suggest to a builder that I really cannot understand why our sex is not represented in the architectural profession."

INDIANS WHO WILL NOT VOTE.

San Antonio Light and Gazette: The Hopi Indians, who number about 2,000 souls, inhabit eight villages in the Painted Desert of Arizona. These villages are situated from eighty to 100 miles from the nearest railroad point. All are located on the summits of mesas that rise precipitously to a height of 100 feet or more above the plain.

Owing to their isolation and their distance from the beaten paths of travel, as well as to the conservative nature of the people primitive customs, ceremonies and ways of living survive to a greater extent in the Hopi towns than in any other Indian community of the West. The Hopis in fact constitute an anachronism, and for many other reasons than the unique position of the women, whose domination over the men is peculiar, to say the least, may be regarded as among the most interesting and remarkable of American tribes.

It is a fact not generally known that the Hopi Indians, with all other Pueblo tribes of New Mexico and Arizona, are full fledged citizens of the United States. The terms of the treaty of Guadalupe-Hidalgo that terminated the war with Mexico guaranteed full rights of citizenship to all inhabitants of the ceded territory who had been citizens of Mexico. The supreme court of the United States decided that the Pueblos were citizens of Mexico prior to the consummation of the treaty, and consequently they are now citizens of the United States.

With Arizona a state, therefore, the little Hopi men are entitled to vote for distance, to run for congress and to exercise full rights of suffrage. It is not at all likely that any such rights will be claimed or exercised for decades or centuries to come. The Hopis are as indifferent to American politics as they are to the events that transpire on another planet. If the government at Washington and the whole white population of America were wiped out of existence over night, so important an event would hardly be noticed by these self-sufficing people.

A MAINE FARMER'S MOOSE.

Lewiston Journal: At Brownville during the summer months a bull moose has become firmly attached to the farm occupied by Lewis H. Ryder, getting so tame that the genial Lewis endeavored to drive him away by slapping his mooseship with a slab, a trick which he did not care to try again, for it is stated by Mr. Ryder that his majesty the moose gave him a wicked look straight from the eye and lashed out vigorously behind and flatly refused to budge.

As a number of automobile parties have journeyed up to look at the moose and came away satisfied we are inclined to the belief that this is really a true sketch, but Mr. Ryder is feeling mighty proud, as he has become a fixture as well as one of the attractions of the place.

Baking Powder Biscuits

Light as a Feather

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

Baking Powder Biscuits made by this recipe are so far ahead of ordinary baking powder biscuits that, if once tried, you will never use any other recipe. Try it the next time you run short of bread. Save this recipe.

K C Baking Powder Biscuits

Three cups flour; ½ to ¾ cup shortening; 3 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; about 1 cup milk or water; 1 teaspoonful salt.

Sift three times, the flour, salt and baking powder. Work into the flour the shortening, using lard or butter for shortening. Then mix to a very soft dough with the milk. The quicker the biscuit enters the oven, the lighter it comes out. Never knead baking powder biscuits; press the dough into shape and roll lightly. Cut in small shapes and bake on a sheet or very shallow pan in a hot oven. In placing biscuits in the pans place well apart, not allowing edges to touch. Small biscuits are better than large ones. Large biscuits do not have the proper amount of time to raise and bake.

Have you seen the new K C Cook's Book? Brimful of appetizing recipes that simply must be successful every time if the few simple directions are carefully followed. You would gladly pay 50 cents for this valuable book, but we send it absolutely free upon receipt of the colored certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder. Jaques Mfg. Co., Chicago. Small cans do not have Cook's Book certificates.

"Sunkists" are California's Choicest Oranges

SUNKIST ORANGES

On the breakfast table—in the sick room—for making salads, puddings and other desserts—for a bite between meals, in the lunch box, there is no fruit equal to the famous California "Sunkist" Orange. Being tree-ripened, sound-picked, packed and shipped with the utmost skill and care, it is the most healthful and luscious of all fruits.

Sunkist Oranges are thin-skinned—fiberless—seedless. They fairly melt in the mouth. There is so little waste in serving and eating them that they are truly the cheapest orange you can buy.

Every Sunkist Orange comes in a Sunkist Wrapper. Thousands of families will have none but Sunkist Oranges. After you have tried them once they will win you. Please make the trial today. Your dealer sells them. And don't forget to save the "Sunkist" Wrappers.

Ask for "Sunkist" Lemons

SUNKIST LEMONS

After you have eaten Sunkist Oranges, you will be glad to know there are Sunkist Lemons, for they, too, are the finest fruit of their kind. Never blemished, marred, decayed, thick-skinned or pithy. Sunkist Lemons contain 50 percent more juice than commonplace lemons, which makes them most economical for kitchen and table use. The "Sunkist" Wrapper identifies them.

FREE

Bears Jump on Wheat When All Conditions Are Favorable.

Foreign and Local Situation Bearish—New Barley Record.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 31.—Wheat dropped 1c today. July and May each went down that distance. Cash wheat was on a parity with May. Oats gained ⅛c, rye was unchanged and durum lost ⅛c. Barley went up 1c to 57@$1.08. Flaxseed was stronger and dull. May advanced ½c.

Wheat opened weak and declined, values touching new low levels. A few stop-loss orders were uncovered and the crowd sold wheat heavily. The government's report on conditions March 1 is expected to be bearish and the crowd was partly discounting the expected figures. The Missouri crop report will be issued tomorrow and it is expected to be bearish. Reports from Columbia, Mo., said news on the crop was never so favorable and the trade construed the report to mean that the state's figures would be bearish. While Missouri's reports are not collected with the same degree of skill and accuracy as the reports of the government and the state of Kansas, yet they may have some effect, sentimentally.

The Modern Miller said winter wheat is being favored by weather conditions in the greater part of the principal producing states. Moisture is lacking in Western Kansas and the crop there is reported to be suffering.

The estimate of Clement, Curtis & Co. on winter wheat is 83.8, which shows an improvement since December. The condition of winter wheat a year ago was 80.8. The condition reported by Clement, Curtis & Co. suggests a crop of 508,000,000 bu, against 473,000,000 bu last year. The probable abandonment in Kansas will not be more than 10 per cent, Oklahoma 22 per cent and Texas 17 per cent.

The weather in the Northwest is partly cloudy and fair in the Southwest. There is some seeding in the Northwest. Conditions are favorable, with the exception of the central western part of South Dakota.

Australian offers were pressing in a weak market at Liverpool. The March delivery expired at Paris, weak and dejected. World's shipments this week are much smaller than last week, being estimated by Broomhall at 9,200,000 bu against 12,032,000 bu last week. Australian wheat shipments this week amount to 1,864,000 bu, compared with 2,000,000 bu last week and 1,225,000 bu a year ago. Cables were easy and the foreign markets were weak and demoralized. Indian shipments this week are 536,000 bu against 1,552,000 bu last week and 696,000 bu a year ago. A Russian report told of large reserves in that country. The outlook is for a continuance of liberal supplies. Argentine wheat shipments this week are 2,624,000 bu against 4,632,000 bu last week and 2,136,000 bu a year ago. The supply in the chief ports is increased to 4,000,000 bu from 3,560,000 bu last week.

Crop Prospects Favorable.

Present crop prospects both in Europe and America appear on the whole quite up to the average, and unless they change materially for the worse consumers will probably continue the cautious policy they have adopted for a long time past.

It must be admitted that Russian aggressive and signally successful competition in the world's markets has been the dominant factor in the creation of the present low price level everywhere on the globe. In the United States the markets have for very many months been maintained above an export parity, and this has been the record for a greater part of the season in Canada also, except for the inferior grades, which have been taken spasmodically, chiefly by Great Britain.

In this country the domestic demand has proved unequal to the burden imposed upon it, and with very limited relief in the way of exports there has resulted an excess supply at the time of year when with the early advent of new crop marketings the visible and invisible stocks should be approaching low water mark.

If the world's crop of 1909 had been a short one the United States would have doubtless been drawn upon in spite of the high prices ruling. The crops of that year, however, were abundant. Russia leading with the most bountiful yield in her history. Importing countries quickly sought to replenish heavy existing deficits and procured on moderate terms, other exporting countries also contributing customary or greater percentages of their surplus.

The United States pursued an antipodal policy, prices were maintained way above an export level, and at the expense of the domestic consumer, and this suicidal method has been continued up the present time, with a resultant heavy price depression and promise of its continuance into another crop year.

Cotton Market.

New York, March 31.—Cotton opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 2 points on a continuation of yesterday's late covering movement and in sympathy with fairly steady cables, but soon weakened under a renewal of July liquidation and local selling, encouraged by poor trade accounts.

There was continued selling of May and buying of July by the leading spot interest, supposed to be undoing straddles, and after easing off to a net decline of about 4 to 6 points the old crop months steadied on covering of shorts and expectations of bullish statistics.

New crop positions were again quiet and relatively steady and seemed to receive a little support from trade interests.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Bottom Prices of the Day Scored in the Final Hour.

United States Steel, Reading and Union Pacific Are Weak.

New York, March 31.—Atchison was the most active stock at the opening today, 2,200 shares selling at 110 to 110¼, the stock having closed last night at 110¼. The tone of the market was easy with the majority of the active issues yielding fractionally. Canadian Pacific lost 2 points, United States Steel ⅝ and Union Pacific ½.

Selling pressure increased and prices went materially under yesterday's closing figures. Union Pacific was especially weak and fell 1¼, which canceled its rise in the final dealings of yesterday. Reading and Lehigh Valley sagged and Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie and National Biscuit, 1½.

Increased selling gave a heavier tone to the market this morning and some substantial losses were established. The bulk of the selling was concentrated in the first hour's business with the market thereafter falling into intense dullness, but prices improved slightly. An incident of the trading was the sudden dying out of yesterday's notable activity in the Erie issues. Advices from Washington intimating that the attorney general contemplated closer scrutiny of the affairs of Wall street, was a factor which made for bearish sentiment and was responsible in large part for the weakness of the morning. Bonds were steady.

The market closed heavy. In direct contrast to yesterday's market, bottom prices today were scored in the final hour. United States Steel, Reading and Union Pacific all sold materially under yesterday's lowest figures, with marked weakness in the latter. Trading then came much more active on the decline, which held to the end.
